CRASH IS BLAMED UPON PROPELLOR

Fuselage of Maddalena's Plane Sliced in Two When Blade Broke.

Bodies, Motors Not Found.

PISA, Italy, March 20 (A.P.).—A variable propeller of a type which Colonel Umberto Maddalena always favored was blamed to-day for the disaster which yesterday took the lives of Maddalena and two companions, Captain Cecconi and Lieutentant Damonte.

In inquest commission to-day found that the propeller had broken, cutting the fuselage in two when the plane was several thousand feet in the air, severing the main part of the plane from its tail.

Neither the three bodies nor the motors of the plane have been found, and it is believed that they were dragged into the deep whirlpools which abound along the coast.

The propeller was Maddalena's specialty. He believed that it enabled him to take off with heavier loads of fuel than with an ordinary propeller and he used it when he broke the world's endurance and distance records over a closed circuit.

ESKIMO FAMILY IS FOUND DEAD IN SMALL TENT

Bodies of Three Children Found Frozen to the Ground.

FOOD ALL GONE.

Disappointing Hunting is Given as the Reason for the Six Deaths.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 20 (Special to The Examiner).—Despite the encroachments of civilization into the Far North and introduction of such aids to transportation and communication as the aeroplane and the radio, starvation can still occur among such resourceful people as the Eskimos, a grim incident related in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police report indicates.

The death of a whole family of Cape Dorset Eskimos, six in number, which took place near the famous "blue goose pastures," where the breeding ground of that bird were, after long search, discovered, was investigated by the detachment at Lake Harbor.

Around the middle of March (1930) we were just inland north of the Chorkbak Inlet, and just on the coast we discovered a tent standing up, and on entering we discovered three children lying on the bed. They were dead. They appeared to have been dead for some time, as their bodies were frozen to the ground.

They were lying on their faces undressed with deerskins underneath them. There was nothing in the tent but two pots. The tent had been erected by the mother, but no sign of the father. The tent was snowed up and there were no signs of tracks around the tent to show that there had been anyone around lately.

"We buried the bodies the same day, covering the bodies with rocks; the tent we left beside the bodies; it was a skin tent. The children appeared to have died from starvation. They were the three girls of Avalineaktuk."

Disappointing hunting was given as the reason for the deaths. The Eskimo had received supplies from the Hudson Bay Company post at Cape Dorset in August of the previous year and had set off to Chorkbak with several other Eskimo families, but all the others had turned back and made their way to food.

While returning practically without food and ammunition the party of Eskimos with which Avalineaktuk had gone out came upon a cache left by P. Dewey Soper, the discoverer of the blue goose breeding grounds. Specimens had been left with the food. These were left untouched and were later recovered.

"The excuse of the Eskimos was that they were hungry," the R.C.M.P. report explains, but such an act is a grave offence in the Far North, and one of the Eskimos is said to bear a reputation for depredations of this sort. The case will be further investigated.

Moslem Massacre Started in India As Dead Calf is Sent to Hindu Tenant

LUCKNOW, United Provinces, India, March 20 (C.P.). — A Moslem landlord in the Mochi district sent a dead calf to one of his Hindu tenants who was behind in his rent.

The Hindu and his friends, who regard any cow as sacred, were infuriated, and, going to the landlord's house, dragged him out and killed him with blows from sticks and scythes. They burned his house and went to other Moslem houses, dragging out the men, killing them, and setting fire to the houses.

The entire adult male Mohammedan population of Mochi, consisting of seven men, were murdered, the Hindus sparing only women and children. Timely arrival of British troops terminated the massacre, which was spreading to the area adjacent to the village, where five others had been killed. The Mohammedan population of the entire section is panic-stricken.

NOTHING IS DONE TO AID FARMERS MEMBER SAYS

"HOLLOW MOCKERY."

Tariff Closed Cotton Mill in New Brunswick Veniot Declares.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 20 (C.P.).—Another long list of members who desired to participate in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, was in the hands of the party whips to-day before the House of Commons opened. Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker of the House, will be the first speaker.

The Government yesterday withdrew partly from the debate and only one member from that side of the Chamber took part. From the Opposition side, however, a long list of members went into action, attacking the Government from many angles.

Agricultural Industry.

Conditions in the agricultural industry, particularly in the West, played a prominent part in the debate. Opposition members followed one another with charges that the present Government had done nothing to better farming conditions, to find markets abroad for wheat or lower the cost of production.

John Vallance (Liberal, South Vallance) told Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, the country was expecting him to make an early declaration of the Government's policy. The Minister informed him the conference held here earlier in the winter, which the Provincial Ministers of Agriculture attended, did not formulate the Dominion agricultural policy but dealt only with administrative detail.

The paragraph in speech from the throne dealing with agriculture as a "hollow mockery," H. E. Spencer (U. F. A., Battle River) exclaimed. It is a modern version of "Nero fiddling while Rome burned," he said, adding "If conditions become any worse, then God help Western Canada." He painted gloomy picture of conditions there, bankruptcy, suffering, priva-

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 20.—The largest amount of monetary gold ever held by any country is now concentrated in the United States, the Federal Reserve report shows.

With gold holdings totaling $4,685,000,000, the 1927 record was shattered and a margin of $1,000,000 over the four-year record was established. Currency in circulation throughout the country is now backed more than dollar-for-dollar. Gold wealth of the United States is more than seven times that reported yesterday by the Bank of England.

975 MEN SOUGHT SHELTER AT GAOL

PROVIDED WITH MEALS.

From the first of January until Wednesday of this week 975 men found temporary shelter in the police station at Cobourg.

And as evidence that this dislocation of labour and society has shown no recent improvement is the fact that seventy-five men were accommodated in the limited quarters during the first three days of this week, from Sunday until noon Wednesday. Thirty of these men registered on Sunday, and the others straggled in from the King's Highway during the next two days.

Provided With Meals

Nearly one thousand men, virtual tramps, sought a night's rest and warmth during those two months and a half. The cellar room for the stragglers offers scant comforts, but it is at least warm, and Chief Constable Ruse told The Examiner yesterday that these men had also been provided with meals at no cost to the municipality. The Chief had available for this charity a fund which he had received from certain sources which he declined to name, but the demands on it have been so steady that the balance was reduced to about six dollars this week, with the prospect of appealing to the town for any further meals that may be necessary.

Chief Ruse passed his 72nd birthday last Monday and on Sunday, March 22 he will have been 34 years in his position as Cobourg's Chief of Police. A dilligent, efficient and also kindly officer, he is widely known throughout the country. Two weeks ago he fell on the sidewalk near his home fracturing his shoulder, and has not yet recovered from the effects of this injury, although he is able to be at this office.

100.6 M.P.H. Is Set By U.S. Speed King Claims Two Records

Gar Wood, King of the United States' Water Courses, Captures Two Speed Boat Records — Average Two Way Speed of 100.6 Miles Per Hour.

LATE SIR HENRY SEGRAVE HAD RECORD OF 98.7 M.P.H. KAYE DON WILL ATTEMPT NEW MARK AT BUENOS AIRES

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 20 (C.P.). — Gar Wood, King of United States water courses, pushed his trim motorboat, Miss America IX., across a measured mile on Indian Creek here to-day to claim two new world speed boat records.

He set the first with an average two-way speed of 100.6 miles an hour. The second record, made 45 minutes later, was 101.154 miles an hour for an average of two runs.

Wood made three runs with his 2,200 horse-powered craft, his highest one-way speed being clocked at 101.6 miles an hour on a south-bound trip.

He made the north-bound trip at 99.860 miles an hour, and another south-bound trip at 100.54 miles an hour.

Wood selected the southbound 101.351 miles an hour trip with the northbound tour for his average two-way speed, figured by Odis Porter, official timer for the American Automobile Association and representative of the American Power Boating Association at 100.6 miles per hour.

The mark surpassed by nearly two miles an hour the mark set up by Major Sir H. O. D. Segrave on Lake Windemere, England, of 98.76 miles an hour.

Kaye Don Shoots Wednesday

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 20 (C.P.)—Gar Wood's new speed boat record will be in danger next Wednesday, when Kaye Don, ace of British drivers, attempts to establish a new mark with Miss England II., at Buenos Aires, Argentine.

Miss England II. is the same boat in which Sir Henry Segrave was killed while making the record of 98.7 miles per hour, which Wood broke to-day. The Englishman has announced his intention of taking his boat out for trial spin tomorrow and then shoot at the record next Wednesday.

HEALING POWERS OF GOD REVEALED IN LOCAL WOMAN

Sick For Two Years, Unable to Walk, Girl Now Shows Improvement.

ATTENDED REVIVAL.

Healing Which Began at Meeting Has Continued, Becomes Stronger Daily.

Sick for two years with tuberculosis and being unable to walk, a young girl was carried into one of the revival services at the Bethany Tabernacle, and through the miracle of God's healing was able to walk out unassisted, Rev. G. H. Johnson, pastor of the Tabernacle, told The Examiner to-day.

The healing, which began that evening, has continued and while Mr. Johnson declared that she is not yet completely cured, she has made a remarkable recovery.

Previously the girl, Alice Sheward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sheward, 33 Edison Avenue had been confined to her bed, Mr. Johnson said. She could not stand. Carried into the meeting by her father, she was placed upon a convalescent chair "She was prayed for," Mr. Johnson stated, "and at the conclusion of the meeting she was able to walk from the Tabernacle."

Made Rapid Strides.

Since that evening the girl has made rapid strides to recovery, he explained. She is getting stronger each day, and can now eat heartily. She has been going to the revival meetings quite regularly and walking about. Last night she rose to her feet and gave testimony of her cure through faith, and gave thanks to God, Mr. Johnson said.

"We do not want people to get a false impression of us from this," Mr. Johnson stated in telling of Miss

SUNKEN FORTUNE PROVES BIG LURE

Portland Men Plan to Use Diving Bell to Seek $3,000,000 in Wrecked Steamer.

FOUNDERED IN 1901.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20 (C.P.).—Lured by stories of a sunken fortune, Curtis Brothers, Portland and Seattle house movers, seek to salvage the passenger steamer Islander, which went down in Steven's Passage, Alaska, August 15, 1901, with a loss of 72 lives.

Frank Curtis was here to-day to get figures on machinery and equipment. He said the chief prize sought was $3,000,000 in gold dust, said to be locked in one of the ship's safes.

Another safe, he said, was reported to hold $400,000 in currency. Operations were to begin about May 1.

Curtis Brothers have contracted with C. H. and S. H. Wiley, Seattle, owners and inventors of a diving bell, for an equal division of all valuables recovered, in return for the use of the bell.

The diving bell, Curtis said, would enable them to descend to the 395-foot level, where the vessel lies. The bell was tested on the wreck last summer, he said, and several articles were removed from the ship.

The brothers plan to anchor a barge with lifting equipment over the wreck, rig cables under the hull and take up the slack at each low water, using the lifting power of 18-foot tides prevalent there to move the Islander to shallow water.

Nearly one-third of those imprisoned for debt in England last year had been convicted of dodging alimony.

RATEPAYERS OF BELMONT EXPRESS CONFIDENCE IN THE OLD COUNCIL

RESULTS INCOMPLETE.

HAVELOCK, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—That the ratepayers of Belmont are not in favor of recounts and unnecessary election expense, was demonstrated quite clearly by the voters who turned out in large numbers to elect a reeve and councillors to carry on for the remainder of the year. They returned the old council by greatly increased majorities in each case. The reeve, Frank Breckenridge, who had only one vote lead in the last election, piled up a majority of 111 votes in yesterday's poll. This is the lead given by seven polling places, with one other to hear from. A total of 567 votes was polled for reeve. Breckenridge got 339 and Griffith 228. In January the vote was Breckenridge 287, Griffith 236.

The vote for councillors yesterday was as follows:

At the election in January, Anderson headed the polls with 346. Vansickle was second with 272. Whitney was third choice with 207 votes and Steenburg had 201 votes. The head man this time is R. H. Vansickle with 336, with Steenburg a close second, and Anderson third. Of course the one silent poll may make a slight difference in the standing, but not

Plot Bared To Wreck U.S. Dirigible Akron

CLEVELAND, O., March 20. (CP) Discovery of the alleged plot to wreck the giant dirigible "Akron" was the outgrowth of an investigation of an alleged widespread sabotage plot against aircraft in this country, it was revealed here to-day.

C. F. Barndt, general manager of the Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation, said the crash of a navy bombing plane at San Diego, September 28, 1930, started the investigation which was climaxed at Akron last night with the arrest of Paul F. Kassay and his alleged confession of plans to wreck the huge dirigible.

LABORITE WINS IN PONTYPRIDD

TORIES GAIN 1,500 VOTES.

PONTYPRIDD, Glamorganshire, Mar. 20. (C. P. Cable).—The Labor Party was successful in retaining the Pontyprid seat in Parliament in yesterday's by-election, it was announced to-day.

D. L. Davies, Labor, was the victor in a three-cornered fight for the seat made vacant by the resignation from Parliament of T. I. Mardy Jones, Labor, who captured the seat for the Labor party first in 1922. Mr. Jones had been fined for misusing Parliamentary railway passes.

The vote to-day was as follows:

D. L. Davies, Labor, 20,687; Capt. G. Crawshaw Liberal 8,368; D. Evans Conservative, 5,467.

The Labor plurality of 12,319 was a substantial increase over the Labor plurality of 6,414 in 1929.

The result in the general elections had been: T. I. Mardy Jones, Labor, 20,835; J. V. Evans, Liberal, 14,421; Miss M. Williams, Cons., 3,967.

The Labor vote thus remained steady, while the Liberals dropped 6,000 and the Conservatives gained 1,500.

TAX INCREASED $18,000.

The deputation that met the Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. Price, at Toronto on Wednesday regarding the proposed separation of the town of Cobourg from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, included as representatives of the Counties, Warden G. H. Hooton, Reeve Rickard of Newcastle, chairman of the finance committee; Reeve P. Stinson of Millbrook, and Colonel F. C. Boggs, K.C., Counties' solicitor.

Representing the town of Cobourg were: ex-Mayor Willmott, deputy-reeves J. H. Davidson and W. Corbett, and Councillor Dr. Willughby.

The conference with the Attorney-General lasted more than an hour, at the end of which time Cobourg's representatives agreed to the withdrawal of the bill for the present time, and the delegates representing the Counties gave Mr. Price assurance that the question of making some adjustment in the equalized assessment would be taken up at the June session of the Counties' Council and given serious consideration.

Through the new equalized tax, Cobourg's obligation has been raised from $20,000 to $38,000, an approximate increase of $18,000. The Attorney-General made it known, during the conference, that it is eight years since any application of a town for separation from its county had been granted, Gananoque being the last to receive permission for the change. A number of other similar applications have been received, but have not been entertained by the government.

Police found a note, thrust under a service station door, in which "The Doctor" defied the greatest concentration of California police power in years to find him. The note read:

"I killed Virginia. I have performed a perfect crime. I am no degenerate. She did not suffer. You will never find me for I left no clew. It proves I am superior. "The Doctor."

MCQUIBBAN ARRAIGNS HYDRO POLICY

BUYING OF POWER BITTERLY SCORED BY LIBERAL WHIP

Cmmission Leaps Into Yawning Mouths of Capitalists Speaker Declares.

AROUSES TORY WRATH.

Principles of Public Ownership Have Been Torn Asunder is Assertion.

TORONTO, March 20.—Grave assertions that the great principles of public ownership, which Sir James Whitney and Sir Adam Beck laid down in connection with the Hydro enterprise, have been "torn asunder" and that it is now but a "distributing medium" for privately owned and controlled development were hurled in the Ontario Legislature, yesterday, by Dr. George A. McQuibban, member for Northeast Wellington and Chief Whip of the Liberal Party, and, although the debating was pushed to 12.30 this (Friday) morning, the statements remained unanswered from the Government side of the House.

Flaunting, in the face of Premier Henry and his Government, the details of Hydro contracts with Beauharnois, with Gatineau, with Ottawa Valley and with Maclaren, Mr. McQuibban, in blunt, belligerent mood, alleged that the Hydro Commission is fast becoming a closed corporation. That Maclaren, the Beauharnois and other companies merely issue their prospectuses, and the Hydro and Queen's Park do the rest—that the Province is sick to death of the full-dress parade and pleasing speeches about Hydro's activities—and that it is high time the veil of secrecy was removed, the lid of the Commission chest pried back and "the skeleton in all its details" revealed.

Arouses Tory Wrath

On several occasions the atmosphere of the House became electric when Dr. McQuibban jammed his shots home. Twice he tangled with Hon. John Robert Cooke, acting Hydro Chairman, and once he had the Prime Minister, whitefaced and visibly angry upon his feet, challenging the accuracy of his assertions. But the Alma physician went on his way serenely, drawing the unfettered applause of all opposition members, arousing the ire of the Government benches, and in between times hammering hard and fast to the policy of general condemnation on which he had embarked.

"Ontario needs power for its future needs" he stressed.

"Shopping for Power."

"There are a great many sources in the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa, as well as in Northern Ontario, and we know that industry follows the spark of electricity. The Government, through its Commisson, goes into Quebec. On the strength of its contracts, big companies spring into being. Ontario struggled long and valiantly to conquer private enterprise in this very branch of industry. The Legislature enacted, Parliaments convened, but now without a struggle the Commission leaps into the yawning mouth of capitalists. Ontario goes shopping for power to give impetus for industry, but it does not go on bargain day, and how in the world is it going to give this impetus to Ontario's industries? Its contracts make super-capitalists out of millionaires and the public funds of the Province pay the price."

Who stood on guard for Ontario at Beauharnois? demanded Dr. McQuibban. If this gigantic scheme goes through, he contended, it will postpone the seaway for one or maybe more generations. "As surely as night follows day," he asserted, "Hydro has hoisted the white flag of surrender."

Coupled with Dr. McQuibban in production of the pronounced "power" complexion which yesterday's debate continuation, in its early stages, assumed, was G. H. Challies (Conservative, Dundas) who, although preceding the Liberal Whip, appeared to have anticipated much of the trend of the Liberal's argument, and laid down a stiff line of defence of Government policy in respect of the St. Lawrence power and seaway development, the Hydro purchase of power from Quebec, and the sale of off-peak power by the Province to American interests.

Praise Power Policy

"When the time comes," said Mr. Challies, "to write the history of the Ferguson and Henry regimes in Ontario, two outstanding achievements will be credited to their Governments—their protection of Ontario's interests in the deep waterways project, and their solution of Ontario's power problems. It has been made abundantly clear that the Conservative Party in Ontario is solidly behind and ready to support the Great

Employment Slump Haliburton Camps

LINDSAY, March 20. (Special to The Examiner). — The few small camps which lumber companies operated in Haliburton county and other sections of this district have broken up, and reports indicate that never before was there such a slump in the industry as was the case this year. The depression in the lumbering industry has seriously affected many in the north country who looked forward as in past years to a winter's work in the woods.

A resident of the north who visited Lindsay to-day stated that the pulp wood industry in Haliburton was also hard hit. Not a car of pulpwood has been shipped out of the north this year, whereas last year large numbers of men found employment.

There has been some activity in the cutting of wood in the north this winter, A. H. Scott, of Harcourt township, has just delivered twenty cars of hardwood to the local alcohol plant of the Consolidated Distillers, Limited. There is still one hundred carloads to be delivered from the north to the plant.

Eldorado Man Injured Logging In Woods

QUEENSBORO, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—Harold Comerford, aged 26, of Eldorado, is in Belleville General Hospital, where he underwent a critical operation following an injury sustained while logging in the woods. Mr. Comerford was hauling a small tree when the chain broke, allowing the tree to fly back and strike him a severe blow in the side. A kidney was ruptured and had to be removed. He is recovering.

OFFICIAL TORY PROVES VICTOR IN ST. GEORGE'S

HEATED CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, March 20 (C.P. Cable).—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin breathed easier to-day, Captain A Duff Cooper, official Conservative, was victor in the hard-fought St George's, Westminster, by-election yesterday over Sir Ernest Petter, unofficial Conservative, who was backed by all the power of the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press in a campaign against the Baldwin leadership of the Conservative party.

Captain Duff Cooper had a majority of 5,710, the vote being 17,242 to 11,532.

The total vote was almost precisely the same as in the general elections of 1929. In 1929, however, Sir Laming Worthington- Evans, Conservative, was elected with 22,448 against 6,294 for J. G. Butler, Labor, a majority of 16,154. Sir Laming died a few weeks ago.

Leadership Vindicated

The Conservative Party leader was probably justified to-day in claiming that the vote was a vindication of his party leadership; a rebuke to the press Barons, whom he charges with "impudent meddling" in party politics." On the other hand, Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere had the consolation of knowing that the candidate they supported had cut deeply into the Tory vote; reducing the official party majority by as much as 10,444 votes from 1929.

The unyielding opposition of the Beaverbrook-Rothermere forces of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, who has never made much of an attempt to meet their policies, was never so clearly demonstrated as in the bitter campaigning that preceded yesterday's vote. It flared up into a public challenge from Lord Rothermere to Baldwin, to meet him in public debate on the Conservative Party leadership and policy. Mr. Baldwin faced this with a contemptuous rejection. "The idea that any member of the Conservative Party, to say nothing of its present leader, should publicly debate the question of the party leadership with a Peer who, so far as he is anything, is professedly a Liberal, is too impudent to deserve a moment's consideration," he declared.

Engineer of Propaganda

Mr. Baldwin followed this up with an outspoken broadside in which he declared the powerful newspaper organizations of the two Peers were nothing more than engine of propaganda, "existing to reinforce the personal wishes, dislikes and constantly changing policies of their proprietors."

And the electors of the fashionable St. George's Division, which includes Mayfair, agreed with Mr. Baldwin to the tune of a 5,000 majority.

Students Injured In Police Clash

MONTREAL, Que., March 20 (C.P.).—Injured during celebrations following the McGill victory over St. Francois Xavier last night in the Allan Cup playdowns, two McGill students were taken to hospital suffering from severe cuts about the head. It was understood the men received their injuries when students clashed with the police.

One of the victims was named Schnyder, but the name of the second, who was more seriously injured, was not given out as his parents reside outside the city. A fractured skull was feared.

In each case the student said he was an innocent bystander in the street when the melees occurred.

BRITISH CABINET NOW NUMBERS 22

SALARY $10,000.

LONDON, March 20 (By Thomas T. Champion, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—Though the number of Cabinet positions is increased from 21 to 22, by the elevation of Hon. Herbert Morrison, Minister of Transport, to Cabinet rank, the actual strength of the Cabinet remains at 21. The post of Lord Privy Seal, vacant by the death of Rt. Hon. Vernon Hartshorn recently, remains to be filled.

The Duchy of Lancaster was formerly a Cabinet position, when it was occupied by Sir Oswald Mosley, but on the resignation of that brilliant young Socialist, the Chancellory of the Duchy was relegated to a normal Ministry post, and is now held by Lord Ponsoby, a relative of Canada's new Governor-General.

Duties Increased

Mr. Morrison, now that he is in the Cabinet, will doubtless undertake considerable work in addition to his immediate duties as Minister of Transport. He is one of the Government's best spokesmen on the unemployment question, and, in addition, his office has always been regarded by Prime Minister MacDonald as worthy of Cabinet rank. Eric Geddes, when Minister of Transport, was a member of the Cabinet.

While most of the Cabinet members, including Premier MacDonald, receive $25,000 annually, Mr. Morrison will continue to receive $10,000. This is also the figure for six other members of the Cabinet—the Lord Privy Seal, Minister of Health, President of the Board of Education, Minister of Agriculture, Minister of Labor, and First Commission of Works.

Londoners Strike At Cut In Wages

LONDON, March 20 (A.P.).—Great Britain's roster of unemployed was swollen further to-day when a strike was begun in the electrical construction trade. Several hundred men ceased work and it was forecast than 2,000 to 3,000 would be affected by night, with the possibility that evenually more than 15,000 might lay down their tools.

The dispute arises from a five per cent cut in wages, effective this week, which the workers decline to accept.

Guayaquil-Quito Road Blocked By Landslide

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Mar. 20.—AP)—The railroad north from here to Quito was broken again at 6.15 p.m., last evening by a terrific landslide occurring at almost the same place a slide several months ago took the lives of nearly 200 workmen. The line had just been repaired after the former slide.

The slide occurred twenty minutes after a passenger train had passed over the stretch of rail. Two persons were injured and brought to Huigra, 73 miles from Guayaquil, where help was sought to clear the tracks.

Farmers Protesting Clearing Of Roads

LINDSAY, Mar. 20. — (Special to Examiner.)—Farmers in this district are protesting vigorously against the action of the Highways Department in removing all the snow from the highways and rendering it impossible for sleigh traffic. There is plently of snow on the side roads, but the highways proper are bare. This protest took definite shape at a meeting held in Sunderland this week when the township council unanimously passed a resolution petitioning the Highways Dept. to use more judgment in removing the snow from No. 7 Highway. The farmers feel that farmers and those who have to use the highway with horses deserve just as much consideration from the Department as motorists.

YOU CAN'T OUT-TRADE A TRADER

Motorists are learning to be frankly skeptical of too high an allowance on Used Cars

SOME DAY SOON you will need a new automobile and one of the first questions you will ask your dealer will be—"How much will you allow me on the old car?"

It is natural that you should want to get as much as possible, yet you know the old car isn't as good as it once was. It has gone ten, twenty, perhaps thirty thousand miles. Years of operation have depreciated its value. The best part of its useful life is behind it.

HAVE YOU EVER stopped to consider why one dealer will offer you $250 for it—another $300 or even $350? It's the very same car, yet here is a difference of $50 to $100 in the estimates of experienced automobile men.

Has one dealer made a mistake? Can you flatter yourself on having fooled him as to the condition of the car and made a good trade? No—there is little chance of that. It's the dealer's business to know car values.

When a dealer buys a used car from you, he does not buy it to keep. He takes it off your hands as an accommodation to you. He would be delighted if he never had to take a used car in trade.

IF HE PAYS you more than your used car is worth, then one of two things must happen. He must re-sell it to some one else at too high a price (which is not fair or just) or he must make up the difference on the new car. The dealer cannot afford to take a loss. The money must come from somewhere. Whether you know it or not, you pay the bill.

Before you enter the showroom, the big trade dealer knows you are going to be looking for a large allowance and that you will not buy his particular car unless you get it. So he is all set to give it to you. There is nothing casual or accidental about it. The dealer follows a plan that has been carefully worked out for him in advance. He will gladly give you $50, $75 or even $100 more in trade allowance because he makes just that much more on the new car. The dealer's profit in selling has been purposely increased to make that large allowance possible. You gain nothing. The dealer loses nothing. You receive the extra allowance in one hand. You pay it right back with the other.

THE FORD DEALER does not need such methods to sell the Ford car. He is an authorized representative of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and he does business on a fair, straightforward basis. He does not seek to take advantage of the public's known weakness for a "bargain."

The Ford charges for selling, financing and accessories are not increased to provide for a large used-car allowance. Value is built into the car. There is no water in the price.

The lower first cost of the Ford, the lower cost of operation, up-keep and service, and the added value of the shatterless glass windshield, four Houdaille DOUBLE-ACTING hydraulic shock absorbers, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, and Rustless Steel amount to far more than any seeming difference in trade allowance.

COBOURG TO GET $200,000 HOTEL

American Financial Interests Are Back of New Hotel Project.

FIXED ASSESSMENT.

COBOURG, March 20—American financial interests are behind a plan to build a $200,000 hotel at Cobourg on the site of the old Arlington Hotel. The contract has already been awarded, and the hotel will be completed within six months, stated Perry Alexander, of Florida, who will manage the hotel.

Special tax concessions were granted by the town council, Monday evening, whereby assessment is placed at $36,000 for a term of ten years. This is subjected to the provision that the work must be commenced within 60 days and the hotel in operation by January 1, 1932.

BUYING OF POWER BITTERLY SCORED

Lakes to ocean project. Secondly, the Federal Government has been made to understand that the project can only proceed upon the following principles.

1. That the power rights of this Province must not be interfered with.
2. That Ontario's power shall not be exported.
3.—That the cost of navigation improvements shall not be a charge upon power production.
4. That development shall be in accordance with the double-stage scheme which shall release power in quantities and at costs consistent with Ontario's capacity to absorb and to pay.
5. That the municipalities, the farms and the historic areas bordering on the St. Lawrence, which will be flooded must be fully protected and generously provided for.

"In National Interest"

He said that these five principles summarize the basis upon which the Government and the Hydro Commission are prepared enthusiastically to co-operate with the Federal authority in furthering the deep waterway project. He added that in Winnipeg in 1927 Mr. Ferguson had inserted in the plank of the Conservative Party "that the St. Lawrence canal system as an all-Canadian project should be developed in the national interest . . . and the sovereign rights of the respective Provinces in the development of power should be protected."

Power Contracts.

After a review of the history of power expansion in Ontario, Mr. McQuibban proceeded:

"Practically every extensive power development in recent years has been based upon some large contract with a big industry, or a distributing unit for power. The underlying principle of taking care of future requirements is sound. It should be practised in all lines of endeavor. The Commission has its staff. This comprises a very essential part of its duties, but it does not involve the desertion of the great established fundamental of Hydro, which is power at cost."

Maclaren Contract.

Relating a revew of power contracts, including Beauharnois, Gatineau, Ottawa Valley Power Company, Maclaren, Quebec, he went on: "So far the cost of power remains a secret as far as the Commission is concerned with its own developments.

"Now, let us examine the Maclaren contract. The first issue of bonds is $12,000,000, the whole issue is $18,000,000. Ontario gets its first power in 1933. What does the Hydro contract do? It pays all operation costs of the entire company before depreciation, and in addition one and a half times the interest on the entire issue of $18,000,000 worth of bonds. The interest on $18,000,000 at 5½ percent. at which the bonds are issued, is $990,000, therefore the profit from the Hydro contract, after paying all operation expenses, is one and a half times $990,000, which is $1,485,000. Now, the two contracts provide a total net earning of $2,177,000. Therefore the Maclaren contract cost the Maclaren company $692,000 for 66,000 horsepower, which is $10.50 per horsepower."

Some Cross-Fires.

After cross-fire with Mr. Cooke, the latter wanting to know if Mr. McQuibban ever went to the Hydro to get the figures verified, and Mr. McQuibban retorting that he was making his own speech, the Liberal member continued:

"In addition to this, the company has 54,000 horsepower left. If the entire output was sold at $10 per horsepower, this company would net a magnificent surplus, and in the final analysis they are to have a plant which is worth $30,000,000. All told, from Quebec, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has almost a million of this privately exploited power in readiness to transport across its publicly owned wires. In this item alone the cost to Ontario approximates $5,000,000 more than if the rates were $10 per horsepower, which is the price sold to the Quebec interests, in addition to the millions upon millions required to bind and control the current to its destination in Ontario. This cannot help but swell the cost of production, and limit our chances of world competition. We believe, and surely it is sound financial logic, that a power development which does not have to satisfy the dividend appetite of shareholders, who are presumably interested from that standpoint alone, can produce this power much cheaper than the other type. There is a vast difference between power at cost and power plus dividends."

"The Commission is fast becoming a closed corporation. Maclaren, Quebec, Beauharnois and other companies issue their prospectuses, their plan of finance, price of power, and business transactions. They have to do this in order to secure funds from the public. All that Hydro has to do is fill in its cheque and send it to Queen's Park to have it signed. Is there such a situation in Ontario as a surplus of power? It is a constant fature? Why all this secrecy surrounding it? It certainly would be a strange American company which would contract for a fluctuating load of horespower which might be shut off at any moment, subject to the fuse of local demand. If this is explained by an off-peak load, are there any similar conditions in our own Province which could absorb this power to much advantage?

Compensate for Exports.

"In 1929 the items of export to the United States totalled 122,000 horse-power, practically the same as we received from Maclaren, Quebec. It is an iniquitous thing, analysis. We develop 122,000 horse-power at Niagara, export it to the United States, and then go down to Quebec to compensate and buy 122,000 there, bring it to Ontario over extensive and expensive transmission lines, deliver it to Toronto at a loss probably of 10 to 15 per cent. depreciation. We pay an exorbitant price on the Quebec; by the time it reaches Toronto it is sky-high. This is the policy of this Commission. This is the policy of this Government.

Quotation of an interview by former Premier Ferguson and a statement by Mr. Magrath on this phase brought Mr. Cooke to his feet.

Mr. Cooke—Do you question the veracity of that statement?

Dr. McQuibban—No! Not a bit. That's why I'm reading it.

Mr. Cooke—What's wrong with the statement then?

Mr. Nixon—It doesn't line up with the former Premier's.

Premier Grows Angry.

Visibly nettled, Prime Minister Henry rose at this point with an appeal to "let's get things straight." Did the honorable member Dr. McQuibban) wish to leave the impression with the House, and with the Province at large, that the situation in the sale of the off-peak power at Niagara was to be placed on the same footing as the purchase by the Commission of the Maclaren power? Was that his statement?

Dr. McQuibban—that is my deduction.

Premier Henry—Then how can you confirm such a statement when 50,000 of that Niagara power was developed under contracts?

Dr. McQuibban resumed his address:

"Mr. Speaker, strange and mysterious it does seem, that this Commission should shed its virtuous mantle of public ownership—the final accomplishment of which is a tale as romantic as any work of fiction—and parade in the full view of the Province and indeed all of Canada, with the accessories of private entanglements. I do submit when this Commission places its part of the contract in its vault, it does so with the full realization of the details as to cost, profits and the financial data of the company with which it is dealing. In this House, Mr. Speaker, very little opposition or criticism have been encountered over these contracts up to the present time. It was a 'hands-off' policy. In this House, to criticize was an unholy thing; it was beyond the pale of possible wrong or misjudgment.

Lieut. Claude Nelson Dies In South America

From far away Peru comes word of the death of Lieut. Claude Nelson a former well known resident of Toronto and who has family connection in Peterborough district.

A graduate of Parkdale Collegiate the late Lieut. Nelson enlisted at the outbreak of the War in the 34th Battery and proceeded to France, with the Trench Mortar Battery, First Division. While overseas he was transferred to the 4th Division Battery, and won the Military Medal and a commission. On his return to Canada he accepted a position with the International Petroleum Company in Peru, which he held until his death last Sunday.

Surviving in Toronto are his mother, Mrs. Minnie Wilson, and two sisters, Mrs. P. Bicknell and Mrs. Stuart Holmes. He was the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nelson and nephew of Mrs. R. J. McWilliams of Bolivar street and Mrs. W. F. Trude of Smith township.

It is understood that the body is being brought home to Toronto for burial.

Following an explosion in a mine at Haig, England, which caused the death of 27 men, 1500 workers in the district struck until assured more safety, and the government has ruled that they are entitled to unemployment while striking.

MILLBROOK C.G.I.T. PLANS CAMPAIGN

Society Meets at Home of of Leader, Miss Marian O'Brian.

MILLBROOK, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence) — The weekly meeting of the Wide Awakes group of Canadian Girls in Training was held on Wednesday evening, at the leader's home, the president, Miss Marian O'Brian, taking the chair.

The intention to use the salute to the Canadian and the Christian flags in the opening ritual led to the appointment of a committee to report of prices for the national flag of the size required, and will be further considered at the next meeting.

A membership committee was appointed to canvass the girls of the community with a view to increasing the enrollment of the group, the names being: Phyllis Kidd, Martha Earle, Bryan Edmunds, and the president.

The matter of mission study in the regular program of the girls led to the appointment of the four leaders of the groups in the Golden Links Mission Circle, Marjorie Sayles, Dorothy McDowell, Betty O'Brian and Jean Burnham, as a committee to canvass al the C.G.I.T. members with a view to securing their attendance at the monthly meetings of the Circle. The C.G.I.T. program calls for regular mission study as one of its chief items, and the Wide Awakes group has followed the plan of affiliation with the Mission Circle, withdrawing its meeting one week in the month when the missionary organization has its gathering, with the understanding that all members, if possible, will be in attendance for the missionary instruction.

Suggestions for increasing interest in the weekly group meetings are to be asked from all members, any that promise better attendance, and larger membership, with profit to all to be adopted.

A new group 'yell' has been under consideration for some time, and a prize offered for the best lines submitted, the award to be one box of C.G.I.T. notepaper and envelopes, and one box of correspondence cards with the C.G.I.T. monogram. The contest is still open and all members are urged to enter.

The devotional period was opened with the usual ritual, the scripture lesson being read alternately from Matthew 4:18-25, with the talk and discussion centering on the one verse, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men." Prayer and the group benediction, closed the meeting.

During the social hour at the conclusion of the program marsh-mallows were toasted, and a pleasant time enjoyed. Next Wednesdy night the First Aid course will be continued with the third lesson in the series; eighteen girls were present for the lecture last week, and still others will enroll for the next period.

MARMORA, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—Greatest sympathy is being felt for Mrs. John Gray, who had the misfortune on Thursday morning to fall on the sidewalk, breaking her left wrist. She was taken to the residence of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Gray, where the fracture was reduced by Dr. D. Thomson.

The same day her son, Roy, who has been ailing for some time and is now seriously ill, was taken to Peterborough for medical examination.

PENSIONS GRANTED.

Correction of Press Report By Provincial Command of Canadian Legion.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 20 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Much discussion has been aroused of late in Legion circles over the press statement that out of sixty cases heard before the Pension Appeal Court, only two were granted.

The Campbellford Branch No. 103 Canadian Legion has received notification from the Provincial Command that this statement is far from correct. It states that careful investigation of the facts were made and it was found that the true position of affairs was as follows: Out of the sixty cases heard, 13 pensions were granted, 5 were referred back to the Tribunal for re-hearing, and 6 received leave to re-open before the Board of Pensions Commission. There were 36 unfavorable decisions making a total of sixty cases heard.

NOTHING IS DONE TO AID FARMERS

tion and hardship, figuring in his portrayal. There was something wrong when it took 30 bushels of wheat or 60 bushels of oats to buy one pair of boots. Mr. Spencer charged the banks were "still breaking the law," when they charged 8 and 9 per cent on loans and suggested to the Prime Minister that he spend more time in financing and less on tariff changing.

Cotton Industry Hit

A voice from Eastern Canada was raised in the debate when Hon. Peter Veniot, former Postmaster-General, said the tariff enacted at the special session had proven anything but beneficial to New Brunswick. One cotton mill in Saint John had closed and others were considering doing the same. Mr. Veniot appealed to the Prime Minister to accede to the request of Premier Baxter of New Brunswick and either cancel or lower the tariff on cotton.

Two Western Members, J. L. Brown (Lib.-Prog., Lisgar) and E. J. Young, (Lib., Weyburn) added dramatic effects to their speeches by producing exhibits. Both referred to the higher duties levied against socks at the special session and to strengthen their claims there is discrimination between those a poor man bought and those purchased by the rich, flourished socks before a somewhat startled assembly. Mr. Young claimed duty against the quality purchased by workingmen had been increased from 30 to 165 per cent while the tariff against socks of fine quality "such as the Prime Minister, himself, would wear," had been raised from 35 to 51 per cent.

"We know from the Government's figures," Mr. Young said "that the number of unemployed in Canada as 200,000 at the time of the special session and today, the number is 300,000". He asked how the tariff policy had aided the country, in contrast to what it cost.

Secession talk in Western Canada did not originate with five or six men gathered in Wilkie, Sask., as charged by F. W. Turnbull (Cons., Regina) Mr. Vallance declared. He referred to the incorporation of the farmers' charter of liberty, which, he said contained demands similar to those made to the Prime Minister at Regina. The only answer received then were promises, the Liberal member, claimed.

The Russian five-year plan would succeed, Mr. Vallance predicted. He believed it would have been wiser for the Canadian Government to agree to take Russian coal and sell that country machinery, rather than buy coal from United States.

Investigation of the flour industry was urged by Thomas Reid (Lib., N. Westminster). He charged a combine existed "to exploit the Canadian people."

Other speakers were Elie Bertrand (Lib. Prescott); Col. H. A. Mullins (Cons., Marquette) and J. K. Blair (Lib., North Wellington).

JUST A MATTER OF PRICE.

The present Government in Great Britain admits that trade with the Motherland is merely a question of finance.

This was made plain in the British Parliament yesterday when C. G. Ammon, Under Secretary to the Admiralty, was questioned as to why deal wood, formerly bought from Russia, is now being purchased in Canada.

The explanation given as to the change was that at the reduced price now ruling for Canadian deal it was more economical to get it from Canada.

The same questioner went on to interrogate Mr. Ammon as to whether the same yardstick was applied to all goods purchased from foreign countries, and as to whether all such transactions were chiefly a matter of finance.

"Yes," was the reply. "Russia is dealt with on precisely the same lines as other countries."

In other words, it would seem to be immaterial to the MacDonald Government where goods purchased by Britain come from so long as the price is right.

If Russian goods are cheaper than Australian or Canadian products, then Russian goods will get the call.

Mr. Cahan said the same thing in other words during the present debate at Ottawa the other day, and his statement was resented in some quarters—judging from the British Government's own admission, there was no reason why it should have been.

CANADA HAS DONE HER PART.

The suggestion that the Canadian Government should protest to the League of Nations against the use of St. Pierre and Miquelon as bases of supply for the sale of Canadian liquor into the United States is one that cannot be seriously entertained.

These islands are French possessions, and the control of what goes on there is a matter of French responsibility and concern.

There is no reason in the world why the Canadian Government should attempt to interfere in a matter that is in no way its business or affront a friendly nation by presuming to lay down a code of ethics for its guidance.

This country, in a gesture of good-will and neighborliness, has prohibited shipments of Canadian liquor into the United States, and in so doing away has lost millions of dollars in revenue.

Canada was right in that step, despite the cost—but having done that, she has done all that reasonable people could expect of her.

She cannot be asked to control the conduct of other nations or to guarantee that Canadian liquors will not in some way or another reach the thirsty American market.

If there is to be any request of France in regard to St. Pierre and Miquelon, let it come from the United States—Canada should not be asked to attempt the impossible.

NO POLITICAL INTERFERENCE.

Premier Henry's assurance that police commissions will be kept free from political influence will be gratifying to those who have been pointing out the danger in proposed changes in the composition of the bodies having under their jurisdiction the control of police departments.

The anxiety of municipal councils to have a closer control of the finances, not only of police departments, but of other public bodies for which the council must find the money, is easily understood.

But it cannot be allowed to develop into the whole matter of the administration of the police department being brought into the realm of municipal politics.

Once let the commission be placed on an elective basis or so changed that its policies can be decided by an elected majority and the way is open for the abuses that characterize police administration in many American cities.

There is always the danger under such circumstances that commissioners who are dependent upon the support of the electors for their positions will be tempted to use their influence in law enforcement matters—to the detriment of efficient police work and eventually to the destruction of effective enforcement.

There should be no politics, municipal or otherwise, in the control of police departments, and Premier Henry is well advised in issuing his emphatic statement that political interference will not be permitted.

IT GETS THERE JUST THE SAME.

Figures given out by the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa show that cutting off direct supplies of liquor from Canada into the United States is not having the effect of keeping Canadian liquor out of that country.

As a matter of fact, exports of Canadian liquor are greater than before—and it is evident that the bulk of these exports are still finding a market among our neighbors, although a more roundabout route has to be followed.

Although shipments to the United States were barred, the first two months of the current year saw 493,980 gallons of liquor leave Canada, as compared with 415,738 gallons in the same two months last year when United States shipments were submitted.

275,309 gallons was exported to St. Pierre, as compared with 84,000 gallons last year, while large shipments went to British possessions in the West Indies, and French Oceania in the Pacific, which had previously not received any Canadian liquor, imported 27,244 gallons in February of this year.

It does not take a vivid imagination to realize what is happening to those increased shipments, or to appreciate the fact that the United States aridity is being relieved via St. Pierre and the West Indies, and the dryness in the Phillipines from the French Islands in the Pacific.

SOMEBODY'S GETTING PANICKY.

There was a strike of garment workers in Toronto recently. As is customary on such occasions, a certain amount of ill-feeling was displayed on the part of those who had struck work because of what they termed harsh conditions of employment against other workers in the plants who stayed on the job.

At one factory a striker named Rose Hendleman was arrested for throwing what the police said was a piece of ice at a non-union worker. The girl said it wasn't a piece of ice but a snowball. The difference of opinion is immaterial, because anyway, being a woman, she didn't throw straight and missed her object.

When she came into court a friend spoke to her and she laughed. She is a Ukrainian, and the prosecution described her as "a bad type of Ukrainian." The result of the case was that she was sentenced to thirty days in jail, and ordered to be deported at the end of that time.

Rose Hendleman did what about two thousand other people did. She went on strike for better working conditions. She threw a piece of ice, or a snowball, at a strike breaker, and for that she is to be thrown out of the country. No evidence was put before the court to show that she was a bad character and an undesirable citizen. Perhaps somebody's dignity was hurt when she laughed in court.

If the authorities really want to rid Canada of the Communistic menace they should start with the higher-ups and not with the small fry. There are plenty of "big shots" engaged in spreading the Bolshevist virus among our citizens who are allowed to go on without interference. Why not get afte the people who run the Communist Sunday schools and teach mere boys and girls that religion is "bunk" and that the real religion is the destruction of the present social order?

Some of the prosecutions of Communists in Canada are like the liquor prosecutions in the United States. The authorities go after the little peddler of the bottle of home brew but leave the rum barons alone.

Rose Hendleman is to be deported because she threw a piece of ice at somebody! At any rate no other charge was made against her. Somebody is getting panicky and needs a lump of ice on the crown of his head to cool his brain.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

RUSSIAN FARMERS AND WAGES.

Moscow's decision to introduce the piece-work wage system on the collective farms will be received outside of Russia with considerable surprise and bewilderment. The report comes at a time of far-flung discussion of the Five-Year Plan as an instrument of production superior to the methods of capitalist industry. The hopes entertained in Soviet quarters from the reorganization of agriculture suggest that the Communist experiment may be subject to the same test as the one laid down for identifying a good play by one of the critics in Bernard Shaw's "Fanny's First Play." If the new show is by a good playwright, it is a good play. If it is by a bad playwright, it is a bad play. In the hands of the Soviet Government any instrument it chooses to pick up is the best concevable. No sooner does Moscow decide to introduce payment in proportion to services rendered, on the capitalist model, than the expectation is announced of "results in output far exceeding the Five-Year Plan." Such a thing is not inconceivable; but it is hard on the Five-Year-Plan enthusiasts outside the borders of Soviet Russia.

In the longer result, introduction of the piece-work system on the collective farms does not impress one as a surrender to capitalism. Indeed, the sponsors of the new policy may meet criticism from the Communist orthodox by pointing out that the ultimate gain more than offsets the immediate impairment of the pure doctrine. The collective farms represent, in theory at least, the pooled land, equipment and labor of individual farmers, now estimated officially at Moscow at nine million families. Even in the numerous cases where adhesion to the collective was effected by force, the status of the members of the collective would be that of equal partners in an enterprise of their own. The collective would have the character of a co-operation of owners. With the introduction of piece work, of the idea of wages in itself, this character of co-operative ownership begins to fade, the individual farmer becomes an employee, his position is assimilated to that of the worker in the nationalized factories.

Hitherto only the State Farms, as distinguished from the collectives, were operated on the factory principle; they are, indeed, known as Grain Factories. Now the collectives are to be industrialized in the factory sense. The same news dispatch which speaks of the new wage plan quotes the Soviet Commissar of Agriculture as saying that the day of the kulak, the rich peasant, is passing, and that in some regions he has already disappeared. But with the establishment of a wage system in the collectives, the so-called middle and poor peasants are facing a similar fate. In fact, the peasant as peasant disappears in this system to make way for the agricultural hired man working on a farm which belongs to the State in practice, as it has always done in theory. This is what the outside world has long described as State Capitalism.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Evidently they're having an interesting time down at Ottawa these days. Unfortunately, however, the country's business is not going ahead very fast.

Canada has a radio receiving set for every 20.8 persons, according to the latest figures. Now estimate the number of times "The King's Horses" is heard in a week.

It is reported that the wolf bounty in Ontario is to be raised, a step that will be welcomed by every hunter, who is aware of the ravages of the wolf packs.

Farmers' daughters, living at home, are to be given the privilege of voting at municipal elections. Seeing that their brothers have been allowed to vote, there is no reason why the girls should be deprived of the right.

Ottawa is evidently in for a long session. Mr. Bennett had better not be in too great a hurry in arranging for the Imperial Conference.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By ALICE ROSS COLVER

At last, however, the smallest of them all grew restless and scrambled up to chase a rabbit. The rabbit escaped, but, caught by something gleaming ahead of her, the child ran on, bent over the bright object, and pulled it up. With an excited cry of delight she held it to her and rushed back to show the others her find. Then the oldest girl was visited by an inspiration. They would give this beautiful gift to the Goddess. It would please her. It was like nothing they knew. It was pretty and sparkling, and she would see it and smile and play with them once more.

So, delighted at their idea, they hastened pellmell back to the drooping figure of the girl, and then, slightly abashed by her silence, they approached more slowly until, without a word, Creep-Foot suddenly thrust one of Lorraine's old, gold slippers under her nose.

The effect this produced was bewildering. The goddess laughed—yes—but she cried also. And, though she hugged them all, the tears were running down her face all the time. And she talked—such talking! But finally there was accomplished what they hoped for. The Goddess picked up four sticks, two big and two little, and began to play their favorite stick game. It was a simple enough business, consisting of guessing how she laid them down; and their guesses they explained by diagrams on the sand. This entertained them for a long while.

But in time even the children wearied, and they all rose to stretch themselves and race about in the sunshine. It was then that Lorraine perceived a distant figure, a man on horseback, approaching in a straight line from where she figured the canyon to be in which she and Dirk had spent such tranquil days. Shading her eyes with her hand, she stared and stared, wondering if it was Silver Tongue returning so early, and not convinced until the children recognized him and waved joyful greetings.

Then, impulsively, without thought of anything but her need to speak to him alone, she hurried them all to the top of the path to the canyon and dismissed them in gestures not to be misunderstood. She must hear that the wire had gone, that Dirk was safe and well and waiting, that she and the others would not be harmed by his people, who were angry at Washington officials. Oh! What luck to have him return at this time, with Scarface far down the canyon in the opposite direction! They could talk in safety and undiscovered here. They could talk—she could ask and ask such things as troubled her—all the things she must know about Dirk——

In a trembling impatience she watched the children disappear down the trail, then she turned and rushed toward the Greek Temple to meet the deliberate Indian. Her thoughts were in a turmoil. What should she ask first? What did she want most to find out? And how far could she trust his replies? Since her glimpse of the Indian men working on their weapons all her confidence had fled, yet what else was there to do but rely on this one Indian among them who was the most friendly, the only one able to help her in her helplessness? But when he finally reined in his tired pony and looked coldly down at her, with frank displeasure on his features, she became frozen with fear and could only stare back at him in dumb appeal.

"Estsanatlehi invites trouble when she arranges to meet Silver Tongue alone."

"But we are safe," she protested. "They are all in the canyon. And Scarface has gone way down the trail—hours ago." She paused to gain some self control, but her words burst from her without thought. "I couldn't wait! I had to know! Don't you see I did? Oh, tell me—did you find him? Was he very sick? Was he better this time? Does he understand everything——"

"Silver Tongue sent the words on the magic wire to the white girl's father," he replied indirectly.

"Yes. Thank you. I wanted to know that, and I'm sure Dad will repay you for your trouble. But Dirk—why don't you tell me?" For some reason fright sprang unbidden into her heart. "Oh—" she breathed. "You found him, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"He—he——" She shrank away from the stolid Indian, unable to voice her fear. "He — wasn't dead?"

"Not then," he answered in his calm deliberate way.

Not then! What did that mean? Silver Tongue went on: "Silver Tongue found the white man half way up the canyon path that morning and Silver Tongue told him all. But the white man did not believe. When Silver Tongue returned he found the white man gone."

"Gone!"

It was the merest, most pitiful whisper. Dirk had not believed. He had struggled up to the desert, delirious, half starved, wounded, a week ago. Now at last she understood the full import of the Indian's words, "Not then." Mute, despairing, she could only cling to the bridle of the pony and stare dazedly at that dark wooden countenance above her.

"But—you must go find him," she ventured at last, attempting an authoritative voice.

At that the girl swayed and closed her eyes, while the world reeled about her. When she recovered, she found herself being held in the saddle by the strong arm of Silver Tongue, who stood below her, facing an infuriated Scarface. It scarcely needed any imagination on her part to interpret the words he was saying, and she listened to Silver Tongue's translation in utter misery and hopelessness.

"Scarface finds it strange that Estsanatlehi the Goddess of the Navajos, can talk ony the white man's language."

She nodded.

"Silver Tongue is sorry. He warned the white girl. But now Scarface says the white girl must die."

Chapter XVII
THE RESCUE PARTY

The Potter ranch lay on the outskirts of Phoenix, a calm and peaceful spot on this bright October morning. Far out in the green alfalfa field was an airplane, as motionless as the blue sky above it. Closer by the house there was the lazy hum of a tractor, as it toiled slowly up and down an unfurrowed pasture. Still nearer about the barns could be heard the casual singing of a few Mexicans who were milking cows in the corral. It was a quiet place, giving no indication of the immense excitement stirring within the long, low adobe ranch house.

Yet, even here, a first glimpse of the group of men about the table in the big dining room would not have revealed anything unusual afoot. They stood or sat about in a careless kind of ease; their voices were low, and they spoke with a measured thoughtfulness. But a closer scrutiny showed a tenseness beneath the manner of nonchalance, an alert readiness to spring into action, and, in the eyes and faces of all, a high emotional excitement.

Adam Potter, the big, bearded Arizonian, clad in a flannel shirt and old corduroys, tucked into high boots, appeared to be the leader. About him were grouped the others. Hines and Rockwell, clean shaven, white collared, immaculately dressed business men from Los Angeles, oddly out of place in their surroundings, sat in the only easy chairs in the room. Kent, in a knicker suit, reminded one of a small dog, quietly alert, wiry, and possessing in his small compact form a tireless fund of nervous energy that would carry him a long way. He had drawn his chair close to the dining room table, and was engaged in listening and contributing to the conversation, as well as writing out a telegraphic message on a pad at his elbow. Stephen Moore, standing next to Potter, seemed, in contrast to his brown ruggedness, to be frailer and more poetic looking than ever, with his pale face and dark, intense gaze and long locks of black hair. Close behind him, sprawled on a shabby sofa and astride a chair, were the other youngsters of the party, Vincent Minor and Jack Ashton. Minor's blond youth radiated humor and friendliness and a kind of immense, nerveless strength, while Ashton's dark, closed expression made him appear a man of action rather than of words.

"There are seven of us," Potter was saying. "Scarcely a formidable array against a bunch of red men aroused to murder, but any mor wouldn't be of enough help to matter. I can get a few more recruits, however, if you——" he looked inquiringly at Kent.

"Let's not delay by making the party too cumbersome to outfit and move quickly, and let's not have any more people killed than necessary. We are all interested for personal reasons, except Hines and Rockwell, and I don't think they ought to come. However——" He let that drop at a gesture from Hines. "And, any way, it's as you say, Potter. A few more or less aren't going to matter. We've got to pull this off ourselves—unless Washington sends us help. How do we go from here? By airplane?"

"We could of course. Your plane—Moore's rather—and mine would carry us all. But we can't go all the way, because there's no landing place where the Navajos have their Mountain Chant. The country is the wildest you can imagine. Simply miles of upheaved rocks. Nothing can go over it but horses."

"Where can we pick them up?"

"At Tom Powell's trading post. I've already wired ahead for Tom to have a dozen in readiness."

"You know the way from there?"

Potter nodded.

"But Tom knows it better. He'll leave his store in charge of his wife and come with us, I think."

"Fine. And we can get to Powell's trading post tonight——"

"If we fly, I'm not sure that's the best thing to do, however."

"Why?" snapped Stephen Moore.

"We could land there all right, but I'm not so sure we could get away in a hurry. The sand is soft. The planes might not rise and you must remember we might be in a deuce of a hurry."

"I see. Then——"

"Besides," pursued Potter, "the Indians know automobiles. They are used to them. It is scarcely likely that the red men left loitering about the trading post, or coming there in our absence, would give our cars a second glance. But an airplane is a thing of mystery and fear. Their curiosity might lead to disastrous results—for us."

"We can afford to make haste slowly," Kent said, and the others gave him a look of admiration for his self-control and calm composure. "Silver Tongue named the day of the Fire Dance for us to meet, and that, you say, Potter, does not occur until the ninth night—the last of the Mountain Chant ceremony. We have, then, twelve days in which to get there."

Potter agreed with a nod.

"Just the same, we'll get there as soon as possible, and get hold of Silver Tongue and your daughter as soon as possible. Because, if Washington doesn't turn up with troops, we want to be well on our way back before the last night. That's the time set for their uprising."

Kent nodded.

"We must plan as though Washington were not going to be heard from. It's settled, then, that we go from here by automobile to Powell's trading post and from there to the Fire Dance on horse back. When do we start?"

"As soon as we outfit. I'll drive in to Phoenix now and get what we need. Food, guns, ammunition. Blankets I have, and a cooking outfit——"

"I'll go with you to the telegraph office and send this off. I doubt if there's any word there for me, still——"

Cardinal Dies

NOTED PRELATE

Cardinal Maffi, twice papal possibility and prominent in sacred college, who, following a long illness, is dead at Pisa, Italy, in his 74th year.—Copyright by Acme Newspictures.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES"

If March 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 2:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. The danger hours are from 1 p.m. to 2:15 p.m., from 5:15 p.m. to 6:10 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10:15 p.m.

March 20th holds out, according to astrological indications, great hope, especially insofar as human relationships are concerned. Old sores will be healed and a new plane of understanding established. Keeping to the beaten track in business is counselled.

Notwithstanding the fidgitiness of the child born on this March 20th, it will be methodical in its habits and possess, in no small degree, the acquisitive faculty. In mature years, it will "eat up" responsibilities, never seek help from outsiders, and will be devoted to its family.

If you were born on March 20th, you are generous and sparing of the feelings of others, always ready to concede what others in reason demand. Your convictions are strong, but you are prepared at all times to admit that those who oppose your views may be just as sincere as you are. In an argument, you are forcible, but never dogmatic.

You are friendly and well-liked, always choose your words carefully, and endeavour to avoid giving offense, and try to please. You have, however, plenty of back-bone, and your actions show that outside opinions have, in no way, influenced yours. You have exceptional intuitive faculties, and acting on your "hunches" is always your trump card.

It would be a mistake for you to be associated with partners in business. In order to attain success, you must go it on your own. You neither have the patience nor the time to explain to others what you intend to do, and why you are going to do it. The Signs denote that you will, once you get into your stride, travel extensively, and in your case, this will prove of great educational advantage. You will not find much pleasure in a home, but will never be happy without a companionable mate.

COUNTY TAX RATE

Court House, Peterboro' March 18.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

A reference to the rates of County for 1931 is, as I told the reporter somewhat premature. In conversation with such reporter I stated that it would not be wise to refer to 1931 rate as the Council had not decided as to the rate. I said it appeared as though an increase of 3.600 mills would be required.

Increase in demands have resulted in the following current deficits: Dec. 31, 1927, $6,868.05; Dec. 31, 1928, $11,996.99; Dec. 31, 1929, $20,265.02; Dec. 31, 1930, $37,544.40; 1928 increase $5,128.94; 1929 increase, $8,268.03; 1930 increase, $17,279.38.

School disbursements exceeded estimates by $8,000.00 largely due to County pupils taking advantage of attending the local Collegiate Institute that has been opened for such pupils recently. The Provincial highway exceeded the 1929 demand by $17,500.00. New demands such as Mothers' Allowances, Old Age Pensions and Indigents' bills at institutions, have all been more than expected.

It is not known yet what the rate will be this year and any reference is but a matter of conjecture. In each of the former years the rates have been increased save one, but as stated new demands over which the Council had no control is 90% responsible for such increases.

Yours respectfully,

Ed. M. Elliott, Treas., C.P.

The attendance during the past month has been very bad. Under the new system the grants paid by the Department are based to some extent on the attendance. The school profits therefore financially if our boys and girls are present and loses proportionately by their absence.

A number of these pupils were absent for some of their tests, therefore these pupils have a lower average than usual.

NORANDA ACTION FEATURES MARKET

Base Metal and Higher-priced Golds Respond to Improved Feeling on Standard.

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (C.P.) — Spectacular action in Noranda continued to feature trading on the mining market in the forenoon today, with base metal and higher-priced golds responding to the improved feeling for the better class of mining stocks.

On the opening Noranda jumped from $24 to $26 bid, rose steadily to a high of just over $27 and was up $2.60 from last night at $26.50 when taken at mid-day. International Nickel joined in the movement, rising to just below $21 and standing up 60 at $20 at noon. Hudson Bay met renewed demand and a gain of 40 at $5.90 and Pend Oreille, Falconbridge, Sherritt Gordon and Chibougamau Prospectors were stronger. Waite-Ackerman lost 4 to $1.70, on profit-taking.

Dome sold as high as $12 and was up 10 at $11.75 when taken. Hollinger gained a like amount to $8.30. McIntyre advanced a half to $22.50 and Teck Hughes 5 to $7.40. Brownlee was the feature in the lower-priced stocks, price advancing briskly to 12 and standing up 3 at 11 at noon. Eldorado and South Keora were somewhat easier in tone.

Peninsular Pete, off a cent to 20, displayed the only change in the lower-priced oil stocks.

CANADA'S IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY.

The growth of the iron and steel industry in Canada is shown by statistical records. According to the census of 1870 there were then 4,000 firms in the iron and steel industry employing 27,666 men, and having a capital investment of 9-3 million dollars. By 1900 the industry had expanded until it employed 34,000 people and produced goods valued at about 48,000,000 dollars. The development between 1900 and the war was practically continuous, and in 1928 the total output rose to 609,632,999 dollars, with 119,199 men employed and a salary list of 168,320,038 dollars.

LEAD PIPE AND WASTE REDUCED

The ingot lead price in primary markets has followed a downward trend, until it is now between four and five cents a pound. This lowering of basic costs has influenced the price structure of manufactured lead products. Last week some producers of lead pipe and lead waste made a reduction in their prices to wholesalers amounting to three-quarters of a cent a pound. This reduction is being passed on to the trade by Toronto jobbers, who announce a similar decline in their quotations. So far solder is holding comparatively steady. Ingot tin has advanced in London, England, following the announcement of a proposed curtailment of production program between countries, where this metal is available.

NEW ROPE PRICE CARDS ISSUED.

Rope prices for the second period of 1931, March and April, will remain without change from first period prices, according to the price cards issued during the week by cordage companies. There has been a revision in the price of clothes lines, however, and new prices are lower than formerly.

Wholesalers have put into effect a considerable reduction in their prices of leather soles. The hide market has followed a weak trend in price for some time, and that is said to have been partly responsible for this decline.

SILVER DEFLATION ASCRIBED TO HEAVY SELLING BY INDIA

Lack of Support by China, Indo-China and Abyssinia Also Blamed.

USED DOMESTIC PURPOSES

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (Written for The Canadian Press by E. F. Brayham).—The immediate cause of the fall in the price of silver, of which Canada produces about 8 per cent of the present world's supply, may be traced to the heavy selling of this metal by India, steadily throughout the past year, and also to the marked absence of support from other quarters, such as China, Indo-China and Abyssinia, three great silver using countries.

Certain interests during the past few months have attributed the decline in silver values as being directly responsible for the prolongation of the world-wide depression. While this may be true when localized and summed up in conjunction with other factors, yet the fact remains that bi-metallism was doomed long before the prosperity which preceded this deflation was evinced. Therefore interests close to silver production had adequate reason to foresee the trend. Just what circumstances were actually responsible for the white metal's plight may best be appreciated by a presentation of facts leading to the world's virtual abandonment of silver standards.

In so far as Canada is concerned, production of silver had decreased substantially. Within recent years, however, due to the opening up of numerous mixed mineral mines, increases in silver output, purely as a by-product, have been registered. The two great buyers of silver in this market are India and China.

India has been absorbing the white metal at an alarming degree since the days of the Mighty Moguls, both for purposes of decoration and currency, while China has been drawing heavily upon the world's silver markets for similar purposes since the days of the Ming Monarchy. World production of silver from the time of the discovery of America has been more than fourteen billion ounces, or about fourteen times the weight of the world's gold production. But more silver has been produced since 1888, a period of 43 years, than was produced in the four preceding centuries. The great silver countries of the past were Germany, Austria, Hungary, Japan and Sweden. These were followed by large producers in Bolivia, Peru, Mexico, the United States and Canada. While the United States produced more silver during the last half of the 19th century, it also topped the world in gold production. While only 14 times as much silver as gold (in weight) has been produced in the past four hundred years, to-day the yellow metal is worth nearly eighty times more than silver.

Canada ranks third among the world silver producers at present, being outdistanced by Mexico and the United States. In the latter countries, however, during the past year production has been curtailed, but owing to a lack of demand, stocks have increased. Production of silver in Canada has been downgrade during the decade 1911-1921, but since then increases were registered. The average price of silver during the past decade has been downgrade and excluding the year 1926, when the Silver Commission on India's currency system disclosed its report, 1930 showed the largest drop in any one year.

NICKEL TAKES MARKET LEAD

Issue Turns Over in Increasing Quantities as Stock Rises to New High Over 20.

NORANDA UP 4 POINTS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (C.P.)—Toronto Stock Exchange market gave one of its bullish demonstrations of the year today with International Nickel back on its accustomed place as market leader and affecting sentiment concerning the entire list. Nickel turned over in increasing quantities as the stock advanced strongly during the morning, rising to a new high above 20.

Noranda provided the sensation from a price standpoint, shooting up more than three points from the opening to a 1931 record of 27½. While Noranda overshadowed nickel in its gain, nickel today had the greater turnover, which reversed yesterday's condition. Both issues were easier at mid-day but only slightly down from their tops.

New highs were also made by Westons, Canada Wire and Cable, "B" Goodyear common, Photo Engravers and Hamilton Bridge. Westons rose by jumps of two and three points to 45, 10 points up from yesterday. Canada Wire was up between one and two points, Goodyear a like amount, Hamilton Bridge up 1½ points and Photo Engravers up nearly 3 points at 28. Ford equalled its previous top of 28⅝.

Oils were dull and heavy. Brazilian was easier at 25.

HEALING POWERS

Sheward's case, "We believe that God can heal. We do not claim that this girl is completely recovered, but she has made a wonderful advance, and with continued faith no doubt will be wholly cured. It is but another example of God's healing and the power of prayer.'"

"Yes, Alice is improving greatly since she began attending the services," Mrs. Sheward, the girl's mother, said, when The Examiner sought more information on the case. "She is stronger and she can stand and walk about, something that she hadn't been able to do for months before."

Mrs. Sheward said that her daughter had been sick for three years and three months and up until her attendance at the meetings in the Tabernacle had been steadily getting weaker. Hope for her recovery had been all but abandoned, but now the girl and her parents were filled with new trust that the girl would recover.

Alice is twenty-two years old Mrs. Sheward said. The girl was resting in bed when The Examiner called, but Mrs. Sheward stated that toward evening she is now able to get up and walk about.

The girl had made arrangements to attend to-night's meeting in the Tabernacle.

Australia's Dream City May Be Scrapped

Abandonment of Canberra, Australia's federal capital dream city, which cost $66,000,000, is being urged by many leaders in public life, and business men. If these leaders have their way, it would be returned to the sheep which once grazed on its broad acres, as it is isolated and its maintenance is costly. Its roads, gardens, public buildings, hotels and homes are among the best in Australia, but because the city was designed eventually to accommodate a big population, its buildings are scatetred over 900 acres. The pictures above show: Top, left and right, the home of the Governor-General and the Prime Minister's home. Below is a view of the temporary Parliament Building, which was erectedat a cost of $3,500,000.

Artificial Respirator Keeps Child Alive 14 Hours

Photograph shows the Drinker respirator, rushed to the Hospital for Sick Children from the University of Toronto, physiological and hygiene department. By means of mechanical respiration six-year-old Alice McGoldrick of Cochrane, Ont., was kept alive from 6.40 p.m. Sunday until 9.05 a.m. Monday. The child died, however, of brain tumor. Officials of the hospital are eager to secure a similar apparatus for permanent use, claiming that it would save the lives of many prematurely born babies and children suffering from infantile paralysis. MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (Special to Examiner).—Noranda gave market followers another exciting session in the forenoon today, price moving over three points above last night's close for a time. International Nickel joined in the cation price advancing above $20, and Brownlee which recently announced resumption of operations on its property adjoining Noranda to the north, moved briskly higher in reflected glory.

The importance of gold in the mining picture these days is evidently not being overlooked by the street. Noranda's strength is largely attributed to the ligh grade gold copper ore encountered in deep drilling, while the bulk of recent market activity has been supplied by stocks of companies who are either developing or have acquired gold properties.

Another sing of the times is the tendendy for companies to change their names to more closely identify them with the gold mining industry. Moss Mines has been changed to Moss Gold Mines, Ltd., and reports from Ottawa state Locarno Copper mines, whose principal holdings in Nova Scotia and Quebec are gold properties, also plans to change its name to Locarno Gold Mines, Ltd., A special general meeting of Locarno shareholders will be held on March 31 to ratify this proposal and a plan to increase the capital by 2,000,000 shares to finance a program of development this spring.

Opening of a stope in the ore shoot opposite the shaft at the 4,000 level at Kirkland Lake gold is reported to be giving excellent results. On Friday, the 13th when too much of the high grade got into the mill recovery was $3,700 instead of the usual $2,000. This shoot where opened on the 3,875 level, is a very rich one, but the 4,000 drift had not previously shown much of the same grade ore.

Hollinger Consolidated is sending down a deep diamond drill hole from the 2,700 level. An attempt will be made to reach vertical depths from surface, of 6,000 to 7,000 feet. While the location is not given it is understood the hole is in the older portion of the property, and in that case it is believed the management will be as much interested in the geology and formation penetrated as in the ore intersections.

KIWANIS SEE

Board of the Chamber; they are also represented in smaller measure on the Board of Education and the City Council.

The attendance this noon was 85 per cent.

Mr. Marshall was booster for J. Wells Fraser and capably outlined his wide and varied business career and his long and honored service with the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Dr. Neal's pictures commencing with dockside scenes showing the huge and palatial liner pulling out of Los Angeles provided a complete and comprehensive record of the entire tripe and proved both instructive and interesting.

Scenes enroute across the Pacific, portrayed various deck games in progress, and "shots' taken from the side of the vessel. The first pictures of land vividly show the volcanic nature of this group of eight islands which make up the Hawaiian group.

The temperature on the islands, remarked the doctor, is seldom above 85 degrees and the variation is only about 25 degrees.

He recalled meeting the proprietor of one of the numerous beautiful hotels, who was a native of Haileybury, Ontario. He had left Canada for a short rest at the time of the disastrous fire at Haileybury, but had found life so congenial in this subtropical zone that he had little desire to return to his native land.

Japanese Population

About 80 per cent. of the population on the islands is Japanese, and pictures were shown of 500 schoolchildren at physical training exercises. Of that large group of children there were no Americans, there numbers being made up of Japanese, Portuguese, Samoans, etc. The children are taught to salute the Stars and Stripes every Friday.

That the Hawaiins are lovers of music was amply demonstrated in the pictures the two native guides employed by Dr. Neill and his wife carrying with them Hawaiin guitars which they strummed whenever opportunity afforded. A love of music is one of the characteristics of these people, and they delight in singing and dancing.

The delights of surf riding, at which the Hawaiins are very expert, were cleverly shown, the pictures having been taken from the deck of an outrigger canoe.

Other scenes conveyed the impression of a very verdant group of islands, particularly adapted to the growing of sugar canes and cocoanuts. There are numerous monuments erected at different points to the memory of Dr. Cooke the English explorer who discovered the islands.

RAIL ISSUES LEAD ACTION

U. S. ALCOHOL DOWN 7.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 20.—(C P)—Bears were again forced into retreat intodays stock market, after taking advantage of dividend doubts to cause momentary unsettlement.

Persistent buying of selected issues went ahead despite sharp breaks in a few spots during the morning, and pivotal industrials were well supported. By early afternoon, shorts began to cover in the rails, and this group, which has recently weighted heavily on the market, turned upward.

Drops of 7 points in U. S. Industrial Alcohol, and 2 in National Cash Register, the latter penetrating new low ground, were accompanied by a sagging tendency all around for a time. Allied Chemical rose 4 points however in response to a better than expected annual statement, and several issues pushed up 2 or more, including New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, McKeesport Tinplate, Westinehouse Electric, Stone and Webster, Drug, Inc., Worthington and Vanadium, National Surety, shot up nearly 10 points to the year's best price. Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck, Associated Dry Goods, Safeway, Radio, Goodyear, American Can, Southern Pacific, New Haven, and Dupont were among issues gaining a point or more, U. S. Steel and General Motors moved narrowly.

Hamilton Bridge Is Up 1½ Points At Montreal

MONTREAL, Que., March 20. — (C.P.)—The Montreal market was a little stronger at noon than it was at the opening of the trading to-day. Hamilton Bridge advanced 1½ points to 19½ and Power Corporation moved up 1⅛ to 62. Montreal Power was 1 18 higher at 66 38, and Nickel showed an advance of 3-4 at 20 1-8.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Mar. 20.—Egg prices to retailers declined, while butter, cheese and potato quotations were unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of Ontario and prairie fresh eggs were quoted unchanged at 24c for extras, 22c for firsts and 16c for seconds. British Columbia fresh extras in carlots were unchanged at 25c and firsts, and pullets at 23c a dozen. To retailers prices were from 1c to 2c a dozen lower. Fresh specials and extras lost 1c to 2c at 30c and 28c a dozen respectively. Fresh firsts, pullet extras and seconds all declined 1c at 26c, 25c and 20c a dozen respectively. Receipts were 2,684 cases.

Regraded Eastern Townships and fresh Western No. 1 butter was quoted to 31 to 31½c a pound and to retailers solids were 33c and prints 34c a pound. Receipts were 268 boxes.

On the cheese market winter colored was 14½c to 14¾c a pound and receipts were only 15 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, per 80-lb. bag, were quoted at 75c and to retailers per 80lb. bag, 85c to 90c. Remaining stocks, in carlots, per 90 lbs. bulk, were quoted at 80c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 20. — Wednesday's upward march of wheat quotations met a fractional reverse here yesterday and closing quotes were ¼c to ½c lower for the session. Early gains seemed to presage a continuation of the climb, but light selling injected weakness into trading, with bears gaining the decision.

Most of the support came through commission houses. Selling was not in large volume at any time.

Only a few parcels were worked for export overnight, but resting orders were reported at levels slightly under the market.

There was no feature to cash and coarse grains. Price fluctuations were narrow.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, March 20. — There was better news for egg shippers yesterday, on the local market, but it was not higher prices, just steady prices. For the first time during the week quotations to shippers and to retailers were unchanged, and even brokers offered graded eggs, in free cases at steady prices. The market held to the week's decline in all dealings and there was a slightly better demand for supplies in preparation for the week-end trade. Most dealers and brokers were of the opinion that the market had reached bottom, in regard to price decline, but did not feel absolutely sure, owing to the uncertainty of supplies in the future. Larger shipments to this market during the next few days would naturally have some effect on prices.

Country shippers were quoted 18c for extras, 16c for firsts, and 14c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Retailers were offered extras in cartons at 26c, extras loose at 24c, firsts loose 22c, and seconds loose 19c. Brokers were quoting graded eggs, in free cases, at 21c for extras, firsts 19c, and seconds 17c.

Butter Slow.

Receipts of butter were not burdensome, but trade was quiet at steady prices with the recent decline. Sales were made at 31c to 31¼c for No. 1 creamery solids and 30c to 30¼c for No. 2.

Cheese Steady.

Cheese prices were unchanged and trade was fair. Brokers were offering new large at 14¾c, twins at 15c, and triplets at 15¼c. Retailers were quoted new makes at 16c for large, 16¼c for twins, and 16½c for triplets.

Poultry Prices.

New poultry price lists showed young chickens unchanged, but fatted hens were 1c higher on all grades with the grades — as per weight—slightly changed. Turkeys and old roosters were steady, but ducklings were up 2c for live weight and steady for dressed.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 20. — Rains southwest and snowfalls west and northwest, with predictions of beneficial moisture extending throughout winter and spring wheat areas, weakened grain prices yesterday. Enlarged wheat shipments by Russia and Argentina were also a bearish factor. Millers' stocks of wheat in Europe, however, were believed low, with supplies at six Continental ports showing 1,800,000 bushels decrease in the last four weeks.

Wheat closed easy, unchanged to ¼c lower; corn ⅛c to ¼c down; oats unchanged to a shade decline, and provisions 7c to 15c off.

Wheat prices began to waver after receipt of news that forecasts of widespread moisture had begun to materialize. Kansas and Oklahoma reported rain. Nebraska and Alberta snow. The Canadian reports of snow were given particular attention, as the chief deficiency of moisture now is in spring wheat sections, but only light falls north of the international boundary were noted. Influenced though by improved crop prospects, houses with export connections sold Chicago July delivery of wheat and bought September.

WELL-KNOWN FINANCIAL HEAD ON JOB FOR HALF A CENTURY

STARTED AS PAPER BOY

TORONTO, March 20.—George H. Smith will soon have completed half a century of service with the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, which in itself is something of a record.

The name of George H. Smith is inseparably linked with that of Canada Permanent. Mr. Smith is second vice-president and general manager of the company, and he has played an important part, especially these latter years, in guiding the destinies of this financial institution. From a modest beginning the company has grown to a corporation with assets of nearly seventy millions of dollars, with branches stretching across Canada from sea to sea. The company is in intimate touch with all sections of the Dominion, and the head office at Toronto is the sensitive plate where are recorded the impressions of growth of communities, development of commerce and industry. Mr. Smith's reputation as one of the best posted men on Canadian affairs and his appreciation of sectional problems is common knowledge.

Mr. Smith is a man of wide reading; he follows closely world developments world business, that he may the better judge conditions in his own land and fit Canada into her proper position in the picture of the countries of the world. At the annual meeting of the company, Mr. Smith stated it was imperative that Canadians recognize the wide ramification of the Dominion's economic relationships and of the interdependence of peoples geographically remote.

Travelled Canada.

Mr. Smith is the son of George H. and Diana Smith. He was born in the county of Wentworth, Ontario, receiving his education at the public and model schools of Lambton county. He was sixteen years old when he secured employment with the Canada Permanent as a stenographer. That was 1882, and he has been with the company constantly since that date. After stenographic and junior clerical work covering a period of six years, he was appointed secretary, and continued in this office after reorganization of the company had been effected in 1900. In 1912 he was appointed superintendent of branches. This new position occasioned extensive travel throughout Canada, and it marked the date of a more thorough knowledge and keen appreciation of the sectional problems of Canada which have developed because of the topographical nature of this broad expanse of country.

He had been secretary-treasurer of the Canada Permanent Trust Company since its inception, and was elected a director in 1916. Two years later he was made assistant general manager of the Canada Permanent Mortgage, was elected a director in 1922 and in the same year appointed general manager of both Canada Permanent Mortgage and Canada Permanent Trust, becoming second vice-president in 1928.

On Other Corporations.

Mr. Smith's advice is highly regarded by companies as the Continental Life Insurance Company, the Canadian Advisory Board of the Sun Insurance Office Limited, of London, England. During 1924 and 1925 he was president of the Land Mortgage Companies' Association of Ontario, and president of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association in 1926 and 1927.

Mr. Smith is an active member of the Masonic organization and is a vice-president and director of the Masonic Temple Corporation, Limited. He is a past master of Zetland Lodge, No. 326, and a past deputy grand master of Toronto District No. 11, and is a member of the board of general purposes of the Grand Lodge and representative in Ontario of the Grand Lodge, A.F. and A.M., of Connecticut. He is a life member of the Art Gallery of Toronto and of the York Pioneers and is a member of several leading Toronto clubs.

He married Mary Collett, daughter of the late W. J. Collett. His family was a generous one of three sons and five daughters. All of the boys enlisted and saw service overseas, one returning home the proud possessor of the M. C.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY FINDS OUT

"Now, Sammie, my boy," said Uncle Wiggily to the Littletail boy who had come out of the Hollow Stump School before it was time, "tell me all about it. Why did the Lady Mouse Teacher put you out of school?"

"Because I sneezed," Sammie answered.

"Dear me! I can hardly believe that!" spoke Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his own pink nose. "The Lady Mouse Teacher is good and kind. She loves all her pupils. She knows that you, or any of them, must sneeze now and again. I don't see why she should ut you out of school just for sneezing once."

"Oh, but I sneezed twice," said Sammie, who always told the truth.

"Well, even twice! I can't understand it," said Uncle Wiggily. "I must find out about it."

"It was this way," Sammie went on. "The first time I sneezed was when Susie was trying to spell the word 'Carrot.' She didn't know how and she was sort of jiggling around when I sneezed and Miss Mouse thought I made a loud ker-choo noise so she couldn't tell whether or not Susie spelled the word right."

"I see," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling a little. "What next?"

"Well," said Sammie, "the next time I sneezed was when Miss Mouse asked Jackie Bow Wow how much one and one made in number work."

"Did Jackie know the answer?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"He didn't seem to," said Sammie. "Jackie was jiggling his tail, same as he always does when he doesn't know his lesson and then, all of a sudden, I sneezed again."

"What did you sneeze that time?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Well," answered Sammie, smiling a little, "that time I happened to sneeze KER TWO and——"

"Ha! Ha! I can guess what happened!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Two was the answer to how much are one and one, and the Lady Mouse Teacher thought you were trying to tell Jackie, didn't she?"

"Yes," replied Sammie, "she did. So she said I must go out of class until I could stop sneezing. But, truly, Uncle Wiggily, though I sneezed, I didn't mean to help Susie and I didn't mean to tell Jackie."

No, I don't believe you did," said the rabbit gentleman.

"And, truly, I couldn't help sneezing,' went on Sammie. 'I don't seem to be catching cold, but, somehow or other, when I sit in my seat I just can't help sneezing. I haven't sneezed since I was put out of the Hollow Stump School."

"Then I must find out about this!" spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Come with me, Sammie!"

The rabbit gentleman hopped back to the school with Sammie and when the Lady Mouse Teacher saw them she twiddled her whiskers and squeaked:

"You are very welcome, Uncle Wiggily. Come in! But, I am sorry to say, I can't let Sammie come back to school until he promises not to sneeze in class when I am hearing lessons."

"Oh, I will be glad to promise that!" said Sammie.

"I'm sure he didn't sneeze purposely," went on Mr. Longears. "I came in to find out about it. Take your seat, Sammie, and we'll see what happens."

Sammie sat in his seat as before and Uncle Wiggily sat on the front platform with the Lady Mouse Teacher. Just when Miss Mouse asked Peetie Bow Wow, this time, how many are one and two, all of a sudden Sammie sneezed —"Ker zee!"

"There!" cried Miss Mouse. "You see! Sammie tried to tell Peetie the answer was THREE!"

"Wait a minute, please," begged Uncle Wiggily. "I think I have found out why Sammie sneezes. Let me sit in his seat a moment." It was a tight fit for Mr. Longears, but he squeezed into Sammie's seat and he had not been there long before, all at once, he sneezed: "Ker foo!"

The animal children wanted to laugh but did not dare. And Mr. Longears said: "Please, Miss Mouse, you come her and sit in Sammie's seat."

The Lady Mouse did so and, all of a sudden, she sneezed "Kink-oo!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and then all the others laughed. "I have found out," said Mr. Longears. "Look, the sun shines in the window on Sammie's desk and the bright sunshine tickled his nose, it tickled my nose and it tickled your nose, Miss Mouse. That's why we sneezed and the tickling sunshine is why Sammie sneezed."

"Oh, I am so glad you found out!" squeaked Miss Mouse. "I couldn't believe Sammie sneezed on purpose. He may come back to school." Then she pulled the curtain over the sunshiny window and Sammie didn't ker choo any more, so all was peace and happiness in the Hollow Stump School.

PILOT ESCAPES WITHOUT INJURY

The pilot of this aeroplane—which is believed to be a R.A.F. machine from Hornchurch—had a remarkable escape from death when it crashed on the downs at Worthing, England. Having landed with difficulty on the crest of the downs, the under-carriage struck a wire fence which the pilot did not see, and so great was the impact that the stays were almost cut in two and the plane turned a complete somersault. The pilot had to crawl from the cockpit through the small space which can be seen in this photograph.

More Powerful and always smooth

THE strength of the new Chevrolet chassis has a counterpart in the rugged power of its six-cylinder motor. The extra horsepower obtained by the proven valve-in-head engine design results in a sure, steady flow of power—sheer pulling ability that you can depend on to carry you surely through sand and mud, or up the steepest grade.

And nothing less than this 50-horsepower, six-cylinder car gives you such handling ease in traffic. When you drive the new Chevrolet Six through congested streets you will be sure to notice how easily the car throttles down in high gear to a mere walking pace—then picks up spiritedly to top speed.

Quietness and smoothness at all driving speeds are equally remarkable features of Chevrolet's engine design. It takes six cylinders to give the restful comfort and freedom from vibration you will be quick to appreciate in this new Six.

Once you try the Chevrolet Six, we are sure you will never be satisfied with less. At its new low prices, this Six is a value that deserves your first consideration.

Chevrolet's policy has always been one of service to the public . . . The GMAC plan of deferred payments offers the lowest financing charges available . . . and the General Motors Owner Service Policy pledges lasting satisfaction.

WOUNDED WAR HERO DEAD

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 19.— (By the Canadian Press.)— Private Roy Campbell, of the 174th Cameron Highlanders, has "gone west" as the boys in Flanders used to say. When Campbell died recently—game to the last—he left behind saddened hearts in the Veterans' hospital where he had been bed-ridden for more than ten years, during which time he lost his sight but retained his sunny smile.

On the field of battle Campbell became afflicted with arthritis. When he returned home the malady attacked him severely and he lay in hospital for years, his limbs immovable but his features wreathed in smiles. A hero to veterans, nurses and visitors, Campbell had a cheery word for them all.

Three years ago Roy was stricken blind but he still was a ray of sunshine and happiness in the hospital ward. His new affliction failed to dim his happiness.

A woman visitor brought books for Soldier Campbell to read, unaware that his smiling eyes were sightless. The visitor took great enjoyment in the manner the happy warrior enjoyed the books—and Campbell played his part. He stared at the pages, apparently absorbed in the story.

It was not until after the veteran was laid to rest by his army pals that his friend was told her hero was sightless.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

LOOSE CARTILAGE IN KNEE

Many individuals suffer with a pain or weakness in inner side of knee joint. In most cases they can remember that the pain first occured during the playing of some game—football, tennis, golf, and so forth, or to slipping on pavement or ice. Other cases cannot be traced to any definite injury and the sufferers are apt to call it rheumatism.

Now, why does the inner side of the knee be the most frequent seat of pain or weakness about the whole knee joint?

Because, the big bone of the upper leg slants inwards towards the knee and then the bone from knee to ankle slants outward again, thus the entire weight of the body is thrown on the inner side of knee joint with just the fibrous ligament to hold this weight. When an injury occurs and this inner ligament gets stretched or torn, the fibrous disk in the knee joint (which forms a cushion between the two bones forming the joint) is allowed to slip toward this weak spot in inner side of joint and may actually slip out far enough to "lock" the joint. If this occurs often only an operation can render the knee safe and strong again.

However, for the ordinary pain or feeling of weakness, using strips of one inch adhesive tape about six inches long, from the knee cap in front, across the weak joint, to a point at the back of the knee joint, about four strips overlapping one another slightly, will brace the joint almost as well as his own ligament. This adhesive tape should be changed every four or five days for three or four weeks.

In more severe cases, a plaster cast is applied and allowed to remain for five weeks. This prevents the knee from bending and the torn or stretched ligament gets a chance to heal.

Where these measures fail, and the cartilage or disk between the bones continues to slip out, locking the joint, then then operation is necessary.

Just a few years ago this operation was dreaded, as it gave satisfactory results in only about half the cases. However, Dr. M. S. Henderson, Rochester, Minn., reports 239 cases of this operation and the results have been thoroughly investigated; of this number 183 were relieved of all trouble; 34 improved and 21 are not improved, thus 91 per. cent. were cured or markedly improved.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES IN CANADA

Some 50 Canadian cities furnished detailed reports to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showing that in the year 1930 they had issued nearly 12,600 permits for dwellings estimated to cost about $53,000,000, and approximately 29,000 permits for other buildings at a proposed cost of almost $95,000,000 The former category includes houses and apartments and in many, but not all cases, repairs and alterations. Permits for garages usually constitute a large proportion of the total number of buildings other than residential, but in most cases have a low valuation.

SOURCES OF POWER IN INDUSTRY

Of the total power used in manufacturing industries in Canada, excluding central electric stations states the Water Power and Hydrometric Bureau, Department of the Interior, some 78 per cent. is obtained from water power, 20 per. cent. from steam and less than 2 per cent. from internal combustion engines.

German Air Ace Saved in Africa By War-time Foe

NAIROBI, British East Africa, March 20. — During the World War, Ernst Udet, German ace, was fair game for British soldiers, but yesterday he owed his life to the airmen who were his enemies then.

Captain Campbell Black, of the R.A.F., flying over the treacherous desert in the Nile-Sudd country, spotted Udet's plane on the sand. At the risk of his life he made a difficult landing alongside and found Udet had been forced down without gas, food, water or means of communication.

He shared his scanty rations of water and biscuit with Udet, then took off to notify the British air base at Khartoum, whence a relief expedition was sent out.

AT THE CAPITOL

"MIN AND BILL"

It was a stroke of genius to make this comedy pair a team. Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery are inimitable. Who could beat them for bathos and pathos? When they get together as Min and Bill, they bring the house down. But why give them a sad ending? The watchers laugh themselves hoarse over their antics—and then come out quietly. No-one likes to think of Min in defeat. She was too gallant and too courageous a person to have to bow so tamely to the inevitable.

Marie Dressler, with her choleric demeanor, her beetling eyebrows and her fierce battle with life, is Min, keeper of a San Pedro waterfront dive and cheap rooming house for sailors. Bill is her "star boarder," and Nancy is the girl she has befriended, in her own rough and queer fashion, from the moment that the child's mother deserts her and leaves her to the strange old "sea cow," as she terms herself in a moment of self-examination.

Who but Wallace Beery could team up so well as Bill? Just to see and hear him making away with a huge chunk of watermelon that encircles his large ears without any effort, is to see him at his outrageous best.

They are a wonderful pair of comedians and laughs come loud and long, in response to their efforts to entertain. And then there is Bella, mother of Nancy, a lady with a quite evident past and a head of blondined hair that curls over a wicked head. She and Min have a characteristic series of conversations that are just as true to their types as the rest of the story.

This talkie, as is the case with so many of the moving pictures that have sprung into being since the screen became vocal, gives an idea of the technique of the real stage artist. Marie Dressler is far removed from the dumb heroine of the silent screen. She knows just how to walk and stand and turn her big, heavy mouth, in order to get effects that are extraordinarily real.

PAPER EDITORS CHOSEN.

BAILIEBORO, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence) — The regular weekly meeting of the Young People's Society in the United Church on Tuesday evening, took the place of a social gathering. About one hundred of the young people were present and a delightful time was enjoyed by those present.

A debate, "Resolved that poverty has done more for the happiness of humanity than has riches," added greatly to the enjoyment of the program. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. K. and J. Barnard, while Misses A. Brackenridge and E. Snelgrove debated the negative side. The judges who were Messrs. A. Deyell, L. Dawson and Rev. E. F. Swayne came to the decision that the points on both sides were even.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY ATTEND CAVAN COUPLE'S ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. James Paul Celebrate Forty-fifth Wedding Anniversary.

ADDRESS READ.

CAVAN, March 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—A very happy social gathering was held in Cavan Community Hall on Tuesday evening, March 17, when aproximately one hundred and fifty friends and neighbors gathered in honor of the forty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Paul, Eighth Line, Cavan.

The gathering was representative of the immediate neighborhood in which they reside, the Orange Order, and a wider circle of friends in Cavan and Manvers.

Mr. Paul is a loyal Orangeman and has been for many years the assessor of Cavan, and in this capacity has gained the friendship and respect of the township.

Mr. J. N. McGill, Millbrook, clerk of Cavan township, was the genial and efficient chairman for the following program: The opening chorus, "The Maple Leaf," sung heartily by the entire assembly with Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, leading and presiding at the piano; a solo appropriate to St. Patrick's Day was sung by Miss Annie Tinney with Mrs. J. E. Whithame as accompanist. Miss Tinney sang "Where the River Shannon Flows" in response to an encore. The Rev. J. E. Whithame contributed a short humorous address in which he claimed St. Patrick as a Scotsman.

Mr. D. Gallagher sang a number of humorous songs, which called forth hearty applause. Mr. Reg. Sutton acted as his accompanist. Mr. James Douglas gave a short impromptu speech. Between the various items of the program, Mr. McGill related a number of amusing stories instead of giving the usual chairman's address.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul were then invited to the platform and Mr. Reg. Sutton on behalf of the contributors read an address, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Paul on having reached the forty-fifth mile-stone of their married life and expressing sincere appreciation of them as friends and neighbors. Each speech of the evening had emphasized the fact that all realized their worth as good citizens, friends and neighbors, also asking them to accept the two beautiful chesterfield chairs, carried in by Messrs. David White and Louis Pudsey, a substantial purse handed to Mr. Paul, and a necklace presented to Miss Margaret Paul by Mr. Wilfred Reynolds. All three were the joint gifts of the community and Orange Order.

Mr. Paul made suitable acknowledgment on behalf of himself, Mrs. Paul and Miss Paul, stating that in their contact with their friends they had simply tried to use others as they would wish to be used themselves. He paid a gallant tribute to his help-mate of forty-five years, saying that in spite of the ups and downs of life, theirs had been a happy one.

"For they are Jolly Good Fellows" was heartily sung, after which they received the congratulations of their many friends, who joined in admiring the beautiful chairs in which they were seated.

Lunch was served in the basement by the ladies.

A small table was set and appropriately decorated for the Bridal Party. A large white bell hung directly over it with streamers of green. Table decorations were in green and white, with a bouquet of roses in the centre of the table.

Those who sat at this table were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul, Miss Margaret Paul, the Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Whithame, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, of Peterborough; Mr. J. N. McGill, Mr. John Steele, and Mr. C. Carr.

Mrs. Wilfred Reynolds and Miss Dorothy Pudsey wearing green aprons waited on them.

After supper, dancing was enjoyed. Mr. M. Todd's orchestra supplying the music.

City Council Makes West-End Restricted Area

SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL RESTRICTS BUILDING OF GAS DEPOTS N KING, WELLER, PARK STREET AREA

Closed to Grocery Stores.

Salary of the Members of the City Trust Increased By $50 Each.

A by-law was passed unanimously by the City Council at a special meeting last night which prevents the erection or remodelling of any building to be used as an oil or gasoline filling station in the district bounded by King, Weller and Park Streets and Monaghan Road, and also that section owned by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company west of Monaghan Road.

These districts were previously restricted against the erection of grocery stores, but the Council deemed it necessary to add service stations to the ban, since when the original by-law was passed service stations were not the menace to residential districts that they have since become. Alderman Fitzpatrick introduced the by-law.

Request To Build Station.

Alderman Holland voiced the Power Oil Company's request to the Council for permission to erect a service station on the south-west corner of King and Aylmer Streets. On the suggestion of Alderman Tuggey, permission was withheld until more definite information was furnished as to the type of building and its purposes. The aldermen were of the opinion that a service station would improve the corner, but that no oil and gasoline storage house should be erected on the corner.

City Solicitor J. R. Corkery was instructed to learn whether a by-law existed which permitted the Council to restrict the erection of gasoline and oil storage within the city. If none exists the Council will pass one, it was stated.

On motion of Alderman Phelan, a resolution was unanimously passed increasing the stipend of the members of the City Trust by $50 each and the chairman $100, making a total increase of $350.

MONTREAL ASKS EXTRA GRANT

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 19.—(CP)—Headed by Norman Holland, chairman of the Montreal unemployment relief committee, a delegation from that city waited on Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, today. The Minister promised to give consideration to the request that an additional grant of money be made to enable certain public works to be completed. This would entail, he pointed out, negotiations with the Quebec Provincial authority as the agreement, if entered into, would be tri-party in effect.

Nearly 1,000 employers were arrested last year for failing to pay their unemployment taxes.

The remainder of the express was still travelling at about 45 miles an hour but a little bit further down the track another car was derailed and then another, passengers aboard being badly shaken up. Some were injured by breaking glass.

Five persons were killed outright in the accident and two of the injured died later. An investigation was begun to determine its cause.

GLIMPSES OF NEW ENGLAND GIVEN PETERBOROUGH COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Beauties of Boston and Surrounding Country Ably Described.

MANY OLD CHURCHES.

Glimpses of old New England were vouchsafed the members of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon, when Miss A. Lancaster, taking the place of the president, Mrs. C. H. Edwards, as chairman of the meeting, also filled in as an impromptu speaker, and gave the ladies a little idea of the beauties of Boston and its environs, as seen by her on a trip there last year.

There was very little business at the meeting. Mrs. Bruce Law, corresponding secretary, read several letters of interest. One was from Judge Huycke who had been requested to give one of the affiliated societies some idea of the procedure necessary to form a Juvenile Court. This will be considered at the next regular meeting, which will also be featured by a discussion of the present-day situation with regard to the cinema. A letter was read from the convenor of the Local Councils committee on Films and Printed Matter, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, suggesting that an invitation to all interested as well as to representatives of the affiliated societies, be sent out, to attend the April meeting and discuss moving pictures.

Mrs. E. Wand gave the treasurer's report, showing eight societies out of the affiliated thirty-six to have paid their dues.

Miss Lancaster, in the absence of any scheduled speaker, then gave a brief but very interesting sketch, couched in characteristically picturesque language, of her trip to Boston last year.

The old city with its churches dated, some of them, as far back as the early years of the sixteen hundreds, the First Church of Christ Scientist with its inscription to Mary Baker Eddy transcending its reference to the Deity; the exquisite lilacs and azaleas of the Arboretum, with its flowering crabapple trees, and the Museum which Isabella Stewart Gardiner bequeathed to the city, with its flower-bordered pool, its period rooms and priceless manuscripts, paintings and tapestries.

Then the Boston Art Museum, with its chief remembrance to the speaker in the figure of Christ, benign and peaceful, above the words: "Come unto Me, all ye that are weary, and I will give you rest". Then Cape Anne and its storied towns: Marblehead where Skipper Ireson was tarred and feathered in repayment for his cruelty 'This old poem of Whittier that commemorates that famous episode was read by Miss Lancaster with eloquent force and vigor. The sea captain had refused to help a sinking ship and its people and, in return, he was tarred and feathered by the indignant women of Marblehead.

Salem, where the witches died in years gone by, and where Nathaniel Hawthorne was born and spent most of his years, to make it famous with "Mosses from an Old Manse" and "The Scarlet Letter"; Gloucester, another seaport, where the figure of an old sailor in his oilskins keeps eternal watch and ward over the seas where sleep the unreturning sailor men and where, once a year, the folk of Gloucester gather to strew the high tide with flowers in memory of those who will not come back, and Providence, with its streets of Benevolence and Kindness.

They all had their place in the little seriesof thumbnail sketches with which Miss Lancaster beguiled her hearers, and it was a very sincere vote of thanks for a pleasant travel talk that was voiced by Mrs. T. W. H. Young and seconded by Mrs. F. H. Dearborn, at its conclusion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK IN COUNTY SHOWS PROGRESS

C. E. Moore, of Smith, is Re-elected as President of the Council.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED.

C. E. Moore was re-elected president of the Peterborough County Branch of the Ontario Religious Educational Council held in the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday, when there was a splendid attendance from the different parts of the County.

Mr. Moore was in charge of the meeting and Rev. R. D. Wright, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church conducted the devotional exercises.

Thomas E. Sargent, County Secretary, gave a summary of the number of Sunday Schools throughout the County and some of their activities. The encouraging feature of their work reported was that out of 34 schools, 24 have Temperance instruction given regularly; also Missionary instruction and Missionary contributions are on the program of nearly every Sunday School throughout the County.

Special efforts were made for decisions for Christ in 23 schools and a number have been added to church membership through the agency of the Sunday School, during the past year.

The reports of the Departmental Superintendents were most interesting and showed a decided improvement over former years. The session adjourned for lunch at Hooper's Palm Room where a social hour was spent and business was completed.

Interesting Address

Rev. A. E. Moorehouse, of St. James' United Church, gave a very impressive address on "How to Link the Young Life up with the Sunday School." 'Our curse is our fear—and want of faith. Every boy and girl has the powers for evil as well as for good in them."

The Rev. H. C. Priest of Toronto, Superintendent of the Ontario Religious Educational work for the Province of Ontario, gave a brief address on county organization work stating that even a greater and broader vision of helpfulness should be stimulated in extending Sunday School work to the remote parts of every county and that no boy or girl should be allowed to grow up without the influence of Bible Study.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, C. E. Moore of Smith; Vice President, John Stark of Asphodel; Secretary-Treasurer, Thomas E. Sargent, of Peterborough; Children's Department, Mrs. Thomas Rose, of Otonabee; Boys' Work, Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, of Warsaw; Adult Department, John Harrison, of Smith; Young People's Department, Mrs. William Forsythe, of Dummer; Home Department, Mrs. C. J. Hancock, of Smith; Missionary Department, Miss Hay Thorne, of Otona; bee; Teacher Training Rev. T. M. Wesley, Lakefield; Temperance Department, E. N. McDonald, Dummer. Associate members of the Temperance Department are G. A. Brethen of Norwood and W. A. Anderson of Otonabee.

Dates of coming Township Conventions were fixed for May, 19, 20, 21 and 22.

All Saints' Boys' Club Plans To Hold Banquet

At the All Saints' Boys' Club meeting held last night, about forty members attended; a satisfactory turnout for the third meeting. The business of the evening was finished up quickly, and boxing bouts and other amusements entertained the gathering. A banquet committee was chosen, and a vote of thanks extended to Mr. Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Hope and to Mr. Gimblett, past president, for their services which have made All Saints' rink the success it is.

The boys have ambitious plans for sporting activities during the summer, and are encouraged by President Bill Kay.

SEALERS SEARCH 22 MILES OF ICE

FOG SHROUDS COAST.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 20 (C. E. A. Jeffrey, C.P. Correspondent).—Sealing ships have searched every foot of ice for twenty-two miles beyond the scene of the Viking disaster without any trace of the victims, and the captains advised this morning they are certain there is nothing further to be found alive or dead. They believe those missing went down with the ship. The weather report from Horse Island is east by northerly gales, with thick fog along the coast. Navigators familiar with the locality doubt the wisdom of sending plane expeditions that could accomplish nothing and only risk airmen's lives unduly. All but the most seriously injured of the Viking's survivors have been transferred from the Island to the S.S. Sagona.

IRISH PROGRAM AT STIRLING MEETING

STIRLING, March 20.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A humorous debate, "Resolved that automobiles do more harm than good" was given at the meeting of St. Andrews Guild on Monday evening, the entertainment being featured with a St. Patrick's program. The affirmative side was taken by Hilda Haggery and Stanley McLeod and the negative was upheld by Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn and Lex Nathan. The audience acted as judges, but so bewildered were they that they could not arrive at a decision.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Harper Rollins and T. McGee acted as chairman.

Mrs. James Montgomery gave a topic, "Looking Into Your Mind." "We must make Christ the centre and all ugly suggestions which might enter our minds will retreat."

Emma Allen gave a talk on "Harmony" and Grenalda Eggleton gave a recitation, "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning." Other items on the program included solo, "How Ireland Got Its Name," Mrs. A. Murduff; short biographies of Irish poets, "Olive Goldsmith", Lorne Anderson; William Dermedy, "Daniel O'Connell"; Harold Baker, "Tom Moore"; James Ward, "Edmund Burke." Lex Nathan gave the history of St. Patrick and his spiritual awakening.

Five men sang, "The Dear Little Shamrock" and this was followed by the debate. The affirmative debaters enlarged on the old days of the horse and buggy, even the cart an oxen. A ride in a buggy gave one much more fresh air. Modes of travel were safe and sane. There was no buggies parked along secluded byways. Everybody went to church. No license was needed and a man bought a horse and handed it down to his sons—no new model every spring, etc.

The negative supporters refuted the points by declaring that all who had every really wanted to attend church still do so. If you got fresh air in a buggy, they said, you also were covered with dust. The heirloom, a horse twenty years old handed down, would cause the refrain, "No thanks dad, the old grey nag aint what she used to be." Farmer wives rose while it was still dark and made bread for their households. They were so cumbered with cares that they were too tired to step out with boy friends. They died at 40, old women. Think of the pleasure in possessing a car, if you don't have one, you don't know you're living." Such were the points presented.

Irish contests brought the meeting to a close.

fourth number on the program Mr. Joseph Mullholland and Miss M. Sullivan played a mouth organ and piano duet. The one act play "For the Lone Kitty", by the junior members of the society, the young members playing their parts like veterans.

Mr. Joseph Mulholland sang "The Daughter of Mother Machree" and was obliged to come back for an encore. The Doll Show by the junior pupils of the separate school brought forth many favorable comments. In both numbers that the children were in they showed the results of splendid training.

Chorus, "Jingle Bells"; by senior pupils; recitation, "Ma's Tools", by Master George Wilkins, the little fellow showed that it won't be long till he will be regular in all entertainments.

The members of the Dramatic Society put on another splendid one-act play, "Killarney."

The program was brought to a close with the chorus, "The Minstrel Boy," and God Save the King.

Mr. Lou English acted as auctioneer immediately after the program. The bidding was very brisk and the boxes all brought a good figure, after which the hall was cleared of chairs and Mr. John Condon furnished music for dancing until midnight.

Dr. Lloyd is understood to have been engaged in experimenting with mice subjected to the dread yellow fever. He is now under the care of Dr. Berry, a specialist, in a New York hospital, where it is expected that he will recover, and afterwards become immune to further attacks.

CANADA'S MAPLE TREES

There are nine species of maple native to Canada, according to the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior. Three of these, namely, the broad-leaved maple, the vine maple, and the dwarf maple are confined to British Columbia. The only maple native to the Prairie Provinces is the Manitoba maple, and this and the remaining five species (sugar, or hard, maple, red maple, silver maple, stripped maple, and mountain maple) are found in the eastern provinces of the Dominion.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

We haven't had a discussion about children for a long time now and so I thought this would be a change from the other discussions which we have had lately.

• • • • • • •

And talking about children, reminds me that "Highflyer" hasn't sent us a letter for ever so long. I wonder if she still reads our letters?

• • • • • • •

And where are the rest of the neighbors? I think Quid Est is about the only one who has written during the last two or three weeks. You may have been busy, but why not take just a few minutes and write to the readers; I am sure they would appreciate it as much as I would.

• • • • • • •

One of the rights of children is to think their own thoughts. To curb their thoughts is to rob them of originality. The mind that is original has elements of genius.

• • • • • • •

The greater the originality the greater the genius, providing it is a constructive originality, or inventiveness, as it is defined in the dictionary.

• • • • • • •

It is this quality that supplies individuality and distinction. If you want your child to make his mark in the world do not infringe upon his thoughts.

• • • • • • •

See that your child is surrounded with interesting things to think about and when he or she asks you questions, don't put the child off but answer as intelligently as you know how.

• • • • • • •

If you do not know the answer say so, and then tell the child that you will find out for him or help him to, if he is old enough to do some research work himself.

• • • • • • •

You, as a parent, will know how frequently fascinating topics are brought to your attention by the children. Then a child is unconsciously broadening the education of his parents.

• • • • • • •

Such instances are delightful because they strengthen the bond of common interest between parents and children.

• • • • • • •

To help little folks to develop in their own way, see that they play with other children and are not too much with their elders, and do not be constantly prying into the child's mind.

• • • • • • •

He will be quick to realize what is going on and this will make him on his guard. He will instinctively withdraw into himself and leave you, as his mother or father, wondering what makes a gulf between you and him.

Makes about 5 eight-ounce glasses.

ALMOND CUSTARD

(Contributed by Beatrice)

Beat two eggs very light with Dover egg-beater, add one-half cup white sugar, and one dessertspoon of almond paste. Stir well together with one pint of milk, and make slowly.

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD

May be made same as above, only use one-half cup of grated chocolate in place of the almond paste.

BAKED CUSTARD

One quart of milk, three-quarters cup syrup, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Heat milk, add syrup, salt, and salt, and stir in the eggs slightly beaten. Add vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven from fifteen to twenty-five minutes, or until a knife inserted comes out clean.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DON'T GROW SHORTER

A middle aged business man was undergoing a physical examination and when informed that his height was 5 feet 9 inches without shoes, asked to have his height taken again as he knew he was 5 feet 10 inches.

He was again measured by the stadiometer or height machine, and it recorded 5 feet 9 inches.

"I can't understand it," he said, "because I had my height measured by a similar machine regularly for years and it was always 5 feet 10 inches.

"How long ago is it since you were last measured?" the doctor asked.

"About ten years," was his answer.

"Have you gained any weight?"

"Yes, I have put on twenty pounds."

"That is the reason," said the doctor, "that you have grown one inch shorter." You have four curves in your spinal column one back of neck one at upper back one at lower back and one at hips. When you put on extra weight these curves in the spinal column become even more curved as the body settles down from this extra weight put upon it particularly the small of the back as the extra weight on the abdomen pulls it forward.

Now the matter of the height itself is really not important but when the spinal column sinks downward in this manner all the organs in the chest and abdomen become somewhat crowded and cannot do their best work; less air into lungs particularly upper part; less room for heart; less room for stomach crowding down of other organs in abdomen particularly large intestine; circulation of the blood hampered.

Now what is the remedy to preserve our height and health?

Simply remembering to sit tall stand tall and actually think tall always. And don't overeat.

The head should be kept erect chin drawn backward chest thrust forward and upward the abdomen drawn backward thus lessening the amount of the curve in the small of back weight of the body on the balls of the feet.

Try to keep the hips and shoulders as far away from one another as possible.

The idea of trying to keep as "tall" as possible is the secret of the erect carriage.

Don't let your body sink. Keep your body tall whether standing or sitting. Remember most of us sit more than we stand.

Capital Investment Boosted $37,000,000 By Purchase of New Plants and Lines.

MORE RURAL LINES.

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (C.P.)—Despite industrial depression the Hydro Electric Power Commission had a successful year according to the annual report tabled in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by Hon. J. R. Cooke, acting chairman of the Commission. Through the purchase of additional plants and construction of new lines the Commission increased its capital investment by $37,000,000 during the fiscal year ending October 31, 1931.

Revenue showed an increase of $1,363,914 over the previous year, and after meeting all costs of operation, maintenance, administration, and current expenses amounting to $19,662,641 and providing for renewals, contingencies and sinking fund to the extent of $7,521,197, the Commission has a net surplus of $1,163,660. This has been credited to the municipalities of the various systems operating on cost contracts.

Substantial progress in the field of rural electrification is reported. More than $12,665,000 is now invested in rural hydro facilities, and by the grant of 50 per cent of the cost of rural transmission lines the government has contributed $6,300,000.

At the end of the year the Commission's total capital expenditure in all properties was $259,280,014. Of this, the larger amount $176,172,587s was on the Niagra system. During the year the Commission's reserves increased from $44,882,000 to $54,811,000.

"MILLIONAIRE'S PEAK"

In the northwestern part of Waterton Lakes National Park, Alberta, is the curious Anderson peak, with its sharp pyramid formed of yellow shales, which at sunrise and sunset glisten like pure gold so that the mountain is facetiously known as the "Millionaire's peak." Waterton Lakes National Park is noted for the colouring of its rocks.

MUSICIANS ARE BANQUET GUESTS

150 ATTEND GATHERING.

The choir, Sunday School Orchestra, and the Music Committee of George Street United Church were entertained last evening at a banquet served by the Ladies' Aid, with Mrs. H. Dulmage's group in charge. About one hundred and fifty were present, seated at five tables arranged in the Sunday School Hall, and prettily decorated in St. Patrick colors, with cut-outs of shamrock on the snowy damask, green candles in pretty holders, and silver vases of yellow daffodils. Rev. J. E. J. Millyard presided and after grace all enjoyed a bountiful repast. J. E. Middleton took charge of the program, which included a contest entitled "The Floral Wedding" and "The Wedding Journey." Miss Pearl Carruthers won the first prize and Charles Saunders the consolation. An old-fashioned spelling match, in charge of L. M. Richardson, created much amusement, W. H. Cunningham and A. V. Lillow being leaders. G. C. Staples proved the best speller even staying on the word "shillelah." A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Ladies' Aid by Douglas Carlisle and seconded by W. H. Cunningham, to which the president, Mrs. W. P. Hetherington, made suitable reply.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY PULLS A TOOTH

Mr. Twistytail, the jolly, fat pig gentleman who lived near Uncle Wiggily Longears, had a loose tooth that needed pulling.

"Why don't you go to nice Mr. Bear, the dentist, and have that loose tooth pulled?" grunted Mrs. Twistytail to her husband. The lady pig was just as fat and jolly as was her husband. "Why don't you, Twisty?" she asked again.

"Oh—just because," answered Mr. Twistytail, which, you know as well as I, is no answer at all.

"I believe you're afraid it will hurt to have that loose tooth pulled by our good dentist, Dr. Bear!" grunted Mrs. Twistytail, laughing.

"No! No! Not at all!" said Mr. Twistytail, quickly.

"Well, what is the matter then?" asked his wife.

"I want Uncle Wiggily to have the pleasure of pulling my loose tooth," grunted the pig gentleman.

"Uncle Wiggily!" cried Mrs. Twistytail. "Why, he doesn't pull teeth!"

"Yes, I think he does," spoke the pig.

"Did you ever ask him about it?" went on the fat lady pig.

"No, but I'm going to."

"When?" Mrs. Twistytail wanted to know.

"Oh, there's plenty of time," said Mr. Twistytail, slow and easy-like. "Next week or the week after will do," and he started to waddle out of the pen house where he lived with his wife, the two boy pigs, Curly and Floppy, and Squeekie-Eeekie, the baby pig.

Let me see which tooth it is.

"I am going out," her husband replied, "to see if it's snowing."

"Nonsense!" squealed Mrs. Twistytail. "I am sitting by the window and I can look out and see, perfectly well, that it isn't snowing."

"Well, I can't see," went on her husband. "I want to go out and look for myself. It might not be snowing on your side of the pen but it may be snowing on the other. I'm going to look!"

"No!" cried his wife. "You stay right in here! I'm not going to have you swallow that loose tooth. You stay right here and I'll telephone for Uncle Wiggily to come and pull it out."

"Uncle Wiggily!" exclaimed Mr. Twistytail. "Did I say he was going to pull my loose tooth?"

"You certainly did."

"I—now—er—now I guess I meant to say Uncle Butter, the goat," whispered Mr. Twistytail. "I don't feel very well, my dear. I think I'll go lie down."

"Yes, do," begged his wife with a smile. "And I'll telephone for Uncle Wiggily to come and pull your tooth. Now don't be a baby."

So Mr. Twistytail tried not to be a baby and, after a while, Uncle Wiggily came in with a long string, Mrs. Twistytail having told the rabbit gentleman what to bring.

"Now, Twisty," spoke Mr. Longears, just like a jolly dentist, "open wide and let me see which tooth it is."

"You aren't going to pull it—I mean not at once all of a sudden, are you?" grunted the pig.

"No," replied Uncle Wiggily, smiling at Mrs. Twistytail. "I am just going to tie a string around the loose tooth. Then I'll tie the other end of the string to the door knob and as soon as anybody comes to open the door they'll pull your tooth before you know it. Sit down in a chair in front of this door."

"Oh—all—right!" sighed the fat pig, not so jolly now. So he sat in a chair with the string dangling out of his mouth and the other end of the string was tied to the door knob and Uncle Wiggily sat down also. Mr. Twistytail was hoping that no one would open the door for a long, long time, when, all of a sudden, Mrs. Twistytail, who had gone outside the pen, cried:

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Oh, I must go help your wife!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. "Sit still, Twisty! Sit still in the chair!" So Mr. Longears made a jump for the door, which opened outward and, as the rabbit gentleman pushed on the knob, it pulled the string and the string pulled the tooth and "POP!" out of Mr. Twistytail's mouth it flew and didn't hurt a bit.

"There!" chuckled Mr. Longears. "Your tooth is pulled, Twisty!"

"So it is and I'm glad. But why did my wife call for help?"

"I called so Uncle Wiggily would rush out and pull your tooth," grunted Mrs. Twistytail, coming in and laughing. "It took too long for some visitor to call and open the door. I wanted your tooth out!"

"Well, you got what you wanted!" grunted her husband.

ARCTIC ICE FLOES CRUSH SCHOONER

SEEKING VIKING SURVIVORS.

ST. JOHN'S, Nd., March 20.—(C.P.)—Newfoundland's flotilla of rescue steamers, their work of taking the survivors of the Viking tragedy from the shores of Horse Island almost completed were called upon to-day to engage in a new mission of relief when the auxiliary schooner Sir William, with a crew of 28, became jammed in heavy ice fifteen miles north-east of the island. Early this morning the water-logged schooner was ablaze between the floes, while her men had been taken aboard the steamer Eagle.

A message from Captain W. O. Kean of the Eagle read: "Schooner Sir William entered heavy ice two miles north-east of us last p.m. Unable to force into smooth water, became water-logged during night. Crew forced to abandon vessel and left with two dories four a.m. to work toward Eagle. Daybreak sent Eagle crew to rescue. All aboard safely seven a.m. Vessel in flames, sinking. Please arrange have either Sagona or Franklin Foundation take these men as we are short accommodations. Present postion Eagle fifteen miles north-east Horse Island. North-east gale snow storm. Please inform owners."

The Sir William is owned by the Union Trading Company of Port Union, of which Sir William Coaker is president. It is evident she was unable to stand the pressure of heavy Arctic ice in the storm which is now raging in the neighborhood of Horse Island. The Sir William's rescued crew will be transferred to another ship to-day.

A Beautiful Recipe

TRENT RIVER, MARCH 19.
(Examiner Correspondence)

A beautiful turning to God in prayer,
At the break of day, be it dull or fair;
A beautiful word when the chance occurs,
Instead of gossip that hurts and slurs,
A beautiful deed, not one or two,
But just as many as you can do;
A beautiful thought in mind to keep,
Where otherwise evil and sin might creep;
A beautiful smile! how it helps and cheers
And coaxes from others their frowns and tears;
A beautiful song in praise to Him,
When the shadows fall and the light grows dim,
If followed, you'll find it a beautiful way
To make—and so easy—a beautiful day!

CRAMPS DOUBLED HIM UP

TANLAC Stopped All That

Mr. Alex. Krenbrenk, of Clavet, Sask., suffered terribly with his stomach. Constant indigestion brought on severe stomach cramps that just about doubled him up with the pain. He was not getting any nourishment out of the food he ate. He lost weight, and was so weak and miserable that he could not work.

Then a friend told him to try Tanlac. He did—and now Mr. Krenbrenk says, "I feel like myself again. I digest my meals and the cramps are gone for good."

That's the way Tanlac acts every time. It tones up the whole digestive system — stops pain after eating, bloating, gas—makes you want to eat and relish what you do eat—gives you the energy to wipe out that dangerous weakness and tiredness—and re-builds your shattered nerves.

SAFETY FIRST

"Safety First," though a well-worn slogan, takes on a new meaning when applied to the "great adventure," and comes as one of the snappiest farce comedies presented here by an amateur group, in a long time.

The Cognawaga Dramatic Club of St. James' United Church can congratulate itself upon presenting this clever and sparkling farce, in a very clever manner last night to a crowded house full of people, who knew well how to show their appreciation.

The story was one of sustained interest from the first to the last word, and abounded in mirth-provoking situations. Imagine a misplaced husband! "He kissed me good-bye at eighteen minutes past seven last night and I haven't laid eyes on him since," wailed Jack's wife.

The play moves briskly along with culminating effect. Incident succeeds incident, and every act-ending was quick and snappy. The characters in "Safety First" are quite equally balanced, and everyone has a fine opportunity for impressing the audience. The wonderful naturalness of the characterizations marked the cast as a really clever group of young people.

Jack Montgomery, the misplaced husband, is the leading role, and has the happy, or unhappy, faculty of entangling the affairs of his whole household. Arthur Vannest in this role was spenidid. His portrayal of the husband and the son-in-law of the exceedingly suspicious women of this family was exceptionally good in this part, which called for more than the usual finessing of a young husband.

Playing opposite to Jack, as his wife Mabel, Miss Greta Welbourn's acting could hardly be surpassed. From an adoring and devoted bride she becomes, in a few short hours, the desperately jealous wife. In this, she is abetted by her mother, Miss Barrington Bridges, the tall and haughty lady of society. Mrs. William Prest depicts this difficult role, leaving nothing to be desired.

In all his domestic entanglements, Jack leans for support upon his pal Jerry Arnold, but finds him to be a most unsuccessful fixer of affairs. In this part, which is largely broad farce, Percy Vannest did his usual clever characterization.

Then, there is Zuleika, the Turkish maiden, who was the first cause of all the trouble. Jack and Jerry go to rescue her from the hands of the law in the interests of Jack's cousin, Elmer Flannel, a decidedly shrinking young man. Instead of assistance, they find themselves arrested with her and sentenced to thirty days in jail. Miss Verna Wright give a quite perfect delineation of the Turkish lady, and shows absolutely no sympathy for the young men who have helped her at the loss to themselves of a wife and sweetheart.

Mr. McNutt is the very defective detective on the case. He, too, instead of helping matters, makes further complications. When he arrives to take Jack and Jerry to jail, a bright idea comes to them that they tell Babel and her sister, Virginia (who is Jerry's fiancee) that they had been appointed delegates to a Shriners' convention in Florida, and they get away with the ruse. Miss Thelma Meredith, as the pretty young sweetheart Virginia, is a splendid foil for her lovely sister, Mrs. Jack Mongomery, while Oscar Sloan gives a very realistic performance as the Irish and defective detective.

Before the termination of the 30-day sentence for Jack and Jerry and their Turkish trouble-maker Zuleika, the news come to Mabel and Virginia that the boat has been lost in a storm at sea. The broken-hearted girls lose no time, however, in collecting insurance and erecting monuments to their lost husband and love. They had scarcely get settled down to enjoy their sorrow—when the wanderers return in ignorance that they had been reported drowned. It took some tall explaining to show why the drowning did not take place. When Mrs. Bridges and her girls learn that Zuleika was also missing for the 30 days, they at once decide she has gone with the boys to Florida.

Abou Ben Mocha, a turk from Turkey, and the father of the dusky Zuleika, also believes she has been abducted by the boys and makes no end of a fuss. Abou Ben Mocha is portrayed in a decidedly clever manner by H. Welbourn.

One of the choicest bits of acting was that of Miss Annie Crocker as the Irish cook lady, Mary Ann O'Finnerty, who is enamoured with the McNutt detective.

In trying to fix the affairs of Jack and Mabel, Jerry impersonates McNutt and further complicates the latter's love-making with the impulsive Mary Ann, which results in a farcical elopement.

Much Enjoyed.

The play provided two hours of unalloyed fun, clean and sparkling, with witty repartee, and the happy ending was concluded with Jack's warning words to young husbands:

'Be sure and tell the truth, the very worst
Were better than our motto "Safety First.'

The stage setting was admirable, the club scenery being utilized and aided by up-to-date furnishings and soft lighting, affording a good background for the pretty gowns of the women.

The stage furnishings were kindly loaned by McBride and Franks, and the flowers and plants by the Peterborough Floral Company.

A pleasing addition to the program was the very fine music furnished by St. James' Sunday school orchestra, with Clifford Russeau conducting. The orchestra personnel was as follows: Clifford Russeau, conductor, Cecil Gallagher, cornet, Sherman Rowe, clarionet, Cecil Searles, violin, Walworth, violins, Miss Olive Prest, A.T.C.M., at the piano.

A first class vaudeville was another attraction presented by members of the Cognawaga Club, under the direction of A. H. Davis. William Cripps took the vocal solo parts and also sang in comic duet with Leslie Church. The between-act program was also added to by readings and vocal selections as follows:

Vocal duet, 'Moonlight on the River Colorado," Misses Marion Wood and Edith Smith.

Instrumental trio with harmonica, violin and piano, Arthur Vannest, Percy Vannest and H. Welbourn.

Readings, Miss Edith Smith.

Assisting in the production were C. A. Church as stage manager and Arthur Vannest, director.

25 Missing In Explosion Which Sends Charred Hulk To The Bottom

The worst tragedy in 17 years has written its grim details across the annals of sealing in the blowing up and burning of the noted sealer, Viking, off Rock Island, when the craft's charred hulk plunged to the bottom, leaving the toll of dead, many mained and injured. The majority managed to reach the comparative safety of the rocky island, and some are adrift and helpless on a limitless expanse of drift ice. It was in the Viking that Fridtj Nansen, Norwegian explorer, made his first trip north. ABOVE has been reconstructed the dramatic scene from the story as told by survivors and eye-witnesses. Supposedly the powder magazine where explosives to break up the ice were stored, blew up, reaping its toll of dead and dying, and then set fire to the ship, which, held fast in the pack-ice, stayed afloat until burned to the water line and then plunged to the bottom. The sketch shows the stern of the Viking ablaze, following the blast, and the survivors, many seriously injured, clambering down her sides to the dubious safety of the ice, along which they trudged over miles of perilous footing along the loose floe. Beacons were lighted by the island inhabitants to guide their stricken comrades and many ventured out over the ice to help the wounded landward. Fires were also kindled along the coast to guide those already adrift on moving ice.

HARDWARE AND METAL MARKET SUMMARY.

Preparations for spring trade are becoming much more active in the retail hardware business, as mild weather appears to promise an early season. Shipments are being delivered by wholesalers against booked orders, for a wide variety of spring merchandise. In retail stores there is a movement afoot to clear up as much winter stock as possible before the surplus is placed in storage for another season. Space is being provided for the deliveries arriving, states Hardware and Metal, Toronto.

Demand has already commenced in some communities for early hardware needs, such as incubators, brooders, sap and syrup supplies, and dealers look for steady development in their spring trade from now on. Farmers are buying hardware requirements for work to be done before seeding gets under way, and a generally better movement of merchandise is reported from most parts of Canada.

Death Of Old Seaman Ends Eventful Life

WINNIPEG, Man., March 20 (By the Canadian Press)—Peter McGregor, 78, died in Winnipeg recently, closing an exciting career on the sea in the days when mutinies were numerous among the hardened sailing crews.

Born in Scotland in 1852, McGregor at an early age joined the band of men who roamed the Southern Seas. As a carpenter aboard the sailing ship Caswell, enroute from Rio de la Plata to Buenos Aires, McGregor played the leading role in quelling a mutiny of the crew.

Captain George E. Best and his officers were murdered in cold blood when the mutineers broke loose with knives and pistols. Five members of the crew, including McGregor, refused to join the revolters. The Scotsman and his companions barricaded themselves below deck.

McGregor held a conference with his friends. He told them he was "brought up to believe in God and I believe that it is not His wil lthat we die like sheep."

The six men prepared for battle on the bloody decks of the sailing craft. They launched themselves against the mutineers and the courageous Scot led his five supporters to victory, after a hand-to-hand fight that lasted for hours.

McGregor was also a famous athlete. He was a member of the famous Renton Scottish football team of 1847 which did not lose a game and played Queen's Park for the Scottish cup.

In 1900 he came to Manitoba and homesteaded at Mulvihill, later retiring to spend his last days in Winnipeg.

HARRY BOORMAN ON TRIAL IN B. C.

FALSE PRETENSE CHARGE.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 20.—Trial in County Court here yesterday of Harry E. Boorman, former head of the defunct British Columbia Bond Corporation, on a charge of false pretences arising out of a stock transaction involving an amount of $2,500, revealed, according to witnesses, that the corporation was insolvent almost from the time of its inception.

Business, witness stated, was carried on with money borrowed from the bank and use of surplus funds of clients, until the crash came.

Thomas Bailey, who investigated the books and accounts of the firm for the Attorney-General, testified that during the last four years of the company's existence it had deficits in working capital of more than $200,000.

Louis Needlands, former accountant of the company, told the court that in 1930 the company owed a well-known brokerage firm $375,290 and at the time it went into liquidation, October 8, 1930, about $250,000, which has never been discharged.

The trial is continuing.

Over 4,000 People Wanted $100 a Month: Do You?

Just recently that number of people asked the Canada Life for information as to how they could secure an income of $100 a month for life.

Some had not realized how fast time was slipping by until they found themselves "up against it," — they were convinced of the wisdom of doing something about it, but had left it too late to ensure the carefree happiness which provident persons have in their later years.

A Cheerful Thought.

Many people, however, who have read our offer in the daily papers about getting an income of $100 a month have now started out on the plan which will guarantee them an income for life, when the time for retirement arrives.

They have called to their aid the guarantee provided by the invested assets of The Canadu Life totalling over $188,000,000.

Would you like to know how these persons have arranged to "pension" themselves? It cost them nothing to find out, nor will it you.

Our booklet, "Getting the Income You Want!" will tell you more about it. Fill in and send the attached coupon to-day and we will send by mail, without obligation of any kind, a copy of this interesting book.

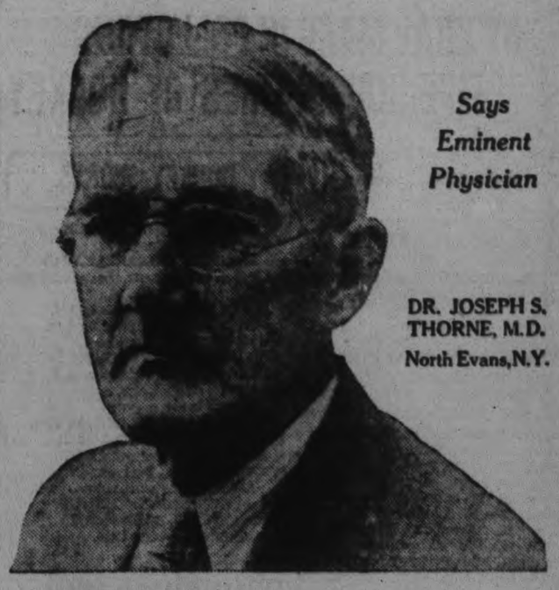
VITALEX BEST FOR RUNDOWN, NERVOUS, CONSTIPATED FOLKS



Says Eminent Physician

DR. JOSEPH S. THORNE, M.D.
North Evans, N.Y.

"In Selecting a Remedy, One Should Secure the Best—That Is Vitalex," Says Dr. Thorne

Dr. Thorne has been practicing medicine for years and the following message from him is of great importance to everyone suffering from the miserable ailments he mentions: "This new and important tonic, Vitalex, is different from anything I have hitherto discovered," says Dr. Thorne. "It combines the important Vitamins with the best pharmaceutical preparations and eliminants and thus increases metabolism and is a true tissue builder. It seems at its best as a general tonic when a run-down condition prevails.

"For nervous disorders I consider it much superior to the sedatives so frequently prescribed. In full doses it quickly relieves chronic constipation and flushes the kidneys. The vitamins, of course, are becoming of greater importance each year.

Will Represent Quebec in Final For Eastern Canada Supremacy.

FORUM, MONTREAL, March 20.—McGill University hockey team will go to Halifax to-day to meet Truro Bear Cats Saturday night in the Allan Cup playdowns, their 2-1 victory over St. Francois Xavier, Intermediate champions of the Province, last night giving them the right to represent Quebec in the quest for the amateur hockey title of the Dominion.

The St. Francois Xavier team fought till the last whistle shrilled last night, and put up a glorious effort to score a mate to the goal the Collegians rang up in the second period to take the lead. The stout defensive work of George McTeer and the husky McGillivray on the McGill defense, the cool and brilliant goaltending of Powers, and the clever poke-checking and stickhandling of young Ken Farmer ruined the last-minute hope of the struggling French team.

Three Hundred Minutes of Hockey

It took McGill three hundred minutes of hockey to prove their superiority over the Saints. They first played ninety minutes to a goalless draw. Their next game went sixty minutes, and they still emerged deadlocked, but at 1-1. Wednesday night they battled ninety minutes again, each scoring a goal.

The Collegians' 2-1 victory last night gives them the round decision by a gross score of 4-3.

The flashing, speeding Saints rattled in a clever goal two minutes after the game started last night. Gaudette hurtled in on left wing to take a goal-front pass from Alexandre. He whipped the puck into the net without stopping.

McGill sagged for a moment, and then came back with a punch in the same period and tied the count. Ken Farmer worked behind the Saints' cage and snapped a short passout to Nelson Crutchfield, who flipped it into the net before Coulter could get set.

Nearly three-quarters of the second period had gone by when McGill scored their second and winning goal. Farquharson dashed down, split the defense and passed to Russ Ward, who clipped the disc into the net with a terrific drive.

WINNIPEGS WIN FROM PORTS 3-0

CLOSE CHECKING.

WINNIPEG, March 20. — Rising hopes of Port Arthur for another Allan Cup were shattered last night as the doughty Winnipegs of Winnipeg sank the Sailormen into a 3-0 overtime defeat. By their victory old Jack Hughes' Manitobans offset the Ports' 2-1 win at the Lakehead Monday and took the home-and-home series by 4 to 2. Winnipegs next meet North Battleford Intermediates, Saskatchewan hockey champions, in the Western semi-final.

Checking is Close

Frenzied end-to-end rushes carried Pegs into the next play-down round. Romeo Rivers, brother of Gus, of the Montreal Canadiens, ploughed through for the goal that put them ahead after Hack Simpson, big centre, had tied the round score in the second period.

River's precious tally, coming after only half a minute of overtime play, spurred on the Manitobans to greater efforts.

As the Lakehead Sailors fought for life in their own territory, sleek Ken Moore sifted in from his wing position to place Pegs two goals in the lead with three minutes to go.

The speedy cohorts of "Phat" Wilson were unable to come back.

Attempted team play got nowhere, as the teams checked up closely on their foes during the goalless first period. The majority of shots came from outside the blue line and were easy for the goalers. Winnipegs, piercing through to goal territory almost twice as often as Ports, held an advantage on the play.

A VANCOUVER SHOW

AN ALL-STAR VANCOUVER SHOW

Although the boxing game has suffered a lean season for some time it may be said that the present situation came on itself, something in the same manner as the first time you overeat and experience a stomachache. There is apparently a way to revive the old interest and the New York Gardens are going at it in the right way. The management recently announced that $40,000 would be spent before the United States National Amateur Boxing championships commence at the end of next month. This meet will attract boxers from the West Coast, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, and from Canada. Another scheme is being speculated by promoter Jack Doyle, who is trying to match Jimmy McLarnin with Billy Townsend. This would look like an all-star Vancouver show. Recent reports are that Pop Foster and McLarnin are in Los Angeles, and that the Irish battle is again in shape and ready for action. While this is what many a sport writer would term a choice tidbit of the season we wonder whether Pop would go for it.

WOULD CONTROL TRUCKS, BUSES

St. Catharines, Port Colborne Claim Unfair Competition With Steam Roads.

TO PETITION GOV'T.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., March 19 (C.P.).—Municipal representatives of St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Merritton, Port Colborne, Niagara-on-the-Lake, after a conference here last night, approved of petitioning the Ontario Legislature to provide for the placing of trucks and buses under some sort of control and prevent "unfair" competition with steam roads. A deputation from the district served by the Niagara, St. Catharines, Toronto Railway will ask the Legislature to consider:

1—The advisability of placing the operation of buses and trucks under the control of the Dominion Railway Board of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board so that they may be compelled to operate particularly under conditions as to rates and hours of employment similar to the conditions under which the railways are forced to operate.

2—That taxation be imposed upon buses and trucks which will represent a fair portion of the cost of maintaining existing highways, widening existing highways and building new highways.

3—That a fair porportion of such taxation be paid to the municipalities as a reasonable compensation of the cost of creating and maintaining paved streets within the boundaries of the municipalities and toward the reduction of the contribution of municipalities to suburban roads and King's highways.

DRINTYRE WINS TO-DAY

BROWN HILLS, March 19.—(AP) — Drintyre, Captain Brownhill's Grand National candidate and one of the chief British hopes to win the classic steeplechase at Aintree, March 27, today won a two mile race on the flat. Drintyre won easily by two lengths. Seven others also ran.

LEAFS EASILY DEFEAT HAWKS

Conacher Scores Four Goals to Tie Morenz For Scoring Honors Lead.

BAILEY ALSO TALLIES.

TORONTO, Ont., March 20 (C.P.)—Sweeping through the bulky Blackhawk defence almost at random, Toronto Maple Leafs made a clean sweep of their four games with Chicago during the current schedule when they trounced their first round Stanley Cup play-off opponents, 8 to 2. The game was the only scheduled match in the National Hockey league. The result meant just nothing to either team. Nevertheless more than 7,000 fans journed to the Arena to see the Leafs break loose on their largest scoring spree of the season. On the other hand it was the Hawks' worst defeat in several season and never in his professional career has "Chuck" Gardner, youthful all-star net guardian of the Hawks, scooped the puck out of his net so frequently.

"Ace" Bailey and "Chuck" Conacher, Leaf right wing stars, were the leading point scorers of the game. Bailey notched the first goal of the carefree tussle and assisted in the scoring of three others. Conacher parked the disc behind Gardner four time to jump into a tie with Howie Morenz, of Montreal Canadiens, for goal scoring honors in the Canadian group.

Four games remain to be played to wind up the league schedule, three on Saturday and one on Sunday. First round games in the Stanley Cup competion commence on Tuesday, with Chicago at Toronto and Montreal Maroons at New York Rangers. The opening game in the league championship series will also be played on Tuesday. The opposing teams, Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, champions of the Canadian and United States divisions, respectively, will compete in a three-out-of-five series. The first two games will be played at Boston on Tuesday and Thursday nights and the remaining clashes at Montreal.

HELEN HICKS WINS AUGUSTA TOURNEY

Miss Honor Bright of Niagara Falls Awarded Low Net Trophy.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 20 (C.P.).—A card of 326 for 72 holes, played from scratch to-day had won for Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L.I., the Augusta women's invitation golf tournament, although Honor Bright, of Niagara, Ont., had a net score of the same figure.

Miss Bright's 72-hole gross total was 358, but her handicap rating of 8 to a round reduced the total to 326. Club officials listed the Hewlett star as champion and awarded her the trophy for low gross score, and gave Miss Bright the low net trophy.

The only oher scratch player, Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N.J., finished fourth with a gross score of 335. Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, N.Y., held third place with a net score of 332.

Perkins Is Matched Against Jack Toomer

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 20 (C.P.). — T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion, to-day faced his sternest opposition of the winter amateur championship of Florida golf tournament as he matched his skill against that of young Jack Toomer of Jacksonville.

Perkins had easy sailing advancing to the semi-finals when he downed Gray Singleton of the University of Florida seven and six. Toomer meanwhile was pulling a close match out from Jack Ryerson, former Yale star.

Regina Patricias Carry One Goal Lead in Their Struggle With Millionaires.

PRIMROSES FAVORED.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 20. (CP)—Finalists in the O.H.A., Memorial Cup series to be held here next week, will be decided to-night when the four teams engaged in eastern and western sectional finals clash in the of their two games series.

With the slim lead of one goal at their command, Regina Patricias, present holders of the coveted trophy, emblematic of the Dominion junior championship, renew their struggle with Elmwood Millionaires of Winnipeg in that city. Backed by the brilliant goalguarding of the hawk-eyed Kenny Campbell the Pats weathered a rough voyage in the first game on Tuesday, the Elmwoods forced play during the major part of the contest but failed to outwit Campbell who hung up his seventh straight play-off shutout.

Pats scored the only goal of that game in the second frame by capitalizing to the fullest extent on the one good chance that came their way. Should Elmwoods have the speed and stamina to again carry the puck to the Pats they may break the charm Campbell appears to hold over the junior sharpshooters of the prairies. The winner of this round will entrain for this city to meet either Niagara Falls or Ottawa Primroses in the first game of the final on Monday next.

The Primroses appear to have the eastern title pretty well in hand. They shellacked the big fast Niagara team 4 to 0, in the first game at Ottawa last Tuesday to the great astonishment of the Cataracts and their supporters.

However, visiting teams in the past have found it a difficult proposition to beat the Ontario Hockey Association champions in their own rink and Cataracts and their supporters do not appear to be worrying about the outcome to-night.

Presentation Made To Major A. V. Thorne

MILLBROOK, March 20.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The feature of special interest at the meeting of the Royal Black Preceptory, No. 945, held this week in the Orange Hall, was the presentation of a Past Preceptor's Jewel to Worshipful Sir Knight, (Major) A. V. Thorne, who has served in the capacity of chief officer of the local lodge, and is therefore a Past Preceptor of the Order.

The presentation was made by the Worshipful Preceptor, Sir Knight William Williamson, Sir Knight Nathaniel Belch, reading the accompanying address.

Suitable reply was made by the recipient of the honor, and at the close of the business session adjournment was made to the dining-hall where an oyster supper was enjoyed, the ladies joining their husbands for this delightful part of the evening.

Over forty guests in all sat down to the banqueting-table, brief addresses marking the social hour at the conclusion of the supper period.

HEENEY TO FIGHT RISKO IN TORONTO

Tom Heeney, the sturdy chopping block from New Zealand, is booked to fight Johnny Risko of Cleveland at the Shamrock A.C. in Toronto on April 6. Both these heavyweights have met the best in their class, and while they will never be champions, the match should attract a good deal of attention. SOME EXPERTS IN FAVOR OF OXFORD CREW

UNDER RIGOROUS TRAINING

Thousands of "Old Grads" and Sight-seers Will Witness Famous Event.

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England, March 20. (Canadian Press Cable).—The sporting world of Great Britain to-day centred its attention on the 83rd renewal of the classic Oxford-Cambridge boat race to-morrow afternoon. From all parts of the British Isles, "old grads" of the great universities, including some of the most prominent men in Great Britain, were starting their annual trek towards the biggest "free" event on the sporting calendar.

On both sides of the river, along the 4¼ mile stretch between Putney and the finish line at the Mortlake Brewery; on special trains drawn across the bridges, and on river-craft following the racing shells thousands and thousands of persons will be assembled when the dark blues and the light blues dip their oars in the water and start on the gruelling journey at 2.20 p.m.

For months the rival eights have been undergoing rigorous training under squads of coaches working in relays. The Cambridge crew are favorites at 7 to 4 in the betting, but the composition of the crew has been subjected to various changes lately and experts give Oxford a bit of an edge, especially in view of marked improvement shown by the dark blues in the past few days. Only yesterday, Oxford turned in the best practice performance they have shown this year.

Cambridge has the edge in the series which started in 1829. They have won the last seven races to bring their total victories to 41, compared with 40 for Oxford; the other race was a dead-heat. The reason that only 82 races have been rowed in 101 years, is that it did not become an annual event until 1856 and, of course, was postponed during the Great War.

The weather is expected to be favorable to-morrow. The wind conditions however will have a very important affect on the long grind.

Oxford who still hold the race record of 18 minutes 29 seconds, set in 1911, will have a slight advantage in weight to-morrow.

TEAMS ARE FAVORITES TO REPEAT

Memories of the 1930 world series were revived as the St. Louis Cardinals met Connie Mack's world champion Athletics in an exhibition game at Miami, Fla. HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

After their regular evening's carpet bowling, the men of the U.B. One Bible Class of the Mark Street United Church held the annual meeting of the Carpet Bowling Club on Wednesday night. There was a large turnout, and club plans and the election of officers cleaned up the business.

* * * * * *

Jim Ellis was elected president, with Fred Stevenson as 1st vice-president and Max Pomeroy as 2nd. Al Graham is the secretary-treasurer of the club. After the meeting refreshments were served as usual.

* * * * * *

Carpet bowling is an indoor form of lawn bowling and is a popular winter sport around town. Forty to fifty members are generally on hand for the Wednesday night games in the Mark Street Sunday School Hall. But the season is now nearing a close.

* * * * * *

Choates' Juniors took a 1-0 decision over the Rink Rats down in Norwood night before last. Their previous game ended in a scoreless overtime tie, so the outfits must be well-matched.

* * * * * *

The management of the Choats' team wishes to thank the Rink Rats for the feed and dance put on after the game. They certainly do things right in Norwood.

* * * * * *

And the Westclox girls were down for a game and dance, too. But they weren't so fortunate. The Norwood lasses put up a stiff fight and neither team could score once. However, they had a lot of fun. The friendly feud will be continued here when, and if, good ice is available.

* * * * * *

The local girls would like to settle that 1-1 draw with the Keene damsels also, but with the spring weather lasting, it may be impossible.

* * * * * *

And now it's football. After weeks of argument down at the C.G.E., the Switchgear Department challenges the Machine Shop to a game on Good Friday. We understand the proceeds, if any, will go toward doctors' bills, also if any.

* * * * * *

Jack Purcell, Canadian badminton champion, recently lost out in the semi-finals of the English championship play. Th's was something of a surprise, as Purcell was a favorite to win. However, as one English paper said, it was mainly due to natural lighting, which he was not used to in his games.

* * * * * *

The same Purcell defeated the best English players in Canada last year without much trouble. He played several exhibition games here at the Armouries about two months ago.

* * * * * *

"Ball players are a lot of snakes in the grass," according to Muddy Ruel, Red Sox catcher. And he says this applies to his own team-mates, too. Which is a rather surprising statement to make.

* * * * * *

But the reason is that Muddy, who is nursing a split finger, umpired a game the other day in which the Red Sox were playing. And the remarks of some of the players caused the star catcher to swear off the umpiring racket for life.

* * * * * *

Last year, the American League representatives won the World Series. So, many fans got the idea that league was superior. Such is not the case, judging from statistics. The National League had a big edge on the year's play.

* * * * * *

While the younger circuit had a little advantage in pitching, the National loop led in batting, base running, and fielding. And they had fewer errors. Of course, neither league is superior for any length of time, records show.

'NEATH SUNNY SKIES

Spicy Bits of Baseball Gossip From Majors' Camps.

The Red Sox have been at Pensacola, Fla., one day short of four weeks and only three of the positions have been clinched—Sweeney at first, Rhyne at shortstop, and Webb in right field seem sure of their positions but a wide-open fight is still on for the remaining infield and outfield positions. No wonder the Yannigans are so full of pep and pasting the regular pitcher for long home runs.

The New York Giants, at San Antonio, Texas, have about decided that the long hours they spent in base stealing and other features of tight baseball in preparation for the use of the new National League ball, were just wasted time.

"For three days I had heavy bunting and sliding drill," Manager John McGraw said. "Then we started against major league pitching and found last year's conditions. Runs arrived in batches and there was no sense bunting and trying to steal a single run. It looks like another season of the lively ball and big scores.

The Phillies pitchers are giving Manager Shotton no end of worry at Winter Haven, Fla. Shotton said today the five straight defeats of the Phillies in exhibition games bore close resemblance to last year's debacles, with the pitchers "blowing" leads almost daily.

With Hal Lee leading the attack, the Phillies hammered over 37 runs in the five exhibition games, but Shotton said the hurling had been so soft it had allowed their opponents to score big tallies. The Phillies were ahead at some point in each of the games.

Shamrocks Eliminated In American Running

CHICAGO, March 20 (C.P.)—Early season leaders and one-time favorites, Chicago Shamrocks to-day are definitely out of the American League's charmed play-off circle. The fatal shove for the Rocks was delivered last night by Buffalo Majors, who won by 3 to 2 in overtime, and shot up into fourth position, two points back of Duluth Hornets.

French Bouchard, right-winger, bored in for the winning goal after five minutes of extra play. McFayden and Taylor had scored for Chicago and Mitchell and Lessard for Buffalo.

Second place holders, Kansas City Pla-Mors secured their position with a 2 to 1 victory over the hapless and homeless Millers from Minneapolis. Millers are in second last place.

OMEMEE BOARD ASKS FOR AID

Seeks Help From Women's Institute Branch to Run Public Public Library.

OTHER BUSINESS.

OMEMEE, March 20.—(Examiner Correspondence). — On Wednesday evening the members of the Women's Institute were entertained at the home of Mrs. Cyril Elliott, Sturgeon street.

The president, Mrs. Rae, was in charge and the meeting opened in the usual manner. The roll call was responded to by cooking suggestions for busy days, and while many useful ideas were given, it was requested that the members be prepared with the various ideas as requested on the yearly program.

Various items of business were discussed after which Mrs. C. R. Cornell favored the gathering with a piano selection, "Rustles of Spring." Mrs. Widdis gave a very interesting paper on the patron saint, St. Patrick. Community singing was enjoyed and was of an Irish nature.

Miss Race next gave one of her pleasing piano numbers followed by an appropriate vocal number by Mrs. Cyril Elliott. A contest, "Hidden Counties of Ontario", helped to brighten up the geography memories of each and was very interesting.

Mrs. Palmer, secretary, was given an address read by Mrs. W. R. McQuade and the presentation of a beautiful diah was made by Mrs. E. McPherson prior to her departure for her new home in Kirkfield. Mrs. Palmer, while taken quite by surprise, replied thanking the ladies for their kindness.

Rev. Mr. Weir and J. Williams waited on the Institute on behalf of the Public Library Board. Because of the cut in grants the Library is finding it diccicult to carry on in the usual way and asked the ladies if they could see fit to assist in this very worthy cause. The hostesses, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Ackerman, and Mrs. Faulkner served refreshments and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

A.Y.P.A. HOLDS LENTEN RALLY

Rev. A. J. Goulding of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, is Guest Speaker.

IN ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

An address of special interest and appeal was heard on Tuesday night in St. Luke's Church, when Rev. A. J. Goldring of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, was the guest speaker at the Annual Peterborough District Council Lenten rally of the Anglican Young People's Association. His text was taken from St. John x., 10: "I am come that they may have life and that they may have it more abundantly." The speaker reminded his listeners that Jesus Christ was a young man with young interests, a young mind and young in His choice of friends. The Christian life is not a quiet, elderly, unexciting existence, but a life full of adventure, new interests and fellowship with Christ. Using Bible stories, Mr. Goldring pointed out that the Lord had spent a great deal of His time while on earth amongst young people. His concluding remarks were an appeal to accept Christ as a friend and consecrate our lives to Him. The lessons were read by the president of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A., Mr. Hepburn, and by the president of the Local Council, Mr. Jack Cuffe. Rev. J. G. Bousfield and Rev. J. L. Hughes conducted the service.

A business meeting to discuss the possibility of sending a delegate to the 1931 Dominion Conference in Regina was held after the service. Although no definite plans were formed, it is possible several local representatives will visit Regina in October.

Six branches signified their intention of entering the dramatic contest held annually by the district. Miss Stella Graham is the elected chairman of the Dramatic Committee.

Clergymen attending the service included: Rev. A. J. Goldring of Lindsay; Rev. A. T. Weir, Omemee; Rev. E. R. James, St. John's, Peterborough; Rev. J. L. Hughes, St. George's, Peterborough, and Rev. G. J. Bousfield, St. Luke's, Peterborough.

The local branch of St. Luke's served refreshments to the visiting branches at the conclusion of the business meeting.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY EXAMINER

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 17 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The boy was half-frantic with despair. In the morning they would be discovered! Then the chances were they would drag him and Akut forth and hang them to the nearest tree. He had read of such things being done in the far West of his mother's native land, America, and Africa was even worse and wilder than America! Was there no means of escape! Ah! his money! THAT would save them, for gold would do anything

He searched for his bank roll through the pockets of his clothes. It was not there! Lighting the lamp he looked everywhere for it and at last nerved himself to examine the body of Condon, for he now guessed the purpose for which the man had entered the room. The ape squatted in the corner watching his young companion. An hour after, he gave up the search. His money was GONE! And with it went hope. What were

For all his inherited size and strength, he was, after all, but a youngster, a frightened homesick boy, who could think of but a single glaring fact; they had killed a man and they were among savage strangers. Long he sat upon the bed, thinking—how long he did not know—but finally he was aroused by a noise coming from the floor below. Springing quickly to his feet he blew out the lamp and turned to the ape, his mind made up.

Last night he had determined to start for home and beg forgiveness from his parents for his mad adventure. Now he knew that he might never return to them. What if Akut HAD done the deed! Wouldn't everybody think it was his fault? "Come," he said in the language of the great apes. Forgetful of the fact that he wore only his thin pajama suit, he led the way to the open window and paused a moment, listening attentively.

WILSON IS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Man Who Was Charged With Begging Found to be Well Known by Police.

ONE CASE REMANDED.

Daniel Minnicola, who was charged on Saturday with indecent assault against a young girl, was remanded for one week, when he again appeared in court to-day. The prosecution was not prepared to proceed and requested the remand.

It turned out that Joseph E. Wilson, charged with begging, was too modest. He told the magistrate the other day that no one knew him and that the police could look him up any place. Police did that and found that Wilson was known from coast to coast and had rested in most of the jails of cities large and small. His career in major and minor crime began in 1910.

In this district he was soliciting alms as a cripple. On the strength of his record he was sentenced to two months.

NOTICE TO DRIVERS OF MOTOR VEHICLES

On account of the large amount of storm drain work done for relief purposes in the city during the winter, there will be a great many bad places on the streets this spring. It is impossible to back-fill in the winter with frozen material, so that there will be no settlement.

Drivers of motor vehicles are requested to be careful when driving over and along these trenches as otherwise accidents are liable to occur. Co-operation in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

PETERBORO LAWYERS ENGAGED AT COBOURG

Three Cases on Short Docket With Local Counsel Prominent.

Peterborough lawyers were prominent in the Spring Assize of the Supreme Court of Ontario at Cobourg this week.

Gordon, Elliott and Gordon were listed on the docket as solicitors in three actions and J. W. Stevenson in one.

Mr. Stevenson was assisted by W. F. Johnston of Peterborough in the Kincaid vs. Nill alleged alienation case in which Mr. Justice Rose gave judgment in favor of the defendant, together with costs of the action.

A Trenton libel case in which G. N. Gordon is engaged was traversed to the non-jury sessions of the court in May, and his third case, noted as Bigelow vs. Bigelow, was settled out of court.

Bernice Lamarche Swallows Poison in Mistake for Cough Medicine.

IN NORTH BAY HOSPITAL.

Bottle Been Left Upon Dresser By Paper Hangers Parents Claim.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Mar. 21. (CP) Mistaking a bottle of carbolic acid for a bottle of cough medicine and drinking part of the contents of the bottle of poison almost resulted in the death of Miss Bernice Lamarche last night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lamarche Although in a serious condition in the Queen Victoria Hospital to-day, doctors believe she will recover.

Had a Bad Cold

Mrs. Lamarche said that her daughter was getting ready to go out about eight o'clock in the evening and having a bad cold had meant to take a dose of cough medicine from a bottle that was on the dresser in her room but by mistkae picked up a bottle of carbolic acid that had been left there by paper-hangers. As soon as she realized what she had taken, she called for help and Dr. L. L. Crowe and Dr. W. S. Butler were summoned. She was taken to the hospital for treatment.

SPINGARN MEDAL TO BE CONFERRED ON R. B. HARRISON

FORMER LONDON RESIDENT.

Son of Negro Slaves Stars as Jehovah in "The Green Pastures."

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 21 (CP) On the stage of the theatre where for more than a year he has played the role of Jehova in "The Green Pastures" Richard B. Harrison, son of Negro slaves and native of London, Ont., will receive to-morrow night the Spingarn Medal, awarded each year for the outstanding achievement by a member of his race.

The medal will be conferred at a public ceremony by Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who will make a special trip to New York from Albany for the purpose.

Mr. Harrison was born in 1864 in London, Ont., the son of Negro slaves who had escaped to Canada. The family later moved to Detroit, where he studied dramatic art while his father whitewashed sheds. Later the boys worked as a bellboy and pullman porter and did odd jobs, always saving money so that he could continue his studies.

Pioneer In Dramatic Work.

Forty years ago he was a pioneer in dramatic work among Negroes. He toured the south many times, reading the plays of Shakespeare and the works of other great poets. He became the head of the department of dramatic art at the Agricultural and Technical College, a Negro institution in Greensboro, N.C.

A little more than a year ago he came north to give a series of dramatic readings as a member of the lecture state of the greater New York Federation of Churches. The role of Jehovah in "The Green Pastures" was offered to him.

The story is that he did not want to take it at first—that to him the idea of playing on a stage the role of God seemed sacreligious. After much urging by the white producers he finally accepted the part. His success was immediate and outstanding.

And now, they say in Harlem — where 'The Green Pasture' is referred to simply as "the play"—little black children run up to Richard B. Harrison in the streets and timidly ask for his blessing.

NATIONAL OBSERVANCE NIGHT IS OBSERVED BY THE KINSMEN CLUBS

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., is the Guest Speaker at the Meeting of Local Club.

29 CLUBS UNITE.

Following the same schedule as the other twenty-eight clubs of the organization throughout the Dominion, members of the local Kinsmen Club and their guests, forged a vital link in the National Observance Night chain when they gathered around the banquet board at the Empress Hotel last evening, in celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the founding of Kinsmanship.

From Montreal in the east to Victoria in the west, the meetings were synchronized to commence and to conclude at the same hours. It was an inspiring thought to realize that some 1,100 Kinsmen were once again figuratively joining hands across Canada, in celebration of this annual observance night, which was inaugurated just one year previously, to stimulate loyal impulses and a comprehensive understanding of the real purpose and ultimate goal of this Federation of Clubs.

President Dr. Ralph Honey presided and during the evening messages were read from Manley J. Edwards, National President, from Hal Rogers, founder of the organization, and from J. E. Ritchie, District Governor. Each of the communications urged an unwavering adherence to the altruistic ideals of

First Morning of Spring Dawns Bright; Nature Takes on Renewed Lease of Life

The splendid raiment of the Spring peeps forth.
His universal green and the clear sky
Delight still more ... more the gazing eye".

Today is the first day of Spring, the opening of the vernal season, when it almost appears that the whole of nature takes on a renewed lease of life, pausing not to look back on the season which has past and gone but moving forward steadfastly toward the promise of the seasons ahead.

The whirring of fanning mills is heard out on the farms where preparation is being made for the sowing of the crops; ice bound creeks and rivers are once more on the move fed by the spring freshets, while the whole of the bird and animal kingdom are engaged in the task of 'home-building', and the trees and commencing to send forth their buds which are soon to open out in to verdant leaves.

The feeling of Spring is indeed in the air, it is in the gentle balmy breezes which have prevailed over the past two days and in the increasing strength of the rays of the benevolent sunshine.

HAD MANY "PATIENTS."

In describing the activities of the woman, one police investigator said the woman held his hand and then went into a "trance" to diagnose his case. She told him he was suffering from various catarrhal ailments and prescribed one of her medicines.

Investigators said there was a crowd of "patients" at the home awaiting advice and medicine every night.

Light Blues Lead Oxford Oarsmen Start To Finish

Victory is Cantabs Eighth Straight Triumph in Historic Event Over Four and Quarter Mile Stretch From Putney to Mortlake, Held Intermittently Since 1829.

OFFICIAL TIME WAS 19 MINUTES AND 26 SECONDS ALMOST FULL MINUTE UNDER OXFORD'S 1911 RECORD

Outcome Gives Cambridge Margin of Two Races in Series, Light Blues Having Won 42 Times to Oxford's 40—Race in 1877 Was Dead Heat.

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England, March 21 (C.P. Cable). —Long oars sweeping in unbeatable rhythm and power, the Cambridge University eight defeated Oxford for the eighth successive year in the classic inter-varsity boat race to-day.

The Light Blues, never in serious danger, finished the gruelling 4¼-mile test from Putney to Mortlake in 19 minutes 26 seconds, crossing the finish line two and a quarter lengths in front of the Dark Blue shell. The time was 57 seconds slower than the record of 19.29 set by Oxford in 1911.

The veteran Cambridge stroke, T. A. Brocklebank, setting a high rate of stroking from the start, gained a fairly safe lead for the Light Blue shell soon after the race was under way.

Oxford made their challenge just after the half-way mark, and the big, powerful Dark Blue eight succeeded in cutting the Light Blue lead from two to one lengths Cambridge responded nobly, and were soon again drawing away from the Oxford crew.

The victory of the Light Blues gave them a margin of two wins in the century-old contest, which now stands: Cambridge 42, Oxford 40; 1 dead heat.

250,000 See Race.

The day, dawning bright and fair, had changed to a wintry afternoon when the race started. A strong wind kicked up the waters of the tideway, and the skies were overshadowed.

The crowds which assembled to see the culmination of months of training by the cream of University oarsmen were estimated to number three-quarters of a million persons. They had streamed to the river banks by every means of travel since early morning. The banks, for the 4¼ miles of the "U" shaped course, were crowded several rows deep. The bridges held special, packed trains and the shells were followed by a small fleet of rivercraft.

A bedlam of sound from the multitude became hushed as the rival crews appeared, moving towards the starting line. Oxford won the toss and elected the Middlesex side, which seemed more favorable under the wind and water conditions.

The start was made at 2.26 p.m. and a great shout went up.

No Chances Taken.

"Ted" Brocklebank, perhaps England's most expert oarsman who had stroked the Light Blues to victory in the past two races, took no chances. Setting a high rate, he sent the Cambridge shell into a slight margin at the 200 yard mark. At the half mile the Light Blue shell had edged into a quarter length lead and held this margin at the mile post.

As the shells forged under the Hammersmith bridge, a mile and five furlongs from the start, daylight was showing between the shells. Cambridge had a length and a half lead.

NOTED GERMAN DR. H. MUELLER DIES IN BERLIN

54 YEARS OLD.

BERLIN, March 21 (A.P.).—The hand which, unflinchingly, wrote the principal German signature to the Treaty of Versailles, was stilled today in death.

Succumbing to a long illness, Dr. Herman Mueller, twice German Chancellor and one of the two or three most influential men of German post-war politics, passed away at 10.45 p.m., last night. He was 54 years old.

He was in comatose condition for several hours preceding the end, which was brought about by thrombosis of the liver, complicated by pneumonia. A bladder operation last Saturday failed to aid him.

Chancellor in 1920

Dr. Mueller first was German Chancellor for three months in 1920. He came to power the second time in June, 1928, remaining in office until March, 1930, when the present Chancellor, Dr. Bruening, succeeded him.

Though stigmatized by Nationalists for having signed the "War Guilt Lie," Mueller always had the confidence of the large body of his countrymen and with the late Dr. Stresseman is given credit generally for having put over the Young plan and evacuation of the occupied territories. He was leader of the Social Democratic Party and a newspaperman by profession.

ROWATT NAMED TO GOV'T OFFICE

HAD 43 YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 21.—(CP)—H. H. Rowatt has been appointed Deputy Minister of Interior. Announcement that the order in council making the appointment had been signed, was made today by Premier R. B. Bennett.

W. W. Cory for many years Deputy Minister of the Department retired some time ago.

The new Deputy Minister has been in the department for about 43 years, having entered the service in 1887. He has a very wide knowledge of the mines branch in which he has been serving for over 30 years. The Government relies on his special qualifications in arriving at the final details in connection with the restoration of the natural resources to the prairie provinces. For this reason the Government recently extended his time of service. It was felt, however, by the Government that the long and distinguished service of Mr. Rowatt was entitled to special recognition.

Fire Razes Melbourne Village Block

BLAZE CREATES $50,000 DAMAGE IN EARLY HOURS

Oddfellows' Hall, Garage, Barber Shop and General Store Lie in Ruins.

NO PERSON INJURED.

Firemen Hampered By Big Start Fire Had Beefore it Was Discovered.

LONDON, Ont., March 21 (C.P.). — Fire breaking out at 3.30 a.m. this morning in the Oddfellows' Hall, swept almost an entire block at Melbourne, a village 17 miles west of London.

The hall, a garage, a barber shop, and a general store were burned. Damage is estimated at more than $50,000.

The Oddfellows' Hall, the building in which the fire originated, was completely destroyed. Wesley Richard occupied the lower part of this structure, while the Oddfellows' rooms were upstairs.

Had Good Hold.

Starting at the rear of the building the outbreak soon had a good hold, and the flames leaping skyward ignited the garage occupied by Campbell Brothers. All efforts to save this structure were also unavailing, and the building was consumed. Continuing, the flames made their way to an adjoining restaurant, above which resided Stewart Campbell with his wife and child. Fortunately, Mr. Campbell and his family were out of their dwelling at the time of the fire, as their only means of exit was a wooden stairway, which was quickly eaten up in the blaze.

A residence owned by A. D. Brown next caught ablaze, followed by a store occupied by Mrs. Brock and son, also Davidson's barber shop. However, the goods were removed from these premises, only being slightly damaged by water.

While a rough estimate places the damage at $50,000, it is believed that it will run much higher, with only part of it being covered by insurance.

MEMBERS HURRY TO END SESSION

Legislature Told Quebec Goes Into Ontario to Build Up Power Industry There.

THREE BRISK SITTINGS.

QUEBEC, Que., March 21 (C.P.)—Anticipating the end of the session, the Legislative Council, in three brisk, business-like sittings, cleared a lot of business yesterday.

A bill amending the Quebec Charities Act, an amendment to the Education Bill, and $5,917,000 estimates for the Roads Department were passed with very little discussion.

Contrary to what was said in the Ontario Legislature recently, as to the policy of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission in buying power from Quebec Developments, Aime Guertin, Cons., Hull, asserted that Quebec goes into Ontario to build up the power industry in that Province. Lighting rates were cheaper in Ontario than in Quebec, he said, and Quebec concerns were partly responsible. Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, produced a mass of figures, in answer to Mr. Guertin, which summed up in a general way, showed wide discrepancies between the two Provinces and the practical impossibility of comparison on the actual figures." Mr. Guertin suggested a commission to go into the whole question on relative prices in the province.

Republicans Favoring Water Power Project

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 21 (C.P.)—The New York Times in a special despatch from Albany says Republicans in the State Legislature are "virtually in accord" on a proposal to put through the Cornaire Bill setting up the necessary machinery for the State's water power project on the St. Lawrence River. This accord, says The Times, is "largely with a view to the elimination of a troublesome issue from the 1932 campaign."

The bill is now in the hands of the Assembly Rules Committee. According to recent statements in authoritative quarters, says the newspaper, "there is every prospect of its being favorably reported and speedily passed in the Lower House unless Governor Roosevelt should insist upon amendments not acceptable to the Republican majority."

CATTLE SHIPPING RULES MODIFIED

Outcome of Ferguson's Parley With British Officials Expected to be Felt Soon.

HAD HIT CANADA HARD.

MONTREAL, Que., March 21.—The Montreal Gazette to-day publishes the following cable from its London correspondent:

"As a result of negotiations conducted by Hon. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to London, with the Agricultural and Shipping Baords, it is expected that the regulations put in force last autumn which had the effect of restricting shipments of cattle from Canada, will be modified, and that shipping of cattle will be resumed under the previously existing conditions. The restricting regulations, which were adopted by the British Government without having consulted the Canadian Government, had to do with the space provided for each unit of a shipment, and would have involved considerable re-modeling of vessels used for cattle shipments.

"The marked decrease in consignments of Canadian cattle for the British market is believed to have been a factor in leading the authorities here to reconsider the matter."

Thousands Gather For Boat Classic

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, Eng. March 21.—(AP)— Misty clouds occasionally obscuring the sun and a light west wind greeted thousands of boat race fans as they assembled on the river banks here today to watch the 83rd renewal of the Oxford-Cambridge annual contest.

Early comers seized points of vantage from which to watch the twenty minute struggle of the two crews. The choice places, Hammersmith Bridge, Barnes Bridge, and Chiswick Meadows, were packed to the limit long before noon released other thousands of London workers. Cambridge remained the favorite as the racetime approached.

ENLIVEN DEBATE IN THE COMMONS

Humor of Parliament Frequently Bright, Sometimes it is Ponderous.

BRIGHTEST QUIPS.

(By W. W. Murray, C.P. Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Ont., March 21.—The humor of Parliament is frequently bright; sometimes it is ponderous; quite often it rises no further than the level of that "mediocrity which neither gods nor men can tolerate." To enliven the morality of a dull debate with quaint shafts of divine wit is an accomplishment not many members of the House of Commons achieve. Thus it happens that on those rare occasions when some speaker injects into his discourse an appropriate quotation, the apt simile or a humorous anecdote, the House receives it as a Bedouin would hail a shower of rain in a sandy desert. The past week has been evident of such. To award the laurels for the brightest quip would not be easy.

The ludicrous picture of cattle making corks or castor-oil bottles marks its artist, Colonel H. A. Mullins in colorful metaphor. This was his (Cons., Marquette) as a member rich withering comment on Thursday when deriding the exportations of steers conducted under the direction of a former Minister of Railways, Hon. T. A. Crerar. In the same speech the Colonel disclaimed any responsibility for the propensities of the hens in British Columbia.

Hens Been Busy

"I'm not responsible," he said, "for the low price of eggs. I heard an Hon. Member from British Columbia say the hens out there had laid 340 or 350 eggs a year. It should be borne in mind we've had an open winter in Western Canada, and if the hens are busy, it isn't my fault."

To George McPhee, (Lib., Yorkton) gophers and Tories are very much alike. A gopher, he exclaimed, is a sleek little animal that pilfers the farmers' grain.

"In the day of his greatest pilfering, he develops a paunch; and I would say that gopherism and Toryism are synonymous terms. They are synonymous because both are pests and humbugs. As a matter of fact, if I were to choose between the gopher and Tory, I would prefer the gopher, because its deppredations would be by instinct and not by design."

The massive, mediaeval structure which houses the Department of National Revenue struck E. J. Young (Liberal, Weyburn) as appropriate to the functions he ascribed to it.

"I think the man who designed that castly must have a rare sense of humor," declared Mr. Young caustically. "There it stands on the banks of the canal, with its bastions and battlements, with its tower, its turrets and its portholes, with guns at the door and no doubt a dungeon underneath. It reminds one of the robbers' castles on the Rhine that we used to read about as boys, to which all passers by were compelled to draw near and pay toll."

The first public hearing of tariff matters by a Cabinet sub-committee stimulated Hon. Fernand Rinfret, former Secretary of State, considerably. Gravely picturing the advent of the Prime Minister and the Minister of Agriculture into the Railway Committee room on February 16, Mr. Rinfret recalled that at 10.30 a.m., when the Premier arrived no representatives of industry or other interests concerned were present. After waiting one minute, the Prime Minister adjourned the hearing. Later, Hon. R. J. Manion, Hon. Arthur Sauve, and Hon. Alfred Duranleau arrived, only to find the Prime Minister gone. Some doubt had existed as to the hour at which the session would open, according to the former Secretary of State. His comment on this situation was:

"If you admit at all the principle of Cabinet solidarity you must come to the conclusion that the Prime Minister adjourned the meeting before he had actually arrived as a government."

The preponderance of Opposition comment has arisen from the fact that few Government speakers have so far taken part in the debate.

APSLEY.

At the recent examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Mrs. George Kilborn and Miss Marion Pickard passed with honors the Junior Theory (History) examination.

Word was received on Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Isaac Lean in Nicholls Hospital, and the news caused widespread regret, although not unexpected. Mrs. Lean, who with her husband kept the Apsley House, went to the hospital about a month ago with heart trouble, which, with complications, caused her death Mrs. Lean conducted her business right up to the time of her going away, and few of her friends were aware of her delicate state of health. She is sincerely mourned by all who knew her, and will be missed by a great number of summer visitors and tourists who made the Apsley House their headquarters during the season. Kindly and considerate, hard-working and cheerful, Mrs. Lean commanded the admiration and respect of all with whom she came in contact. She leaves besides her sorrowing husband, a son Thomas at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Howard Reid of Apsley, to mourn her loss, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended. OCHS REGRETS SALE OF WORLD

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 21 (C.P.). — Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, in an interview in Editor and Publisher, released to-day, said that had he been in New York at the time he is confident he would have saved The World newspapers for the employees.

"I think," Mr. Ochs declared, "that all the employees needed was leadership with strong financial backing." He added that "altogether it (the sale by the Pulitzer interests) was an unfortunate and calamitous chapter in the history of American journalism."

REMARKABLE PRICE SAVINGS FROM $170 TO $800

Your first glance at the new Willys Six will take in the car's graceful lines — low, sweeping and clean-cut — and its pleasing color harmony. In every detail, the car correctly interprets the latest fashion tendencies.

In the new Willys Six the front seat adjusts to your length and its back takes the angle that fits you. The wider tread (58½-inches) makes much roomier seats and bodies. There are longer, more flexible springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers of improved type. The double-drop frame cuts down side sway for greater security when taking corners.

The big powerful engine is smooth in operation and economical in consumption of gasoline and oil. It can drive 70 miles an hour — 50 in second gear. It is rubber-insulated against vibration. The big four-wheel brakes are the Duo-Servo type, cable and conduit control, for better equalization, less pedal pressure and to avoid the brake rattles common to less modern systems.

Only a company of long experience, of large resources and with enormous facilities, could produce such outstanding cars as the new Willys Sixes, Eights and Knights, and could market them at such low prices, which represent a saving of $170 to $800 over last year's similar models. Arrange for a demonstration.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

EVIDENTLY last week's article on Samuel Rutherford was not in vain. Numerous friends have been inquiring as to where they can get "Letters of Samuel Rutherford." I should imagine that any bookseller would be able to get copies of it if asked to do so. My own copy, which I prize very highly, was published by Oliphant Anderson & Ferrier, Edinburgh and London. This copy seems like an old friend, having been in my possession for thirty years. It has gone round the world with me, been tossed on the high seas as it lay in the hold of a ship. Over long stretches of steel ribbons has it traveled in Britain, Australia and over this North American Continent! I have carried it in my satchel as I have gone away for the week-end somewhere; it has been with me in sickness and in health, and it now lies open upon my desk. If I could not secure another copy of it no amount of money could persuade me to part company with this literary and spiritual gem.

I have another copy, minus the Preface by Alexander Duff; the Introduction by Thomas Smith; Woodrow's Brief Account of Rutherford's Life and Character, etc., published by Pickering & Inglis, Glasgow.

Tributes to Rutherford.

Many eminent men have paid tribute to Rutherford, one of which we give here:

"When the greatest authorities have all said their best, the half has not been told of the unique value of Rutherford's Immortal Letters. I am a life-long student of this great spiritual classic."

This was the testimony of Dr. Alexander Whyte, minister of Free St. George's, Edinburgh. Dr. Whyte was well qualified to form an adequate estimate of the value of this devotional masterpiece.

Samuel Rutherford will always be associated with the hymn bearing his name, "The Sands of Time Are Sinking." Mrs. Cousins has woven into a delightful poem many of Rutherford's utterances, in giving to the Christian Church one of the choicest of all hymns.

Out of a Ripe Experience.

Take these two verses out of this glorious hymn:—

"With mercy and with judgment
My web of time He wove,
And aye the dews of sorrow
Were lustred by His love;
I'll bless the hand that guided,
I'll bless the heart that planned,
When throned where glory dwelleth
In Emmanuel's land.

"I've wrestled on towards heaven,
'Gainst storm and wind and tide;
Now, like a weary traveller
That leaneth on his guide,
Amid the shades of evening,
While sinks life's lingering sand,
I hail the glory dawning
From Emmanuel's land.

Some of His Letters.

In the year 1637, while still an exile for the Gospel's sake in Aberdeen, he sat down with his pen in hand on the 8th day of September and wrote a letter to Mr. Thomas Garven, which I herewith set down to speak for itself and for him.

Dear Brother,—Grace, mercy, and peace be to you. I rejoice that ye cannot be quit of Christ (if I may speak so), but He must. He will have you. Betake yourself to Christ, my dear brother. It is a great business to make quit of superfluities, and of those things which Christ cannot dwell with. I am content with my own cross, that Christ hath made mine by an eternal lot, because it is Christ's and mine together. I marvel not that winter is without heaven, for there is no winter within it. All the saints, therefore, have their own measure of winter before their eternal summer.

O! for the long day, and the high sun, and the fair garden, and the King's great city up above these visible heavens! What God layeth on, let us suffer: for some have one cross, some seven, some ten, some half a cross—yet all the saints have whole and full joy, and seven crosses have seven joys. Christ is cumbered with me (to speak so) and my cross, but He falleth not off me, we are not at variance. I find the very glooms of Christ's wooing a soul, sweet and lovely. I had rather have Christ's buffet and love-stroke than another king's kiss. Speak evil of Christ who will, I hope to die with love-thoughts of Him. Oh, that there are so few tongues in heaven and earth to extol Him! I wish His praises go not down amongst us. Let not Christ be low and lightly esteemed in the midst of us; but let all hearts and all tongues cast in their portion, and contribute something to make Him great in Mount Zion. Thus recommending you to His grace, and remembering my love to your wife and mother, and your kind brother R., and entreating you to remember my bonds, I rest,

Yours in His sweet Lord Jesus,
S. R.

A Pastoral Appeal.

Sometime during the year 1637 his thoughts took him down to the south of Scotland. There, in imagination, he saw the dangers which beset young life, even in small places; and so he yielded to the desire to pen a letter to one of the younger members of his flock at Anwoth.

Loving Friend,—I received your letter. I entreat you now in the morning of your life, seek the Lord and His face. Beware of the follies of dangerous youth, a perilous time for your soul. Love not the world; keep faith and truth with all men in your covenants and bargains: walk with God, for He seeth you: do nothing but that which ye may and would do, if your eye-strings were breaking and your breath growing cold. Ye heard the truth of God from me; my dear heart, follow it and forsake it not, prize Christ and salvation above all the world. To live after the guise and course of the rest of the world will not bring you to heaven: without faith in Christ, and repentance, ye cannot see God. Take pains for salvation; press forward toward the mark for the prize of the high calling. If ye watch not against evils night and day, which beset you, ye will come behind. Beware of lying, swearing, uncleanness, and the rest of the works of the flesh; because for these things the wrath of God cometh upon the children of disobedience: how sweet soever they may seem for the present, yet the end of these courses is the eternal wrath of God, and utter darkness, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth. Grace be with you.

Your loving pastor,
S. R.

Rutherford's Testimony.

In a day when false doctrine was doing its deadly work, and those in authority in the Church were traitors to the Lord Jesus Christ, Samuel Rutherford gave out a ringing testimony which must have been a great inspiration to those who were trying hard to be faithful in difficult places.

"Though the Lord needeth not a testimony from such a wretched man as I, if I, and all the world would be silent, the very stones would cry. It is more than debt that I should confess Christ before men and angels.

"It would satisfy me not a little, that the throne of my Lord Jesus were exalted above the clouds, the heaven of heavens, and on both sides of the sun: and that all possible praise and glory were ascribed to Him; that, by His grace, I might put my seal, such as it is, unto that song, even the new song of these, who with a loud voice sing, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by Thy blood, out of every kindred and tongue, and people, and nation; and hast made us unto our God kings and priests; and we shall reign on earth, Rev. 5:9-10."

Various Appreciations.

Richard Cecil, one of the old divines, said of Rutherford:

"Hold off the Bible, such a book the world never knew."

Mr. Spurgeon in "Sword and Trowel," the magazine he made world-famous, said:

"Rutherford is beyond all praise of men. Like a strong-winged eagle he soareth into the highest Heaven, and with unblenched eye he looketh into the mystery of love divine. There is, to us, a something mystic, awe-creating, and superhuman about Rutherford's Letters."

Dr. Marcus Dodds in the "British Weekly" said:

"In its own department of devotional literature, Rutherford's Letters stand supreme. For warmth of feeling they are unmatched. All lovers of good men and good books should have them."

Dear Old St. Andrews.

If the reader should ever be privileged to visit St. Andrews in Scotland for other purposes than for that of playing golf, he should take time to visit the church-yard and stand with uncovered head before the tombstone on which are inscribed these words:

"What tongue, what pen, or skill of men,
Can famous Rutherford commend!
His learning justly raised his fame,
True godliness adorned his name;
He did converse with' things above,
Acquainted with Immanuel's Love."

Let this suffice for the present! If these two brief articles can arrest attention and arouse interest I shall be satisfied to believe that I have not written in vain.

Yours for brighter and better times,
Allan Fairbairn.

The Hour Of Prayer

WE need Thy gifts, good Lord, and oft must cry, "Give us this day our daily bread"; but, to our shame we now confess, we rarely come save with this cry, and our best thanks is but by way of plea for something more. Forgive us that we make this world to move around our little selves, and seize the tokens of Thy care with thankless hand. Thou to us art more than gifts, we to Thee than sacrifice. Inspire us then to seek Thee when our need is least, to turn from out our ways for very love of Thee, and in Thyself find our reward. Amen.

Prayer In Sorrow

BEING in an agony, He prayed, is the record of our Saviour's Gethsemane experience. The lesson stands for all time. Like a bright lamp, the little sentence shines amid the olive trees of the garden. It shows us the path to comfort in our time of sorrow. Never before or since was there such grief as the Redeemer's that night, but in His prayer He found comfort. As we watch Him the hour through we see the agony changing as He prayed, until at last its bitterness was all gone and sweet, blessed peace took its place. The gate of prayer is always the gate to comfort. There is no other place to go. We may learn also from our Lord's Gethsemane how to pray in our Gethsemanes. God will never blame us for asking to have the cup removed nor for the intensity of our supplication; but we must always pray with submission. It is when we say in our deepest intensity, "Not my will, but thine," that comfort comes, that peace comes.

Another Summer

LOVE, in this world, is like a seed taken from the tropics, and planted where the winter comes too soon; and it cannot spread itself in flower-clusters and wide-twining vines, so that the whole air is filled with the perfume thereof. But there is to be another summer for it yet. Care for the root now, and God will care for the top by and by.

Of all bad habits, despondency is among the least respectable, and there is no one quite so tiresome as the sad-visaged Christian who is oppressed by the wickedness and hopelessness of the world.

GEMS FROM SPURGEON

LOOK TO CHRIST.

WOULD you be free from doubts? Would you rejoice in the Lord with faith unmoved, and confidence unshaken? Then look to Jesus! Certain I am that if we lived more with Jesus, were more like Jesus, and trusted more to Jesus, doubts and fears would be very scarce and rare things.

HEART-LEARNING.

WE can learn nothing of the gospel except by feeling its truths. There are some sciences that may be learned by the head, but the science of Christ crucified can only be learned by the heart.

CONTINUE IN PRAYER.

BE much in prayer. God's plants grow fastest in the warm atmosphere of the closet—it is a forcing-place for spiritual vegetation. He who would grow strong must often kneel at the throne of grace. Of all training practice for spiritual battles, knee practice is the most healthful and strengthening.

The Right To Preach

IT is neither the vote nor the laying on of hands that gives men the right to preach. One's own heart is authority. If one wishes to, and can, let him, though all church courts forbid. If he cannot preach to edification, he is not authorized, though all the ministers in Christendom ordain him. Any one who has a bell in him, that, ringing, will ring with "Holiness to the Lord," is a preacher.

THE SAME OLD GAME.

The counsel given by Sir George Foster in the Senate the other day as to the desirability of a political truce and the concentration of the wisdom and experience of all the political parties on the solving of Canada's problems was dictated by the experience gained in long years of public service.

The veteran statesman was, of course, under no delusions as to his advice being followed, for he knows that, unfortunately, the political game is rarely played that way.

The debate that has been going on all week in the House of Commons is eloquent of that fact.

It is following the same old lines with the Opposition attacking the administration at every point that looks vulnerable, the Government defending itself just as vigorously and the Independents developing their pet fads and doctrine at every opportunity.

And when the week's talk is boiled down and the result inspected there is nothing left to bring any satisfaction to a hard-pressed farmer or a worker out of a job.

Page after page in Hansard will bring no better markets for the agriculturalists or employment for the man out of work—but the politicians have their own fences to mend, their political fortunes to see to, and so the manoeuvring and the argument continue on while serious problems are awaiting a successful conclusion.

It is the same old game—no matter what the conditions in the country may be.

ADVERTISING IN PICTURES.

The editor of Harrison's Reports, a motion picture reviewing service, makes the interesting charge that two of the largest motion picture producers have entered the advertising field in competition with newspapers, and that they are using for this purpose not only the screens of their own theatres but also those of the independent theatre owners.

The advertising hook-up, according to Mr. Harrison's complaint, is very cleverly hid, with the result that in many cases the offenders have concealed their advertisements in pictures the independent theatre owners buy for the purpose of showing to the public as purely entertainment.

They pay at the box-office to be entertained, and should not be made at the same time to see and hear advertisements which should have no place in a program that is sold as entertainment.

There should be no place in motion pictures for advertising, either concealed or otherwise; commercial propaganda, which is so much complained of in radio programs, has the justification so far as entertainment over the ether is concerned that the advertisers are paying the shot for the broadcasts, but screen productions are something else again.

They are made and sold for the sole purpose of entertaining the patrons, and should be able to carry themselves without advertising.

MORE SPEED RECORDS.

There seems to be no end to the making of new speed marks.

Yesterday Gar Wood, veteran American designer and driver of speed boats, twice sent his Miss America IX. over a measured course at a rate of over a hundred miles an hour, two miles an hour faster than the record established by the late Sir Henry Segrave last year when the British driver lost his life in setting up a new record.

Down at Buenos Aires Kaye Don, famous British automobile driver, who, following the example of Segrave, has shifted to the steering wheel of a speed boat, is waiting to make another attempt upon the world's record.

The Britisher will drive Miss England II., Segrave's old boat, and is credited with having on several occasions reached a speed of over one hundred miles an hour.

In spite of Wood's great feat, Don is said to be confident that before next week is over a new world mark will be established and British supremacy in the speed boat field will be as assured as it is in airplane and automobile speed performances.

A speed of well over a mile and a half a minute is a development in marine achievement that the world accepts without any visible sign of amazement; the truth is that we're getting used to moving fast

THE HARVEST OF THE MAPLES.

The maple sugar and syrup season is at hand, and soon both in this country and the United States the business of producing sugar and syrup from the sap of the maple, an industry peculiar to this continent and founded by the Indians centuries ago, will be in full swing.

According to figures given out by the Department of National Revenue, maple sugar production in Canada for 1930 totalled 8,208,276 pounds, valued at $1,361,513, a decrease compared with the previous year of 3,490,649 pounds and of $781,326 value.

Syrup production, however, showed an increase, the total for 1930 being 2,185,379 gallons, valued at $3,869,107, compared with 2,174,024 gallons, valued at $3,955,817, for the previous year.

Exports of maple sugar for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, amounted to 12,501,047 pounds, valued at $2,939,863, an increase of over 80 per cent. compared with the production during the previous fiscal year.

Maple sugar exports for the last fiscal year showed a decrease, only 9,727 gallons being exported, while in the year before 16,940 gallons were sent out.

These figures give some idea of the immensity of the business that has been built up through the development of a natural resource; the extent of the production as shown by the totals quoted will probably be a surprise to most Canadians.

A SUPERIOR PLAN.

It has become a habit for Governments the world over to report deficits. In our own country it has been done by all the Provinces, and by Ottawa. The slump in revenue has been too much for the financiers, and they have not been able to make a corresponding cut in expenses. The entire system of financial fabric seems to hinge upon buoyancy of revenue rather than upon control of expenditure.

Australia is in a similar condition because there has been a system of borrowing there for some years that was not well governed. It seemed to have blinked entirely at the fact that a sum of money borrowed is not new wealth at all; it failed to recognize that such a transaction is merely a new burden that would have to be discharged sooner or later, and provided for in the meantime in carrying charges.

Great Britain has a deficit that is enormous; it has caused the Chancellor of the Exchequer to state definitely that it will be necessary to take drastic and unpleasant methods for raising more revenue. It would cause no surprise at all were Britain to place the basis of taxation at five and a half shillings on the pound, an increase of one shilling on the present rate for income.

United States, with its enormous wealth, has fared little better, and its present shortage is counted in hundreds of millions of dollars.

All these things indicate that there must be some inherent weakness in the method of financing. The whole thing can be shoved over on its side in very short time by the coming of a period of depression. In order that the system might operate well it would be necessary for the world to have good times continually, and history shows that this is out of the question.

* * * *

The system of financing in municipalities is better than that used by Governments. It keeps affairs more in control all the time, and the basis of revenue is more steady.

Also there is a more definite manner of providing for the discharge of indebtedness once it has been incurred.

When a municipality desires to undertake work that is going to call for considerable expenditure, there must be an issue of debentures, and in that way provision is made to start on the serious business of providing for repayment of the obligation. There are certain undertakings where it would be also necessary to secure approval of the ratepayers before the expenditure could be sanctioned. This gives the people more control over their own finances.

It is not possible for a City Council, when preparing its estimates for the year, to anticipate a deficit. That puts an end to loose financing, and leaves no room for any one Council to curry favor with the public by striking a lower tax rate than is required to meet the expenses of any one year. Each year, in municipal financing, must stand by itself, and there must be the continual balanced budget, or immediate provision to make it so.

* * * *

We do not know whether it would be possible to incorporate some of these desirable features of municipal financing in the methods used by Provincial and Federal Governments.

There is no denying the wisdom of having some provision for paying an obligation when undertaking it.

The system of paying off one obligation by issuing another loan may be considered good provincial or national financing, but when traced to its logical conclusion, it is merely walking around in a circle.

The discharging of debt simply has to stand to one side and wait until revenue becomes more buoyant, whereas in municipal financing debentures mature and are paid off in good years and in bad ones. A state of depression or a period of expanding business means nothing at all.

The system under which municipalities finance was worked out by the Provincial Legislature a good many years ago, and the wonder is that the body which made the regulations which are undoubtedly good, has not recognized the wisdom of considering the adoption of something of the same order in provincial financing.

Then, too, it might not be a bad thing to remind the Government at Ottawa and the Provincial Governments in the Dominion as well that Perth County has no debt at all.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If talking would cure Canada's economic ills, this week's session of Parliament should have brought about a marked improvement.

Hon. J. R. Cooke is proposing a simpler and less expensive method of settling Hydro claims. There is certainly need of one.

The first round between Mr. Baldwin and the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press was won by the former with a long lead on points.

There were more women voters than men in the St. George's by-election, and yet Petter was defeated.

According to "Big Bill" Thompson, King George is "hungry for returns from the Chicago election." And in spite of—or, perhaps, because of—such wild statements Chicago's mayor will probably be re-elected.

So long as there are four and a half-hour speeches being made, parliamentary broadcasts are not likely to be inaugurated. Even a Government broadcasting service could not stand that strain.

E. J. Young, M.P., of Weyburn, certainly knows how to put a few "socks" into his parliamentary speeches.

Author To Settle In Canada

Dr. J Wesley Breadley, Canadian biographer of Lord Shadesbury and Dr. Barnardo, and his wife, a graduate of King's College, Londonn who are leaving England and expect to settle in Toronto. After graduating from both Queen's University, Kingston, and the University of Toronto, Brady won a scholarship to Union Seminary and Columbia University, New York. There he was called to the ministry of Cornwall Community church, of which Lyman Abbott, co-editor with Theodore Rooseevlt, was then a member. Here Brady came into contact with some of the wealthiest men in the world. In 1920 he resigned his pastorate and sailed steerage to England to dig deeply into the history of social and industrial problems. There, he sifted historical economic documents at the British Museum Library.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By

ALICE ROSS COLVER

Ashton turned his dark face toward the Senator and clipped out his words.

"Why not send a message to Fort Apache—if that's the nearest place—and inform the Colonel in charge there of Washington's probable order? Then they can be in readiness."

"Good idea. Thanks Ashton."

Do you youngsters want to go to town to take a look around?" Potter asked.

"Thanks. Yes. We can't sit still," Moore replied, while Vincent Minor heaved himself up from the couch with a nod and a smile.

Hines and Rockwell decided to wait at the ranch for the return of the others, so in a few minutes the party broke up, the boys, with Kent and Potter, making for town, the city-bred men lingering in the cool shade of the long narrow porch to smoke and talk and listen idly to preparations within the house for their next meal.,

Within two hours the others had returned. Kent had found word from Washington, but had despatched another imperative telegram to both the Department of the Interior and the Department of War. He had also sent a long night-letter, explaining the situation to the officer in charge of Fort Apache, requesting him to have in readiness a company of cavalry who would proceed with all possible haste to the Fire Dance upon receipt of orders from Washington. That done, he had forced himself to a quiet attentiveness to Potter's activities. All that he himself could do had been done. There would be an opportunity in Flagstaff, and again in Winslow, to wire Washington once more, and to receive there any word that might be forwarded to him from his home or from Phoenix; but after that he would have to move forward in blind trust, relying upon the strength of the resources of the friends he took with him.

Potter, in the meantime, was most efficiently planning and buying equipment for all possible emergencies. Aside from the provisions of canned goods, the slabs of bacon the bread and the tobacco, aside from guns and ammunition and sharp knives, water canteens and gasoline cans, aside from blankets and matches and an ax and hatchet, extra tires and a complete repair kit, ropes and shovels for use in case they foundered in the sand, he had seen to it that every man was eqiupped with a saddle and bridle.

"These Indian ponies are good travelers," he explained, "but they are never outfitted as you must have them outfitted. Their bridles are often merely frayed ropes or a bit of string, and their stirrups are mere straps. Many times there are no saddles at all, just a dirty blanket strapped across their backs. If we are to spend three or four days in the saddles, we must be sure of comfort and safety."

So that when at last they got into the car that carried them to the city, it was so loaded with duffle that Minor, Moore and Ashton had to sit on the running boards and cling to the doors on the way home. Once at the ranch again, while the others were being urged by the hospitable Mrs. Potter to eat the "last civilized meal" they would have for more than a week, Potter quietly disappeared and, with the help of his Mexican servants, proceeded to redistribute their duffle.

In the end they left the ranch at dusk in two machines. There was a Buick truck driven alternately by Moore and Ashton, which was loaded with most of the heavy stuff, while the other five men stowed themselves away in the big open touring car with the lighter equipment strapped securely onto the fenders and over the engine and stuffed away beneath their feet.

They left in the early evening, speeding through the brilliantly lit city as fast as the law allowed and out onto the level road that led through the irrigated farm lands before it began the long, slow climb over dry arid country to Prescott. As they travelled north, the air swiftly and perceptibly sharpened, so that, by the time the hills began to loom up dimly against the pale, starlit sky, they had to stop long enough to put on their heavy coats.

It was well after midnight before they reached Prescott, and all the stores along its neat, wide streets were dark. But Potter found a restaurant in one of the back streets and hailed the owner downstairs to open the doors to them. He came, hitching his suspenders up over the pyjamas, an uncouth lanky figure, with a fierce, drooping mustache that contradicted gentle brown eyes. The man was good-humored in spite of being roused from sleep, but so curious that he could scarcely get himself behind the counter, and his long slow stare and leisurely conversation nearly drove the impatient young people distracted.

"Yeah," agreed Adam. "And they're all hungry. What have you got, Dan?"

Dan waved his hand grandly toward a menu chalked on a blackboard on the wall, and, resting on both elbows, surveyed the crowd in a friendly way.

"City people, eh? Sight, seein', I reckon."

"Pork and beans," Moore orde ed in sharp impatience. "And coffee."

"I'll take the same," chimed in Minor amiably.

"Give me an egg omelet, plea e," Ashton contributed, drawing himself up to the high stool beside Moore and tapping the counter with a fork.

"My! My!" Dan never stirred. "Y're in a gosh almighty hurry, ain't you? he asked. "But if y're sight seein', there's not so much to see between here and Flagstaff—at night."

"How long will it take to broil a steak?' Hines inquired tartly.

"Hell!" The owner of the restaurant remarked pleasantly as he surveyed them with twinkling brown eyes. "That there meenou's just a fancy touch. I ain't got nothin' on it. Ye'll hev to eat sandwiches. What'll it be—ham or cheese?"

"Both. All around," Potter decided. 'And make the coffee hot, strong, and quick. Pretend they're gold dollars you're reaching for, Dan. This isn't a pleasure trip. We're on business."

"Oh!" Dan became alert, but none the less curious. He straightened up and began to reach with long arms for the pile of wrapped sandwiches on the shelf below the counter, his mild gaze fixed on Potter. "Business, eh?" Like a machine he shoved the sandwiches, two apiece to the men, and then began methodically to serve coffee. "Must be important to git you started this time o'night."

"It is." Potter knew that Kent disliked publicity, but, after all, Lorraine's disappearance had demanded publicity from the start—and Dan was a friend. He nodded toward the Senator. "We're going to the Fire Dance. Hear about the girl and boy hat disappeared in an airplane a couple of weeks ago?"

"Sure."

"Well, the girl is his. And he's just had word from a Navajo that she's in their hands."

"Hell! No!" ejaculated Dan and suddenly his arms became chained lightning, reaching, shoving, reaching, shoving. 'Do'ye know the Navvy's are gettin kinda——"

"Yes. We know." Potter touched his back hip pocket significantly. "They're on the war path. But so are we."

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES"

If March 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:40 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 7:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 11:15 a.m. to noon, and from 5 p.m. to 6:10 p.m.

March 21st does not hold out any hope of business success, and routine work only should be done. The signs are favorable for all kinds of sport, and social activities will be successful. Danger to health is indicated and no risks should be taken.

A child born on this March 21st will be long-lived, blessed with an iron constitution, and should, unless it takes too long chances, acquire a considerable degree of success—judged from a material viewpoint. It will be well-balanced, but not over-affectionate.

If you were born on March 21st you, although possessing many admirable traits, have an unforgiving nature, and your disposition threatens to be soured by harping on evils, imaginary and real, and by your efforts to get even with those who, in your opinion, have hurt your tender susceptibilities. In order to make the success of your life, that is possible, you need to be more philosophic in your attitude to fellow creatures and to contemplate their good points,rather than emphasize their bad ones.

Your business judgment is remarkable, and you possess keen insight and no mean order of ability. You are capable of taking hold of big propositions, especially those that require clear vision and practical ideas. You are sometimes prone to think that the end justifies the means, and this attitude will not conduce to a belief in your dependability or kindness of heart.

If a woman, there is no doubt that, in carving out a business career for yourself, you could achieve all that you set out to do. On the other hand you will always have a craving for a home and children of your own. The former you will run successfully. The latter you will either spoil, or treat with the spirit of a "Spartan."

"ARIES"

If March 22st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 3:30 p.m. to 5:10 p.m. and from 9 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The plane ary aspects of March 22nd denote an uneventful day, and one on which peace will prevail, if impulse can be curbed. There will be felt many disturbing influences, prone to promote domestic differences, and family bickerings. Cultivate poise!

Children born on this March 22nd will, after an uninteresting childhood, become aggressive, aspiring, versatile and arbitrary. They will be fighters, and nothing will make them want to dominate all those for whom they care.

Were you born on March 22nd? If so, you lay stress on your importance, are imperious and commanding to those who will stand for it. You lack all sense of humor, and take yourself altogether too seriously. You never relegate any of your duties to others, as you firmly believe that no others are capable. It cannot be gainsaid that all work you attempt is done exceedingly well. This does not mean, however, that you are the only pebble on the beach.

By strenuous and untiring efforts, you have acquired a vast fund of information, and you possess the valuable gift of concentration, as well as a knack for work that enables you to do work quickly and methodically. Your bearing towards others makes of you a poor executive, as better results are achieved by encouragement than by constant criticism. Your greatest chance for success lies in doing something that you can do alone.

If your mate is willing to take second place, and be guided by your desires and ruled by your wishes, your home life may be fairly successful. If, on the other hand, he or she has a mind of her own, then difficulties will ensue. You are generous to those whom you like, and flinty to those who do not recognize your superiority.

BRAZILIAN WEAK ON TORONTO LIST

Issue Drops to 23 as Heavy Selling Floods Market in Early Trading.

FORD OF CANADA STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21.— (C. P.)— Brazilian was an outstanding weak spot on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, being driven down to 23 as selling came into the market in volume the first hour. Coincident with the re action of the stock was a dip in the Milreis exchange to a new low point.

Leaders on the recent upturn were subjected to week-end profit-taking to-day. Noranda and Nickel were each down about ½ point. Photo Engravers reacted to 27 after coming unchanged to lower in light trading, out at a new high of 28½. Oils were

Ford of Canada held up better than most, adding a fraction at the opening and holding the former close of 29 in final sales.

De Forest Crosley, on the curb, rose to a new high of 18 5-8 in a fair turnover. Service Stations was easier and Hamilton Bridge lost part of the ground gained yesterday.

EGGS AT NEW LOW ON LOCAL MARKET

Prices Drop to 18 Cents Per Dozen—Large Variety of Farm Produce Offered.

Eggs on the local produce market this morning were setting new low prices, being offered retail at as low as 18 cents per dozen, and ranging according to size up to 25 cents per dozen. There was a goodly number of farmers in from the surrounding district this morning in contrast to the few who were enabled to make the grade last week over snowbound roads, and the produce they had to offer was of a choice and varied nature, ranging from potatoes at 75 cents per bag to carrots at 25 cents a pack, large healthy-looking head cabbage at various prices anywhere from 5 to 10 cents, and the usual complement of seasonable vegetables and other farm and dairy produce. Butter is still in demand at 33 cents a pound.

There was no beef on the market this morning, but pork was being offered at 12 and 14 cents a pound, with lamb at 18 and 23 cents a pound.

Babson Sees Good Year for Farmers

Good farm times are on the way, according to Roger W. Babson, well-known analyst of business conditions.

"The year 1931 will be the best farming year that the United States has known for a decade," says Mr. Babson, in an interview that appeared recently in the newspapers. After referring to farms which diversify and raise other than grain crops, Mr. Babson continues:

"When we talk about the conditions of the farmer, therefore, we must give more emphasis to this vast collection of farmers who do not raise grain at all. When I say that the farmer is about out of the woods and that America is going to have a greater year of farm prosperity in 1931 than in a decade, I refer to all the farms. However, the grain farmer, too, is going to get his share of this approaching prosperity.

"Farm prices should begin to strengthen now, as the beginning of the recovery I predict for 1931.

"There is another item on the side of the farmer. His dollar is worth more and he will be a wise man to use it while it has a high purchasing power. Low prices do not reach the farm as soon as they reach the city, but they now are rolling toward the farm—price reductions which means hundreds of millions of dollars added to farm purchasing power."

Hemorrhoids

Or piles are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Ointment

It is a serious matter to have piles and one person in four has them at one time or another. The annoyance and distress is great. It is difficult to obtain lasting relief. So much so that a surgical operation may be considered necessary. That is unless your physician is familiar with Dr. Chase's Ointment for many doctors recommend this treatment to their patients.

For nearly half a century Dr. Chase's Ointment has been the never failing relief for itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It is now very generally known by the medical profession, and the public generally, as the standard treatment for this torturing ailment.

Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Ointment for "users are boosters" in this case. Relief comes quickly and you can obtain the ointment at any drug store.

LIMA CROWD MEETS POLICE—ONE KILLED.

LIMA, Peru, March 21.—(A.P.)—A crowd of unemployed, staging a demonstration last night in support of their demand for a Government dole, clashed with police. One of the crowd was killed and seven wounded in the fight. Because of the state of seige, which was proclaimed during the last revolution and still is maintained, such demonstrations are forbidden.

Working Capital Improved at Company's Year End — Higher Dividend Basis Evidently Established—$16.77 Available For Common After All Charges and Preferred Dividends.

PLANT IMPROVEMENTS FOR FUTURE BUSINESS.

TORONTO, March 21. — An optimistic note was struck in the annual report of Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, presented to shareholders at the annual meeting yesterday. The report indicated encouraging prospects for the future and revealed satisfactory progress for the past year. In common with most industrial enterprises, however, sales volume and profits were adversely affected by the general business recession of the past year.

An indication of the company's faith in the future is found in the section of the board's report, signed by A. E. Dyment, chairman, and D. C. Durland, president, dealing with plant improvements. "Your company has continued the policy of improving its manufacturing and distributing facilities for the purpose of advancing manufacturing efficiency, quality of products, and service to customers. The sum of $1,709,146 was expended in 1930 for extensions and improvements, including a new power plant and building for switchgear production at Peterborough, and new office and warehouse buildings at Halifax, N.S., and Winnipeg, Man." During the past seven years the company has spent upwords of $7,000,000 on additional buildings and equipment.

The company has no funded debt, notes payable, or other interest-bearing obligations of any kind.

Net profits, after deducting all expenses, reserves, taxes, and depreciation, amounted to $3,765,797 available for dividends, a decrease of $663,087. Preference dividends amounted to $599,042, leaving $3,166,755 available for common, or $16.77 per share. After deducting $755,360 paid out in dividends on the common stock, $2,411,375 was transferred to surplus account, which at December 31, amounted to $5,999,449.

Large Working Capital

Current assets amount to $18,154,967, an increase of $1,273,700, while current liabilities at $2,549,061 show an increase of $608,035. The excess of current assets over current liabilities or working capital, amounts to $15,605,906, an increase of $665,673.

Cash, secured loans, and government bonds at $12,717,774 show an increase of $3,436,843, while investments at $3,806,273 show an increase of $2,167,619. The total increase during the year in cash, secured loans, government bonds and investments was $5,604,462. Each security is carried at cost or market at Dec. 31, 1930, whichever was the lower.

Accounts and notes redeemable amount to $2,678,437, a decrease of $1,187,270, and inventories at $6,255,835 show a decrease of $1,119,478. Substantial receivables and inventories.

New Dividend Basis

During 1930 regular quarterly dividends were paid on the common stock at the rate of $3 per share per annum, with an extra disbursement of $1 per share on Jan. 1, 1931, making a total distribution of $4 per share. The recent declaration of $1 per share for the first quarter of 1931 apparently indicates that the common dividend is now established on a $4 per share basis.

Employes' holdings of preference shares of the company acquired under an employes' savings and investment plan operated by the company are now in excess of $1,000,000 par value, or over $12 per cent of the outstanding preference stock. This plan will be continued in 1931.

W. J. Blake, Wilson of Vancouver and Hon. F. B. McCurdy of Halifax have recently joined the board, to fill vacancies created by death of the late W. G. Ross and the resignation of E. G. Patterson.

NICKEL SUFFERS LIGHT DECLINE

Profit-taking in Noranda Reflected in Balance of Standard List

LINDSLEYS QUIET.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 21.—Profit-taking in Noranda, resulting in a somewhat reactionary tone for the stock, was reflected in action of the balance of the list on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange today, price trend at the close showing an irregular to lower, tendency.

Noranda and Nickel was subjected to some liquidation, former dropped three-quarters to $25.75 and the latter a half to $19.50. Hudson Bay continued active and established a new high for 1931 above $6, but Waite-Ackerman and Pend Oreille dropped a couple each. Lindsleys were quiet with Falconbridge somewhat stronger.

Higher priced golds continued in fair demand, Hollinger, Teck Hughes and Mining Corp. Advancing 5 apiece McIntyre reacted a quarter while other members of the group held unchanged. Nipissing at $1.70 was off 9 from last night.

Kirkland Lake gold received renewed attention in the lower-priced gold section and closed up 5 at 74. Moss was 4 higher and Columario up 3. Eldorado and McLeod were down a couple each. In the pennies Brownlee, Bobjo were easier while Ritchie and Algonquin were slightly higher on end.

Oils were mixed with Home Oil up $4 to $1.10.

IRREGULAR TREND ON NEW YORK LIST

Week-end Profit-taking and Short Selling Dominates Moderate Trading.

NEW YORK, March 21 (A.P.). — Stocks showed a mixed trend in today's short session, but found it easier to decline than to advance. Week-end profit-taking and short-selling dominated the moderately active trading, with the lowest prices appearing toward the close. Sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Advances of 1 to 2 points in Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Mexican Seaboard, Jewel Tea, Texas Gulf, Sulphur and Warren Bros. were shaded when several utilities, as well as U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, Columbia Graphophone and Sears Roebuck sagged a point or more. U. S. Industrial Alcohol was weak, losing more than 4, and Liquid Carbonic and Westinghouse dropped 3.

Stone and Webster ran up 4 points to a new high before being checked. Radio-Keith Orpheum also reached a new top for the year. Freeport Texas, Vanadium and Reading Coal and Iron were strong.

SECOND MEETING BARNARDO CLUB

Members of Newly Organized Club Gather at Home of Isaac Harrison.

MUCH BUSINESS.

Dr. Barnardo's Boys' and Girl's Club held their second meeting at the home of Isaac Harrison, 26 Ware street. The meeting was preceded by a few moments of silent prayer in commemoration of the late Dr. Barnardo.

The president's speech was made by Frank Degan, a member of the old Toronto organization. Speaking of the demise of the Toronto club, he said that failure came through the members falling away. He therefore urged the newly formed club to try to keep together as much as possible.

The secretary was instructed to write to J. Webb for the rules of the old Toronto club, and to obtain ribbon and badge samples ready for the Boys and Girls Club to choose their emblem at the next meeting.

At this point Jack Bean read the minutes of the last gathering and also letters from J. W Hobday, Manager of Dr. Barnardo Home, Toronto, wishing the club luck in its new undertaking, and from A. G. Smith of the old Toronto club.

Amon gthe new members present at the meeting were Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. Edith Glover, Mrs. C. Crouter, Mrs. M. Harrison, Mrs. A. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawley, J. B. Young, Arthur Barrett, A. G. Hillier and Master Glover. Following the president's thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Harrison for the use of their home, "God Save the King" brought the meeting to a close.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at the home of Walter Reeves, 260 McDonnel street, on April 1. All Dr. Barnardo Home Boys and girls are especially requested to attend this meeting.

P.C.C. Shareholders To Meet Thursday

The purpose of the meeting is to consider the annual statement of accounts and balance sheet and the reports of the directors and auditors, and to elect directors and transact any ordinary business that may ensue.

U.S. INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS DROP

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 21 (A.P.).—A sharp decrease in income tax collections as compared to last year was shown to-day in the Treasury statement for March, when only $88,691,515 was collected as compared with $214,534 on March 15, 1930.

CANADA MUST MAINTAIN PRESENT WHEAT MARKETS AND DEVELOP NEW ONES

At Present Ships to Thirty-Seven Countries—Supplies 70 Per Cent. British Needs in 17 Years — New World's Record Carryover Seen.

TORONTO, Ont. March 21 (Written for The Canadian Press by E. F. Brayham).—The key to Canada's wheat problem is the maintenance of her present export markets, their further developments and the cultivation of new outlets. At present Canada ships wheat to no less than 37 countries, among them being the United Kingdom, Belgium, China, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Japan, Holland, Portugal and Spain. Seventy per. cent. of the United Kingdom's wheat needs have been supplied by Canada during the past 17 years.

Since 1909 when Canada stepped into the world's wheat market as a serious competitor, steady expansion in the acreage from the neighborhood of 10,000,000 acres to 25,000,000 acres. During this period, the average price for July was $1.51 per bushel, Winnipeg No. 1 Northern being the basis. The course of prices during this period varied but not in sympathy so much with production as with the immutable laws of suply and demand.

Taking the mean average price as a basis of calculation, Canada has during the past two decades extracted rom the soil a wealth represen ing a sum equivalent to the ntire Dominion revenue, viz., $9,500,000,000. No single commodity or industrial undertaking could compare with wheat as a wealth-creating and wealth-distribu ing agency in Canada. It would be closely approximate to estimate hat a sum of $6,000,000,000 has been realized, from the sale of wheat alone, from foreign countries. Thi sum of money is a permanent increase in the nation's assets and has been the means of assisting nume ous industries in this country, because the average farmer has reason to purchase goods which affects no less than 30 industries supplying his daily needs.

Growth of Production.

To better visualize the progress made in Canada's wheat, the following tabulation indicates the growth of production, exports and carryover since the crop year 1913-14, along with the average prices annually:

Crop Season	Prod'tn In M'n Bu.	Total Exp. In M'n Bu.	Carry Over	Average Price, Bu
1913-14	232	135	6½	.89
1914-15	161	120	19½	1.33
1915-16	394	269	33	1.14
1916-17	263	175	7½	2.07
1917-18	234	169	2¾	2.21
1918-19	189	97	5½	2.24
1919-20	193	92	10	2.73
1920-21	263	166	14	1.99
1921-22	301	186	20½	1.29
1922-23	400	279	12	1.06
1923-24	474	347	41	1.07
1924-25	262	193	25½	1.71
1925-26	417	325	35	1.50
1926-27	406	293	48	1.47
1927-28	440	333	78	1.43
1928-29	533	407	104	1.27
1929-30	299	186	112	1.24

In the meantime, the production of world wheat between 1921-1930 has shown an expansion of 7 per. cent, as compared with the previous decade. Between calendar years 1925 and 1930 the average world's production was 4,276,000,000 bushels of which the northern hemisphere produced 89½ per. cent. and the Southern hemisphere 10½ per. cent.—3,871,000,000 and 405,000,000 bushels, respectively. During the war years, the world's average carryover is given at 142,000,000 annually against the 1921-1930 average of 197,000,000 or an increase of 28 per. cent. in the carryover against an increase of 7 per. cent. in production.

1930 Carryover Record.

Analysing the data provided above, it will be observed that high prices have invariably resulted in a restricted demand for Canadian wheat. In the crop year 1929-30, however, both exports and price declined together owing to the presence of certain peculiar conditions. The average price ealized during the war years was $1.80 per bushel. At that time Canada's average exports held at 159,000,000 bushels annually. Between the crop years of 1919-20 and 1928-29 total exports averaged 272,000,000 bushels against which prices averaged $1.40 per bushel. The season 1929-30 again proved t be abnormal for although Canada harvested the large t area under wheat, only 300,000,000 bushels were raised and prices declined. Exports shrunk to 1921-22 levels and the carryover was the highest on record, equalling nearly 37 per. cent. of that season's production.

In the past the United Kingdom has proven herself to be the most valued outlet for Canadian whea'. During the past 17 years, exports to the United Kingdom constituted 70 per. cent. of Canada'se total exports. Within the past decadaverage exportations approximate 153,000,000 bushels against Britain's consumption of 270,000,000 bushels annualy; therefore, importations from outside sources (that is excluding Canada) hav. been about 80,000,000 bushels or 30 per cent. of requirements.

Production of wheat in Europe and Asia since the commencement of this century has not shown much expansion. On the other hand, Australia, the Argentine, Canada and the United States have increased their aggregate production quite two-hundred fold. Owing to the lack of accurate data, China and Russia are excluded from these calculations. While the demand for wheat and wheat flour was growing in Europe and the Americas, acreages were rapidly being increased in the present surplus exporting countries. But (and this is typical of all such instances) while demand was seemingly growing, production overstepped the mark with the result that the world's carryover has been steadily upgrade during the past five years.

For instance, between 1924 and 1929 the per capita consumption of 37 world nations contracted by one half bushel to 3.6 bushels. Canada's wheat consumption has fallen by more han one bushel per capita annually in this period. While production accelerated, consumption ailed to keep in stride with the inevitable consequence which led to the record carryover of 413,000,000 bushels in 1930 or nearly 12½ per. cent. of the aggregate world production. Since the 1930 output has been finally estimated at three and three quarter billion bushels—8 per. cent. over the 1929 production— and the world's consumption is placed at slightly over three billion bushels, it seems that another record is about to be established in the world's carryover.

Europe is apprehensive of this vital question and plans are in being for the purpose of so distributing the surplus that it would not affect the future markets. A cartel is to be organized which would solve the problem of effective distribution of this commodity on that continent. Incidentally, Europe produces 50 per. cent. of the world's wheat and at present consumes over two-thirds of the entire world's p oduction. Should success attend the European movement, some observers believe, i would go a long way towards mitigating if not eliminating the ills inherent in the present race to vulnerable carryovers. Regularising production would strengthen the whole wheat structure, thus developing a strong psychological factor which would materially brighten the present outlook.

VERNOR IS GUEST AT SUPPER CLUB

Travelogue Through New Zealand Greatly Enjoyed By Members.

HANDLING OF CONVICTS.

The address at this week's Friday Night Supper Club took the form of a travelogue on New Zealand given by John H. Vernor, general manager of the Western Clock Company. The usual merriment accompanied the supper and Club songs formed a major part of this.

New Zealand, said the speaker, is as far south of the equator as Toronto is north of it, and therefore the seasons are reversed. Wellington is a pretty little city nestled in the bay. The mountains sweep upward from it, and on one hill there is an inclined railway. Half way up is a bowling green scooped out of the side of the mountain. From the top of the incline may be seen Pelorous Sound and the mountains towering above it. Around these elevations is a truly beautiful and scenic driveway.

There is a government-built railway running the length of the island. For the sum of $50 a pass may be obtained, and the owner may travel anywhere at any time during a six months' period. Journeying along the railway the work of re-forestration is particularly noted.

Instead of the convict with a minor offence against him being sent to the reformatory, he is sent to the "Government Agricultural College," here he is made to join the others in planting trees the whole length of the island.

Lake Rotorua and the mountain behind it were described by Mr. Vernor as being particularly beautiful and weird at the same time. From the summit of the mountain jut out hot springs which spread their sulphurous vapors around. These vapors have a clearing effect on the head. If one taps the mouth of the springs, he will note a hollow sound. Sometimes the springs cave in and turn to boiling mud which is spluttered about.

The speaker then spoke of the Maori people who fought back the British troops for over 40 years. They now live at peace with the white men and are on a parity with them. They send members to Parliament and inter-marriage with white men is not treated with any sign of disapproval. The Maori possess a wonderful physique.

The women are able to cook their food by placing it in a saucepan and immersing it in a hot spring. Similarly the washing is washed in a spring which has been dug out and boarded around to a depth of perhaps three or four feet. Hot and cold springs exist side by side, and so the rinsing of the lingeric may be done in a cold spring "tub."

Mr. Vernor mentioned the Wymango geyser which is the largest in the world. He also described at remarkable natural phenomenon in connection with a spring near the public baths in Wellington. At times the water level rose and sank at quick intervals, and this took place just before every eruption of a volcano some four miles distant.

Another freak of nature is two lakes about 300 feet apart, but one is 90 feet lower than the other. The one lake is blue and the other is green. The blue lake is full of fish, but is preserved for the Maori by Government authority as a "sacred lake." The green lake has no vestige of fish, owing to some mineral matter being in the water which will not permit of life.

The town of Rotorua was described as a well fortified one. Around the whole settlement is a palisade made out of stakes woven together. At the base of this every hundred feet or more are holes, large enough for a man to crawl through. Within this palisade is another, only minus the apertures. Large three-storey towers surmount the corners of the fortifications. Within the second fence is a trench with large notches cut inward for warriors to hide in. So if an attacking army gets through the holes in the outer wall, it is run through with spears which are projected through the crevaces in the inner palisade. If the enemy break through the second wall, they will discover no whereabouts of any of the Rotoruans who are hidden in the 'notches." The attackers will be overwhelmed by a surprise attack.

The members of the Supper Club expressed their thanks to Mr. Vernor for his travelogue, and Carl Salmonson also extended his thanks, adding his usual clever skits to portions of the speaker's remarks.

SEIGEL ACTION IS THROWN OUT

TRANSACTIONS ILLEGAL.

TORONTO, March 21 (Special to The Examiner).—Sol Seigel, Smith Township farmer, whose borrowings to finance his illegal distribution and sale of liquor in the days of the O.T.A., led to a $10,000 damage suit against Joseph A. O'Brien, Peterborough barrister and solicitor, loses his right of action because of the illegality of the transactions, Chief Justice Rose rules in a written judgment handed down at Osgoode Hall to-day. The judgment reverses the decision given by His Lordship from the bench after hearing a motion on behalf of the defendant to strike out the statement of claim as frivolous and vexatious.

Alleging in his statement of claim that he had been engaged in illegal sale and distribution, Seigel related that O'Brien had taken advantage of his position and charged "harsh, usurious and unconscionable" interest on $40,000 which he had borrowed, in loans made from time to time, from the defendant. His Lordship dismissed the action.

Since the plaintiff chooses to allege that he borrowed money for use in an unlawful purpose, His Lordship holds the view that he plainly cannot succeed on this cause of action. "This is not the opinion I expressed on the hearing," the judgment adds, "but upon further consideration I am convinced that it is the correct opinion and that I did well in withdrawing the judgment hastily pronounced."

Another allegation in the action was that the defendant having allowed the plaintiff to store liquor in the defendant's cellar had converted the liquor to his own use. "The Ontario Temperance Act prevents the entertainment of any claim on this score," His Lordship writes.

Regarding the plaintiff's allegation that he was overcharged for the defendant's legal service, His Lordship notes that although O'Brien pleads that he rendered proper bills, he makes no objection to an order for taxation. "The plaintiff may, if he so desires, have an order for the delivery and taxation of the bills of costs," the judgement says.

LIGHT BLUES LEAD OXFORD

At two miles, the Cantabs were two lengths in front.

Now or Never

It was now or never for the plugging Oxford crew. R. W. G. Holdsworth, stroke, increased the rate of stroking and the big Dark Blue eight set out to overhaul the fleeting Light Blues. At Chiswick Eyot, two and a half miles, they had cut Cambridge's lead to a single length.

The threat of the Dark Blues was easily met by the stylish Cambridge crew. Brocklebank in turn increased the stroke, and putting their backs into it with a will, the Light Blues again started to pull away. At the three mile mark they had the substantial lead of three lengths, and looked safe.

The Cambridge margin was still two and a half lengths at Barges Bridge, five furlongs from the finish, and only the swamping of their shell, such as happened to Oxford six years ago, could defeat them. Oxford could not gain, though the Dark Blues made another desperate bid in the final stretch.

The shells plowed past the finish line with the Light Blue crew winners by two and a quarter lengths.

Critics, who said "Oxford has the better men, but Cambridge the better crew," saw their predictions justified.

Great Celebration

London's West End will be the scene of great celebrations to-night. Another notch has been added to the 102-year-old history of one of England's great sports spectacles ;another generation has continued the tradition set by the sturdy students of the early 19th century.. And Oxford may console themselves with the fact that Cambridge has yet to equal the Dark Blues' twin records of the longest winning streaks—nine in a row.

Coal Miners Vote To Continue Working

CARDIFF, Wales, March 21 (C. P.). — Peace was assured to-day in the coal mining district of South Wales by a decision of a conference of miners delegates to continue work under the recent arbitration award, which reduced wages fourteen cents a day.

Several delegates urged that the miners lay down their tools, but on a record vote 787 voted to continue work and only 747 against.

Efforts will now be made to obtain minimum wage legislation for miners.

SCOUT HONORED FOR GOOD WORK IN CITY TROOP

Varied and Interesting Program is Presented by Boy Scout Association.

BRIEF DEMONSTRATION.

It was a varied and interesting program that greeted the audience of about two hundred and fifty people, gathered in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute last evening for the concert given under the auspices of the local Boy Scout Association, to augment their funds and carry on their work.

Arrangements were in charge of the president, John E. Sullivan, the District Commissioner, John T. Hornsby, and the Assistant District Commissioner, J. A. McKone, the latter acting as announcer in informal fashion that suited admirably the entertainment, which lacked stiffness and was most interesting from start to finish. The setting was appropriate to the occasion, the big stage having been transformed into a Boy Scout Camp with a profusion of large evergreen trees, a tent, a grass carpet and an electric campfire that glowed redly in the center. The Scouts in their uniforms lounged about the camp, listening to the program, and the musicians were ushered on and off by various clever devices. Scouts also acted as attentive ushers for the performance. The entertainment, besides including some educative features along Boy Scout lines, also provided, perhaps unconsciously, an exhibition of the self-effacement and politeness and discipline of these young lads.

Two interesting visitors for the occasion were from Toronto: Assistant Commissioner Frank Irwin and Chief Lone Scout Captain Furminger, both of the Headquarters staff.

A feature of the program was the presentation, by Commissioner Irwin, of a special Gilwell training badge and certificate for good work, to Garfield Johnson, Scoutmaster of St. John's Troop, who was introduced by District Commissioner Hornsby.

Captain Furminger closed the programme with a reading that provided a fine touch as a finale to an entertaining evening.

The program also included a brief demonstration of First Aid methods by a number of the Scouts.

The program included a number of very fine songs and readings presented by popular local artists.

Miss Viola Payton's flexible voice and splendid command of various shades of expression were demonstrated to perfection in her reading of several well-received selections: "A Voice From Afar", ""One Niche the Highest" the story of the lad who nearly met death on a beetling cliff, and the comedy stuff of "Levinsky at the Wedding." Each number had its encores that included "Auction Extraordinary" and the Scotch bit, "Umh-hum." Mrs. James Matthews sang "Home, Sweet Home" very sweetly off stage for the reading of "A Voice From Afar."

Miss Bertha Hill's charming contralto voice was heard to splendid advantage in solo numbers: "The Blind Ploughman" with an encore in "May Day at Islington" and "A Summer Night" with an encore in the little cute bit about the tiny girl and the bear.

Scottish Music

Scotland had its innings in the presence of the two favorite local singer-comedians, Jack Smith and Bob Hendry, in all the bravery of their tartan and kilts, the latter carrying a wonderfully twisted "cromach" with which he emphasized the points of his Harry Lauder songs.

Mr. Smith sang two fine Scottish songs and Mr. Hendry gave "Roamin' in the Gloamin' " and "She's the Lass for Me" while, in duett, they rendered "The Wee Hoose" with splendid effect.

E. V. Morphet opened the program with two well-sung numbers: "The Ragged Vagabond" and its encore about the gay bachelor.

Jack Primeau's reading of Drummond's "How Baptiste Came Home", was ententertaining bit of habitant humour, with a comical encore in the sermon of the negro parson.

Diversity was afforded by Joe Minicolo's cornet solo, with an encore in the sweetly-played strains of "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses" and accompaniments played by Miss Marcelle Minicolo.

Two small boy soloists from St. John's choir, accompanied by F. G. Mann, L.Mus., made a keen impression on their hearers with their fine treble voices and their happy manner of presentation of charming numbers. They were Gerald Perks, who sang "Mighty Lak a Rose" and an encore, and Victor Coleman, singing "Highland Mary" and its encore, "Come Down to Kew."

In conclusion, the president, John E. Sullivan, spoke briefly about the Scout work and also thanked the audience, assisting artists and the announcer of the evening, J. A. McKone.

Convicts Burn Buildings In Prison Riot

Rioting convicts at Statesville Illinois penitentiary at Joliet started a blaze which is reported to have destroyed everything but the famous "Cheese Box" cell houses in which they are locked. Three prisoners have been shot and guards beaten in uprising in which 1,800 convicts took part. The telephotograph, retouched by an artist and reproduced ABOVE shows the blazing mess hall, which was ignited by rioting prisoners. deputy speaker of the House, provided the highlights of yesterday's sitting. Before the orders of the day were called, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King Liberal leader suggested to the house it might be unwise to permit the Deputy Speaker to participate in a political debate. It had been many years since this was done and he believed the Deputy should be governed by the same practices and rules as the Speaker himself. Impartiality on the Deputy's part should not be shown.

Mr. Lavergne offered to resign from the Deputy Speakership if denied the right to speak. Premier Bennett said if the deputy were refused the right of speech, he should be immune from attack as well. Eventually without a vote, Mr. Lavergne was permitted to speak on the ruling of Mr. Speaker Black.

Supports Move Against Soviet.

In doing so, Mr. Lavergne, who has been one of Canada's stormy political petrels, declared the case against Soviet Russia has been proven to the hilt. He was proud to associate himself with a government that prohibited trade with that country.

"Here is a nation," he proceeded, "that murdered its Emperor, murdered three young royal princesses in a dark cellar, and put the Czarovitch, a young boy, to death. This country has denied civilization, it has denied the teachings of Almighty God, it has denied the sacrament of marriage and it has denied the right of the individual to hold property. I say the case against Russia has been proven. The statement is made that we will lose money, but man does not live by bread alone."

Russia figured also in the speech of Angus MacInnis, Labor member for Vancouver South. There was forced slavery in that country, he admitted, but in Canada there was "forced idleness." Many of the unemployed of Canada would relish being forced to work, and he suggested to the country that it "clean its own doorstep" before criticizing Russia. Trade conditions in the country were worse than when the special session was called to deal with unemployment, and Mr. MacInnis wondered what the Government intended doing and when.

The only other speaker yesterday was Joseph Bradette (Lib., North Temiskaming). He said high protection was injuring Northern Ontario and the Conservative party's cry for an export tax on pulpwood had lost the United States' market for Canada. The reason the government won so many seats in that section of Canada was not because it stood for a high tariff but because it advocated the building of the Trans-Canada highway. Issues there were camouflaged he said and the "people were humbugged" into voting for the governing candidates.

HAVELOCK SCHOOL TOILET SYSTEM CONTINUES BOARD'S CHIEF WORRY

Hopes Run High That Latest Plan Will Pass Council Without Hitch.

Interesting Address Given.

HAVELOCK, March 21. (Examiner Correspondent).—The regular March meeting of the school board was held in the school room, Thursday evening when Chairman Squires occupied the chair with trustees J. W. Ketchen, B. Smith and A. Leeson, present.

Ths minutes of the previous meetnig were read and adapted, As usual the question of supplying a satisfactory toilet system, at the lowest possible cost to the village, yet meeting the requirements of the Provincial Health authorities was brought up and came in for a great deal of discussion. It will be recalled that the board waited on the village council at the last regular meeting of that body, and obtained permission to enter the town drain, for the purpose of supplying water for a proposed new water flush toilet system. The board attended this meeting in a body, and the council gave their consent and decided leaving the passing of the necessary by-law, until after the board had drawn up the plans and made them known definitely to the council. This was the third time the shcool trustees had waited on the council, although the first time in a body; on both previous occasions the council left the question for the people to decide and both times the people voted against it. It is not likely the proposed plan will be turned down, by the council, as either of the plans contemplated before would cost in the neighbourhood of $7,000, while this time it is much below that figure. It looks very much as if the voting of the money for this new system will not go to the people but will be granted by the council, which seems to be only right since they are the representatives of the ratepayers.

The following correspondence was ordered filed: A letter from an Engineering Co. re a mechanical draft for the school furnace. From a furniture company, re additions to the school furniture in the matter of new desks. Department of Health re water supply and sewerage disposal, this letter also offered the services of a Government engineer, who would meet the board and council at a date suitable to these bodies, for the purpose of deciding on a suitable flush water toilet system. After much discussion the date set for meeting the Government engineer ws March 31st. A letter from Miss Robinson, thanking the board for a bonus was ordered filed.

G. F. Coates principal of the Continuation school addressed the meeting, asking for a $20 grant to purchase medals for the officers of the cadet corps. These will be presented to the cadets at their regular inspections in the Spring. This request was granted on motion of Smith and Ketchen. Mr. Yuill thanked the board for the bonuses given to some of the teachers, on behalf of those who shared in them.

The following accounts were ordered paid on motion by Leeson and Ketchen: Hornsby & Allan, 1930 account, $50.00; Grand & Toy, 100 folders for filing cabinet, $7.85; Commercial Union Ins. Co, policy, 1338-2486, $14.00; Wm. Mathison, L. L. & Globe policy 13967901, $14.00; Mrs. C. Hubbel, assistant teacher, 2 days in January, 14 days in February, at $5.00, $80.00; Teachers and caretaker's monthly salary, $1128.06.

L. W. Copp Gives Address

L. W. Copp, I.P.S. of Peterborough addressed the board in a short but very capable address, telling whereby the grants for this year could be greatly increased. This was the first time Mr. Copp had met the board. He went on to say that he was greatly surprised in coming to Havelock, to find that the board and council were working so splendidly together and the trouble he had expected to find was entirely lacking. He highly commended the action of the board in giving certain of the teachers a bonus; that would raise the payroll but slightly and increase the Provincial grant by a large sum. The Inspector recommended that the teachers be encouraged to take summer courses, by giving them a bonus and partly paying for their expenses at summer school.

"For a number of years the people of Havelock, have been paying for an unfair amount of the school's expenses, and I would like to show where your grants on equipment, etc., can be greatly increased." He suggested having Mr. Yuill take a course in Agriculture at Guelph during the summer months, thus the board would be refunded all expenses in connection with the teaching of this subject and would receive large grants in addition. Mr. Copp went on to tell the board of a splendid musical recital he had heard in the Norwood school and suggested that the board take up music in the school. In this subject 50% of the expenses are paid by the Department. A kindergarten is a wonderful way in which to get the small pupils interested in school at an early age and it is an interest that is not lost for a number of years. By taking schools with and without such a class it has been proven that the results of a school with a kindergarten are much ahead of those without this additional class.

The members were greatly inspired by these suggestions and purpose acting on some, and perhaps all of them after the toilet question is settled.

A deputation from the Girl Guides composed of Commissioner Mrs. (Rev.) Lennox and Captain Mrs. Jean Moore, was to have waited on the Board to obtain the use of the school room once a month for a meeting, but the ladies failed to put in an appearance. However, the Board is in favor of letting the girls use the school and will make a motion to that effect when they make known their requirements.

The committee of the Board as a whole delegated to interview the Council re the privileges required in connection with the installation of the proposed sanitary closets, reported that the matter received the attention of the Council, who expressed themselves as favorable to granting the requirements of the Board as soon as the details of same were furnished the Council.

the Kinsman organization and contained words of encouragement and inspiration.

Local Clubs Seventh

During the course of the evening a telegram was received from the National Registrar, who reported that the Peterborough Club held seventh place in the Dominion in point of numbers gathered that evening in honor of the occasion. In all a total of 707 members was reported, with six other clubs which had not been heard from, making the total attendance 88 per cent of the entire membership. The intelligence was conveyed to the assembly by vice-president G. Wilson Craw.

In tune with the general arrangements the guest speaker at each gathering was required to base his address in terms of Canada and Canadianism. Fortunate indeed were the Peterborough Kinsmen in having as their guest speaker the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K. C., who delivered a masterly discourse on the history and evolution of parliamentary procedure and the growth of the rights and liberties of the people. Speaking from a wide experience in parliament, where he was one time Deputy Speaker, and from an equally deep knowledge of law, Mr. Gordon left a deep impression on his listeners and contributed much food for mature thought and consideration.

He was introduced by Dr. S. Walsh, who remarked that Mr. Gordon was specially fitted to address them that evening, as he was a national figure in Canada. He was known in his profession, from coast to coast and was equally well recognized in politics and for his interest in the ex-servicemen.

Mr. Gordon at the outset of his address expressed his appreciation to the Kinsmen, for the talent they had exhibited in their various speeches that night. "You are leaders in your community", he reminded them, "and as such you have certain obligations to discharge". He said, he thought that the gathering was an indication that they were all fully alive to their responsibilities and that they were rendering a real service to their fellow men.

Mother of Parliaments

He traced the first parliament back to Old France, and later showed how it had taken root in England, when the King selected leaders from various communities to give him guidance in the administration of the affairs of state The first parliament in England, he stated, goes back to the thirteenth century, and continued with several interruptions, until it became more firmly established following the reign of Charles II.

He showed how that owing to several attempts being made to upset parliament an order, which is still in force today, was made which requires that parliament shall meet in session at least once a year. Another legacy which has been handed down from these early days is the law which states that a member of parliament shall not be liable to arrest within forty days before and forty days after the meeting of parliament. This law was made owing to continued efforts which were being made to upset the will of the people.

Interesting sidelights were also thrown by the speaker upon Canadian Parliamentary procedure which closely follows that as laid down in the Constitution in the Old Land. Mr. Gordon also capably pointed out the relationship between the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments.

Speaking of the wonderful system of jurisprudence established in England, Mr. Gordon pointed out the numerous preliminaries which have to be observed even before a man may be arrested, although he thought that with changed conditions brought about by rapid means of transportation the Government was getting away from such caution to a large extent, because the need was not now there, and if legislation now before parliament comes into force it will be possible on proper authority to have a suspect arrested by telegraphed instructions, without the necessity of a warrant.

Copies Old Land

He thought that Canada copied with a great deal of fidelity the judicature of the Old Land, and paid a tribute to the administrators of justice here, drawing a parallel with the dispensation in the great neighbouring country, across the international border. He strikingly showed, how that money and position carried little or no weight when justice was holding the scales, and cited as an instance the recent imprisonment of several prominent financial men.

In conclusion he commended to the Kinsmen who wished to make a worthwhile study of leadership, the lives of Gladstone and Disraeli—two men he said, who were diametrically opposed in policy, but whose combined efforts did so much to develop the British Empire. On the one hand there was Gladstone, strong for social reform, neglectful of the foreign policy and on the other hand Disraeli, a great Imperialist, and one inclined to neglect home affairs.

Mr. Gordon believed that every man and woman in any community owed certain obligations to that community, and that the greater a persons position of responsibility in that community, the greater his obligations "For that reason he said, I am happy to be here tonight, and to be associated with the members of the Kinsmen Club whose objects are those I have outlined, who are imbued with the ideals of service to their community. You have a splendid service to perform and I am satisfied that you are performing it."

On the motion of Emmett Sheehy, the speaker was tendered a cordial vote of thanks, after which Pat Whyte, secretary pro-tem read an invitation from the Calgary Club, asking for a large attendance of delegates at the annual Kinsmen convention to be held in Calgary during the first week of July. Incidentally Mr. Whyte was installed as sergeant at arms, during the course of the proceedings by Past President A. L. Elliott.

Included among the guests present were the following: J. A. Dewart, A. L. Stedham, Fred Percy, D. McTavish, Earl Manlece, Harry Chenhall and W. Thompson.

Newt Staples contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the evening with some well-chosen solos; he was accompanied by Mr. Chenhall at the piano.

OUR DESTINATION IS 1931 PROSPERITY STREET

ALL CANADA, and the rest of the world for that matter, has been detouring away from PROSPERITY STREET.

We've been groping down dark and uncharted lanes...Over-production, Cheap Money, Heedless Speculation and Easy Credit...these are the by-ways we have been traversing in our riotous ramblings that led us to a blind alley of Depression.

The great trouble was an excess of Cheap Money, making it easy for everyone to run into debt. A wild stock market was another consequence and Over-production another.

But great forces are now at work generating this return to Prosperity. We're getting used to doing without Cheap Money...we're adjusting ourselves to rely on savings, both in what we buy and in what we invest, rather than to gain by the hysteria of Speculation.

We've come to realize that Over-production often meant hurried production . . . the slighting of quality to produce volume . . . to hide cheapness under the veil of Low Price.

But we've changed our tempo to produce quality rather than volume and that in itself means more substantial value to the consumer and fortunately the re-adjustment is attended by lower cost on better grade commodities.

For the past six months merchants have been selling more than they have been buying and the country has been consuming more than manufacturers have been producing. A situation of this sort leads inevitably to a spurt in business with the ensuing result of Prosperity to wage-earners as well as retailers and manufacturers.

Surely 1931 is fraught with promise and beckons us all to turn the corner into PROSPERITY STREET

ARTICLES OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER

LOCATION AND TYPE OF DAIRY BARN PLAY BIG PART IN GETTING PROFITS

High Ground Generally Desirable With Building Having Southern Exposure.

ONE-STORY BARN FAVORED

By Dr. L. D. LeGear

No one who has ever built a house can forget the many happy evenings spent in reading books, examining pictures and sudying blueprints in preparation for the task of planning the future home.

Truly, a man can say that "his home is his castle" when the job is done and the family moves in.

The enthusiast in dairying should be just as interested in providing suitable quarters for his cows. For surely they are the "geese that lay the golden eggs" of profits and it has been proved time and again that the amount of milk a cow gives can be influenced by the manner in which she is housed.

When you consider that a modern dairy cow will produce as much milk in one month as a scrub cow allowed to shift for itself gives during a milking season you know there is something more than just breeding and feeding to account for it.

In the next two or three articles we shall discuss this important subject of dairy barn construction and arrangement. First let us take up the location and the type of barn.

High Ground Best

From the standpoint of drainage and fresh air, high ground is desirable. If too high, cold winds in winter and the difficulty of hauling feed up to the barn are things to consider. Later on we shall point out the desirbility of having running water in the barns and a hilltop location might prevent that.

A gently sloping hill, with a southern exposure, is very good. In any event the cow barn should run north and south, or nearly so, in order that both the morning and afternoon sun may shine in on the stalls. Sanitation, as my readers know, is now becoming a matter of law in many localities, where officials who have to do with the health of the community are regulating the barns where the milk is produced.

Keep this one thought in mind. A cow does her best work at producing milk during the warm summer months. The more comfortable you make her in cold weather the greater will be your profits.

Several Types

Several types of barns are now in use on American farms. In the colder states the basement barn is popular. It is made by digging out the side of a hill so that one or two sides of the second story will be on a level with the ground. This makes a warm barn in winter and a cool barn in summer, but it may be far from healthy because of lack of ventilation.

Perhaps the commonest type is the plain two-storey building with a stable on the first floor and hayloft and storage space above. Sometimes the first storey walls are made of stone. If built according to approved principles this is a very satisfactory type. Good lighting and ventilation can be secured. One common fault in such a barn is that the ceiling, or the floor above the live stock, may not be tight. Dust filters through, and the odor from the stables goes all through the upstairs.

One Story Barn Favored

Dairymen generally favor the one-story barn because of the better sanitation it afords. Usually it is made wide enough for two rows of cows. The roof is wel lconstructed so as to provide plenty of warmth. In moderate climates cupolas can be built to provide ventilation, providing they can be closed up in case of storms and severe cold spells.

In the case of a one-story barn, the hay and feed will have to be stored elsewhere. Sometimes one end is raised two stories to provide space for hay. Some farmers keep their cattle in open sheds all year around, using a stable for milking and feeding only. This makes for rugged, healthy animals.

The round barn is advocated by a number of experts. Friends of the round barn say it is far cheaper, requiring 25 per cent less wall to enclose a similar space than does a rectangular building.

Snow Great Aid Across Province

The heavy snowfall of a week ago blocked a high percentage of the side roads throughout the Province with the result that there has been very little hauling during the past week, according to the reports of the Agricultural Representatives. On the other hand, "Sunny Essex" reports a few fields of spring wheat and oats already sown and with the snow practically all gone, farmers are again planning to get on the land soon. There is a general feeling over the Province that the snowfall has been of inestimable value. Fields are well covered and despite the fact that it is too early to make a statement regarding the condition of wheat and clover stands, prophets are most optimistic. Whole milk areas report a surplus and in some districts, shippers have been cut off.

EVERY GARDEN REQUIRES ROSES

Most Bushes Will Grow Any Place Except Where Water Lies.

TIPS ON VARIETIES

(Experimental Farms Note)

Everyone who has a garden wants roses in it and there is no reason why they should not have some. A rose bush will grow almost anywhere, except in a place where water lies. The roots object to being constantly wet. If the soil was not prepared in the fall, then dig it over well to the depth of eighteen inches and, if it is very poor, bring better soil from the the vegetable garden to put around the roots. As soon as the soil is warmed up the bush should be planted. The hole should be deep and wide enough so that the roots can be spread out and the plant buried a little deeper than it was in the nursery. If the roses arrive before they can be planted, a trench should be dug and the plants heeled in. The roots should never be allowed to dry out. When the plants are growing well a top dressing of pulverized sheep manure is beneficial.

There are several classes of roses but the ones most in favor are Hybrid Teas. These can not be grown very satisfactorily in the coldest sections of the country, but in other parts, by giving some protection in winter, they do well. Some of the best ones tested at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, are: Lady Pirrie, Los Angeles, Ophelia and Souvenir de Claudius Pernet, in the light shades; General MacArthur, K. of K., Gruss and Teplitz and Hawlmark Crimson, red; Betty Uprichard, Mrs. Henry Morse, Mme Leon Pain and La Tosca, pink; Dainty Bess, Isobel and Vesuvius, single.

Hardier Classes.

Other classes of roses which are rather hardier than those mentioned are the Hybrid Perpetuals. These make a great show of bloom in midsummer but have few, if any, blooms later. Some of the best of these are Frau Karl Druschki, white; General Jacqueminot and Hugh Dickson, red; and Coronation and Mrs. John Laing, pink.

The class of rose which gives the most bloom for the least trobule is the Polyantha Pompon. These are dwarf growing so are easily covered for winter. They are hardier than either H.T.'s or H.P.'s and bloom continuously all season. The flowers are in clusters and are not very fragrant. Good varieties are Coral Cluster, Ellen Poulsen, Chatillon and Mrs. W. H. Cutbush, pink Kosters Orleans, Rodhatte and Edith Cavell, red; Katherine Zeimet and Yvonne Rabier, white.

Then there are the hardy bush roses which need no protection, such as the rugosa hybride; Agnes, pale amber, F. J. Grootendorst and Roserale de l'Hay, red; Belle de Poitevine, pink; Mme Georges Bruant and Sir Thomas Lipton, white. Harrison's Yellow and Banshee and Betty Bland, pink, are also hardy without protection at Ottawa.

Of the climbing roses the following are recommended: Dorothy Perkins, Dr. W. Van Fleet and Chatillon Rambler, pink; Paul's Scarlet and Crimson Rambler, red; Goldfinch and Pemberton's White Rambler, white.

BUTTER AS FOOD HAS HIGH PLACE EXPERTS CLAIM

Was Discovered by Aryan Horsemen Thousands of Years Ago.

CANADA BIG CONSUMER

One-Third of Milk in Canada Manufactured Into Butter—Rich in Vitamines.

One of our most popular and most used foods is bread. We all like bread, and 'tis a wholesome food, but how much more palatable is good bread, when spread with good butter. Yes, and it adds to its nourishment because 'tis better balanced food and adds that element which the bread lacks—vitamins.

Whence came butter? Thousands of years ago an Aryan horseman gallopoed across the Asian plain one day, and discovered butter. This important event was one of those fortunate accidents which have contributed so much to the progress of man. It happened like this. When he started, the horseman had with him a goatskin filled with sour milk. The journey was long and rough, and the day moderately hot. When he reached his destination and dismounted, seeking to appease hunger and thirst, the Aryan was bewildered to find something other than milk in his goatskin. With some trepidation,—for the acts of the gods were often mysterious in those days—he tasted the yellow mass. Then he tasted it again, for it was good. He told other herdsmen, who most likely scoffed at him as a fool, as is customary when new benefits are announced, but eventually they, too, tried the product of the galloping churn. Soon the tribe was making butter, hanging up the goatskin bags filled with sour milk, and beating them with sticks or shaking them until the golden mass appeared. This is the way butter is made to this day in some parts of the world. Ever since that memorable occasion, butter has been one of the most important foods of man. The ancient Hindocs got the recipe from the Aryans and made butter 2,000 or more years before Christ. You will remember that in Genesis 18-8, referring to Abraham, it says, "and he took butter and milk and the calf which he dressed, and set is before them."

Used as Cosmetic

In olden times, in eastern lands, butter was used externally as a medicine, and also as a cosmetic. History repeats itself, as in this case, for today one of the best cosmetics is realized in a well balanced diet, in which good butter has a prominent part. All through the ages since this important discovery, butter has become a valuable article of diet, and at no time more popular than the present. In the butter-amking countries, the per capita consumption is high—but none higher than in Canada, where we eat about 30 pounds per person per year—said to be the highest of any country in the world. The United States consumes about 18 pounds per person yearly.

Butter to-day is one of our great commercial products. And one third of the milk in Canada is manufactured into butter in up-to-date creameries, with modern machinery, and under the most sanitary conditions. The milking, separating and care of the cream at the farm, the transportation of the cream and the manufacture at the creamery, are under constant supervision. This is a guarantee of a high class product, and more especially when the cream is pasteurized, which ensures a more uniform flavor with butter keeping qualities.

Butter is at once the most appetizing of all food fats, and is remarkable for its content of the Vitamin known as fat soluble Vitamin A. It is also a valuable source of Vitamin D, the protective factor which helps to prevent rickets and aids in the assimilation of calcium. In addition to these important vitamins, butter also contains Protein—for making blood and muscle; Calcium—for forming bones and teeth; Phosphorus—for building cell tissue; Iron—for strengthening the blood.

Valuable for Children

Butter is especially valuable for children. It supplies the very essential food element—fat—in its most palatable and easily digested form. Experiments prove that no other fat promotes growth as does butter. Dr. Wood Hutchinson, well known writer on nutrition says: "Don't give the children bread and butter, give them butter and bread." This, because butter is a good source of fuel for energy and heat, especially in our colder climate. Professor Mellanby of England says, "butter has been found to play an important role in the development of the bones and body. Butter furnishes a substance which the diet should always contain in abundance, in order to protect the growing child against rickets."

Another food authority says: "The Vitamin which is found so plentifully in butter fat is not only important in bone building, but is also important in cell building. It is this important part which this vitamin performs in both bone and cell building that makes butter such a necessary food for the growing child, as well as the health of the adult. The Vitamins in butter increase the resistance of our bodies to infection and chronic ailments.

Promotes Growth and Health

Many experiments have been conducted on animals by scientists to prove that butter is far superior to margarine and other fats in promoting growth and health. The experiments conducted by the Medical Research Council of the Privy Council of England, are most convincing. The ninety boys under observation were selected under medical supervision. One group was given a basic diet only—meats, fish, vegetables, fruits, bread and cereals in wide variety; the second group was given the basic diet with a vegetable oil, margarine and no butter. The boys of the three groups were of similar ages— from 7 to 12 years. The boys fed the basic diet with butter, made a weight gain of 6.30 lbs. and 2.20 inches in height gain; those fed the basic diet with margarine group made no perceptible gain over those fed the basic diet only. The butter-fed boys made a gain of 20.9 and 20.06 per cent. All the boys were similarly housed and cared for under excellent conditions. This experiment is strong in proof of the food value of butter.

The peoples who are the heaviest consumers of butter, are among the foremost nations of the world, and are outstanding in health and achievement.

Butter in Cooking

We have been speaking entirely of butter as used at the table. It has another very important place, and that is in cooking. Food, such as potatoes, fish, chicken, mushrooms, fried in butter gives a nutty, delicate flavor no other fat is capable of imparting. Likewise also in biscuits, cakes, cookies etc., butter holds first place as a shortening. Now that the price of this dairy product is comparatively low, it behooves our housewives to be more generous in its use. The greatest cooks know that butter makes their cooking famous—on the table, in cooking, frying and roasting; in seasoning meats, fish and vegetables; in making pies and all kinds of cakes; in desserts, puddings and sauces; and in candy, sweets and desserts.

Food Values

It is part of the mission of the National Dairy Council of Canada—of which the speaker is Secretary—to bring the food value of milk and its products—of which butter is one of the most important—to the notice of householders in Canada. The consuming public is becoming more and more alive to the fact that some foods are far more important than others, and as a result a change in food habits is taking place in this country which will not only have a direct and important bearing on the health of our Canadian people, but on our farm operations. Butter as a farm product enters largely into the scheme of things along these lines. In closing let us summarize.

Why Butter?

1—Butter has a flavor all its own. It makes any food taste better.

2—Butter is the only food fat which contains the vitamin in liberal amounts of the vitamin necessary for the best growth of your children.

3—Butter is the only food fat which contains the Vitamin in liberal amounts which promotes general health and builds resistance to disease, especially colds.

4—Butter is the only fat which contains the Vitamin in liberal amounts necessary for building strong bones and sound teeth.

How Much?

Two ounces of butter for each person daily is known to be "Protective." Additionl amounts actively increases the vigour of the body and its ability to resist disease.

Why Butter is Economical

Because you get more for your money in butter than in any other food fat—flavor, energy and liberal amounts of the two important vitamins. Therefore in closing let me advise—USE BUTTER FREELY.

TEST FERTILIZER BUYERS WARNED

Every Brand Required to be Labelled With the Guaranteed Analysis.

INSPECTORS AVAILABLE

The season for buying fertilizers has arrived and it is well that the farmers should know how to protect themselves in making sure that they are delivered the kind and analysis of fertilizer which they purchase.

The federal Fertilizers Act offers the means through which this may be done. This Act requires that every fertilizer delivered to a farmer must be labelled with the guaranteed analysis in terms of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, so that the first thing that should be done when the fertilizer arrives is to check the guaranteed anaysis and see if it is the same as that purchased. If if is short 1% nitrogen, it is worth approximately $2.50 per ton less than the purchase price, and phosphoric acid and potash are worth about $1 for each per cent.

Purchasers are advised to refuse acceptance of fertilizer which is not labelled with precisely the same guaranteed anaysis as the that purchased. The Fertilizer Division of the Department of Agriculture is anxious that farmers receive the greatest possible benefit from the protection that the Fertilizers Act affords. Should any purchaser have substantial reason for doubting the value of a fertilizer which is delivered to him, he is invited to communicate immediately with the nearest federal fertilizer inspector, who will be glad to investigate the matter first hand. In such cases, the farmer could protect himself by deferring payment until the inspector has completed his investigation.

DOCKAGE REASON FOR DIFFERENCES IN SEED PRICES

Seed Coming Straight From Thresher Could Not Be Sold.

CLEANING EXPENSIVE

Every Pound Sold Required to Come Up to Exacting Govt. Tests.

Speedy motor transportation, the wider distribution of the newspaper, and the introduction of the radio have contributed much to the improvement of the world in allowing us to get better acquainted. And with better acquaintance the old accusations about manipulation in the dark, the bogey of the middleman, and other one time popular fables are going into the discard. As we come to know our fellow citizen, whether he lives in the next county or in the city, we realize that he is built along pretty much the same lines as ourself.

There used to be some criticism regarding selling prices for seeds when quotations went out in the spring. The general public did not understand the big difference in the ungraded, raw material bought in the fall and the cleaned, government graded and approved article which was offered in the spring. Naturally there is a spread in price between these two just as we are beginning to realize now that there is a spread in quality. In this country there is no law against buying any seed for cleaning but there is a law and a very drastic one against selling anything that does not come up to the rigid standards of the Seeds Act.

Must Be Up To Standard

No seed, as it comes from the thresher, and very little if any after being put through the ordinary fanning mill, would come up to the lowest Goverment standard, but if the seedman who buys this material cannot make it come up to these requirements he is not allowed to offer it for sale. In spite of sofeguarding himself by cleaning and testing samples and calling often on lifetime's experience in the seed business, portion of the stock bought in the fall is classed rejected. This usually happens when some weed seed, which even the most elaborate and expensive machinery cannot separate, has been overlooked. Such 'rejected' seed cannot be sold in Canada and does not often find a market abroad.

This constitutes one source of loss, but of course is not to be compared to the chief one, that caused by general weed infestation. Growers are usually amazed at the amount of weed seed, dirt, chaff, shrunken seed and other material cleaned out of what was thought a reasonably clean sample. Sometimes this dockage may run over twenty five per cent while around twenty per cent is quite common and costly machinery and skilled operators are required to do the job satisfactorily. When it finally passes the Government test in regard to freedom from weed seeds and germination power, it must be put up in new bags, branded, and stored for several months awaiting the spring market. During this period shrinkage, another factor to be contended with goes on. As far as wage bills, interest, buildings and other overhead costs are concerned the seed business is a year round one, but unfortunately actual selling is confined to a few weeks in the spring.

This is not mere bunk written with the purpose of hiding fabulous profits. A visit to the nearest seedsman, who will be glad to run your sample over his mill and show you exactly the proportion between cleaned seed and dockage, will convince one of the correctness of the explanation above and the fact that this same seedman will be found right on the job, instead of indulging in riotous living in California or Southern Europe is a indication that he is just about as worried as the farmer is trying to keep a roof over his head in these difficult times.

SHEEP INDUSTRY TO BE DISCUSSED

Open Forum Will Follow Annual Meeting of Wool Growers.

SESSION MARCH 26

Following the regular business which it is expected will be cleared up by noon, it has been suggested that the annual meeting of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers in Toronto on March 26th be thrown open to general discussion regarding the Canadian Sheep Industry. While there is nothing of a particularly contentious nature on the program of the Co-operative this year, several matters of extreme importance have arisen which concern sheepmen as a whole, and officials of the organization sponsoring this suggested conference, point out that the Annual Meeting provides an ideal opportunity.

At this time there will be gathered together sheep raisers from every province, with farm flock owners, range men from Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan, breeders of purebreds all represented, as well as leading officials from the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture. Ways and means of developing the market for Canadian lamb, the possibility of evolving a Canadian lamb type regardless of breed, somewhat in same way as bacon hog and bred-to-lay hen were established, the use of more Canadian wool in this country and other factors leading up to a well balanced and clearly defined Canadian Sheep Policy, will certainly be discussed. "And," adds an official of the Wool Growers, "if one day is not enough there is no reason why the meeting cannot continue into the next."

What a Hen Will Eat In Course Of Year

It may be interesting at a time when new means of marketing incidental farm products is vitally important, to know what an average hen can convert into eggs during the course of a year. There could be no more dpendable or authoritative guide in this regard than the averages of feed consumption in egg laying contests, determined from the record of six successive years and averaged from every province in the Dominion. These figures show that the average hen will consume 157.4 pounds of feed a year. Of this total 83.6 is grain or meal mixture, and 22.8 per cent green feed. Add to this 41.2 pounds of milk and the feed supply straight from the farm totals 157.6 pounds per bird or over 93 per cent of the feed required. The supplementary feed included 3.3 pounds of beef scrap, 1.9 pounds grit, 3.4 pounds shell, and 1.2 pounds charcoal. A flock of 150 hens will convert 8.856 pounds of farm grown feeds into eggs and under ordinary conditions will show 100 per cent profit over cost of feed at current prices which is in itself a valuable item of income for any farm.—Dominion Department of Agriculture.

FARMERS TAKING MORE INTEREST IN ALFALFA AS CROP FOR 1931

GOOD FOR MIXTURES

Around the Soils and Crop Train now touring Western Ontario and at agricultural meetings being held throughout the Province, farmers are showing a lively interest in alfalfa, according to officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Of course active buying of seed has not commenced yet, but it is expected that the acreage in this crop will be greatly extended.

Clover Area Reduced

It is pointed out that owing to winter killing and summer drought the area in clovers and grasses has been seriously reduced in the past three years. Further reduction is expected this winter as in very many districts, new seeding weakened by the prolonged drought of last summer and fall, can hardly be expected to survive the trying weather just ahead. Fortunately at this time when so much seed is really offered at a price about forty per cent below that prevailing last spring. The fact that seed will be needed to restore the meadow acreage to normal coupled with indisputable evidence that this particular legume has come through the difficult weather of the past two years in better shape than most other crops, would certainly indicate a big alfalfa year, in which case a rehashing of some old hints regarding the handling of alfalfa may not come amiss.

While they are not recommending mixtures in places where straight alfalfa is known and has proven satisfactory, in districts like Eastern Ontario where there may be some doubt, mixtures of ths legume wth clovers and timothy are being engorsed states J. A. Carroll of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. "We realize that straight alfalfa may be a risky crop in certain locations but we do think it would be a splendid thing to add it at the rate of four to six pounds per acre to most of the regular hay mixtures being used. By the end of the second year in all probability you will not know that there had ever been anything else but alfalfa in the field." It is expected that alfalfa will be mixed with red clover and timothy, or perhaps askike instead of red on heavy or low lying land. Many people prefer to add timothy to all hay mixtures claiming that this makes cutting and curing easier.

TRENT EXHIBIT DETROIT SHOW

Added Benefits From Local Display Expected From Motor City Tourists.

FRED ROY IN CHARGE.

With the opening of the Detroit Motor Boat Show to-day there is correspondingly a further advance of the publicity campaign of the Trent The show will last through until the The show wil llast through until the following Saturday, and the usual large attendance is looked for. The exhibition is an old established one and every year has seen an advance both in the quality of its exhibits and in its attendance.

Owing to the pressure of business incurred by the annual election of the new Executive of the Chamber, the manager of the Association is not able to attend the show, although he has been approached by the Department of Highways, with whom the exhibits are held in conjunction. However, Fred Roy offered his services and accordingly he journeyed down to Detroit on Friday afternoon.

The Trent exhibit will be much the same as it was in Philadelphia. The log cabin, birch bark canoe, transparencies, stands and blue plush trimmings are all in use in Detroit. This time the central feature of the exhibit will be the large oil painting of the Rice Lake as viewed from Gore's Landing. The painting is in an ornamental gilted frame, and is illuminated from the base. The same films will be in continuous operation, although this time Fred Roy has taken down some 700 feet of film depicting fishing, duck hunting and other activities.

As Detroit is just across the Border and the city is only a day's run from the Kawartha Lakes, added benefits from the local exhibit are justifiably expected.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 21. — A little short covering in the waning hours of the market here yesterday proved to be the only feature in an extremely dull session. At the close values were advanced ⅛c to ¼c for the day.

Pit trade was almost entirely local in character, with virtually no foreign interest, and export transactions overnight were insignificant.

May closed at 58⅞c, up ¼c; July at 60⅝c, advanced ½c, while October moved up ¼c at 62½c.

Advices from abroad indicated importers were not worried about supplies, with a steady stream of wheat moving toward European ports.

Cash wheat trade was light, with spreads a little different from the previous close. The same condition prevailed in the coarse grains section. Futures:

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 21. — Lowest prices since 1895 went on record for wheat exports had apparently come wheat exxports had apparently come to a dead halt, and British millers announced that thereafter United States Federal inspection certificates on wheat purchases would not be accepted. Argentine, Australian, and Russian wheat exports increased heavily and weather and crop reports in the United States and Canada gave promise of further piling up of fresh 1931 surplus buying.

Buying resistance developed, however, after wheat prices had reached new depths, and the market closed with a rally, but irregular, ⅛c to ¼c lower to ⅛c to ¼c higher than yesterday. Corn finished ⅛c off to ¼c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to 20c down.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, March 21.— There was little change on the local butter market this week, trading holding to previous records, in the matter of slowness, and prices remaining steady on both grades. Brokers were quoting, and making sales, of creamery solids at 31c to 31¼c for No. 1, and 30c to 30¼c for No. 2. Supplies were reported as not burdensome and small ots and a few large lots changed hands at the current prices.

Cream.

Cream buyers lowered their quotations to country shippers one cent new range of 31c for special, 30c for on all grades this week, making a No. 1, and 27c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points. These decreases were in keeping with lower levels made by butter offerings and seemed to be general with buyers, as no other prices were reported.

Cheese.

The demand for cheese was only moderate and though prices held steady for most of the week an easier tone was apparent on Friday and brokers were offering new makes on a steady to slightly lower basis. Country shippers were quoted 14½c to 14¾c for new large, 14¾c to 15c for twins, and 15c to 15¼c for triplets. Prices to retailers for new makes were unchanged at 16c for large, 16¼c for twins, and 16½c for triplets, and they were quoted old cheese at 23c large, 23½c for twins, and 24c for triplets. New Stiltons were offered at 20c and sold at 26c.

Eggs Lower.

The egg market showed considerable weakness during the past few days and at Friday's closing prices were down 2 cents per dozen from last week's levels on both graded and ungraded supplies. Receipts were piling up and the demand was not nearly great enough to take care of them, which was probably due to the high prices asked by retailers. At prices in effect on Thursday the retail dealers were making a profit of from 11c to 16c per dozen on extras. Some of the larger firms had special sales at prices more in accord with the wholesale prices, but generally high prices were in effect to consumers. With the coming week the Jewish holidays will start, and though egg consumption should be greater, it will only be sufficient to hold the market steady.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright.
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass.
No envy sour the mind.
But each shall seek the common weal.
The good of all mankind.

CAVAN.

A very great tribute was paid to the Women's Institutes of Ontario by Lady Falconer, in her address of welcome to the delegates from Institutes who were assembled in Toronto last fall.

She congratulated the Institutes on bringing a new sense of the values of food, of ways of preparing it, of care for the sick and the ability to meet emergencies that arise through accidents, a real understanding of the balance there must be in work and pleasure and rest. Indeed you have brought to many people a desire for all those things which enrich and beautify life. She stated that years ago she knew a home very well, in a slightly isolated district, but not entirely away from neighbours. It was a desperately poor home, not in poverty but in every other sense of the word poor. It was dirty, it was untidy, it was well nigh hopeless, and yet affection was there; it didn't lack everything. In some way or other literature from this organization reached that home. Visits were made to the meetings and years later when she was back in that part of the country, she said she could not describe the change that had come over the aspect of that home and family. It was not any better furnished from the point of view of actual furniture and appointments, but it was clean and orderly, and the children's clothes were presentable. There were flowers flowers within and without and a very fine vegetable garden that the family were using for their own needs. Neighbours could not do for that family what the Women's Institute had done, because there is a boundary line, something a neighbor cannot touch within another home except in the most delicate fashion, where as the Women's Institute can reach it in another way. Instead of the home as she had known it, now is one from which are going out children disciplined, trained, clever, able to cook because they find they can get prizes at the rural school fair for their cooking.

She quoted the mottor "For Home and Country," and she emphasized the home side of it.

The majority of Institute members are home makers and with them lies a marvellous opportunity.

WARSAW

In the Republic of Estonia the farm women are housekeepers, homemakers and actual producers. The men till the fields, raise cereals and potatoes and the women care for the milch cows, pigs, sheep and poultry, and cultivate the vegetables and fruit. She produces food for export as well as home. About twenty-five per cent of the exported goods, is dependent on the farm-woman's labor and care. Before Estonia was a republic and independent, the farmers realized that the country depended on agriculture and the women worked with the men. Recently it was realized that full success could not be secured if the wife were ignored as housekeeper and homemaker. Housewives' days were arranged in nearly all of the eleven district towns, when speeches were delivered on the importance of the country-woman's work in agricultural, private and state economy, and in the country. The difficult position of the farmer's wife was touched and there were attempts to better it.

These Housewives' Days were well attended, ideas were exchanged in a lively and direct way. They seemed so good that in a very few weeks Housewives' Societies were formed and got busily to work. Every Estonian woman, eighteen years of age or over may become a member. If she works on the land, or is interested in agriculture.

There are about one hundred societies, nearly all of which have arranged courses of training in cooking, canning, house-wifery, fancy-work, gardening, poultry-raising, feeding of cattle and milking cows. Lectures have been delivered on health and on agricultural problems. Many societies have arranged excursions to model Estonian farmhouses, and home economics schools.

There are circles for girls, under the leadership of an older member. They hold all sorts of festivities and entertainments at which there is always some good lecture. The societies were formed in 1927 and in 1928 they federated to form a Central Association of country women, which is affiliated to the National Council of Women, also to the Central Agricultural Society.

The Housewives' Societies aim at progress of domestic economy among country people, and the bettering of the cultural and material state of the country woman. Certain activities are laid down in their constitution, namely: (a) To consider the state of domestic economy among the Estonians, their needs and wants, (b) to encourage the training of country wives as housekeepers, homemakers and agriculturists, (c) to give advice as to furnishing and beautifying of country homes, and the improvement of hygienic conditions, (d) to develop family life, taking care of mothers, home education of children and nursing the sick, (e) to study dietetics and cooking, (f) to raise the art of needlework among women, (g) to encourage the keeping of domestic animals and of gardening among country-women, (h) to seek means to gain economic and social independence for country-women, (i) to arrange study courses, meetings, lectures, excursions, exhibitions, competitions, festivities and maintain schools and instructors.

MILLBROOK

"Renovating Shabby Shoes" was the topic considered by a group of Institute workers at an informal gathering, a number of practical suggestions, the result of actual experience in the majority of cases, being advanced.

The removing of tarnish from silver shoes interested the younger members of the group more particularly, the recipe being to rub a mixture of two parts bread crumbs and one part powdered blue well into the material, using a soft cloth, and afterward remove all the cleaner with a soft brush.

One woman told of improving the appearance of her black patent leather shoes, which had become slightly cracked, by putting plenty of black polish into the affected parts, letting stand until the following day, then brushing off all the loose polish and rubbing vigorously with a piece of black velvet. Another's problem had been the renovating of brown shoes, grown shabby, sponging with a mixture of equal parts water and ammonia deepning the color, and after being left to dry well, a good brown polish was generously applied; the final touch was a good rubbing with a pad of velvet.

The leather of house shoes having become shabby through neglect a suggestion was given that seemed quite radical, but was said to have achieved good results. Hot, soapy water was used for a bath, a goodly amount of washing soda having been dissolved in the mixture. After drying, one or two slices of cut orange were used to go over the shoes, and finally they were polished in the usual way. Then, according to the member who gave the 'recipe' the shoes were presentable and good for a considerable time for house wear; indeed, if it happened to be leather street shoes that required the treatment, they would be nice-looking, and fit for out of doors' use once again.

Stains on shoes also came up for discussion, the advice being given to begin at the outer side for removal, and work in a circular movement toward the centre, thus avoiding the unsightly rings that usually appear round the edges of the part where the stain has been obliterated, or at least made less noticeable.

As the final item in the discussion of a most interesting topic the cleansing of goloshes came to the fore, the leader telling of her plan—this was to put them in the washing-machine and cleanse with warm, but not too hot, suds. Rinse well, and dry rather slowly, "and they are none the worse for their 'laundering,' and will be clean both inside and out."

Red Cross Nurse Of North Spreads Joy And Health

Dog-team trips of 10 to 30 miles are just "routine for Madame Louis de Kiriline, the nurse in charge of the Red Cross outpost hospital at Bonfield, a French-Canadian settlement southeast of North Bay. Mme. de Kiriline was born in Sweden but married a Russian army officer who remained loyal to the regime. During the Red revolution she took part in a 600-mile retreat and believes she is the only woman not captured by the "Bolshies' when they broke through on the Dwina front. In the illustration: (1) is the Red Cross outpost at Bonfield, (2) is a close-up of Mme. de Kiriline while in (3) she is seen with her dog-team Buck, Zippy and Brook. She never uses a whip on the dogs and Bonfield residents say she can "teach de old fellers how to mush."

ST. THOMAS' W.A. HOLDS MEETING

Miss Etta Needler Hostess at Monthly Meeting of Millbrook Society.

MILLBROOK, March 21 (Examiner Correspondence)—Miss Etta Needler was hostess for the March meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Saint Thomas' Church, the well-attended gathering being particularly honored and pleased to have with them the new rector of the parish, Rev. Mr. Simpson, B.A., formerly of Calgary, Alberta, and last week formally instituted by Right Rev. Bishop Sweeny in the Synod Office, Toronto, as resident minister of the parish of Mill brook and Cavan.

Miss Annie Armstrong took the Bible reading, and Mrs. L. J. Morton, who is acting president in the absence of Mrs. G. M. Westmacott, the chief officer of the Auxiliary, conducted the devotional period.

Mrs. J. E. Allen, secretary-treasurer of the W.A., and of the Women's Guild, gave a report on finances up to date, following which discussion arose in conection with the supplies for the bale annually sent to an Indian Mision School, usually in the west. This year, for the first time in its history, the Saint Thomas' church branch will send its bale as an individual Auxiliary instead of the three Auxiliary sending supplies that will in former years, the local Anglican Auxiliary sending suplies that will half outfit a boy at the Indian Boys' School at Chapleau, Northern Ontario.

Correspondence read by the acting-secretary, Mrs. E. J. Whyte, included a letter from a former Millbrook resident, Mrs. Mulligan, now of Brandon, Manitoba, enclosing her annual fee for the Auxiliary membership; another letter from the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmascott, who has been spending the winter at Victoria, B.C., stating that if the regular W.A. meeting is postponed until the fourth Monday in April, she will be home and ready to take the chair. Two letters from the Missionary Bulletin were also read, and on motion of Mrs. G. Howson and Mrs. J. E. Allen, it was decided to hold a home-baking sale on Saturday, May 11, to increase the funds on hand.

The last two chapters of the study book on Japan had been synoptized by Mrs. H. W. Jordan, and following their reading by Miss Annie Armstrong, and the rector, Rev. Mr. Simpson, a very hearty of vote of thanks was unanimously passed expressing gratitude to Mrs. Jordan and the most sincere appreciation, for the excellent manner in which she had so ably and willingly prepared the study book material throughout the year.

During the social hour at the close, the hostess served dainty refreshments and a most enjoyable time was spent.

TRENT RIVER

The play "Under the Laurels" which was to have been presented at the United Church, Friday night, March 20, is postponed till some date after Easter owing to road conditions.

Mrs. Ridley Wood is confined to bed through illness.

Rev. A. Reeves Reads Skitch On St. Patrick

NORWOOD, March 21. (Examiner Correspondence).—The members of the Young People's Guild of St. Andrew's Church held their meeting on Monday evening when Russell Robson, president was in charge of the meeting.

It was expected that the members of the Y.P.S. of Hastings would be present for an Irish evening, but owing to the bad condition of the roads they were unable to be present.

Miss Lottie Rogers took the Scriptural lesson and readings were given by Jean Webb, Rhoda Innes and Melver Innis. Following this Herbert Campbell gave two old favorite Irish songs with Mrs. Leonard Sedgwick as accompanist.

Rev. A. C. Reeves gave a short sketch on the Patron Saint of Ireland, stating that it was generally believed that the Patron Saint was born in Scotland, therefore, the Irish Missionary and Saint must have been an improved Scotchman.

The social committee served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Y.W.A. Meets

The March meeting of the Young Women's Auxiliary of the United Church was held at the home of Miss Maura Buck on Wednesday evening, when Miss Verna Scott had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Basil Tucker gave a most interesting paper from the Study Book, on Japan, while Mrs. Roy Brown sang a delightful solo and Miss Eva McConnell gave a reading. At the close of the meeting, candy was served and a social time spent.

W.M.S. to Meet

The regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church will be held on March 25 instead of the first week in April, at the home of Mrs. W. A. Richardson.

HOME TOWNERS

Tidbits. Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

Mrs. W. J. Sarginson has received word of the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas Richards, at his home at Elmwood, Ontario, on March 7. The late Mr. Richards was for many years an operator on the Grand Trunk Railway. He died following a stroke. He has been an invalid for many years.

An Old Stand-by With New Flavor

By DORIS H. TISDALE
Chase & Sanborn Institute

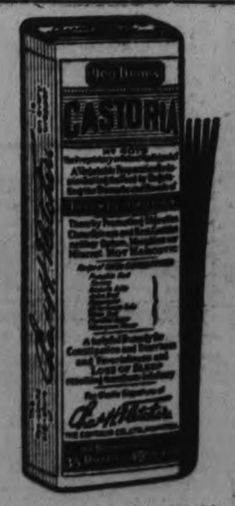
FOR ever so many years the old favorite, Chocolate Cake, has been deliciously adequate for any event—a finishing touch to any well balanced menu. Now we find it with a rich coffee flavor; still exceedingly tasty; still the same old dependable dessert; but with a new and pleasing variation. Recipe follows:

Coffee Chocolate Cake

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
½ cup white corn syrup
Yolks of 5 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
3 sq. (3 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
¾ cup hot strong coffee
1¾ cups flour
3 teaspoons tartrate baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
Whites of 3 eggs

Cream butter; add sugar slowly. Add corn syrup. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add to creamed butter mixture. Melt chocolate in hot coffee, allowing mixture to thicken; cool. Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add alternately with coffee to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into 2 greased square layer tins. Bake in moderate oven at 350° F. for 35 minutes. Put together with marshmallow frosting.

Can't PLAY
Can't REST
—child needs Castoria



WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child.

All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

No doubt many of you housewives have noticed that never before were there so many attractive bathroom fittings and furnishings as there are today.

• • • • • • •

And not only are they decorative, but they are planned to suit every sort of room, large or small.

• • • • • • •

Color, you will notice, plays an important part, but it is rather of the variety of the things themselves that we will speak of today.

• • • • • • •

If the bathroom is spacious, there are large soiled clothes hampers, big mirrors, ample chairs, long and eminently substantial rods, bathroom scales, etc.

• • • • • • •

Everything is appropriate to accord with the size of the room. The good-size bathroom is a delight to a homemaker. But it is possible to have this room too big.

• • • • • • •

Then the task is to minimize the apparent size while permitting all the good elements of the ample room to remain.

• • • • • • •

Where there are many bathrooms in a dwelling, some are sure to be small and where an apartment is cramped so that as little space as possible is allotted to the bathroom, ingenious furnishings are a delight.

• • • • • • •

For instance, there are low hamper-benches that supply space for soiled clothes in the receptacle beneath the hinged seat. Some of these have partitioned, removable trays for handkerchiefs, etc.

• • • • • • •

Chests of drawers of all sizes are available. Some are extremely narrow requiring the minimum space, yet providing places within the drawers to keep clean towels, soaps, salves, face cloths, etc.

• • • • • • •

And the tiny, round cakes of guest soaps in a variety of colors, each in its transparent paper wrapping are gay bathroom accessories.

• • • • • • •

A handsome container of bath salts makes an attractive ornament for the top of the set of drawers. Handsome sets of bottles, each with its special perfume, toilet water or lotion are also made for such ornamental purposes.

• • • • • • •

But be very careful you don't get too much color into a small room. Use every means to make the room appear large and you will find the modern furnishings will aid you a great deal in this.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN ENDS ON MONDAY

Baptismal Service Will Be Held in Bethany Tabernacle—"Faith" Address.

A large and attentive audience was present last night at Bethany Tabernacle to listen to Mr. Bosworth speak on the subject, "Why are not all that are prayed for healed?" During the past weeks Mr. Bosworth has been giving scriptural teaching once a week concerning Divine healing, covering such subjects as Is it in the Atonement? How it can be appropriated; Is it God's will to heal all that come through faith in the sacrifice of Christ upon the cross? In his message last night he brought out the fact that the one great all-inclusive reason why many are not healed is because of the lack of faith The Word of God declares "That all things are possible to him that believeth." The question is what is there that keeps us from believing? The following are some of the reasons for this lack of appropriating faith as disclosed by Mr. Bosworth.

1—A common belief that God is the author of sickness and disease. However, the Scripture reveals that the author of such is Satan, and that we have sickness to-day because of the fall of man and the entrance of sin.

2—Ignorance of that part of the Gospel which declares that Jesus died and bore our sicknesses as well as our diseases. "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God."

3—Faith is also hindered because a large part of the church is unbelieving along this line and often do not preach it.

4—The unbelief in the community. When Jesus entered His own city it is said that He was not able to do many mighty miracles because of their unbelief.

5—The traditions of men. Many say that the day of miracles is past. However, the Scripture does not say so. And the fact remains that if that were so then it would be hard to be saved for that is the greatest of all miracles. Because we do not commonly see the working of the supernatural does not change God's ability and willingness to heal. He is just the same in His compassion as He ever was.

6—Many lack faith because they do not realize that it is God's will to heal. Jesus never said no to anyone who came to Him, but He healed all that did come by faith.

In closing, Mr. Bosworth pointed out that God could not heal if we regard iniquity in our heart or if we are spiritually indifferent. Furthermore, faith must be based on the promise of God and not any feeling. Faith always finds expression in action, and thanks God in advance for what He has promised to do. Faith acts as though God was honest and true to His word.

In the afternoon 150 children assembled for a Gospel meeting of choruses and object lessons. This meeting was ably conducted by Miss Bosworth and they will continue for some weeks to come. To-morrow will be the final day of the campaign and then on Monday night there will be a baptismal service and farewell to the Bosworths.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

VALUE OF THE YOLK OF THE EGG

For years the value of eggs in illness and health has been recognized, more particularly the white, with its large proportion of protein which is about the same as lean meat.

The use of a number of eggs daily, together with milk, has been shown to build up the body in tired and worn folk.

That the yolk of the egg was a good food has likewise been recognize because of the fat and vitamins found therein. However, it was not known until recently that it could fulfill the purposes of the starches in the body, which, as you know, supply the energy for the working of the body.

Dr. I. Abelin, Berlin, points out, that although egg yolk is not a carbohydrate (starch or sugar) it nevertheless exerts great influence on the way sugar is handled by the body. Experiments show that egg yolk increases the liver's ability to store sugar within its walls. It is felt that this is likely due to the vitamins in egg yolk, A, B, C and D, which have so much to do with the proper working of the food stuffs in the body.

Now what does this mean to tired, sick, worn out, or underweight individuals?

I have spoken before of a chap whose weight increased from 90 pounds to 130 pounds in about three months by the use of 6 to 8 quarts of milk and 18 to 20 raw eggs daily. That the milk was of help, and also the white of egg was taken for granted, and likewise the fat in the yoke of the egg. But what was not known at the time was the wonderful effect of the yoke of the egg from the vitamin standpoint. By enabling the liver to store up sugar, notwithstanding all that was being used to give the necessary energy to the body, there was always sufficient to form the little extra fat that covers the entire surface of the body beneath the skin. The vitamins in the food, as mentioned before, stimulate each food stuff to do its best especially when mixed with some other food.

It would thus seem that the whole egg deserves a front place in our list of body building foods; the white of the egg to repair worn out muscular tissue and the yolk to supply energy, and the little fat that we should have on reserve. By helping the liver to store up extra sugar for any future emergency, egg yolk will now be more generally used in all run down conditions.

Norelius Wright Baby Already Doing Splash

TORONTO, Ont., March 21 (By The Canadian Press) — Diane, daughter of Martha Norelius Wright, long distance swimmer, and Joe Wright, Jr., the oarsman, has been delegated to carry on the swimming traditions of her famous mother. Diane was born in February.

Mrs. Wright will not enter the Wrigley marathon this summer, she announced. "No, I'm a retired athlete," Mrs. Wright said, when asked about rumors that she would be an entry in the annual race this year. "My time will be taken up with my daughter," she said. "No, I'll not be entering any more marathons ever. The next entry from this family will have to be Diane."

Diane has not yet begun training, but that she undoubtedly will be a swimmer, her mother was quite certain. It was learned that the infant already splashes in her bath.

HUMANE SOCIETY HAS FINE RECORD

TAG DAY MAY 2.

The regular executive meeting of the Humane Society was held Thursday evening in the Chamber of Commerce. The president, Thos. E. Sargent, presided. The financial report was read, showing a balance on hand of $42.19. Two donations of $10 were received during the past month and several members renewed their membership. It was suggested that if each member would send in their fee without having to be canvassed it would save a lot of inconvenience and help the society's funds to a great extent.

Several items of importance were discussed. That of a shelter for the mail carriers' horses was given a great deal of thought. These horses that carry the rural mail are at the post office at a stated time and very often have to wait for the mail to be sorted. Regardless of the kind of weather they have to stand, with no shelter provided, before taking their long wearisome trips. It was decided that the secretary write to the manager at headquarters for advice upon the matter. It was also thought advisable to write to Ottawa regarding the class of horses that are called upon to carry the mail.

Another matter, which received a great deal of discussion was that of the condition of the roads, which at the present time are the means of dragging the very life out of many a horse, the poor as well as the good. During the recent heavy snow storm the side roads, where most of our farmers live, were almost blocked with the snow. At the same time the big highway plow worked on the highways so that motor traffic might get through, with the result that in two days after the storm the pavement, as well as the horse road at the side, was almost bare. It was thought that this matter might be taken up with the highway department at the beginning of another season. Farmers taking their loads to the city experienced a great deal of difficulty and at the present time are still having trouble as it is impossible for horses to draw sleigh on the bare city streets and highways and yet the roads are so deep with snow it is impossible to use wheels. A great deal of complaint has been heard regarding this condition and the society feels that it is causing a great deal of unnecessary abuse to horses.

The annual Violet Day will be held this year on Saturday, May 2nd, Mrs G. A. Helson was appointed as convenor with charge of the taggers. Good weather is now being hoped for to make this day a grand success.

Dr. Johnston, inspector, gave his report, which was of the same interest as usual and which reads in part: A great deal of the month's work was devoted to the care of dogs suffering from a strange form of distemper and in most cases had to be destroyed. Several complaints had been received about lame horses travelling the river road, south-west of the city. This was investigated by calling on several in that district who reported as having not seen any lame horse, with the exception of one which was ordered to be exercised. This complaint was without foundation.

In making the usual visits to the tie-up places in the city, found horses standing behind one of the stores with water dripping on them from the eaves and some not properly protected from the cold. Asked the proprietor of one to stop giving permission for these horses to use his yard.

Made a visit to farm at Springville where conditions are not of the best. Found the stock in average condition.

Kept a dog under observation, which bit a girl. Released it.

Made a visit to stable, where a horse was found dead behind the barn. Another was in the stable in a bad condition wtih no bedding or hay. This horse was borrowed from a local horse dealer, who made his living peddling this class of horses about the country. He was ordered to have the horse destroyed.

Inspected stock yards and market several times. Found things O.K.

Examined sick dog belonging to family in poor circumstances and with no work. Gave them medicine for the dog.

Got a call to a dog that was lying in a field and frothing at the mouth and no one brave enough to go to his assistance. He was just suffering from a cold. Took him in and gave him good care.

Received a complaint about rough usage of horses in a lumber camp north of the city. Sent warning.

Investigated complaint regarding chickens in a pen with no food or water for days. Shovelled the door opened and found one dead. The man who owned them was sick but has now recovered and will care for them.

Inspected 26 horses on the streets and found them all in fine condition.

Sent a warning to a farmer in Centre Dummer regarding condition of horses suffering form lice and insufficient food.

Examined 16 teams on the street and found them all well cared for.

Inspected the market and found seven teams with loads of wood. These horses were properly blanketed and taken care of.

Stopped a boy on the street driving a lame horse. Advised about shoeing.

During the month the sum of $7.00 was received for the humane destroying of small animals and the sale of dogs to good homes.

Argentine Beef Now Has Trinidad Market

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, B.W.I., March 21 (By The Canadian Press)—Argentine beef is ousting the Demerara beef in the Island of Trinidad, local housewives now getting a large proportion of their meat supply from the Argentine. One of the leading meat contractors of Trinidad is no longer getting cattle from the neighboring Colony of British Guiana because Demerara beef has given place largely to beef from South America.

Trinidad Government Institutions are also using this foreign meat. "It is far superior to the meat from Demerara and Venezuela," said M. Fernandez, Manager of the Ice House Grocery recently.

"Since the beginning of the year we commenced importing frozen meat from Argentine," he stated. "A shipment is received every fortnight by one of the Prince line steamers under very hygienic conditions. The supply we get is sufficient to last for 15 days. Trinidad Medical and Veterinary authorities, have approved of its quality."

Madoc Wins First Game of District Play-Offs

TRENT VALLEY CHAMPIONS TAKE 7—2 DECISION FROM LAKEFIELD HOCKEY SQUAD

District League Champions Staging Two Game Series for Central Ontario Honors.

RETURN GAME ON MONDAY.

Junkin Has Off Night in Cementville Net—Lakefield Minus Regulars.

MADOC, March 21.—With Winter lingering rather mildly in the lap of Spring, the Madoc hockey team, champions of the Trent Valley League and winners of the Whitty Cup, added another sprig of laurel to its symbolic honors last night by a clean-cut victory over Lakefield, the winners of the Peterborough County League, by the score of 7—2.

Home-and-home games were agreed upon a few days ago, and if Lakefield has ice Monday night Madoc will go up for the return game.

When the East Peterborough League was formed early in the season, representatives of the Trent Valley League gave their assent to inter-league play-offs for the purposes of determining the Central Ontario champions, and the Madoc club and players displayed their sportsmanship by carrying out this gentleman's agreement in spite of the long grind they had come through, the final play-off series of three games with Stirling, and the subsequent Robertson Cup games. Probably they wanted to make sure that there were no claims, however tenuous, to their title, and last night they apparently proved that they haven't much to worry about from their western neighbor if there is ice for a game in Lakefield Monday night.

The score by periods here last night was 4—0, 2—0, and 1—2. Madoc doubtless should be stale and weary, but they didn't show it, and they turned out their regular team, with three capable front line substitues. On the other hand, Lakefield were minus two of their defense men, White and Wood. They used Pat Calladine on the defense, and they also carried Elwood Northey, a junior. This dislocation of the team and its resulting weakness were noticeable, especially with Johnnie Sabatino retiring to the substitute bench for rests, and Junkin, in goal, having an off night. The Lakefield youth in the visitors' net found the vision rather unfamiliar and rather adverse to him. Several shots that counted again him were certainly not the measure of his ability. On their own ice, Lakefield should make a much better showing, especially with the full team that won them the championship of their league. A stouter defense and tighter work in the nets would have materially affected the score last night, and on top of that the visitors flung away scoring chances by shooting that was too often over the net or wide of it.

Soft Ice Hinders Play

Quite a large crowd turned out for the game, and they cheered their team as keenly as if the season were just getting under way. The ice was heavy and soon churned up slush that tended to slow up the game, spoil a lot of the passing, and making it difficult to carry the puck. But, in spite of these handicaps, play was remarkably fast in stretches and frequently exciting. And it couldn't possibly have been cleaner. Ross Burt of Trenton, who handled the bell, turned in a blank penalty sheet. Believe it or not, there wasn't even a trip. Once McGuire, racing along the boards with a Madoc attack, crashed into Pat Calladine and sent him sprawling, but that happened more by accident than by design. It was along in the third period. Shortly afterwards, Calladine glimpsed another raid coming toward him, glanced up among the rafters to pick out the highest one, and then set himself for a bodycheck that failed to contact with full effect. In fact, it was something of a dud as bodychecks go, but the crowd expressed disapproval. There was not even the semblance of an offense to it.

Everybody down in Madoc is happy right now. They have found the silver lining, and they would doubtless extend their warmest benevolence to Stirling and even Tweed. Everybody shares in the prevailing friendliness, and this pleasant atmosphere greeted the Lakefield team and settled about them like a pink mist. The visitors got a big hand on both their goals, but at that stage the fans could afford to be generous with their applause.

Madoc Has Smooth Team

The conditions under which last night's game was played were unsatisfactory for providing a fair comparison of these two championship teams. At that, Madoc showed all the signs of a smart, efficient machine. Hulin, in goal, is credited with being the class of the Trent Valley League, and he looked mighty good last night, refusing to hand the visitors anything that resembled a gift. In front of him, Andrews and McGuire formed a stout defense and both of them are fast on the offensive. Johnston, L'Heureux and Henderson comprise a front line whose passing game was a treat. They broke away from the blue line a dozen times with passes from the defense that caught the Lakefield forwards flat-footed, and they were especially dangerous around the net. They are smooth skaters and stickhandlers, L'Heureux being especially prominent.

Line-ups:—

Lakefield.—Goal, Junkin; defense, J. Sabatino, P. Calladine; centre, L. Sabatino, wings, Blewett, Stabler; subs., Wingett, Wannamaker, Mahood.

Madoc.—Goal, Hulin; defense, McGuire, Andrews; centre, L'Heureux; wings, Henderson, Johnson; subs., Watson, Whytock, Moon.

Referee.—Ross Burt, Trenton.

Summary

First Period

Madoc, L'Heureux 5.00
Madoc, Johnson (L'Heureux).... 2.01
Madoc, Henderson 7.35
Madoc, McGuire 4.00

Second Period

Madoc, Watson (L'Heureux).... 5.30
Madoc, Johnson 15.00

Third Period

Madoc, L'Heureux (Henderson).. 2.00
Lakefield, Wingett (Mahood) ... 6.00
Lakefield, Stabler (L. Sabatino.) 9.16

First Period

Lakefield stepped in fast, opening the fracas with a few test shots on Hulin from a bit far out; that is, to take any effect on that lad. Johnson and Henderson warmed up a bit with L'Heureux, but without working into dangerous territory, until Stabler made "Buck" stretch on a fast one that hit the post and barely cleared. That apparently opened the firework, for with the initial five minutes barely up, L'Heureux picked the rubber away from Calladine as he tore out from the back-net territory, and lifted it past Junkin from about eight feet out. Two minutes later Johnson repeated, taking a pass from L'Heureux as the Black and White front line trio swept in through the Murduffite bulwarks on a pretty passing exhibition.

The Cementville relief greyhounds added new punch and came within an ace of licking in their first marker; Wingett and "Stuffy" Mahood peppering several hot ones at "Buck" that kept him busy for a few minutes. Wannamaker also got in some effective work.

Madoc's third count came as the result of a rush by Andrews, who went through only to have his shot blocked by Junkin. Henderson, following close behind, swooped in for the rebound, and bored it in before the goalie could recover. Moon and Watson both tried hard to get into the limelight, Calladine and Louie Sabatino vieing with them. However, it was McGuire who put his outfit in the safety zone. With four minutes of play remaining, the goal-getting defense man ran the gauntlet from his own blue line, drew out Junkin and slipped in the fourth ringer.

Second and Third Periods

After Stabler had wasted a high shot over the Madoc net, L'Heureux gave a neat pass to Watson, who scored the fifth goal. It was well earned as the result of a fine piece of combination from their own blue line. Pat Calladine breezed through the Madoc centre and went in alone, but his shot was a foot outside the post. Blewett hit the other Madoc post. Johnston and Henderson turned the threat in the other direction, and after Junkin made a splendid stop on Johnson's shot, Henderson tossed the rebound into the net.

Wingett almost scored for Lakefield with the net wide open, but Hulin flung himself along the ice and deflected the puck from the goal.

During the second intermission, Reeve Walter Whytock presented to Rev. Father Meagher, manager of the Madoc team, a club bag which was a gift from Charlie Rose, as an appreciation of Father Meagher's interest in the team and his capable coaching.

Madoc resumed the scoring two minutes in the third period, a clever play close to the Lakefield net, going from Henderson to L'Heureux in front. The Madoc centre appeared to be lightning fast on those shots from the corners and from behind the goal. Stuffy Mahood once more earned one of his specialized goals. He broke through the Madoc line, and although he failed to get a shot, he forced the play around the net, emerged with the puck and passed it out to Wingett, who had the satisfaction of tossing it in behind the capable Hulin. From the face-off Mahood nearly got another, but Hulin beat him to the puck in the goal zone. Junkin blocked two hard shots from L'Heureux and Moon, and Lakefield ended the scoring when Stabler took a pass from Louie Sabatino from behind the goal line and flipped the puck against the twine.

On last night's play Stabler, Wingett and L. Sabatino were conspicuous among the visitors. Pat Calladine tried hard to bolster the defense, but his best performance was in his frequent rushes. The breaks kept him off the score sheet several times. Mahood made at least one pass, and that one immediately blossomed into a goal. Blewett and Wannamaker turned in a good game, and the team as a whole was always in the picture.

Cobourg Rink Captures Main Event at Oshawa Bonspiel —Lindsay in Eaton Final.

SYKES TROPHY SETTLED.

OSHAWA, March 21. — F. R. Michael's rink of Oshawa won the Sykes Trophy in the closing game of the annual bonspiel of the Oshawa Curling Club, yesterday, when he defeated W. A. Coad's rink, also of this city.

For the second year in succession a Cobourg rink has won the McLaughlin Trophy at the bonspiel. Harvey Sproule's rink of Cobourg defeated W. J. Holland, Oshawa, by one shot, for this trophy, the premier event of the bonspiel.

The Eaton Trophy, in the consolation series, was captured by Harry Sander's rink of Stouffville, who took a 13-10 victory from P. H. Skitch of Lindsay.

This was the second time within two years that Harvey Sproule has skipped the rink that annexed the McLaughlin Trophy. In 1929 he was successful in taking the silverware back to the Lakeview Club in Toronto, while this year he took it with him to Cobourg. Last year, H. Lucas's rink of Cobourg won the cup.

This was the second year in succession that two Oshawa rinks have batled it out for the Sykes Trophy. A. Lambert's rink winning it from T. Fishleigh's quartet last year. In 1929 it went to Agincourt, C. Thomson, defeating J. N. Bacon of Peterborough, in the finals.

The result of the consolation games were:

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 21 (C.P.)—Only Berkeley Bell, a mighty tennis atom from Dallas, Tex., whose performances in the National indoor tennis championships have brought reminiscences of "Little Bill" Johnson, stands between the invading French tennis team and a clean sweep of the United States indoor titles.

Bell, who outlasted big Frank Shields of New York yesterday in a furiously fought semi-final match, meets Jean Borotra, the gasoline pump salesman from the Basque country, in the singles final to-day. Borotra, three times winner of the singles crown, already possesses the doubles title with young Christian Boussus as his partner.

Len Harvey Suffers 3rd Straight Defeat

NEW YORK, N.Y. Mar. 21.—(C. P.)—A change in managers has failed to save Len Harvey British middleweight champion from his third successive United States' defeat.

Beaten twice by Vince Dundee in the last couple of months the pale Briton took a solid trouncing from a young New York preliminary fighter Ben Jeby in the twelve round feature doubt in Madison Square Garden last night.

Jimmy Johnston who recently took over Harvey's contract was a somewhat embarrassed spectator in the crowd of 8,000 persons.

Taking a leaf out of Dundee's book of tricks, Jeby fought a rushing, mauling body-punching battle at close range and Harvey solved it only in flashes. The Briton, in fact, spent a large part of the evening trying to dodge Jeby's felling fists or vainly seeking to tie him up at close quarters.

JACKETS TAKE FOURTH PLACE

Pittsburgh to Meet Cleveland Indians in First Game of Title Series.

DOWN BISONS 2-1.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21 (C.P.)—Beating Buffalo for the first time this season, Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets last night clinched fourth place in the International Hockey League as the victory gave them 51 points and the best of the fifth place London Tecumsehs can do is total 50 if they win their remaining two games.

Pittsburgh's margin of victory was 2 to 1. The game was tightly contested throughout. Neither team successfully penetrated the opposing defences in the opening frame, but each side netted in the middle chapter, Gregg notching the Yellow Jackets' first goal in the opening minutes and Carl Voss netting the equalizer with just a minute to go. Tex White scored the proverbial "million-dollar" tally early in the last session.

By downing the league leading Bisons the Pittsburgh squad qualified to meet the third place Cleveland Indians in the first of the play-offs in the Ohio City on Tuesday next.

Windsor Bulldogs won the other scheduled fixture last night, when they easily beat Detroit Olympics, 5 to 1. The highlight of the game was Earl Robinson's brilliant display of point scoring. Windsor's starry forward notched four of his team's markers and assisted in the scoring of the others. He leads the league's marksmen by a substantial margin and is certain to be taken from the King loop next season by a National League club, if Montreal Maroons fail to recall him.

Windsor clashes with Buffalo in the opening play-off fixture at Fort Erie on Tuesday.

Only two games are scheduled at the week-end and neither match has any bearing on the standing. The Bisons meet the Indians in Cleveland to-night, while on Sunday London Tecumsehs engage the Stars at Syracuse.

CAPITAL CITY JUNIOR TEAM WINS EASTERN CANADA TITLE BY WINNING ON ROUND 5 TO 2

Niagara Falls Win Game 2-1 But Lose on Round—Outscored in Third Frame.

ELMWOODS IN WEST.

Winnipeg Youngsters Capture Western Championship From Patricias.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21. (CP) Ottawa Primroses, eastern Canada champions and Elmwood Millionaires of Winnipeg, monarchs of Western Canada, will meet here in the best two out of three series starting Monday for the O.H.A. Memorial Cup, junior hockey's Canadian championship emblem.

The finalists earned this right last night. The Millionaires by overcoming a one goal advantage obtained by Regina Pats in the first game of the western final series to win out on the round, 4 to 2. Last night's game went to the gallant Winnipeg youngsters, 4 to 2, but the equally gallant Pats, winners of the Dominion crown last season, forced them into 20 minutes overtime before admitting defeat.

Only junior hockeyists can provide the thrilling drama provided Winnipeg fans. The Pats, holding a one goal lead held off the sweeping Elmwood drives for nearly 43 minutes. Early in the third period Downie broke through the Winnipeg blockade and put the Pats two up on the round. Less than nine minutes later the home club squared the count on the game when W. Mackenzie scored and in the last minute of play Elmwoods notched the equalizer when Brown rifled a smoking shot past Regina's brilliant goalkeeper, Kenny Campbell.

Tie Again in Overtime

The first overtime session was barely two minutes old when the fighting Patricias again took the lead. Redding scoring a beautiful goal. Once again the newly crowned western champions tied it up in the last minute when Massey scored.

Duncanson proved the hero of the hour for the Elmwood team by notching the winning goal less than four minutes after the start of the second extra frame.

Winnipeg teams have not won the championship since 1921 when the Falcons captured the premier honors.

Ottawa Primroses blossomed forth on the first day of spring as worthy representatives of the east against the western titlists. Last night the youthful Capital city squad fought with grim determination to hold off the furious thrusts of the Niagara Falls Cataracts, Ontario Hockey Association representatives. The latter team won the game, 2 to 1, but as the Primroses won the first game at home, 4 to 0, they took the round by the decisive margin of 5 to 2.

Max Kaminsky, brainy centre player, scored both goals for the Cataracts, one in the first and the other in the second frame. Only the remarkable goalkeeping of young "Rick" Perley however, saved the Primroses from a more decisive defeat, as the O.H.A. champions carried the play to their opponents during the major part of the contest. Perley having to block 70 shots compared with 20 stopped by Dunham in the Niagara cage.

Cowley Boys Star

The house of Cowley, prominent in the Primroses' triumphant conquest of all opposition in the east, put the finishing touches to Niagara hopes of victory late in the third period, when Dan Cowley broke away and passed out to brother Bill for the lone Ottawa goal.

While an Ottawa team has been in the final before it will be the first time in history that the coveted trophy has gone to Ottawa if the Primroses are successful in downing Winnipeg.

NATIONALS BATTLE PATS TO 3-3 DRAW

Oshawa Scores in Second and Third Frames to Knot Count —Ten Minutes Overtime.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 21.—(By the Canadian Press.)—A burst of scoring in the opening period which gave them a 3 to 1 lead stood Stratford Nationals in good stead in their Ontario Hockey League play-off match with Oshawa Pats last night.

The Pats finished stronger than the Nationals and by scoring once in the second and again in the third frame managed to knot the count at 3-all, which 10 minutes' overtime failed to alter.

The Nationals are leading the round robin series but they were perhaps fortunate to gain a point last night over their nearest rivals, Guelph Maple Leafs. The Pats appeared the superior squad during the extra session and only the fine goalkeeping of Burmeister prevented them taking the lead.

In considering whether to ban Sunday dog racing, Bedfordshire, England, learned that an Act of 1625 prohibited the sport and stipulated a fine of 80 cents.

QUALITY PRINTING With Quick Service

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, it looks like the Niagara Falls kids has been wrecked on the Primrose trial—at least the 4 goals lead them Ottawa Primroses set up Wed. nite looks plenty to carry the youngsters from the Capitol into the finals. It will be all over anyway when these rambling lines is before the customers. Somehow I had the notion that Mister Gene Fraser's talent was good enough to cop the O.H.A. honors, but no more, and it wouldn't hurt me none to see the Primroses cop off the Canadian junior title. It's been out West plenty, and it won't do no harm to have the silverware summer down where Dick Bennett and Mack King can keep a eye on the same.

Well, the pros, Mac, is all ready for the great divide, and while six teams playing off looks like a real commercial proposition, the serious oughta provide a lot of sparkling hockey, what I mean. The preliminaries sees the Boston Bruins stacked up against the Canadiens, the Toronto Leaves battling with the Black Hawks from Al Capone's city and the Montreal Maroons tossed in against the N. Y. Rangers. And now somebody dares me to try to pick the winners. Well, they can't do nothing to a guy for trying, and so here goes.

In the 1st tilt, I'm calling the Flying Frenchmen. The Canadiens hasn't had to burn themselves out to grab their section this year and they oughta go into the serious in the best of shape. And when the Frenchmen is right they take a lotta stopping. I ain't overlooking the Bruins, but they don't look quite so formidable as last year, and their best last year wasn't quite good enough for the Canucks. In the Chicago-Toronto serious the law of averages will be working against Mister Smythe's Leaves, for the Hawks ain't win a game from the Toronto lads in a dog's age and maybe due for a brake now. However, the Leaves for me. They feel they got an edge on the gang from Chi, and somehow the game the Hawks play is usually right down the leaves' alley. In the other tilt the Maroons is my pick. Right now the battlers from Montreal is going about as good as any team in the circuit, and even without Mister Hooley Smith, is going to be had news for more than Rangers before the cease-fire is sounded. Old Lionel Conacher seems to have found the hockey fountain of youth, while the rest of the team is hitting on every cylinder.

There you are, all picked for you. The Canadiens, Leaves and Maroons to survive the 1st round, and after—well, we'll see next week.

Locally they ain't much to get excited over. Somebody did have a brilliant thought about playing a game of softball on skates this week, and the old rivals, Harrisous and the Sugar Bowl, was kinda sold on the idea, but a hard-hearted rink management figgered out the wear and tear on the lighting arrangements wouldn't justify the risk, so the softball-on-skates battle was out. At that a lotta people think that playing the game on ice wouldn't be much worse than the usual way.

Well, old-timer, we'll be leaving you.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SQUADS WIN OUT IN LAST NIGHT'S LEAGUE BATTLES

Seniors Blank School Team 12-0—Saints Win From Westclox 9-5.

TO MEET FOR CITY TITLE.

"Y" Elementary Easily Outplays Blue Petes to Take 14-0 Decision.

As a result of last night's fixtures staged in the Ladies' Basketball League, the "Y" Seniors will meet St. Paul's for the city championship next week.

Both these squads were victorious in their starts last night, the Seniors applying the kalsomine brush to the Senior School team, to take the decision 12—0, and St. Paul's handing the Westclox a 9—5 reverse.

In the Junior section, the "Y" Elementary stepped into first place when they outplayed the Blue Petes to take the game by a 14—0 count.

Play Opens Tight

The Senior School and the "Y" Seniors were brought together in the opener and for over half the contest the Seniors were held to 2 points. In the final half, their size and weight began to tell on the smaller team, and Ev. Armstrong and Irene Robinson found enough loop-holes in the opposition defence to score five baskets.

The School team, on the other hand, were working hard all the way but found it impossible to get in scoring positions. Helen Cole, their star performer, was given very close attention by Hazel Jackson on the Senior defence, and not more than once was she able to work free for a shot at the basket.

Jeanne Harvey and Doris Rogers also turned in nice efforts for the losers, but found the going rather hard.

Ruth Sutton, Kay Lang and Olive Elcombe stood up under the Senior attack in fine style, but were unable to stop them for the entire game.

The scoring burden of the Seniors was carried by Irene Robinson and Ev. Armstrong, each accounting for six points which were obtained by nice combination with the other forwards.

Hazel Jackson, on the Senior rearguard, turned in the nicest exhibition of the evening. Time after time the opposition would have the ball at the defence only to be steered cleverly into the corner by the defence.

On the night's play the Seniors certainly deserved their win and will undoubtedly make it interesting for St. Paul's when they meet next week.

The teams:—

"Y" Seniors (12).—S. Sharpe, K. Haggart, E. Armstrong, M. Holmes, forwards; I. Robinson, centre; H. Jackson and G. Hwett, guards.

Senior School (0).—J. Harvey, D. Rogers, D. Allin, G. Burns, forwards; H. Cole, centre; R. Sutton, O. Elcombe and K. Lang, guards.

Hold Record Intact

In the second contest, St. Paul's kept their winning streak intact when they defeated the Westclov girls 9—5 The game produced several flashes of smart basketball, but nothing was at stake and the high-pitched interest of the previous game was lacking.

Westclox played their usual stubborn defensive game, and the Saints found it no little job to work in close for tallies. Mazie Cowan and Clara Patterson were responsible for the entire nine points of the Church team, the former getting five and the latter accounting for four.

Elda Bradley and Belle Thirnbeck did the scoring for the Clockmakers, getting three and two points respectively.

Leona Kingdon also showed nice form, but drew blanks on each of her several chances.

The play opened rather slowly with both teams apparently a bit afraid to take chances.

St. Paul's, however, shook themselves of their fright, and Mazie Cowan tallied twice, once with a nice field goal and a minute later a single on Dot Webb's foul.

Half time found the Saints leading 3—0.

The final frame found the Westclox more willing to mix things and the basketball was much better. Elda Bradley and Belle Thirnbeck scored five markers for the Clockmakers but "Toady" Patterson came back with two nice baskets and Mazie Cowan closed the scoring with a nice shot from the defence to make the score 9—5.

The teams:—

Westclox (5).—L. Kingdon, E. Bradley, B. Thirnbeck, forwards; M. Mortimer, centre; S. Keown, H. Joyes, L. Slaughter, C. Mason, defence.

St. Paul's (9).—M. Cowan, C. Patterson, G. Comstock, forwards; A. Comstock, centre; E. Morrow, J. Allin, S. Jackson, defence.

Referee—Ken Kingston.

Blank Blue Petes 14-0

In the only junior contest of the evening, the "Y" Elementary squad had little difficulty taking the Blue Petes into camp by a 14-0 count.

The Petes, however put up a fine game and their checking was of senior calibre. It was in their basket work that they fell down and numerous fine scoring opportunities were passed up by their inamility to shoot. The Petes boast the youngest team in the league and in another year, they will prove troublesome to any team.

The Elementary outfit found the going hard enough but Sybil Ecobichon slipped through the opposition defense to sink the ball on several easy attempts.

To her goes the credit of the win as the entire 14 points were her contribution to the cause.

The entire team played a hard game and the defence did fine work in stopping any dangerous attack by the Petes.

For the first ten minutes the Petes gave nothing to the opposition and at the half way mark were trailing by only two points. The heavier Elementary team opened up in the final period and gave Sybil Ecobichon an opportunity to go on a scoring bee and net twelve markers to bring the final score to 14-0.

The teams:

"Y" Elementary, 14		Blue Petes, 0
S. Ecobichon	F.	B. Scott
M. Simpson	F.	B. Rogers
E. Lynch	C	P. McClellan
P. Patterson	D.	J. Howson

Cavalry and Machine Gunners meet at the Armouries Tuesday night in a Garrison Softball League fixture Begins at eight o'clock. They're a couple of well-matched outfits, and it should be quite a game.

* * * * * * *

Grove school took their second licking of the year, both by Choates' Juniors, Thursday night in Lakefield. The count was 2-0, so it must have been quite a battle.

* * * * * * *

Not many attended the boxing class at the "Y" Thursday night. Well, there seems to be a bigger tournout at the Armouries on Tuesday and Friday nights.

* * * * * * *

Baseball and boxing came in for considerable discussion at the All Saints' Athletic Club meeting the other night. These boys will be heard from this summer.

* * * * * * *

Yesterdays balmy weather brought the kids out on the diamond at King Edward School grounds. About twenty of them were hard at it all afternoon. A number of passers-by stopped and watched the young baseballers for some time. Half a dozen of last year's Crescents mascots were among the players.

* * * * * * *

And speaking of baseball, there are a bunch of rumors going around Central Hastings that Tweed Madoc, Deloro and Foxboro may be organized into an intermediate league that would function well in the "B" section.

* * * * * * *

This and other rumours will, no doubt, come in for some talk here during the O.B.A.A. meeting.

* * * * * * *

De Laval, winners of the City Basketball League, will play P.C.I. seniors to-night at the "Y" in a mythical city championship game. It ought to be worth seeing.

* * * * * * *

Preceding this, there will be a girls' game, which begins at 7.30. The Westclox girls will meet the Y.W.C.A. Seniors in a sort of curtain-raiser for the big scramble.

Down at the Duffus Bowling Alleys on Thursday night, Jack Playford did some classy bowling. He helped Rangers step out in front in the City Five-Pin League by getting a triple of 909, with a single of 410. It was a tough evening for the pin boys.

* * * * * * *

The handicap system is proving too big an obstacle for the Bowlrites to overcome in the second half of the Ten-Pin League. They went through the first half with only one defeat, but the going is not so good now.

* * * * * * *

Wonder if the baseball moguls who met at Duffus' last year and decided that it was too late then to start a senior team, but promised things would be different this summer, remember what they promised.

TIGERS MEET OTTAWA RIDEAUS IN EAST CANADA SEMI-FINALS

Winners of This Series Will Meet Truro Bearcats—McGill Victors.

WESTERN GAMES TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Ont., March 21 (C.P.)—Our Eastern Canadian teams return to the Allan Cup battlefront to-night. The scenes of action are at widely separated centres. McGill University, Quebec Provincial champions, meet Truro Bearcats, Maritime titlists, at Halifax. At Hamilton, Ottawa Rideaus tackle the Tigers of that city, Ontario Hockey Association representatives and conquerors of Sudbury Wolves, monarchs of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

The McGill team concluded a gruelling four game series on Thursday with St. Francois Xavier, Intermediate champions of Quebec. They will arrive in Halifax at eight o'clock and step out on the ice at 8.30 o'clock to-night.

The Montreal students proved the best squad in the City League of the eastern metropolis and in between fixtures found time to win the Intercollegiate Union title.

Truro Bearcats stamped themselves as one of the best teams in the Maritimes in some years, but a ruling of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association debarred three of their star forwards from Allan Cup competition as they had not abided by the residence rule. However, the Bearcats gave Montreal A.A.A. a tight struggle in the Eastern semi-finals last season without these three players, and as the Montreal team went on to win the Canadian crown it is expected Truro will make an equally good showing against McGill.

Rideaus experienced some difficulty in winning the Ottawa District title when Montcalms fought them to a tie in the first game and only conceded the honors on the round by a one-goal margin. This is the Ottawa team's first tilt with a squad from other than their own district.

Tigers met their hardest opposition in winning the O.H.A. title from Port Colborne, whom they defeated on the round, 4 to 2. Strengthened by the acquisition of two smart forwards, the Hamilton aspirants appear much stronger than last season when they reached the Eastern final, only to be eliminated by Montreal A.A.A.

In Western Canada, North Battleford Intermediates, champions of Saskatchewan, clash with Winnipeg Seniors, champions of Manitoba and conquerors of Port Arthur, last seasons finalists with Montreal. The Intermediate hockeyists startled the hockey world when they ousted Regina Vics from the running to win the Saskatchewan title. To-night they will be meeting a big squad, not particularly speedy, but a band of players who check thoroughly and shoot with precision.

This is the first game of the series, the winner on the round will qualify to meet Edmonton Superiors, holders of the Alberta Provincial title, and conquerors of Trail, British Columbia titlists.

Plan Organization Junior Cricket Team

That fine old English game of cricket seems to be gathering recently a great deal of enthusiastic support in Canada. Especially in Ontario is it enjoying a revival of interest.

An organized effort is underway in Toronto to have cricket taken up by the pupils of schools and colleges. Cricket is said by its enthusiasts to out-rival all other games in the instilling of fair play and manliness into its players.

The Peterborough Cricket Club had a big season last year, there being more games played here than in several seasons past. The club's executive is aiming at increasing the interest in the game this season. Many matches with outstanding teams are being lined up. The club has many fine players on its team, but there is always room for an additional man.

The local club is especially interested in getting the youngsters to take up the game. The juveniles will receive expert coaching and training at the manly sport.

Mythical City Title Play-Offs To-Night

In the first game for the mythical championship of the city, the P.C.I. basketball quintet, champions of the Lakeshore group will meet the De Laval squad, City League winners, at the Y.M.C.A. to-night.

The City League champs have been through a heavy schedule and are easily the smartest team in the league this year. The local Collegiate squad, on the other hand, won their group and went into the C.O.S.S.A. finals before being eliminated and are eager to take on the separator crew in what promises to be a fine battle. Points on the round will count in this series and the return game will be staged at the school next week-end.

As a preliminary to this fray, the Westclox girls will meet St. Paul's in an exhibition contest.

This game will get under way at 7.30 p.m. sharp with the boys' game following immediately after.

Spicy Bits of Baseball Gossip From Majors' Camps.

Hugh Willingham, infielder who said he didn't get much of a chance the last three weeks with the Chicgo White Sox, is likely to get plenty of opportunity at Winter Haven, Fla., with the Phillies. He joined the Shottonmen three days ago, after the Sox decided they had no place for him.

Infielder Lin Stori and outfielder Frank Waddey, the former from Wichita Falls and the latter from Mephis, continue to attract much attention in the St. Louis Browns' training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla. Stori, who is assured at least a utility berth, collected 6 hits out of 7 trips to the plate against Columbus and Buffalo, while Waddey, who is filling in for the injured Fred Schulte in centerfield has been fielding brilliantly and getting more than his share of hits.

Second base is Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's chief worry for his Cleveland Indians now at New Orleans, La. Johnny Hodapp's trick knee will be mended before the season starts, but the prospect that it may slip out of place again is bothersome. In the meantime, Peck has shifted Johnny Burnett, who had the inside track at third over to second to compete with Carl Lind leaving third in custody of George Detore.

Efforts of the Cincinnati Reds management to acquire at least one additional outfielder have become almost frantic. Injuries to Harry Heilmann key man in the outfield, and failure of several rookies to show what was expected of them, has Manager Dan Howley worried. Another effort will be made to-morrow to secure some one from the Cardinals, though the prospects are not bright. The Reds are at Tampa, Fla.

When Babe Ruth hits a home run it is not considered anything remarkable unless he does it in St. Petersburgh, Fla. In seven seasons that the Babe has trained here with the New York Yankees, he has hit only four homers.

'WAY DOWN EAST' NOW IN SOUND

Griffith Feature of Ten Years Ago Appears Again.

A GISH PICTURE

That sturdy landmark of the silent films, D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East," has been endowed with sound effects and synchronized musical accompaniments. Shown for the first time in 1920, this "simple story of plain, everyday people" had a sensational success both in this country and in England, and its cost of $800,000 made it one of the first of the so-called super-productions. Lillian Gish and the great ice jam were the principal attractions ten years ago, but there is an added interest for modern audiences in the persons of two minor actors who have since made their marks in Hollywood—Richard Barthelmess and Lowell

TELEVISION FAR FROM PERFECTION

Scientific Miracle Needed to Make It Practical.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Show business need not be concerned about television for at least another three years. If it comes out in practical fashion then it will be due to some scientific miracle not yet manifesting itself. Five years is the quickest time its materialization normally can be expected.

This comes from Radio officials, who say that were air and wire television transmitted with perfect clarity today it would be impracticable to debut generally one or the other.

That wired television costs 10 times the money and requires as many times the present number of wires, and the broadcasting necessitates 10 times the air wave required to shoot out sound, place television as much in a class for the study of specialists in economics as scientists.

Until television generally can be simplified; until the costs can be reduced and the equipment reduced in bulk there is little chance of air or wire pictures ever reaching the home of the average public institution.

The men high up regard claimants of early television as either unfamiliar with the facts or just enthusiastic.

In making the residuary bequest, which amounts to $172,568, to her son, Mrs. Cohan said in her will: "I desire to state that whatever property my beloved husband and I have died possessed of has come from the unselfish generosity of my beloved son, who has earned and enjoyed our everlasting gratitude and affection."

A grandson, Fred Niblo, Jr., of 175 West 72nd Street, receives a trust fund of $10,000. The largest asset in the estate was securities appraised at $132,353, including Liberty bonds and more than $66,000 in City Corporate stock.

STUDIOS ARE BUSIER

Production Brisker After Long Dullness.

HOLLYWOOD, March 21.—Long period of production dullness, which since last August has promised several times to ease up, only to fool the optimists, is at last coming to an end.

Agents say that within the past two weeks there has been more real business done by the various studios than in six months.

In addition not a single studio is "just going along." This includes Universal, in spite of a production recess of a few weeks, is busy lining up new people, stories, etc., in preparation for the new season's filming.

RKO-Pathe with real resumption of production, and the same for United Artists, plus Caddo's extensive plans, the continued heavy production of Warners-First National and no tendency on the part of others to slow up, are giving the whole film colony plenty of encouragement.

DOWNEY GETS $4,000

Publix has effected an eight-week agreement with Morton Downey as a single turn at $4,000 weekly

Downey returned to the Paramount New Yor, last week, after which he will tour or alternate between the two big Publix metropolitan houses at that circuit's discretion.

Downey just completed two weeks at the New York and Brooklyn Paramounts, heading a special ensemble of CBS radio personalities. The new solo booking means Downey will paly 15 per cent commission to Columbia, the ether chair with which Publix is affiliated, as well as 5 per cent to the William Morris office, his agent.

Some months ago Downey played the New York Palace (RKO) for $1,000, recently returning there with an enlarge act for $1,500. The strength of his quick ether click is manifested in the Publix stipend. Downey has been broadcasting about four months for CBS.

HELEN WILLS WANTS $125,000

Helen Wills values her amateur standing at $125,000 for films. Radio could use her for shorts or a feature, and she may take $100,000.

Entertaining Program By Young Judea Club

A very interesting concert was presented in the Moose Hall under the auspices of the Peterborough Chapter of Hadassah, featured by a play presented by the Young Judea Club, under the direction of Miss Ruth Black. Proceeds were for relief purposes.

Louis Chesler was the chairman and spoke briefly in introduction of the program, which included a recitation by Katie Rogow; Hebrew recitations and translations by little Aaron Black and Ralph Rogow; vocal solos by Miss Katie Cherney, accompanied by Miss Ruth Black; a comic dialogue by Zimel Levine and Louis Chesler; a song by Master Jackie Fine; Hebrew recitations by Master Meyer Atikens; a selection by the Misses A. Rogow, R. Rogow, S. Levine and R. Black; vocal and piano solos by Master Aaron Black; a dialogue by Miss Berenice Fine and Heimie Smith; an address by Earl Florence.

The play, entitled "Bull of Shushan," directed by Miss Black, was in three acts, the cast including the Misses Adeline Rogow, Rose Rogow, Sadie Levine, Beatrice Florence, Katie Cherney, Dorothy Levine, Isadore Black, Meyer Cherney, Sam Abramson and Morris Black.

The entertainment closed with the singing of Hatikvah, the Jewish National Anthem.

Y.W.A. Of W.M.S. Meets In Church

There was a good attendance at the regular March meeting of the Y.W.A. of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church. The president, Miss Stella Bennett, presided, and after the singing of the hymn, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," led in the responsive scripture reading, Mrs. W. Knox led in prayer.

Mrs. J. Kenmure gave a splendid report of the last regular meeting. This was followed by a short business session. Miss Helen Lytle rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss Bryce. Miss Eva Elliott took up the study book, 'Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan."

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 18 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A single tree grew a few feet from the window. Nimbly, the lad sprang for it—clinging catlike for an instant before he jumped quietly to the ground. Close behind him came the great ape. Two hundred yards away a spur of the jungle ran close to the straggling town. Towards this he led the way. None saw them. A moment later the jungle swallowed them and the future Lord Greystoke passed from the eyes and the knowledge of men.

Beneath a palm tree in a little desert oasis, Captain Armand Jacot of the Foreign Legion reclined at his ease, well content with this day's work. Near him his sun-tanned men prepared to eat after a twelve-hour ride. But that trip over the burning sands had not been in vain, for among the soldiers, silent and taciturn, squatted white-robed Arabs, securely bound and under heavy guard. No wonder the broad-shouldered captain felt well satisfied.

For a long hot month, he and his little troop had scoured the desert for this sin-stained band of marauders charged with the thefts of camels, horses and goats, and enough murders to have sent the whole unsavory gang to the guillotine several times over. At last he had come upon them. During a short fight he had lost two of his men and six of the Arabs had perished. But five were his prisoners now and best of all their ringleader, Achmet ben Houdin.

From the prisoners the captain's mind wandered to the little garrison, where, in one more day, he should find awaiting him, with eager welcome, his wife and little daughter. His eyes softened to the memory of them. Even now he could see the beauty of the mother reflected in the childish lines of little Jeanne's face. He fancied already he could feel the soft velvet of her rosy cheek as he held her in a loving embrace—tomorrow!

Interesting Reports Read By Secretary of Twilight Mission Circle.

MEMBER ENROLLED.

The members of the Twilight Mission Circle of Georgs Street United Church met around the supper table for their March meeting. The decorations were carried out in the St. Patrick colors of green and white. After a sumptuous meal, the meeting opened by singing a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison, led by the president, Miss Helen Burns. Following the roll-call by the secretary, Miss Evelyn Miller, one new member was received. A concise report of the last meeting was read and approved. A short business session followed in which members were chosen for the two groups headed by Miss Ethel Mills and Miss Grace Burns, who are collecting coppers bearing the dates 1919 and 1920. The Scripture lesson read by Miss Georgie Hardill was taken from St. Mark's Gospel 16, 1-8. Miss Florence Glenny sang a solo "Trees," accompanied by Miss Burns, and Miss Irene Cox gave a reading entitled "Easter in Ukrania." The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah benediction in unison.

SEVEN SUCCUMB AS HOME BURNS AT HOLDERNESS

Parents and Three Tiny Children Escape Holocaust at Farm House.

THREE BADLY BURNED.

Draft Shoots Through Open Back Door—Flames Trap Family in Living Room.

HOLDERNESS, N.H., March 23 (C.P.). — Seven children of Louis Avery, farmer and odd-jobs man, were burned to death yesterday in a fire that razed their home in less than a quarter of an hour.

The dead:

Sperle 20, George 14, Harry 10, Alfred 7, Milton 5, Daisy 3, and Joseph 5 months.

Three other children were severely burned. They were: John 18, Frank 17, and Thomas 16. They were taken to the Emily Balch Hospital at Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Avery and three other children escaped injury.

Sperle discovered smoke on his return home early yesterday and roused the rest of the family. All except five months old Joseph ran to the living-room. A rear door was inadvertently opened. A draft shot through the house, and the group was enveloped by the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery, two small sons and a daughter Violet, 8, escaped to the road and three of the others were able to fight their way out of the house.

Within a few minutes the upper floor gave way, carrying with it the crib and Baby Joseph. The building was razed a few minutes later, before the single motor truck, Plymouth's only fire equipment, reached the scene.

HILDING JOHNSON DIES IN CHICAGO

Criminal Court Reporter Was One of Most Picturesque Characters of Profession.

ON BEAT TO LAST.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 23 (C.P.).—Hilding Johnson, for 20 years criminal courts reporter for the Herald and Examiner, and the newspapermen whose personality furnished the basis for "The Front Page," died early today.

He had been ill with hemorrhages of the stomach, but refused to leave his "beat." He had promised his physician that he would "drop in at a hospital" to-day. He became critically ill last night, however, and never recovered.

Johnson was 40 years of age, and one of the most picturesque characters of the profession. He was described as "knowing everybody worth knowing" in the political and criminal world of Chicago.

Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, writing "The Front Page," quite frankly used Johnson as their protagonist. And Johnson, himself always referred to it as "that play those guys wrote about me."

He is survived by his widow and a son, Louis Hilding, 8.

Action In Vice Probe Gets Roosevelt Rap

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 23.—(AP) — The Republican National Committee entered the controversy over charges of corruption in New York city affairs to-day with a declaration that Governor Roosevelt has refused to authorize an investigation with sufficient power to clean up a sink of corruption unparalleled even in the days of Tweed and Croker."

The statement was contained in a news review sent by the committee to about 3,000 weekly newspapers.

"The demand for a sweeping inquiry into the city administration under Mayor Walker has attained such strength through the activities of the press and civic leaders in all walks of life" the letter said, "that even Tammany leaders now doubt the possibility of preventing a further inquiry."

LIVES LOST IN FLOOD

LISBON, Portugal, March 23 (A.P.)—The Tagus, out of its banks as a consequence of the recent heavy rains, has claimed a number of lives in villages inland from Lisbon. Sweeping through the street of Ribatejo the torrent carried away two peasant women. A barge belonging to the oceanographic boat, the Alvacora, moored at Belem, capsized and two sailors drowned. A third was rescued.

32,500 Are Killed In 835,000 Crashes Over U. S. in 1930

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 23. (CP). There were more than 835 000 automobile accidents in the United States last year, and they killed 32,500 persons and injured 92,000, the Travelers Insurance Company reported to-day.

Deaths increased 4.5 per cent. over 1929. New York State went contrary to the general tendency, reporting 3,074 fatalities, a decrease of 3.1 per cent.

TRAFFIC IN DOPE GROWS STEADILY

Dr. A. J. Vining Claims Few Realize Hold Habit Has Among Canadians.

CREATES LIVING DEATH.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., March 23.—(C.P.)— The "dope" traffic is on the increase in Canada stated Rev. Dr. A. J. Vining of Toronto, secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada in an address here.

Dr. Vining pointed out that very few people realized the hold the drug habit has taken among the people of this country, and the world in general, and particularly among young people.

"The drug habit has swept the world, and it is creating a living death among thousands of people right here in our own country, said Dr. Vining. 'Doctors of eminence are agreed that once the habit has been fully formed, there is no reclamation for the victim. Hundreds of people are treated in institutions every year, and while they are discharged in the belief that a cure has been effected, they almost invariably return for more treatment.

The speaker told of a recent census of a well-known United States' prison, when it was shown that while 86 bootleggers were imprisoned, there were no fewer than 896 "dope" peddlers within its walls.

He urged a law compelling Judges to give nothing short of life sentence to anyone caught peddling "dope."

Haliburton Post Office Is Destroyed By Fire

(Special to Examiner)

LINDSAY, Ont., Mar. 23 — Malcolm MacDougal, postmaster at Blairhampton, in Haliburton county was burned out of his home Friday night last. Few details to hand, but it is stated that he only escaped with one mail bag, while the contents of the house are a total loss.

MODERN DAIRY TO BE ERECTED IN ASHBURNHAM

Matthews Plans to Build Dairy on the Swanston Property.

80 YEARS IN FAMILY.

Contract Has Been Awarded to T. C. Ephgrave—J. F. Matthews Manager.

With the purchase of the Swanston property at the corner of Hunter Street east and Driscoll Terrace, announcement was made to-day of plans for the erection of a modern two-storey dairy plant of which James H. Matthews, son of T. F. Matthews of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, will be manager.

The building will cost approximately $25,000 and its construction will be begun as soon as the final details of the transfer of the property have been completed. The contract has been let to T. C. Ephgrave.

The property which has been bought from the Swanston estate has a frontage of fifty feet on Hunter Street and extends two hundred feet along Driscoll Terrace. The new dairy plant will be built of brick and will be thoroughly modern. Its output will comprise a complete range of dairy products, including local delivery of milk, and there will also be a department for the handling of eggs.

Mr. J. H. Matthews has had an extensive experience in this business and well equipped for the responsibility of its management. He is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College where he specialized in dairying. For nearly three years he was engaged with a Co-operative Dairy in western Canada, and latterly was in charge of the dairy department of the Canadian Packing Company in Peterborough. His contacts with the producers of milk and cream and eggs in this district should be a valuable asset in addition to his practical experience and wide knowledge of the details of this business.

The preliminary announcement of this new industry indicates that it will be an important acquisition to Peterborough's community across the river, and also to the steadily increasing dairy interests in this city and district.

Eighty Years' Possession

An interesting phase of this real estate transaction is the fact that the Swanston property has remained in the virtual possession of the family continuously for eighty years. Actually it was bought from the Rev. Mark Burnham, seventy years ago, on May 20, 1861, but William Swanston had already been an occupant for about ten years when he receiv-

CRAZED MAN DASHING FROM HOUSE WITH .22 RIFLE FIRES AT AND SLIGHTLY WOUNDS 14 YEAR OLD SON

Police Summoned By C.N.R. Station Agent at Rainy River Arrest Usciski on Charge of Murder — Confession of Crime Made to Crown Attorney.

FORT FRANCES, Ont., March 23 (C.P.). — Enraged by criticism of Communism, of which he was an ardent supporter, Antanzy Usciski stabbed to death his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nick Strayka, 38, her two daughters, Olga 19 and Ellen 8, and wounded her 14-year-old son.

Scene of the slayings was Arbor Village, from where Usciski walked to Pinewood, a distance of 14 miles, and surrendered to the Canadian National Railway station agent, who at once notified Provincial Police at Rainy River, Ont.

Arrested by Constable E. Cole of Rainy River, the man was brought to Fort Frances, and today will be given a preliminary hearing on charges of murder. Police say he confessed, relating the crime to Crown Attorney M. L. Croome.

The woman and her daughters were killed on Sunday morning when they denounced Usciski for his Communist views, and warned him he would get into trouble if he sought to belittle Canadian laws.

During a fierce quarrel, the man seized a large home-made butcher knife, and attacked the woman and her children. He first wounded Mrs. Strayka, then the 19-year-old daughter, and her young sister. The victims of the mad knife-wielder were again attacked, and slashed to death.

Girls Went to Aid Mother

The mothers' body bore three knife wounds, Olga four and the younger child was badly mutilated. Eight-year-old Ellen was found with her arms around her mother's body. Both

NUMEROUS SIGNS.

The Examiner reporters were on the "snoop" to-day. They were ordered out to get details on the progress that gentle Spring was making in her battle with crippled King Winter. Far and wide the reporters ranged in their quest, and these are the messages they relayed to the editorial desk via telephone, bicycle, carrier pigeon and dog team.

Item 1 (received in the office at 8.15 a.m. by the Ed.'s wrist watch).—Two robins yoedelling cheerily in a tree on Dublin street. Both birds were plump with shiny red breasts that testified to a happy winter spent with millionaires along Florida's shore.

Item 2—Alderman Walter Stocker out inspecting the flower beds in Confederation Square.

Item 3—Overcoats which felt thin enough in February's icy blast getting heavier and heavier, and all cleaners in the city reporting that every phone call brought an order for another topcoat to be cleaned and pressed.

Item 4—The executive of the East Peterborough Baseball League met in session at Duffus' Bowling Academy on Saturday evening.

Item 5—Sergeant Art Thomas reports that at his domicile on College street he has tulips an inch and a half high poking up through his flower bed.

Item 6—At least one young man seen gazing speculatively at diamond rings in one of the jeweller's windows.

Item 7—Stores on George street getting painted and decorated and having awnings hung.

Item 8—Several housewives giving verbal notice that housecleaning would begin next week.

Item 9—A group of youths at the lock's dam with fishing poles waiting hopefully for suckers.

Item 10—The bench on the south side of weighing house at the Market Square overcrowded with "grey beards."

Item 11—The "cub" reporter caught writing poetry.

Application of Golden Rules Given as Chief Reason of Marked Success of Company.

ERNIE ROSS WINNER.

Application of the Golden Rule in all its business dealings was given as the chief reason for the marked success of Durant Motors of Canada Ltd., by the president of this important Canadian automobile company, R. D. Kirby. Mr. Kirby, who recently closed an arrangement with the Nash Motor Car Company which, if ratified by the shareholders, will see Nash cars manufactured at the Durant factory at Leaside, was the principal speaker Saturday at a dinner given by the local firm of Durant dealers, Selkirk and Elliott. Mr. Kirby in his address, told of the rapid strides his company had made in the last five years.

Increased Earnings

In 1925 when the present managership had taken control of Durant it was found that there was only $22,000 to the company's credit in the bank, Mr. Kirby stated. However, each year following had seen the company progress and earnings increase and at the close of 1929 the company was in a splendid financial position with more than 2½ millions in cash.

Mr. Kirby declared that much of the success of Durant was due to the fidelity and splendid business ethics of the compny's dealers. He stated that Charles Elliott and Jack Selkirk were splendid examples of the fine type of men who were retailing Durant cars.

Not only Mr. Kirby but every speaker during the evening expressthe hope that Charles Elliott, who has been ill for some time, will soon be able to return to his business and friends.

Mayor Denne, on behalf of the city welcomed the Durant officials to the city. Owner of a Durant car for many years, Dr. Donald Munro, of Warsaw, expressed his complete satisfaction with his car and his confidence in the firm of Selkirk and Elliott. Other speakers were: P. J. Duggan, general sales manager of Durant; Alex Elliott, John R. Marshall, president-elect of the Chamber of Commerce, Jack McCutcheon, Durant official, E. S. Martin, man-

APARTMENT FIRE IS FATAL TO GIRL

Four Injured and Fifty Forced to Flee Into Detroit Streets.

MANY DROP OUT WINDOWS.

DETROIT, Mich., March 23 (C.P.). — A ten-year-old girl was burned to death and four persons were injured in a fire which swept a six-family flat here at 4 a.m. today. More than 50 persons were forced out of the building, some fleeing down a rear stairway and others dropping from windows.

The girl killed was Harriet Malach, daughter of Isaac Malach, tenant on the third floor. Malach and h' wife picked up three younger children and made their way down the rear stairs, shouting to Harriet to follow. Firemen later found her body in the hall outside the door of the Malach apartment.

Those injured were Charles Michael, Abe, and Nellie Snider, grown sons and daughters of Nathan Snider, living on the second floor. Finding their escape cut off they hung from windows for a time and then dropped.

CAREW STABLES BURNED, HORSES ARE ALL SAVED

Lindsay Firemen Called to Fight Two Bad Fires Over Week-end.

HORSES STAMPEDE.

James Brady Has Narrow Escape When Home Destroyed By Fire.

LINDSAY, Ont., Mar. 23.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—A serious fire occurred Saturday night about nine o'clock when the stables of the Carew Lumber Co., situated on William street north, were totally destroyed, together with twenty tons of hay, hundreds of bushels of oats, large stock of harness and other equipment. The loss is estimated at $6,000. The fire started in the loft from some unknown cause and when discovered had gained considerable headway. There were twenty-seven horses in the stables at the time, but fortunately they were rescued before the flames had fully enveloped the stable proper. The horses stampeded after their release and dashed in all directions.

The fire was a spectacular one, and could be seen for many miles. Had there been a stiff wind blowing, the firemen would have had a difficult time in preventing the flames from spreading to the nearby residences, as well as the mill property. The firm carried insurance on their stables, which were large, modern ones, but it will not cover the loss.

Home Is Destroyed.

At three o'clock Sunday morning fire completely destroyed the residence occupied by James Brady, and owned by Felix Gassien, on Kent street west. The fire started from the stove pipes, and Mr. Brady had a narrow escape from being burned to death, as burning embers falling on his bed roused him from his slumbers. The firemen were obliged to string twelve hundred feet of hose to the house and fought the fire for three hours. There was no insurance on the contents, all of which were destroyed. It is believed there was a small amount of insurance on the house.

Mr. Brady was alone in the house at the time, his wife being away on a visit to a relative.

SHIPS WITH VIKING SURVIVORS HEAD FOR PORT AS ICE JAM SHIFTS

Remainder of Fleet Continues Interrupted Hunt For Seals Among Floes.

PROBE TO BE STARTED.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, March 23 (C.P.)—The curtain was rung up on the final act of the Viking drama this morning when the wind off Horse Island veered to the westward, breaking the grip of the rafted ice and freeing the ships that had raced to the rescue when the fifty-year-old sealer with a motion picture party aboard, headed by Varick Frissell, blew up a week ago last night.

At daybreak all but the seriously sick and injured of the Viking survivors were transferred to the steamer Prospero from the improvised hospital ship Sagona and together the two vessels headed south on their 300-mile voyage to this port. They should dock here some time tomorrow, when an official inquiry into the cause of the disaster will open under the chairmanship of Sir William Horwood, Chief Justice of Newfoundland.

Following the departure of the rescue ships for St. John's, the sealing steamers which had become jammed in the ice as a result of their efforts to clear a path to Horse Island sailed to resume their interrupted hunt for seals.

Lost Calgary Lad Sought by Planes

CALGARY, Alta., March 23.—(C.P.)—Torn between two stories—drowning and exhaustion—hundreds of searchers over the week-end combed the rough country along the south-west bank of the Bow River at the outskirts of the city in a determined effort to find Donald Parslow, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Parslow, 1410 Scotland street, who disappeared while on a hike yesterday afternoon.

Bloodhouns and planes were used in the search, and late Sunday night police and volunteers were still combing the gullys and pathways in the hope of finding

CANNOT BE REPAIRED.

ST. JOHNS, N.F., March 23 (C.P.).—An airplane piloted by Robert S. Fogg of Concord, N.H., and carrying a news reel cameraman, was disabled to-day when attempting to land near the scene of the sealer Viking disaster. The skis on which the plane was mounted broke when they came into contact with the ice floes.

Fogg and his companion, Cameraman Wright, arrived over Horse Island this morning—the first news photographers to reach the place where the Viking was destroyed oy an explosion a week ago. They made pictures of ships that rescued more than a hundred survivors and pictures of the islands.

Their trouble developed when, in attempting to land on the ice floes, their skis broke in contact with a "pressure ridge" in the ice. They said they were unable to make repairs.

PSYCHOLOGY IS FIELD FOR ALL KIND OF QUACKS

Existence is Threatened By Hocus Pocus Adrian Macdonald Declares.

SPEAKS TO ROTARY.

Turns Spotlight on the Subconscious Mind and Psycho Analysis.

"Psychology is the stamping ground for all kinds of quacks," declared Adrian Macdonald of the Normal School staff, in the course of a most entertaining address at the weekly luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day on the subject "Psychology and Hocus-Pocus." Pointing out that psychology was beginning to occupy a still humble but increasingly important place in many fields, Mr. Macdonald stressed the danger that existed of its usefulness being destroyed by the quackery that was prevalent.

Introduced by Rotarian G. A. Gillespie, the speaker laid the foundation for his remarks on psychology by propounding two ideas for the benefit of his hearers, the first that evolutionary emotional survivals, such as fear, played a prominent part in our lives in spite of the fact that such emotions were more appropriate to bygone days than to the present, and the second that although people to-day regarded themselves as having attained the scientific viewpoint, there was still an undue current of superstition that left them open to being gulled by charlatans and pseudo-psychologists.

The science of psychology, Mr. Macdonald stated, was being usefully employed in a number of professions. It was playing an important part in medicine, and some decidedly worth while results were being secured in the field of psychiatry. Similarly, psychology was being successfully used in the educational world, and it was a factor in advertising.

The trouble was that this new science had become the stamping ground for all kinds of quacks. In this connection he instanced the over-emphasis that had been placed on the importance of psycho-analysis. "At one time," remarked the speaker, "there were about as many psycho-analysts in New York as there were people to be psycho-analyzed."

Mr. Macdonald described as some of the hocus-pocus associated with psychology such things as phrenology, recalling the once-popular practice of "reading heads" to arrive at a conclusion as to a person's characteristics, and the trickery often connected with hypnotism. In the old-time shows now nearly extinct. Nowadays the speaker remarked, the subconscious mind was the whole thing, and some of the theories advanced in connection with this were exploded in most interesting fashion by Mr. Macdonald. Incidentally he described Andy of Amos 'n' Andy fame as one of the finest available studies in psychology—a statement that will probably be accepted by Rotarians as furnishing a scientific excuse for listening to the nightly broadcasts.

Rotarian Alexander Mowat voiced the thanks of the Rotary Club to the speaker.

Rotarian R. J. Kidd had as his guests to-day many of the store staffs of the Neill Company from the various branches throughout Ontario, and one of the visitors led with splendid effect in the community singing of "Alouette."

Strikers Arrested For Demonstration

TORONTO, Ont., March 23 (C.P.) —Shortly after eight o'clock this morning about 400 striking dress makers staged a demonstration in front of factories whose owners so far have made no attempt to hold conferences with union officials with a view to meeting workers' demands.

Two pickets, a man and a woman, were arrested by the police on a charge of vagrancy.

The strikers who have been on strike for several weeks, demand better working conditions, a 44-hour week and an increase in salary. Although a number of dressmaking firms have come to terms with officials of the Dressmakers' Union, there are still several large companies who have not agreed to the terms set by union officials.

NURSE MAID WHO TURNED BANDIT IS TRAPPED AFTER THIRD HOLD-UP

Apologizes For Getting Caught —Bemoans Fact She Lacked Experience.

WIELDED GUN HANDILY.

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—Sally Scoti, who is 18 years old and has a demure manner, to-day calmly—almost nonchalantly—told police about how she gave up being a nursemaid last Friday to adopt banditry as a profession.

She related her three holdups, in one of which she did some shooting and apologized for getting caught after the last one. "I never would have been caught if I had had a little experience," she said. "I didn't know police headquarters was so near and I didn't realize the police could get over where I was so quickly."

Wanted More Money

The girl said she wanted more money than she earned as nursemaid and had not the education to be a "stenographer or book-keeper." So she borrowed a pistol, and on Friday night held up a drug store, getting $25.

Early Sunday morning, she said, she walked along Woodward Avenue, "until a man offered me a ride. He took me to Jefferson Avenue, and I walked into a drug store. I said, 'Put up your hands,' but the two men dropped behind counters. I shot at them. I was so angry, and if they hadn't been out of the way I would have hit them. Then I ran out.

"The man was still waiting, but he was scared and wouldn't drive me away. I gave him a push and walked down the street. I saw a restaurant and there weren't any people in it. Only a couple of waiters. I walked in and robbed them of the money in the cash register.

Picked Up by Detective.

A few minutes after this robbery, Detective John Lawrence, in a radio cruiser car, recognized the girl from

PIONEER COUPLE OF ALNWICK WED SIXTY-ONE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson Are To-day Celebrating Wedding Anniversary.

MARRIED IN WARKWORTH.

Both Recall Many of the Hardships Suffered During Pioneer Days.

ROSENEATH, March 23 (Examiner Correspondence) — The old adage, "Early to bed and early to rise" was never followed more closely than it has been by Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson of Roseneath and the oldest couple in the township of Alnwick, who to-day are celebrating their 61st anniversary of their wedding day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were married at Warkworth, by the Rev. Mr. Alexander, Presbyterian minister, on March 23rd, 1870. At that time automobiles, radios, aeroplanes were unknown, but nevertheless they enjoyed their honeymoon across country with a team of horses hitched to a two-seated sleigh which was a luxury in those days, encountering numerous snowbanks on this important event.

Mr. Jackson whose birthday comes on May 26th, 1931, will be 88 years old, and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson of Baltimore, Hamilton township. In politics he has always been and still is an arden Liberal and has seldom missed an opportunity of casting a vote.

Having worked a farm in the early days, Mr. Jackson knows what is is to spend harvest days operating the old grain cradle or mowing by hand. He says, "If I only had my old time physical strength I could do many a day's work yet," and he also thinks that the automombile has caused a lot of joy and a lot of laziness as well. Except for his failing eyesight he is enjoying fairly good health and goes out for his constitutional walk every day.

Mrs. Jackson, whose maiden name was Catherine King, was born in Prince Edward County on September 19th, 1847. Her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King, came from the county of Cork, Ireland and were among the first hardy settlers of that part of the province, therefore it is well known why Mrs. Jackson has ever ready a witty answer, a bit of humor and never needs ponder for words to reply to any joke. She was brought up in the atmosphere of romance and hard work that was the primary association of those days. She wove carpets, blankets and mats for many years along with her other duties and knitting socks seemed to be her hobby until the last couple of months she says, she is letting the needles have a rest. Expressing her disapproval of the clothes and general bearing of the young girls of today as quite shocking as compared to the more sober habits and sincere pursuits of the young ladies of her day.

The life of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson has been that of pioneers. After their marriage they had to work hard but overcame all difficulties and obstacles and are now spending their declining years in peace and comfort.

One remarkable blessing they have been given is the honor of having a family circle unbroken which very few can enjoy. Four daughters, namely, Mrs. John Tilley, Mrs. Gordon Black, Mrs. John Steele and Miss Jemima Jackson and two grandchildren, Leslie Steele and Marguerite Tilley, all of the city of Toronto.

RECALL IGNORED BY MISS TOLSTOY

Russian Novelist's Daughter Would Live With Doukhobors In Canada.

PERMISSION NOT GRANTED.

(By Percy Whiteing, C. P. Staff Writer).

TOKYO Japan, Mar. 23 (By Mail). As a sequence to the recent report that Miss Tolstoy, daughter of the Russian novelist Count Leo Tolstoy, has been making repeated endeavors to obtain permission from the Canadian Government to enter the Dominion, she now has stated that she has been ordered by the soviet Government to return to Russia.

Miss Tolstoy added: "Though I have a peremptory order from the Soviet Government to go back to Russia I have no intention of doing so. This is because the Soviet Government is oppressing primary school education on the Yasyana Plyana system so cherished by my father. Furthermore, the Soviets are permitting terrorism against religion, dear to my father and myself. I have accepted an invitation from the Doukhobors in Canada to go there and edit their newspapers and I hope to spend the rest of my life in Canada."

So far, however, Miss Tolstoy has not yet received from the Canadian Government the permit to enter the Dominion, for which she has applied, the obstacle to which is her inability to produce a passport from Russia, or to proceed direct from that country to Canada, as the Dominion laws require.

The Canadian Doukhobors, of Russian ancestry, who want the great Count's daughter in their midst, emigrated to Canada under his benediction and were materially helped by money he received from the sale of his work "Resurrection."

Miss Tolstoy also has started negotiations with the Metropolitan Police of Tokyo to aid her, with a certificate of good conduct, in obtaining permission to enter Canada.

Trappers Preparing For Season's Catch

LINDSAY, March 23 (Special to The Examiner).—With the opening of the muskrat season a few days ago and the breaking up of the ice on the Scugog stretches, local trappers are losing no time in making preparation for the season's trap. The waters will have to reach a certain temperature, however, before the rats make their appearance.

In the opinion of a well-known local trapper, the season promises to be a poor one, due, he declares, to the low water in the river and lakes. Never in the history of the oldest hunter was the water at such a low ebb. In Gull Lake, near Coboconk for instance, the water is eight feet below normal.

The trappers expect to get about 85 cents a skin as again $1.55, the price which prevailed last year.

BELMONT FINAL ELECTION RETURNS GIVE BRECKENRIDGE 121 VOTE LEAD

Bad Raods Hold Up Results From Lasswade Until Saturday Night.

RUMORS STILL RIFE.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, March 23.—The last snow storm held up the final election results in Belmont until Saturday night, when deputy returning officer Dulmidge made his way out from Lasswade, the only poll not heard from on Thursday night. Had the election been as close as the last few have been there would have been a great deal of excitement over the silent poll.

Although the personnel of the council could could not have been changed, the contest in the council left room for the standing to change. Something unusual, in the form of a tie or a very small majority would not be lacking in a genuine Belmont election, therefore, since the reeves did the break away it was the duty of the council to carry on the good work and it looks as though they did their duty in this respect.

(The following is the final result as given out by clerk Grant H. Dafoe, who is now relieved of his duties as virtual head over all municipal affairs.

U.S. MUST REDUCE WHEAT ACREAGE

Only Other Alternative For Farmer is to Accept World Prices.

BOARD NEARS LIMIT.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 23 (A.P.)—Learning that he cannot expect the Government to attempt stabilization of the 1931 wheat crop, the farmer to-day had two alternatives —to limit production to domestic demand or accept world prices.

The Farm Board made it clear yesterday that its Grain Stabilization Corporation will not try artificial price maintenance indefinitely, since the work is of an emergency nature and expensive.

The Board reiterated in a statement, however, it planned no change in policy in respect to 1930 wheat, now being stabilized through purchases of surplus stocks.

About 200,000,000 bushels of wheat have been bought by the Stabilization Corporation out of a $500,000,000 revolving fund authorized by Congress.

Claiming these purchases in 1929 and 1930 saved wheat farmers "many millions of dollars," the Board said it could not indefinitely go on buying and holding these stocks.

Permanent relief lies in acreage reduction and efficient production methods, it said, renewing its plea for drastic curtailment.

The Board said nothing about cotton, of which it now holds 1,300,000 bales.

TRADE PROSPECT BEING BOOSTED

Buenos Aires Press Comments Favourably on Visit of of Canadians.

BUENOS AIRES, March 23 (By Claude Melancon, C.P. Correspondent).—The visit of the Canadian trade delegation has aroused the local press to comment very favorably on the prospects of closer trade relations between the two countries.

It has been suggested that negotiations be initiated for a mutual understanding between Argentine and Canada on the all-important question of marketing wheat. Both countries, it is pointed out, would greatly benefit by such a move, although a basis of any such agreement has not yet been suggested. There is also a movement on foot here favoring the organization of co-operative marketing of wheat, fashioned along the lines of the Western Canada Wheat Pool.

Cordial discussions took place over the week-end between members of the Canadian delegation and representatives of the Argentine Government. Arising out of these discussions, it is confidently anticipated more profitable future business will result for both countries.

9 PASSENGERS ARE BADLY HURT; TRAFFIC TIED UP

Sir George Saltmarsh, Noted Grain Expert, Among Victims.

CAUSE PUZZLES OFFICIALS.

Flyer One of Fastest in World, Has Made 90 Miles an Hour on Glasgow Run.

LEIGHTON - BUZZARD, Bedfordshire, England, March 23. — Six persons were killed and nine injured when the Royal Scot, famous express train of the London, Midland and Scttish line, was wrecked here yesterday.

Sir George Saltmarsh, grain expert, who served as vice-chairman of the Allied Wheat Purchasing Commission in 1915-1916, was among those killed.

The train, which was going from London to Glasgow, was fully loaded with passengers.

Several hospital trains, with doctors and nurses, were rushed here as rescuers worked frantically to remove the dead and injured from the debris. Moans and shrieks of pain came from the wreckage, where many were still trapped.

Engine Turns Over.

The engine, after leaving the rails, turned over on its side. The first two coaches were telescoped into the third and fourth, and, after swinging around, crashed into another coach before all of them turned over

The railway company announced that it would be many hours before the tracks could be opened up.

Railwaymen, firemen and others tore into the wreckage with hatchets axes and crowbars in an effort to release those imprisoned. There was no great panic, and, fortunately, there was no fire.

Passengers who were unhurt joined in the relief work. Among the bodies recovered were those of the engineer and fireman, the dining car cook, and three passengers, two of whom were unidentified. Railway officials placed the number of seriously injured at nine.

Mourns Umbrella's Loss

One elderly woman walked up and down the tracks lamenting the fact that she had lost her umbrella. Desperate efforts were made to save the engineer, who was lying in his cabin with escaping steam swirling around him. He was scalded to death before his body was removed.

Passengers told of extraordinary escapes. Some said that after the crash they found themselves sitting on the permanent way, quite unscathed and with only the vaguest idea of how they got there.

Among those imprisoned were a Scottish woman, Mrs. Margaret Lang and her 18-year-old daughter, Dorothy, who were buried beneath the debris three hours.

When finally extricated the mother was found not seriously hurt, but Miss Lang suffered injuries which may necessitate the amputation of a leg.

Cause Is Unknown

The cause of the accident had not been determined last night, but there was much speculation on how the train came to leave the rails on what was considered a particularly fine section of the line. The scene of the accident is 38 miles from London.

The Royal Scot is one of the fastest trains in the world, and about a month ago averaged 90 miles per hour for a 299-mile run, from London to Carlisle, including time for slowing down and stopping at Carlisle. In 1928 it ran regularly 400 miles from London to Glasgow, without stopping.

British railways have long prided themselves on their few serious accidents. The greatest disaster occurred in 1915, when a train at Gretna, with a stationary train at Gretna, with the loss of 224 lives and 246 injured Twenty-five persons were killed and 50 injured in another wreck in 1928.

The last big smash occurred Jan. 4 this year, at Carlisle, when an express train from Edinburgh was derailed, killing three persons and injuring more than thirty.

Mr. Justice Rose Gives Decision in Nelson Clarke Case.

IN COBOURG COURT.

COBOURG, Mar. 23.—Judgment for the full amount of the claim was handed down by Mr. Justice Rose at Cobourg in the action of the local branch of the Royal Bank of Canada against Nelson Clarke, lufberman, of Weston. The plaintiffs were represented by D. H. Chisolm, K.C., Port Hope and Mr. Sankey, of the firm of Fraser and Beatty, acted for the defense.

The action in the neighborhood of $5,000 was instituted regarding a guarantee signed by the defendant Clarke, Malcolm Stobie, Toronto broker, T. B. Chalk and C. B. Janes guaranteeing an account with C. B. Janes and Co. Ltd., of Port Hope, to the extent of $12,000. The latter company formerly operated a veneer factory on the Barrett's Mill site on Barrett Street. The plant was subsequently moved to Massey, Ontario.

Plane Forced Down On Mercy Errand

MELBOURNE, Australia, Mar. 23. —(AP)— Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith, flying the aeroplane Southern Sun on a rescue errand, today made a forced landing in swampy ground near Holbrook and badly damaged the plane.

He was en route to join twelve other planes which are searching for a missing National Airways liner which disappeared Saturday between Melbourne and Sydney with six passengers and a pilot aboard.

In addition to the twelve planes many ground parties are searching for the missing ship, which was last seen at Wagaratta, 145 miles north of here, at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Montclare Is Able To Complete Voyage

MONTREAL, March 23.—That little damage was caused by the mishap to the steamer Montclare on Saturday was evidenced by a statement issued to the Canadian Press to-day by Canadian Pacific headquarters in Montreal. The statement reads: "The Montclare was refloated with the aid of tugs at 12.20 p.m. Sunday and proceeded to Liverpool, under her own power."

Saturday's despatches contained the announcement that the liner Montclare, en route to Glasgow and Liverpool from St. John, N.B., had grounded at Little Cumbrea Island in the Firth of Clyde in a dense fog. The cable stated that passengers, mails and baggage had been landed at Largs and forwarded to Glasgow.

As far as Liverpool passengers were concerned, the incident merely had the result of getting them to their destinations earlier than if they had continued by water in the usual way.

GANDHI WOULD END ALL WORRYING BY ADOPTING BROTHERHOOD SPIRIT

Need is for International Mind Embracing Welfare and Spiritual Advancement of All Mankind.

NO IDEAL GOV'TS.

(By James A. Mills) ... ...

NEW DELHI, March 23. (AP)— "Come walk with me at four o'clock in the morning and I will answer all your questions" Mahatma Gandhi said, when asked for an interview.

And so, with several hundred admirers trotting behind the Nationalist leader, setting a rapid pace despite his frail physique and more than 60 years, discussed the affairs of his country as he walked for five miles among the crumbling monuments and scarred forts of New Delhi's forgotten empires.

"War will never be exterminated by any agency until men and nations become more spiritual and adopt the principle of brotherhood and concord rather than antagonism, competition and superiority of brute force" Gandhi declared.

West Too Materialistic

"You in the west do not recognize the power of spiritual things, but some day you will and then you will be free from war, crimes of violence and things that go with these evils. The west is too materialistic, selfish and narrowly nationalistic. What we want is an international mind embracing the welfare and spiritual advancement of all mankind."

"How would you cure the evils of war and armaments?" he was asked.

"By non-violence, which will eventually 'weapon' all nations. I say eventually deliberately because we shall have wars and armaments for a very long time. It has been 2,000 years since Christ delivered the Sermon on the Mount and the world has adopted only a fragment of the imperishable and lofty precepts therein inunciated for the conduct of man toward man."

Asked to describe a remedy for crimes of violence, divorce and liquor, the Mahatma replied:

"I could cure them all by self-purification, non-violence and love."

"How long do you expect to live?" he was asked.

"Until eternity," Gandhi laughed.

"Do you believe in immortality?"

"Yes, reincarnation and transmi-

Sportsmen to Discuss Lindsay Rink Project

LINDSAY, March 23 (Special to The Examiner).—The proposal to erect a new skating and hockey rink in Lindsay during the present year is beginning to take definite shape. A committee of citizens will meet Monday evening to consider plans for the erection of a $25,000 structure, and will later call a public meeting of the citizens for the purpose of launching the project.

The present skating rink, which has been standing for a great many years, has now reached a condition when it can no longer be used for hockey. In fact, the O.H.A. has only tolerated its use because of the assurances given that a new structure would be erected as soon as possible.

DELICIOUS PEACH PUDDING.

(Contributed by Beatrice.)

Bake a spong cak in a round pan, with a hole in the centre, using only the yokes of the eggs for the cake. When baked, invert on a plate, fill the centre with slices peaches, or any fruit you may prefer, top with the well-beaten whites of eggs, brown slightly in the oven, and serve either hot or cold. Whipped cream for the top is even better than the egg whites.

FASHION SERVICE

A circular flounce lengthens this simple one-piece dress of smart sophistication.

It's a plaided rayon crepe in delightful rather vivid blue tones. The cutest idea about it is the subtle indication of the normal waistline, achieved through shirring at each side seam.

The deep scalloped collar in plain crepe in the highest tone of the print, is accented by bows of the deepest tone.

It's a favorite in Paris with the growing girl of 8, 10, 12 and 14 years whose clothes resemble the elder mode both in line and in fabric.

Style No. 3020 takes but 2 1-8 yards of 35-inch material with 3-8 yard of 35-inch contrasting, for the miss of 8 years.

Other lovely ideas for this practical model are linens, printed and plain tub silks pique, ginghams, shantung and novelty cottons.

Our large Fashion Book shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

COULD YOU AT 30 RUN AS FAST AND AS FAR?

Not many men at 30 to-day, especially city men, can run five miles straight away, in any time. Yet, on January 28th, 1930, Dr. Robt. G. Jackson, at 72, did this in forty-seven minutes, before 6 a.m. It's only a matter of keeping the blood normally alkaline, or non-acid, which he does by eating alkaline Roman Meal, the only alkaline-forming grain food, because the only food containing flax-o-lin. Because of a diseased heart twenty-two years ago, Dr. Jackson was given only four months to live. Now he can suspend his body between two chairs, resting on heels and head, with 180 pounds on his abdomen—a great feat at any age, but at 72, marvellous! Write for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and other literature, also sample of Roman Meal and Kofy-sub, the new alkaline beverage, to ROBT. G. JACKSON, M.D., 02 Vine Avenue, Toronto 9, Ont.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Have you noticed that smocking is used a great deal at present, adding a smart note to decoration, being used, in many cases, instead of gathers.

• • • • • • •

It may be in the same tone as the material on which the embroidery is done, or it may be in some contrasting hue to accent a secondary color in a scheme of decoration.

• • • • • • •

Smocking is used to advantage in a chamber having a flounced bedspread, dresser cover and curtains of a soft-finish textile.

• • • • • • •

Such a bedroom can be exquisite when done in taffeta, without the filling that makes it stiff. The one drawback for the average purse perhaps is the cost of such decoration.

• • • • • • •

However, the same treatment can be charming when carried out in a textile as inexpensive as scrim of a good quality. It is a mistake to use flimsy fabric for the smocking is worthy of good material.

• • • • • • •

Both the textile and embroidery should be fast colors if they are to be laundered. Tafetta, or any textile in which there is danger of colors running, should be dry cleaned.

• • • • • • •

Wash silk can be used and the articles made from it can be home laundered. An entire set of these soft-finish and light-weight articles can be laundered with less work and fatigue than just one heavy bedspread.

• • • • • • •

Smocking is appropriate in quaint old-fashioned chambers with antique furniture, and it is also well-adapted to present day decorative treatments.

• • • • • • •

When smocking is used in modernistic rooms it should be bold and striking, being worked in some coarse medium. The color should be pronounced also.

• • • • • • •

Black is effective or any one of the loud colors that are indicative of modernistic decoration.

• • • • • • •

Curtains may have the gathers set with smocking, or tie-backs only, have the work on them. Cut the tie-backs wide enough for a frill to fall below the stitchery.

CORRECTING DEFORMITIES FOLLOWING INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The epidemic of infantile paralysis that swept over the country a few months ago naturally had parents very much worried. It is a distressing ailment because there are not only many deaths, but the deformities that follow leave many children very badly crippled.

Fortunately the use of serum in the early stages prevents serious illness and deformities, and it is gratifying to see that Dr. Karl Landsteiner, who did some of the first work in finding out the cause of this ailment, received the Nobel Prize in medicine for 1930.

And now something is being done about the deformities that so often follow the ailment after the acute illness has passed. Throughout the country orthopedic surgeons are helping to correct these deformities not only in the cities, but in clinics in country districts. Where the parents are unable to pay for the service it is being done free of charge. Children that have been using crutches and wheel chairs are being so helped that they can get along without these aids.

One of the deformities has been a shortening of the affected leg; it has not grown in the same proportion as the sound leg. Dr. R. J. Harris, Toronto, has been able to show that a cutting of a portion of the nerve supplying the affected leg has allowed the blood vessels to remain more widely open—dilated—and has thus increased the amount of blood to the part. By this increased blood supply the leg and foot become warm and more natural looking, thus "transforming the cold, blue, damp foot resulting from infantile paralysis to one that is warm and dry."

This increased blood supply due to this operation, hastens the rate of growth on the child's leg. These changes last for a long time, and are likely to be permanent.

It almost gives one a thrill to think of all that is now being done in this deadly ailment. First, the serum to prevent it, then orthopedic surgery to correct deformities, and now the cutting of the nerve whereby the blood vessles are able to carry an increased blood supply to the part, and enable it to grow larger and look and feel more like the normal leg.

MISS LOUISA CLARK WINS LUCKY TICKET

Interesting Program Provided at Meeting of Fenella Women's Institute.

FENELLA, March 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. John Herrington was hostess to the members of the Fenella Women's Institute on Wednesday afternoon, when there were twenty-five in attendance; the president, Mrs. Harrison George, presiding.

On motion, Mrs. S. Adams, Mrs. James Waldie and Miss Teressa Brenton were appointed a committee to put autograph quilt together. Correspondence was read and laid on the table. During the program period an apron contest was held, many attractive aprons were on view, each member after examining the aprons, placed a ballot in the pocket of the apron she considered worthy of the prize; the pocket containing the greatest number of ballots winning the prize. Miss Teressa Brenton's apron won the prize. Mrs. W. Rogers gave an interesting reading, "Little Things," which contained many helpful thoughts on the value of "little things," illustrating that, as they make up the "big things," as they make up the "bige things," everything, that in life is worth while.

Another interesting feature was a "first photo" contest, the photos were numbered and passed among the members, they hazarding a guess as to the identity of the picture. The photos of course were of the members taken during the "when I was very young" period. Those guessing all correctly were: Mrs. C. W. Macklin, Mrs. W. Rogers, and Miss Louisa Clark; a lucky ticket was drawn by these three ladies to decide who would win the prize. Miss Louisa Clark drew the lucky ticket and received as a prize, a gaily decorated Easter egg. This prize was donated by Mrs. John Herrington. The prize in the apron contest was a dainty cup and saucer, donated by Mrs. Harrison George.

A roll call answered to, with an Irish joke completed the program. At the close, afternoon tea was served and a social chat enjoyed over the tea-cups.

RUSH POINT.

Mr. Cecil Toms, of Havelock, was at Rush Point last week with several wood jobs.

The wood at the Rush Point School was cut on Thursday forenoon.

The school was closed for the afternoon of Thursday this week.

A very successful surprise party was held at Rush Point on St. Patrick's eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Petherick. A large number of the neighbors and the young people of the vicinity enjoyed dancing and games.

Mr. Ross Hart has left for the north country. He is putting in a supply of ice back at his summer camp. The ice is in very good condition there yet, but will not last much longer.

There was very little excitement at the cheese factory where the voting was done at Rush Point on Thursday.

The league social evening which was postponed because of bad roads is being held at the White Church, Friday evening of this week.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SPRING BIRD

"Well, I'm off again!" called Uncle Wiggily to his lady rabbit wife one morning in the hollow stump bungalow. "I'm off again!"

"Oh did you fall?" called Mrs. Longears anxiously. "I'm so sorry! I hope you didn't hurt yourself, Wiggy!"

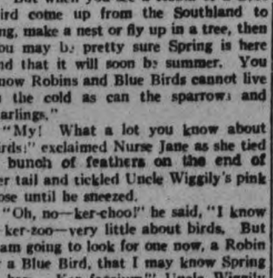
"Fall? No I didn't fall!" exclaimed the bunny uncle in surprise. "I just said I was off again"

"Oh I thought you meant you fell off the chair," said Mrs. Longears. "When I looked at you, a moment ago, you were climbing up on a chair, and when you said you were off I thought you had fallen."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the merry rabbit gentleman. "Well, perhaps it did sound that way. I climbed on the chair to get my tall silk hat for I am going to put it on to go off and have an adventure. That's what I meant when I said I was off again—I am going off to look for an adventure to make a story for the children."

"Oh, that's all right. Good luck!" wished Mrs. Longears. "But are you going to look for any special adventure?"

"Well, I shall look for another sign of spring," said Mr. Longears. "Last week, when it was March the twenty-first, and Spring, I spoke about the little birds beginning to sing. But, as I couldn't find any bird I had to sing a Spring Song all by myself."



Picking up odds and ends.

"Yes, I heard you," spoke Mrs. Longears, but she said nothing about Uncle Wiggily's singing, which, to tell you the truth, was not so good. "And are you going to sing another song today?" she asked.

"Thank you, no, unless you want me to,' answered Mr. Long ars.

"Oh, no! I mean don't bother about me. It doesn't matter," was his wife's quick answer.

"Then I shall go out and look for a Spring Bird," went on Uncle Wiggily. "Spring is nearer, now, than it was last week, and perhaps some of the Spring Birds may have flown up from the jolly Southland where they have been staying all winter. I should love to find a Spring Bird. It would make me very happy."

"I hear some birds singing now," spoke Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was picking up around the bungalow, odds and ends, left when the forty-sixteen rabbit children had hopped away to the Hollow Stump School.

"Those birds you hear aren't real Spring Birds," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "They are sparrows, starlings and some snow-birds that stay with us all winter. I want to hear a real Spring Bird sing."

"What do you call a Spring Bird??" asked Mrs. Longears.

"Well, up here where I live I should call a robin or a blue bird a real sign that Spring was coming," spoke Mr. Longears. "Of course the brave little sparrows and the bold starlings are jolly enough in their own way. But as we see them all winter you never can tell, when they are hopping around, whether or not it is Spring."

"But when you see a Robin or a Blue Bird come up from the Southland to sing, make a nest or fly up in a tree, then you may be pretty sure Spring is here and that it will soon be summer. You know Robins and Blue Birds cannot live in the cold as can the sparrows and starlings."

"My! What a lot you know about birds!" exclaimed Nurse Jane as she tied a bunch of feathers on the end of her tail and tickled Uncle Wiggily's pink nose until he sneezed.

"Oh, no—ker-choo!" he said, "I know—ker-zoo—very little about birds. But I am going to look for one now, a Robin or a Blue Bird, that I may know Spring is here. Ker foozium!" Uncle Wiggily sneezed again and then hopped over the fields and through the woods looking for his Spring Bird.

All of a sudden, as he peered over the top of a bush, he saw something blue bobbing about.

"Ah, there is a Blue Bird!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "I will hop over and say how glad I am to see this sign of Spring." The bunny gentleman hopped to the bush. He reached out his paw to touch what he thought was the Spring Blue Bird when, all of a sudden a voice cried:

"Who is pulling the blue ribbon off my hat? Stop it! The idea! Let me alone if you please!" And out from behind the bush jumped Mrs. Twistytail, the fat lady pig.

"Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise, "I thought I saw a Spring Blue Bird and I was just going to ask him to sing for me!"

"Ha! Ha! That was no Blue Bird!" grunted the pig lady, laughing. "It was only the blue ribbon on my hat. You had better get a pair of glasses, Mr. Longears."

"Yes, I guess I had!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "But listen! Hark! I hear a Robin singing!" And surely enough, in another bush a Red Robin sang and Mr. Longears knew then, that Spring had surely come.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of not water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SALE BY THE GLASS.

According to a Toronto evening paper, hotel men believe that the Ontario Government will in the near future be forced to go to the country on the question of selling beer and wine over the bar.

If any such belief is held it is obviously a case of the wish being father of the thought.

There is no demand from the people of Ontario for a return to bar conditions, and no indication of any desire on the part of Premier Henry and his Government to father a policy that their own common sense tells them would be suicidal.

The best guide as to public opinion on this question was furnished by the Liberal provincial convention in December which dropped the prohibition plank from the Liberal platform.

Many of the delegates to that convention felt that the linking of Liberalism with prohibition had been disastrous to the party's chances, and that the only hope for the future was to be found in scrapping the dry plank.

It is not unfair to say that if public opinion had been such as to make such a course profitable politically, there would have been a strong agitation to have the convention go the Government a step farther by declaring in favor of the sale by the glass, and the absence of a movement of that kind furnishes its own evidence of the lack of any great amount of sentiment for further relaxations in the liquor system.

BRITISH PURCHASES.

The Examiner's editorial references to statements made by Mr. Ammon, Secretary to the British Admiralty, in a speech in the British Parliament the other day has been attacked as "unfair."

The article merely repeated the remarks of the Government's spokesman, with the comment that so far as the present British Government is concerned trade was evidently merely a matter of finance.

There was surely nothing unfair in saying what Mr. Ammon himself frankly admitted, namely, that in regard to deal, Canadian wood was now being purchased because it was "more economical" to buy from this country than from Russia, and that British trade was chiefly a question of price, Mr. Ammon adding that Russia was treated just the same as any other country.

Surely the Admiralty Secretary could mean nothing else than that sentiment played no part in British purchases.

The Examiner in its reference neither condemned nor approved that attitude; it was mentioned merely because it dealt with a factor in the Empire trade situation that cannot be overlooked in any negotiations or campaigns for larger trade within the Empire that may be launched.

Other things being equal, it is the British policy to buy at the lowest price and that principle must be accepted, as stated by a member of the Government in words that could not possibly be misunderstood.

If Soviet Russia can undersell us in the British market and supply products equal in quality to our own, we must expect to lose that market so far as those particular products are concerned; that is a perfectly fair inference from the remarks of the Admiralty Secretary.

THE WISER COURSE.

The general opinion in regard to the controversy in Parliament last week as to whether or not the Deputy Speaker should participate in debate seems to be that while there is no doubt as to his right to do so if he desires, the wisdom of a presiding officer entering into arguments on the floor of the House is open to question.

It was said when the announcement was made that Armand Lavergne, M.P., had been selected as Deputy Speaker that Mr. Bennett believed the appointment would have the result of silencing the sharp tongue of the fiery Mr. Lavergne.

If that were indeed the explanation of the honor conferred upon the former Nationalist warrior, the strategy has obviously failed, and failed completely.

Mr. Lavergne had his say the other day and contributed little to a spirit of unity and tolerance, and he made it quite clear that he intended to participate in the House discussions whenever he choose to do so.

While the rules of Parliament do not prevent such a course, The Examiner is sure that it voices the views of the majority, both in and out of the House, in saying that it would be wiser, more dignified and more satisfactory if the Deputy Speaker, in whose impartiality and fairness members of Parliament have to trust when he is presiding, would not take a partisan part in parliamentary debates and thus destroy the confidence that should be imposed in him.

MORE BRITISH FILMS.

The intimation that Ontario may insist upon a quota of British films being shown in the motion picture theatres of the Province should be welcome to everybody who appreciates the danger of a daily fare of all-American film entertainment.

The advent of the "talkies" should have made it possible for British producers to compete successfully with pictures made in the United States, for the admitted excellence of British acting should more than balance the technical superiority that gave American motion picture companies a marked advantage in the era of silent screen presentations.

For years we have been living on a steady diet of United States pictures.

Many of these are very fine, of course, but others are sensational and lurid, and there is the additional objection that they are prepared primarily for American audiences and contain much that grates upon the sensibilities of people of other countries where they may be shown.

A quota of British films will provide a pleasing variety to the programs of Ontario theatres, and should be an effective antidote against the steady influence of the American productions.

There is always this to be remembered, however: care must be taken that the best of the British pictures are selected for showing in this Province, for unless they stand up in comparison with the United States article even their British origin will not prevent complaints from theatre-goers that will eventually defeat the object of the quota plan.

SAVING YOU $6,999.97 EVERY DAY.

You haven't $7,000 a day to spend on something that is almost essential to you as air and water. Neither have we.

But that's what a newspaper would cost you if you had to produce it privately, for your own benefit.

Co-operation brings it to you for three cents.

If only one man in town wanted what is in this newspaper he would first have to hire about 500 correspondents and writers. Most of these he would have to send out all over the world. If each of them got only $10 a day, there'd be $5,000 a day right there.

Then our one-man newspaper proprietor would have to pay heavy tolls for telegraph lines and radio messages. If he wanted pictures, he'd have to hire a few hundred cameramen, stationed all over the globe. And he'd have to provide them with postage and expenses. He would have to hire artists, too, to draw comic strips to amuse him.

Finally, he would have to organize an expensive shopping service to discover what merchants had things to sell and where they could be bought economically.

If he got out of his daily search for news, pictures, amusement, opinion and commercial information for $7,000 he'd be lucky.

You get these thousands of dollars' worth every day simply because you have recognized the value of co-operation, one of the greatest forces on earth. Co-operation gives you, for three cents, something you couldn't buy without it for 3,500,000 times what it costs.

Next time anyone doubts the value of co-operation, remember your newspaper. It is one of the greatest co-operative successes on earth.—Vancouver Sun.

A NEW PARTY.

No newspaper has a keener apprecation of the woes and worries of the Western farmer than The Border Cities Star, and no newspaper is more anxious to see everything possible done for the curing or alleviation of agricultural ills. That is why we are much more than ordinarily interested in the announcement that the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section) have decided to form a new political party, first to participate in provincial affairs and ultimately to register a voice at Ottawa.

* * * *

We shall await, with deep interest, further details of the Saskatchewan proposal to revive the farmers' political movement. A year ago, by a small majority, the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section) resolved against participation in politics. Now they have decided otherwise, and it may be taken for granted, of course, that the change of heart is based upon poor conditions in the West and a desire for some new alignment that may have the effect of improving the farmer's lot. Frankly, we cannot see what is to be gained by the new farmers' party at this time—especially in view of the fact that a federal election is at least three years away—but that does not mean that we view the farmers' effort with animosity or suspicion. On the contrary, as we stated before, our sympathies are genuinely with the farmer and particularly with the Western wheat grower. Few town and city dwellers have the faintest conception of the enormity of the farmer's problem, of his trials, his disappointments, his heart-aches, his lonely existence. If the formation of a new political party in the Province of Saskatchewan will improve the position of the farmers of Saskatchewan, then we are all for it, because when the farmers of Saskatchewan are better off, the whole country benefits.

It may be that this effort, even if short-lived, will accomplish something for the West. If it does, it will be worth while. The Progressive movement undoubtedly accomplished things for the West that could not have been secured under any other circumstances. The completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway is a case in point. The Progressive party put that through Parliament. Perhaps the United Farmers of Saskatchewan, working in concert with the United Farmers of Alberta and other agricultural representatives in the Commons—assuming the movement spreads—will be able to centre further federal attention on farm problems and secure for themselves the reforms they believe are needed. However, their best friends will be those who advise them to be moderate in their demands and thus to avoid losing the sympathy they now enjoy from so many other sections of the community. For instance, a policy aimed at "ultimate social ownership and non-profit production," such as was talked of at Saskatoon, sounds so suspiciously like a Soviet idea that we fear it has already seriously prejudiced the farmer's cause in the eyes of many persons. Nor shall we find any great enthusiasm for "nationalization of currency, credit and natural resources."

* * * *

Canadian opinion, as a whole, is sympathetic to the Western grain growers. The latter would be making a great mistake, however, were they to assume that they have only to initiate this or that view, socialistic or otherwise, in order to gain widespread support. Canada is a great country and by virtue of its huge area it must have many opinions, many sectional viewpoints. Political leaders have been trying for years to evolve programs calculated to achieve the greatest good for the greatest number. No policy is perfect and no political system can suit everyone. By and large, however, Canada's has worked with a fair measure of success. Consequently the United Farmers of Saskatchewan and other Provinces will have to demonstrate that they have an unusually good article in order to secure the favorable attention of the rest of the population.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Dreiser-Lewis tangle indicates that there is a certain liveliness in American literature.

Armand Lavergne seems to be of the opinion that the Deputy Speaker should live up to his name by doing some speaking.

Cambridge has won the big boat race for eight years in succession, but so far Oxford's poor showing has not been blamed on the MacDonald Government.

The Trent Waterway district is being advertised at the Detroit Motor Boat Show. That's good business, for the tourist industry this year should be a real help.

The Empire's greatest salesman, the Prince of Wales, has left Buenos Aires to visit Uruguay and Brazil. There is not much rest for the heir to Britain's throne.

H. H. Rowat, new Deputy Minister of the Interior, has had forty-three years experience in the department. His promotion would seem to have been well earned.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By

ALICE ROSS COLVER

At that Dan strode suddenly around the end of the counter and rushed to the door that led to his room, divesting himself of his pyjamas tops as he ran.

"Hell!" he shouted for the third time. "War is hell. But don't you go raisin' it 'thout me!"

Thus was added an eighth man to the rescue party, for Dan was out again in a moment, stuffing his revolver into his pocket, and buttoning his sheepskin coat to his throat.

"It'll be colder before it's hot," he prophesied. "Come on! You, Thought you was in such an all fired hurry! What you waitin' for? Eh? Oh, Hell. We'll settle the cash on the way back."

And he led them all in the rush outside, where he sprang to the truck and sat astride the duffle, gripping a strap with both hands.

"Guess I ain't takin' nobody's seat, am I? All right, then, boys! Let 'er rip!"

But the big car under Potter's tireless hands roared away from the curb first, and led the race toward Flagstaff. Out of the city he rushed, past the long, low Government buildings for tubercular soldiers, past the summer resort hidden amongst the curiously carved collection of rocks, and out onto a high, level plateau, which seemed to reach for endless miles to the distant solemn mountains.

It was bitterly cold now. The altitude was a mile high, and the keen sharp air of the October night struck sharply at the men. But they huddled down under blankets and made no complaint. All were absorbed in their thoughts, and impressed by the wide grandeur about them; for in the night this immense, trackless solitude, this empty road, over empty space, this vast uninhabited stretch of mile between points of civilization, made a distinct impression even upon those two men, Dan and Adam, who were accustomed to it.

At Ash Fork they paused again, crawling numbly out of the cars to stir up a sleepy owner of a lunch wagon, whose drowziness outweighed his curiosity. He served his customers in a sullen, shivering silence, and they went out into the night again in less than ten minutes.

There was a slight shifting of people now. Minor took the wheel in the truck, having slept a little in the big car from Prescott up, and Rockwell insisted on taking Moore's place in the unsheltered Buick.

"I've got a fur lined coat," he gave the slender lad a vehement shove, "so that my years don't count. Get in behind those curtains, boy. You're shivering so you can scarcely stand up."

The way now wound steadily uphill through the mountains. Not a thing was astir. There was no sound save that of their own motors shattering the stillness of the night. Everyone slept more or less fitfully, except the two drivers, Dan Kennedy, still astride the duffle bags, and Kent in the front seat with Potter. Kent was as alert as when he started, checking off each mile of what seemed an interminable distance, in perfect silence.

When they got out, in a cold, gray dawn, in the ugly town of Flagstaff, the ground was lightly powered with snow. They took time here to get thoroughly warm, to eat a hearty breakfast, and to fling themselves down in the cheerless hotel bedrooms for a couple of hours' rest. But before noon they were off again, pausing only long enough to refill their gas tanks, and then speeding over the wide road to Winslow, where they had planned to spend the night before starting across the painted desert to Tom's trading post.

It was at Winslow that Kent haunted the telegraph office until it closed, for it was here that he had his last chance for communication from Washington. In the morning he sent a final imperative message to Washington, and another to Fort Apache. From the latter place came back word that no orders had yet been received, and Kent turned from the operator and went out with slow step and serious face to join the others, who were waiting in the cars.

"I guess it's going to be up to us," he said briefly, as he faced them. "There's no word from Washington for me or for the Colonel at Fort Apache either."

"Then let's get going," returned Adam briefly.

"Wait a moment, Potter." Kent turned to the others and spoke soberly. "I'm sorry. I'd counted on word from the Government. I was sure——" He shrugged. "What I want to say is, that anybody can drop out of this party right here and now, and be thought none the less of by me. Think it over."

But not a man stirred, and a moment later Kent got in himself, his kind face alight with appreciation, although he was unable to say a word.

Behind the whirl of dust raised by the departing cars, the telegraph operator rose and went ot the window to watch their disappearance. As he stood there the proprietor of the hotel came in.

"They're sure goin' to blood and thunder."

"They sure are."

"And that fool Dan is leanin' for'ard to git to it."

"He sure is."

"Potter's cool, though."

"Potter knows Indians. Specially them Navajos."

CHAPTER XVIII
Dirk Gets News.

Dirk tried to open his eyes, but they were too heavy, so he lay still and wondered, with a slow awakening of his body, where he was and what had happened to him. The first sense to convey thought to his mind was that of touch, as his hands moved feebly under the covers where he was lying. These were blankets over him! This was a mattress under him! He was resting on a bed that was not made of either sweet grass or desert sand. Where was he? Who had found him? How far had he been carried from Lorraine? Lorraine! The familiar, agonizing anxiety over the girl he loved struck through him sharply, and he again tried to open his eyes, yet again the effort was too great.

But now he began to hear sounds going on about him. Slow, quiet footsteps, like those of some one big moving softly, the scrape of a chair, the rustle of a newspaper, a door opening and shutting, quick little shuffling feet that might be those of a child in slippers and a low colloquy: "—asleep since last night—stirring now—have the soup ready——"

The deep, resonant tones rang like soft music through Dirk's ears. What a voice! Who owned it? Where had he been transported in his illness? And then a high shrill whisper, "All lite!" What kind of a person was that? Quick running of little feet again, the soft closing of a door and silence.

It was restful silence, fragrant with tobacco smoke, and it wrapped him about in such comfort that his vague, troublesome wonderings seemed foolish and unimportant. Against his will Dirk was lulled by it into slumber, and when next he awoke he could open his eyes.

Slowly they travelled about the room in which he found himself. Slowly, slowly, they moved from the tumbled bunk next to him to the dilipidated stove, where they lingered on a hunchback figure in blue denim overalls, who stood stirring something busily in a pot. From this picture his glance roved to the window, where the sun slanted in warm and bright, spreading itself over a long table covered with a confusion of articles. Idly his look passed over a stack of magazines, two or three soiled plates, a big misshapen sombrero and—a faint frown drew his brows together. Was that brown box a radio? Where in civiliztion was he?

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If March 23rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to noon, from 4:15 p.m. to 6:20 p.m. and from 8:45 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger hours are from 7:45 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. and from 7:15 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The astrological signs of March 23rd present very encouraging features and augur well for new enterprise and fresh endeavor. It is eminently an occasion on which you can look forward and turn your back on the past. Look out for some unexpected opportunity.

A child born on this March 23rd will be observing, learn quickly, and be able to do what it has seen others do. Its ideas will lack originality. Its imitative powers will be very marked. It will be adaptable, amiable and honest. Its nature will be affectionate.

You, if born on March 23rd, are rather a sad sort of person. Your turn of mind is rather sombre and melancholy. You take yourself and the world too seriously. You should strive to get the dark clouds out of your vision, and learn to bask, mentally, in the sunshine. Every one has his or her troubles, and yours are no worse than those of others. Harping on worry only accentuates, and does not ameliorate, it. Look on the bright side, and quit "grousing."

If in business you should confine your attention to its daily routine. Your dreams of success—and you do dream sometimes—cannot come true, as you lack the optimism which is needed to carry them through, and convert them into realities. You should never gamble or take a chance, as, though the prize may be a large one, the anxiety you would endure during the waiting process would cause you incalculable mental harm.

You are very conscientious and law-abiding. There is a pronounced religious streak in your "make-up," but here, too, you do not contemplate promised rewards, but dwell rather on threatened punishments. Your affections are deep-rooted, and your loyalty is unquestioned. You, too, are in every way dependable.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

PREPARED BY THE REV. CLARENCE H. WILSON, D.D. FOR THE COMMISSION ON EVANGELISM OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

PERSISTENCE IN PRAYER

"That men ought a ways to pray, and not to faint." Luke 18:1 (Read Luke 18:1-8.)

MEDITATION

The argument of the parable is that if an unrighteous judge will finally yield to importunity, much more will a righteous God. Our confidence is not misplaced. God's apparent delays have their reason, no doubt. Incidentally they test our faith. John Fiske quotes Job's saying, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him," as the sublime and triumphant expression of faith. The man who can say that has the world under his feet. So, when our prayers seem to be unheeded and unanswered, to go on praying is to assert our mastery of life. While we pray, in the words of the Salvation Army slogan, we may be down but we are never out. And Jesus assures us that our patience is not mistaken.

God will answer.

Prayer

O Thou who hearest prayer, give to us the patience of unanswered prayer that our faith fail not, Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

WHY THIS EDITORIAL?

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir:

Your editorial of Friday evening entitled, "Just a matter of price" is very unfair and plainly seeks to create a wrong impression of Britain and of all idea or possibility of empire.

It takes the sneer of Mr. Cahan, one of Mr. Bennett's ministers, as a text. It cites the fact that prices rule all other things being equal. Why did your article not say that Canada's protective policy is to make her people buy at home. Otherwise they, too, would buy in the cheapest market and neglect even their own country.

It is not the question of buying in contradiction of business principles that makes an Empire but buying from the Empire when it is just as cheap and good to do so; in other words, giving ourselves the preference of relationship and kinship. No friendship that is one-sided could ever last long but what those of us now alas, getting fewer and fewer in this country, want it: where possible, give our friends the preference.

J. H. BURNHAM.

STRANGE BUT TRUE.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

It is an unheard-of thing for a country to be both dry and wet at the same time.

But it is true of the little country on the Baltic Sea called Finland, where one acre in every six of the entire area is a little lake. And yet the wettest country in Europe is the only dry one!

Sixty years ago in that little country there were thousands of legal home distilleries and Finland was one of the most strongly alcoholized nations in the world. How did that little wet nation become a dry one? Well the Finnish people were shrewd enough to see that drunkenness was ruining their country—it had become so great an evil, even the women becoming drunkards, that the rulers were alarmed and passed a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquor.

Unfortunately at that time Finland was part of the Russian Empire and the Russians refused to sanction the new law. Again and again in 1909-11 and 14 efforts were made to pass the bill, but Russia was obdurate. "What? Do away with liquor? Absurd!" But at the revolution of 1917, Finland became a separate country and the newly-elected president immediately sanctioned the law.

Now let us see what the result was. First, the financial position of Finland—the income and expenditure before prohibition for the year 1910-13 showed an annual average deficit of 52,750 Finnish Marks; from 1920-24, when Prohibition had become law the revenue of the country showed an annual surplus of 189,647,000 marks. The Prime Minister, Mr. Vennola recently said, "We are able to manage our finances without alcohol revenues. How much this means can be seen from the fact that our next door neighbor, Estonia, makes up her budget with one-third of all her revenue coming from the sale of liquor. We have made prohibition a reality and we intend to keep the law."

There was more poverty before prohibition. The average number of persons arrested for vagrancy was 3171. After prohibition the average number was only 1,764. This makes the drop in prohibition years of 44 per cent. And what about sports? At the Olympic sports held at Paris in 1924, "dry" nations did splendidly. The United States secured 255 points; Finland 166; Great Britain, 85½ and France 26½.

The United States, the one "dry" country in America and little Finland, the one "dry" country in Europe, win in athletics?

NEW YORK LIST STRENGTHENS IN LATE TRADING

Opening Weak, Market Drops Into Further Selling Due to Wheat Decline.

AUBURN AUTO IRREGULAR.

Most Issues Recover Early Losses—U. S. Industrial Alcohol is Soft.

NEW YORK, March 23 (C.P.).—The stock market again demonstrated its newly acquired ability to take bad news calmly to-day.

The downward tendency which developed late last week was carried over into the early trading, and no sooner did its influence wear off than a drop in Chicago wheat to the lowest levels in 36 years prompted further selling. The list stiffened again by early afternoon, however and prices were inclined to recover. Trading was quiet from the start.

Early losses of 2 or 3 points in such issues as Allied Chemicals, American Can, and Case were largely cancelled. Auburn Auto behaved erratically, dropping 5 then rebounded 1c from the bottom to reach new high ground above 220. U.S. Industrial Alcohol was a soft spot, dropping 5 to a new low, reflecting a disappointing earnings statement and deferment of dividend action. Radio Corp. was well supported, and Freeport Texas was pushed up 2 to a new 1931 top.

The break in wheat on announcement that the Farm Board would not support the market for the new wheat crop was naturally a depressing influence on financial markets, but it lacked sufficient element of surprise to prompt any hasty selling of securities.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23 (Special to Examiner).—Noranda was still subjected to selling in the opening session of the mining market today, softness in price being reflected in an easier feeling throughout higher priced stocks. Lower priced issues continued in fair demand, however, and relatively broad price movements appeared at several points.

Diamond drilling at Noranda is making progress, according to a wire received from the Noranda correspondent of a local brokerage house. The first hole is said to be down 1300 feet (presumably below the 1500 level) the second down 900 feet and the third down 400 feet at an angle of 85 degrees. They are still in gold ore, it is understood, with assays as high as $32 and a number around $26.

The annual meeting of Crown-Dominion Oil Company, traded in on the Standard exchange, will be held in Hamilton on March 27, according to a notice forwarded to shareholders today.

To meet the demand for information about the mining laws of Canada, the Mines Branch of the Department of Mines, Ottawa, has just published a report summarizing existing legislation on this subject. The report is a revision of an earlier publication entitled, "Digest of the Mining Laws of Canada" compiled and published in 1924, and may be obtained on application to Ottawa.

The report of Turner Valley production for February showed a sharp reduction in daily output of a number of companies foothills being about the only one to record much of a gain. Home, Royalite, Mercury, Mayland, Miracle, Model and Okalta all failed to equal their January figures, while East Crest just about held its own. Royalite cleaned out its number seven and number eleven wells early this month and Merland resumed drilling two weeks ago.

Important possibilities are indicated by recent developments at the Pioneer Gold property in British Columbia according to western advices. Drifting on the 1,000 level continues in high grade ore of good width and while it is impossible to say how much farther this ore shoot extends, it is estimated will run another 1,000 feet, giving a total length approaching 2800 feet. Another vein has been traced for a distance of 2,000 feet and a crosscut at depth was successful in finding it over good width and excellent grade. Work has commenced on raising the new three compartment shaft from the 1,000 level, and when this is completed the management intends to sink below that shaft. It is expected when the shaft is finished the mill will be stepped up to 350 tons per day.

Conscience Money Paid By Instalment

LONDON, Eng., March 23.—Struck by a wave of enformed economy while in Canada last September, a British workman on a harvesting holiday decided to steal a free ride by hiding himself in a box car of a Canadian National Railways train bound for the prairies.

His conscience has been pricking him ever since his return to England with the result that he has written to the Company's London office offering to pay on the instalment plan the £3.10.0 "saved" last year, accompanied by the following note. "While in Canada I unlawfully rode on a freight car to the harvest fields. I was unable to pay then but would like to do so now. Will you please accept this thirty shillings on account and give me the correct amount of the fare in sterling with accrued interest.

LIST LEADERS ARE HARD HIT

Reactionary Tendencies Set in on Toronto Exchange in Light Trading.

OIL SECTION SLUGGISH.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 23. (CP)—Reactionary tendencies set in on Toronto Stock Exchange market to-day and as a result leaders of the past couple of sessions were targets in a mild way for the bear forces. Volume too, was considerably reduced from that of the previous session.

Noranda was among those hardest hit. The stock sold steadily lower right from the outset to-day and at noon sold at 24.60 for a net loss of $1.40 from the close last Saturday. Nickel followed the line of least resistance and chalked up a loss of 3-8 at 19. There was considerable activity in the mining group but price changes were unimportant.

Oils were sluggish and nearly all issues showed deficits from their las finals.

Power Corporation on the curb declared the regular dividend of 50 cents and the stock responded to the news and advanced a point and a half to 63½. Others in the group were practically unchanged.

Steels were firm throughout and in one instance Steel of Canada showed a gain of ½ point to 40½.

Interlisted issues were weak from the start and before the end of the second hour there were losses ranging from small fractions to over a point in some cases.

Loblaw "A" moved against the general run of the market and established a new high for the current year of 14½. Loblaw "B" was unchanged at 14.

De Forest, Hamilton Bridge, Ford of Canada, C.P.R., and Service Stations were all on the side of the bears.

SETH THOMAS CLOCK COMPANY AND WESTERN CLOCK MERGE

Hamilton Sangamo Corporation is Purchased by New Company.

MAY EXPAND HERE.

Several months ago the General Time Instruments Company was formed in the U.S.A. It represents a merger of the Western Clock Company of La Salle, Illinois, and the Seth Thomas Clock Company of Thomaston Connecticut.

The Seth Thomas Clock Company is one of the oldest clock manufacturers in the U.S.A., with a world wide reputation. The Western Clock Company is the largest manufacturer of alarm clocks on this continent, if not in the entire world.

The merger united the two strongest concerns as the Seth Thomas Clock Company manufactures principally pendulum clocks and striking clocks while the Western Clock Company manufactures principally alarm clocks and automobile clocks.

Last week the General Time Instruments Corporation purchased the Hamilton Sangamo Corporation. This latter company is formed by the Hamilton Watch Company and the Sangamo Electric Company who manufacture electric clocks.

These various purchases and consolidations will not affect the Western Clock Company Limited of Peterborough at present but it is not improbable that they may lead to expansion within the next three or four years.

U.S. Merchant Fleet Drops 71 Ships In 1930

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 23.—(C.P.).—The merchant fleet of the United States was the only one among the principal maritime nations to decrease both in number of vessels and tonnage in 1930.

The shipping board yesterday attributed the falling off to reduction of the Government-owned fleet by scrapping and sale. Although United States shipping as a whole declined by 71 ships and 249,918 gross tons, privately-owned United States fleets gained by 27 ships and 241,150 tons.

Norway gained most, with a net increase of 93 vessels and 633,344 tons.

In merchant shipping Great Britain's fleet of 3,050 ships, totalling 18,220,830 tons, headed the list for 1930.

JULY WHEAT DROPS TO 61 CENTS BUSH.

Forced Down By Heavy Selling. Wheat Reaches Low Mark Unequalled in Many Years.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 23 (C.P.).—An immediate fall of more than a cent a bushel in wheat today followed announcement that the Farm Board would not attempt to maintain prices beyond May. Forced down by a rush of selling July delivery representing the new 1931 crop, tumbled quickly to 61 cents, a new bottom record unequalled in many years. Opening unchanged to 1 cent off, wheat afterward receded further. Corn started ¼ to 7-8 cents lower and continued to descend.

General Drop Shown On Montreal Exchange

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 23. (CP)—Though trading was heavy in some popular issues, the Montreal Stock Market showed a general decline in security prices at noon to-day, with fractional losses predominating.

Atlantic Sugar dropped 2½ points at noon to reach 29½. Quebec Power held an early loss of one point at 47. Price Brothers sold off ¾ to 37¾ and Dominion Bridge was down 7-8 at 48 1-8. Nickel lost ½ at 18 7-8 and Abitibi was down ½ at 11½. Brazilian sold off ¼ to 23¾ and Cement lost 3-8 at 17½. Shawinigan was down ¼ at 58½ and Power Corporation advanced ¼ to 63¼.

Birdwood Outlines Cause Of India's Ills

LONDON, March 23 (By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent).—"I have been in India for 46 years and cannot help thinking that most of our troubles are due to the fact that in the past, politicians failed to think out the results of their actions to their logical conclusion," said Field Marshal Sir William Birdwood, who has just retired as Commander-in-Chief in India, in a speech to the London Devonian Society last night.

"I hope that whatever Government is in power will remember that the masses of India are illiterate and inarticulate and will see the safeguards we read about will be real safeguards, and that those people will not be handed over to the intelligentsia who speak in the name of India without having the same affection for the cultivators of the land as we English people have," the Field-Marshal added.

Japan May Export Halibut To Canada

(By Percy Whiteing, C. P. Staff Writer).

TOKYO, Japan, Mar. 13 (By Mail). What may prove to be a new export line from Japan to Canada, is a hitherto little worked section of this country's fisheries—halibut, if improved methods of catch and transportation are adopted, as they have been in other branches, such as crab, salmon, etc., according to an exhaustive report compiled by J. A. Langley, First Secretary to Commercial Affairs at the Canadian Legation here.

The Michi-Ro (Japan-Russian) Fisheries Company, a large Japanese concern claims to have exported to North Pacific ports nearly 325,000 lbs. of halibut during a recent 12-month period. At present exports are handicapped by lack of proper handling facilities which results in the fish arriving in not very attractive condition, though frozen in a manner similar to that used in Canada. The Michi-Ro Company has a comparatively small freezing plant at Memuro, Hokkaido, for halibut. The price delivered there averaged 2 2/3 cents per pound.

DECROZE ELECTED IN OISE

PARIS, March 23 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—On the second ballot, I. Decroze, Radical-Socialist, was elected Senator in the Oise by-election yesterday. He succeeds the late Senator Noel, Independent-Radical.

M. Pares, of the Republican Union, was elected to the Chamber of Deputies in the by-election at Oran. He succeeds the late Jules Mollos, who belonged to the Maginot group of Democratic action.

CHICAGO WHEAT PRICES LOWEST IN MANY YEARS

Sag as Much as Eleven Cents a Bushel on 1931 Crop Options.

LOWEST SINCE 1895.

Decline Due to Stabilization Announcement Made by Farm Board.

CHICAGO, March 23 (C.P.)—Wheat prices on the Chicago market dropped to low ground unknown since 1895 today, sagging as much as 11 cents a bushel on 1931 crop options.

The crash followed announcement by the Farm Board that it would not attempt to maintain prices by stabilization operations beyond the month of May, when the 1930 crop passes from dealing. Action of the market was contrary to the expressed opinion of George S. Milner, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, that the news constituted a bullish factor in the market.

July wheat, representing contracts on the new crop unprotected by stabilization buying, collapsed from Saturday's closing figure of 66⅝ to ½ cents a bushel to around 59¾ cents, the lowest in 36 years. June delivery, in which there is little trading, dropped 11 cents.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

LONDON, March 23 (C.P.).—Cardinal Bourne, who has been Archbishop of Westminster since 1906, today celebrated his seventieth birthday by travelling to Birmingham to speak at a meeting of Roman Catholic mothers.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Hawtf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

Wheat held steady, but there was no feature to the trade passing, and price fluctuations were only 3-8 cent which took place during the first few minutes Offerings were again very light and a little buying by seaboard houses at the start, the local crowd were the only buyers who were endeavoring to scalp the market. Local sentiment appears to change in the situation is looked for during the next two months, and by that time perhaps a definite policy by the Farm Board will be known also spring conditions in the United States and Canada. Export business continues extremely small a few odd loads of Manitobas being worked overnight, 50,000 bushels being the limit. The cash market was quiet and only the odd car was changing hands which was being taken by shippers and terminal interests. Spreads were generally unchanged but a fraction better on some of the off grades which in reality was a narrowing up of the carrying charges. Buenos Aires closed unchanged to 5-8 lower. Country marketings on Friday were 317,000 bushels as against 142,000 last year. Winnipeg futures closed unchanged from Friday's close.

Coarse Grains.—These markets were dull and featureless with probably nothing going on in either cash or futures. Oats closed unchanged to 1-8 lower Barley 1-8 lower to 1-8 higher and rye unchanged to 1-8 off. No feature to flax and practically nothing doing. Closed 3-8 off to 3-8 higher.

Liverpool due unchanged to 1-8 lower based on Winnipeg.

BASE METALS SHOW LOSSES ON STANDARD

Trading Turns Irregular Due to Softness in Noranda and Nickel.

OILS ALSO MIXED.

But Higher and Medium Priced Golds Remain in Fair Demand.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23.—Influenced by softness in Noranda and Nickel the base metal section of the mining market turned irregular to somewhat lower in today's forenoon session. Oils also were mixed but higher, and medium-priced golds remained in fair demand.

Noranda opened a fraction below Saturday's close, sold down to below $25 and was holding around that figure for a loss of three quarters at mid-day. International Nickel was down a half to $19 and Hudson Bay lost 10 to $6. Small recessions appeared in Pend Oreille, Newbec and Falconbridge, while Chibougamau Prospectors and Sherritt Gordon were slightly higher.

In the more important golds Teck Hughes sold up 15 at $7.75 and Dome 10 at $11.85. Gem Lake was in better demand and up 4 at 25 and Eldorado and Sylvanite firmed a few cents each. Premier eased a couple. Malartic and Central Patricia sustained minor setbacks.

Homestead again featured the oils, selling up 26 from Saturday at $1.40 in the first few minutes and holding that price throughout the morning. Nordon softened 4 to 42, Ajax Oil was off 10 to $1.45, but Acme Gas advanced 3 to 25. Other oils were dull.

MODERN DAIRY

ed the deed and title to the land. Presumably, the Rev. Mr. Burnham had obtained it directly from the Crown.

This feature may not be unique, but it is altogether probable that few of the older families of the city can show an equally long ownership of property. And the preference of the Swanston family for Ashburnham is further emphasized by their residence nearby the lot on which William Swanston first opened a bakery more than three-quarters of a century ago. After his death the business was carried on by his son William until about twenty-five years ago. The complete period of the operations of the Swanston bakery extended over fifty-five years. Six years ago the old shop and house were razed.

Came From Scotland

William Swanston had come from Scotland as a young man, and with Peterborough as his destination he was attracted to its most actively industrial section, the busy "Scotch village" of Ashburnham, then in its flourishing heyday along the east bank of the Otonabee. One of his brothers had gone to Australia, another was a Hudson Bay Company's factor, and a third brother settled in Kingston. He and William had learned the baking trade, and each launched a separate business in their respective communities.

William Swanston's shop was for years a landmark in Peterborough. In those years prior to Confederation, and even for quite a long time afterward Ashburnham was a thriving center of industry. Various mills and factories were operated by water from the old raceway. R. D. Rogers was the proprietor of the stone flour mill, now disappearing at the east end of the bridge, and he also conducted a general store in the present premises of the Choate hardware store.

George May's steamboat used to extend its trips up through the raceway to the south side of Hunter Street, where it tied up to take on cargoes of flour and other merchandise. John Harper, of Romaine Street, told The Examiner that he remembered when the shipments of flour used to be loaded on the boat from hand trucks that were pushed across Hunter Street from the mill.

All that stretch of Hunter Street from the river on up past Burnham Street and Driscoll Terrace to Rogers Street was an avenue of trade and industry that lives now only in the memories of the oldest residents. And in the centre of it was William Swanston's bakeshop. As a further recollection of the variety of activities in the "Scotch Village," John Harper states that the Swanston property extended back to the cricket field in those days when the English game was the principal and almost the only game played by the young men of that time. Afterwards it was known as the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association's grounds, and for a long period all the baseball, lacrosse, and cricket matches were held there.

The fourth generation of the Swanston family is represented by James Andrew, the sixteen-months-old son of Max Swanston, whose father, James Swanston, died eight years ago. The pioneer William Swanston, predeceased him by thirty-two years.

Suspicious Sheriff Taken for Bandit; Squad Arrives in Time to Halt Fatality

DETROIT, Mich., March 23. — Rexford Scanlon, who was broke, went to George Katsaros' grocery store last night in the hope of pledging a pocket camera for food. Because he didn't want to be embarrassed, he walked up and down in front of the place waiting for customers to leave.

Deputy Shereiff Alois Walicki saw his actions, noted the bulge in his pocket, and guessed it was a hold-up man. He showed his badge, put a hand in his pocket as if he had a pistol—which he did not—and ordered Scanlon to hold up his hands and step in the store.

Somebody across the street saw this, and ran to a house nearby where Patrolman Arnold Johnson was visiting. Johnson, in plain clothes ran to the store, guessed Walicki was a hold-up man and ordered him to hold up his hands.

Walicki guessed that Johnson was Scanlon's accomplice and ran. Johnson fired four shots, one of which hit Walicki in the leg.

About that time a squad of police arrived. They concluded that it was a comedy of errors—a comedy for everybody but Walicki.

gration of souls are fundamentals of the Hindu religion."

"If all men adopted your simple mode of living, fasting and exercising do you think they would live to be 100 years old?"

"Yes," he answered with a wink, "but that can be determined better after I die."

"Which Government most nearly approaches your idea of an ideal one?"

No Ideal Government

"None. I would consider an ideal form of Government one in which a man reaches his full stature in every phase of life and where his interests are paramount to all others."

"Will Socialism accomplish that?"

"Not Socialism as it is practised politically to-day," Gandhi replied.

Asked if he would favor retention of foreign missionaries when India secured self-government, Gandhi answered:

"If instead of confining themselves purely to humanitarian work and material service to the poor, they limit their activities as at present to proselytizing by means of medical aid, education and such, then I would certainly ask them to withdraw. Every nation's religion is as good as any other. Certainly India's religions are adequate for her people and we need no converting spiritually."

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 23. — Absence of export trading and extremely light offering considerably slowed up activity in the wheat pit here on Saurday. In one of the dullest sessions in weeks, values closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher than Friday.

The May future closed at 58⅛c unchanged; July lost ⅛c at 60⅝c; while October remained unchanged at 62½.

Shippers and houses with seaboard connections could confirm only a few loads of wheat sold overnight and there was no evidence of any new business. The whole situation appeared stagnant.

Cash and coarse grains reflected the lack of activity in the wheat pit. Spreads were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 23. — Grain prices relaxed late on Saturday after displaying an early upward trend. Indications were that to-day a new increase of this country's unwieldy wheat visible supply would be revealed, and that breadstuff supplies afloat for Europe would likewise show enlargement, notwithstanding that North American export business appeared to have ceased for at least the time being. Selling pressure, however, was checked by prevalent talk that, under any conditions, the prices were low enough at present throughout the world.

Wheat closed irregular, 1¼c to ¼c lower to ¼c higher; corn, ¼c to ½c off; oats a shade to ⅛c up; and provisions varying from 2c decline to 5c advance.

At first wheat showed itself responsive to Liverpool reports that European Continental countries would soon be obliged to modify tariff barriers and to purchase substantial amounts of overseas wheat for mixing with native grades. Another strengthening influence was an authoritative forecast that the acreage of th next wheat crop in Australia would be drastically reduced. It was realized, though, that the cut in Australian wheat acreage could hardly be much of a price factor at present.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Winter white cheese lost one-half of a cent at 14¼ cents a pound, and receipts last week were 697 boxes.

Fresh Ontario and Prairie eggs, in carlots, were quoted at 24 cents for extras, 22 cents for firsts and 16 cents a dozen for seconds. British Columbia fresh eggs, in carlots, were quoted at 25 cents for extras and 23 cents for firsts and pullet extras. Quotations to retailers were unchanged. Last week's receipts were 18 981 cases.

The woman of wealth—with maids at her call—the young wife who is homemaker—cook—dishwasher, too. Notice this amazing TRUE fact—

You can't tell, from their hands, which is which!

Everywhere wives are achieving this triumph . . . doing all the many tasks of a home . . . yet keeping their HANDS so EXQUISITE, so white—you'd think they never touched housework.

Women discovered the secret themselves. Washing fine things in Lux, they noticed how nice their hands looked afterward. Then began using Lux for dishes. Then for cleaning. In fact, whenever their hands touched soap and water!

Almost AT ONCE their hands showed the difference . . . became lovelier . . . SMOOTH, WHITE, like a GIRL'S!

So wonderful is Lux for the hands that beauty experts—with all their experience—say, "We can't distinguish between the hands of a woman with maids and the hands of the housewife who uses Lux."

Smooth white hands for less than 1c a day

LUX for dishes

Here is the Secret

Why is Lux so fine for the hands? The reason is this. Many soaps contain harmful alkali that dries up the oils of the skin, the oils that nature placed there to keep the skin smooth and white.

Lux does not dry these delicate oils. Those sparkling Lux suds in your dishpan are soothing and very bland.

Why not try Lux for YOUR dishes—it costs less than 1c a day!

DEBATE FEATURES A.Y.P.A. MEETING

Literary Committee Has Charge of Interesting Program at Omemee Gathering.

OMEMEE, March 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the A.Y.P.A. was held Monday night in the Sunday School room. There was a good attendance of members and visitors. After the business session of the meeting, the literary committee took charge of the evening, of which George Stephenson is convenor.

A debate, "Resolved, that the world is growing better," was given, with Miss Mabel Rowan and Norman Burgomaster the speakers for the affirmative, while Miss Maggie McQuade and Horace Hill ably upheld the negative.

The time allowed was ten minutes each speaker. The judges were Miss Audrey Weir, Rev. A. T. Weir, and Bill Stephenson.

After much deliberation and some debating the judges finally gave their decision in favor of the affirmative. Rev. Mr. Weir, when giving the result of the decision, told the members that this was one of the best debates he had heard given by the A.Y.P.A.

W. A. Meets

The W. A. of Christ Church met for their regular monthly meeting at the rectory, with a good attendance. Mrs. Weir, president, conducted the devotional part of the meeting. Various items of business were discussed. The secretary, Mrs. R. J. Adams, gave her report. The meeting concluded with prayer.

Annual Entertainment

The annual St. Patrick's entertainment of the Y.P.A. of Trinity Church was held Tuesday evening in the church parlors.

The room looked quite attractive, with its streamers of green and white shamrocks of various sizes, green candles and bouquets of pink sweet peas and shamrock.

The following program was given: Opening number, The Maple Leaf Forever; address, the chairman, Dr. McPhee; chorus, the Y.P.A., which was Irish; piano selection, Miss Francis McPherson; vocal solo, Mrs. C. Elliott; quartet, Rev. J. T. E. Blanchard, J. L. Brooks, R. Faulkner, G. Marshal; reading (Origin of St. Patrick), Miss Christina Connell; boys' chorus; violin solo, Billy Earle; vocal solo, Rev. Mr. Blanchard; chorus by the girls; vocal solo, Miss Margaret Werry; piano duet, Miss Connell, Miss Race; recitation, Rev. Blanchard one of Pauline Johnson's works); vocal solo, Miss Parsons; chorus by the girls; "The Fatal Quest," a one-act play, characters—Misses Werry, M. Faulkner, F. McPherson, E. Morcombe, Roy Faulkner, W. Weir, Dr. McPhee.

Dainty refreshments were served and the evening's entertainment was brought ot a close.

To Withdraw Meeting

The Woman's Association of Trinity Church had its meeting at the home of Mrs. C. R. Cornell Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting was taken by the president, Mrs. Henderson. After the regular devotional exercises different items of business were discussed, and how the ladies might arrange to increase the treasury. It was also decided to withdraw the April meeting unless the president had any special business.

DeLaval Swamps P.C.I. Under 40-13 Setback

CITY BASKETBALL WINNERS CARRY 27 POINT LEAD INTO FINAL FOR MYTHICAL TITLE

Dairymen Quintet Hold Edge on Night's Play From Start of Game.

ACCURATE SHOOTING.

Sturgeon, Routley and Levine Show Good Combination to Account for 37 Points.

In the first game of the city series staged at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night, the champion De Laval squad had little trouble handing the local Collegiate their worst defeat of the season when they piled up a total of 40 points to the Collegians' 13. As a result of this win the De Laval will carry a 27 point lead into the return game at the school next week. From the start the city winners had the upper hand and the school's two weeks' lay-off since their elimination in the Ontario play-offs clearly showed in their play. None of the clever passing and accurate shooting that carried them to the C.O.S.S.A. finals was evident in Saturday evening's fray, while the Separator crew showed smart combination and a very tricky offence.

Contrary to the score, the De Laval did not have an easy time working through the P.C.I. defence and easily over half their markers were obtained by long shots from just past centre floor. Time after time the school team would back up to save their goal, only to have Joe Cooper's sharpshooters ring seemingly impossible shots from centre. The winners certainly deserved their victory and the credit should go to their clever front line of Sturgeon, Routley, and Levine. These boys accounted for 37 markers between them and played smart basketball all the way. Cooper and Palmer on defence took care of the opposition attacks in fine style and fed their forwards nicely with passes. For the losers it must be said that they worked hard at all times but were outclassed by the more experienced city league team. Vern Armstrong, Howie Macdonald, and Art Ward showed flashes of their usual smooth game, but met a stone wall at the opposition defence. The Garnet and Grey team should have followed their opponents' example of long shooting and would have undoubtedly added considerably to their total in this way. Armstrong and Macdonald accounted for four markers each, Stanger and Art Ward added two each, and Wolstonholme scored a single for the school's total.

Half-time found De Laval leading 17-5, and both squads a little more than doubled their score again in the final half to make the final count 40-13. These teams will meet again next week, this time at the school gym., and the P.C.I. boys are sure that they can show the De Laval outfit, which is practically a P.C.I. old boys 'team, a few tricks on the larger floor, and they have high hopes of not only handing their opposition a beating, but of considerably reducing their large lead.

The teams:

De Laval—R. Sturgeon, f; C. Routley, f; Z. Levine, c; J. Cooper, d; G. Palmer, d.

P.C.I.—V. Armstrong, f; A. Ward, f; W. Ward, L. Chesler, J. Wolstenholme, M. Swartz; H. Macdonald, c; N. Stanger, d; A. Reynolds, d; D. Kelley.

Referee—Charles McLeish.

As a preliminary to the boys' match the St. Paul's girls met Westclox, and the Clockmakers played fine basketball to take an 11-4 decision. The Westclox girls took th play from the start, and on nice combination efforts had the Church girls badly at sea. Elda Bradley led the Westclox scorers with 6 points, and Hazel Jackson and Dot Webb on the rear-guard kept the opposition sharpshooters at bay. The entire losing squad were willing workers, but didn't appear to be getting anywhere and their only two baskets were scored by Mazie Cowan.

The teams:

St. Paul's —J. Allin, f; C. Patterson, f; M. Cowan, c; E. Morrow, d; S. Jackson, d.

Westclox—E. Bradley, f; B. Thirnbeck, f; L. Kingdon, c; H. Jackson, d; C. Mason, d.

Referee—C. Routley.

FINAL GAMES OF THE NATIONAL LOOP ENDS IN SCORING SPREES

Leafs Take 9-6 Decision From Senators, While Hawks Win 2-1.

CANADIENS TIE QUAKERS.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 23. (By George Maguire, Canadian Press Sports Writer).—The week-end National Hockey League schedule of four games, which wound up the 44 match season, didn't mean a thing to the competing squads' status but the hockey faithful were rewarded by several scoring sprees.

At Toronto the Maple Leafs hung up their highest scoring total of the season in beating Ottawa Senators, 9 to 6. The game was originally scheduled for the Capital city but as the Queen City fans are flocking to any and all games in which the Leafs participate manager Connie Smythe was successful in getting the contest transferred.

After lagging behind 3 to 1 at the end of the first period the Leaf snipers got their sights adjusted perfectly in the second and third periods to give Goalkeeper Alex Connell the busiest evening he has experienced this season.

Bailey is Fourth

The splurge of scoring indulged in by the Torontonians enabled them to balance sniping honors all in favor of Canadian group players. Only three United States section hockeyists are among the leading eight marksmen. After Howie Morens, Canadien centre, ranks Ebbie Goodfellow, centre of Detroit, and then follow the three leaf sharpshooters, C. Conacher, I. Bailey and Joe Primeau. W. Cook of New York Rangers Nelson Stewart, Montreal Maroons and Frank Boucher, Rangers round out the leading eight.

Les Canadiens, defenders of the Stanley Cup, took matters easy against Philadelphia's tail-end Quakers, but were forced to shoot five forwards overboard in the closing stages to gain a 4-all tie which 10 minutes over time failed to break.

Each team scored in the first period and the Habitants secured a one goal lead in the second frame. Toward the end of this session Wilfred Cude, youthful netminder of the Phillies stopped with his jaw a blazing shot from the stick of Morens. The game was halted while eight stitches were put in the gash.

The Quakers squared the count and took an early lead in the third period but the Flying Frenchmen quickly evened matters. The Quakers took the lead again seven minutes from the end and it was not until the last minute of play that G. Mantha notched his second marker to tie the count.

Boston Bruins and Montreal Maroons engaged in a careful skating match at Boston which ended in the Bruins' favor, 3 to 1. Despite the cautious tactics of the rival clubs, George Owen, star Bruin defenceman, suffered a severe gash gash to his face and was forced to retire. It is not expected to prevent him participating in the league play-offs which start in the Hub to-morrow with Montreal Canadiens.

Chicago Blackhawks defeated Detroit Falcons, 2 to 1, in a wide-open tilt in the Motor City. Outside of furnishing the Hawks with a stiff workout for their opening Stanley Cup game with Toronto on Tuesday the game was just an exhibition. Goodfellow tried desperately to fatten his scoring account to regain the leadership of the league, but outside of notching one goal he was held well in check.

O.H.A. Aspirants to Allan Cup Suffer Defeat on Their Home Ice.

McGILL SECURES LEAD.

Truro Seniors Put Up Great Battle to Hold Montreal to 2-1 Victory.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23 (C.P.).—The Allan Cup champions for 1931-32 are not yet discernible. Three games were played in the East and West semi-finals on Saturday, and all three resulted in surprises.

Down East in Halifax, a fighting band of Truro Bearcats, boasting one lone relief player, held the big red machine of McGill University, Montreal, to a 2 to 1 victory, to just about provide the biggest jolt Old Man Dope received. True the McGill students detrained a few minutes before the game, but after capturing the Quebec Provincial title and possessing three clever forwards on their second string line they were expected to win hands down. Analysis of the game, however, reveals they were fortunate to win at all.

Truro notched the first goal five minutes after the start when Tubby Ryan took a pass to shoot past Goalkeeper Powers. Hugh Farquharson squared the count seven minutes later and the same player notched the winning marker late in the second period. His first tally was of the "soft" variety. He shot from the blue line between the Truro defence pair.

The second tussle of this series will be played at Moncton, N.B., to-night, the winner on the round qualified to meet either Hamilton or Ottawa.

Startle Tigers' Fans.

Rideaus of the Capital City startled the Tigers and Hamilton fans by defeating the Ontario Hockey Association titlists, 2 to 1, right in the Mountain City. The teams fight it out in Ottawa to-night in the return fixture and the speedy yellow and black hockeyists must show a remarkable form reversal to enter the Eastern Canada final.

The Ottawans came from behind to attain victory. Tigers got the first goal in the opening chapter when McGowan scored unassisted. G. Peterkin put the Rideaus on equal terms in the middle chapter and the same player gave his team a slim lead to return home with when he scored late in the third period.

Outside of a few flashes of clever combination the teams did not furnish the fans with high-class hockey. Each side resorted to individual efforts and frequent penalties marred the contest.

North Battleford Intermediates, champions of Saskatchewan, gave the championship aspirations of Winnipeg Seniors somewhat of a jolt in the Manitoba champions' own arena. The final score was one-all, when most everyone expected the Seniors to win pretty much as they pleased.

The second contest will be played on Tuesday and the winner on the round will meet Edmonton Superiors, champion of Alberta and conquerors of Trail, British Columbia titlists.

United States Players May Regain Lost Laurels

NEW YORK, March 23 (C.P.) — A three-day international tennis team match, beginning to-night, gives the United States a chance to recapture a few of the laurels which France's three invaders, Jean Borotra, Christian Boussuss and Pierre Landry, won in the National indoor championships last week.

The matches will be handled in the same way as the Davis Cup matches, which they closely resemble. Four singles encounters and one doubles match make up the program. The United States team which faces the French is composed of Frank Shields, second ranking player in the United States; Berkeley Bell, conqueror of Shields and runner-up to Borotra in the indoor singles, and the Davis Cup Stars, John Van Ryn and George Lott.

France is reported to have made more technical progress in aviation in the last 12 months than any other country in Europe.

The Switchgear building representative in the C.G.E. Shop Bowling league play-offs were blotted from further competition for the Work's championship this season Friday at the Duffus Alleys when they received a thorough drubbing from the Stores Team. The winners started off with a fast stride that spelled victory and in the first session spilled 1232 pins to the Switch-Builders' 946. They came through again in the second scoring 1168 against 993, but in the final game the latter team took the honours with 1104 against 1022. Joe Marsden was the heavies spiller for the Stores securing a triple of 787 and a single of 312 while his team-mate Playford ran a close second with 758 pins.

Four departments in the Brinton Carpet Company have organized a five-pin league to compete for the J. M. Mackie Silver Trophy and to date this circuit has produced some whiz-bang battles with the Finishing Department at present leading the parade.

John Playford came very close to realizing the five pin bowlers' dream on Thursday night while bowling for the Rangers in the regular City League battles against the Westclox when he collected a single score of 410 knocking off nine strikes in a row. His total for the night which amounted to 909 is a league record for this city and overcomes the triple of 905 set up by Joe Marsden in the same league a few weeks ago.

BUFFALO EVENS INDIAN SERIES

Tecumsehs Down Syracuse Stars 2-1 in Only Other Sunday Fixture.

PLAY-OFFS START TUESDAY.

TORONTO, Ont., March 23 (C.P.)—By defeating the league-leading Buffalo Bisons, 4 to 1, in the lone scheduled International Hockey League fixture on Saturday, the Cleveland Indians broke even on the season's series with Mickey Roach's smart team. Other than accomplishing that noteworthy performance, the result meant little to either side. The Bisons' long since clinched first place and the Indians have had third place pretty much to themselves for some time.

In the only Sunday contest, London Tecumsehs downed the cellar occupants, Syracuse Stars, 2 to 1. The victory placed the Londoners within three points of the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets. However, the Tecumsehs have only one more game to play and cannot do better than finish with 50 points, while the Jackets have 51.

The round robin series of play-off games start on Tuesday. Windsor Bulldogs meet Buffalo at Fore Erie and the Yellow Jackets clash with the Indians in Cleveland.

Loughran Will Meet Griffiths On Friday

NEW YORK, Mar. 23. (CP)—One big hurdle stands between Tommy Loughran and a second shot at Jack Sharkey and the ringwise Philadelphian will try to clear it this week.

Tommy, whose exploints have furnished most of the excitement of the current indoor season, battles Gerald Ambrose Griffiths, Sioux City, Ia., heavyweight, in the ten round feature bout at the Chicago stadium Friday night. It will be an annoying left hand against a devastating right and the final issue a matter of decided doubt. Granted that he avoids Griffith's heaviest blows Loughran should win, for the middle westerner does not class with him as a boxer.

A. W. Stephenson, an attorney, was fined recently in a Hull, England court for obstructing the highway with his automobile for four hours while arguing a case in another court.

Winnipeg Elmwoods Arrive At Toronto On Last Lap In Quest For Memorial Cup

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 23. (CP)—With the road of 4,000 Winnipeg fans' parting welcome still ringing in their ears, Elmwood Millionaires of the Manitoba city, arrived here at 7.20 o'clock this morning on the last leg of their quest for the Memorial Cup, junior hockey's Dominion emblem.

Nearly all the players were in fine shape eager for the fray at Arena Gardens to-night with Ottawa Primroses. Kitson Massey, good natured defence star, suffered painful burns as the train was leaving Winnipeg when another member of the club accidently turned a petcock and the escaping steam struck him on the back of the leg. He declared he felt fine this morning and that the injury would not interfere with his playing.

The giants of the team, Art Rice-Jones and Massey proved the life of the party on the long, tedious journey. As a result of their exuberance G. McKenzie and some of the others are sporting shiny new hats to-day, the old ones having been swept overboard, during boyish scuuffles.

Ottawa's proud Primroses, hope of the Capital city for its first junior crown, were reported in top shape too and like the Elmwoods ready to give their last ounce of stamina in an effort to secure the first victory in the series which is the best two-out-of-three. The second game will be played Wednesday and the third, if necessary, on Friday.

Frank Greenleaf Montreal, first-vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, arrived in the city this morning to supervise the games. He has appointed Ted Blondal, Winnipeg and Percy Moore, Montreal, as referees for the series.

MORENZ LEADS BOTH SECTIONS NATIONAL LOOP

Colorful Canadien Forward Has Total of 49 Points Against Goodfellow's 48.

GARDNER AMONG BEST.

Toronto Leafs Have Most Powerful Scoring Line—Rockburn Still Tops Bad Boys.

(By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Sports Writer.)

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 23.—Howie "Get a Goal" Morenz, crimson flyer from Montreal Canadiens, leads all players in the National Hockey League in scoring points for the playing season which concluded last night. Morenz has enjoyed one of the most successful seasons of his great career, beating the opposition goalies 28 time and assisting team mates to score 21 times, for a total of 49 points. Last year's record was held by Cooney Weiland, of Boston, who scored 43 goals and 30 assists for the substantial total of 73 points.

With all teams having completed the 44 game schedule, which opened Nov. 11 last year, six teams will enter the play-offs, while four other squads can pack their sticks and uniforms for the summer. The teams which escaped relegation are Canadiens, Boston, Toronto, Chicago, Montreal Maroons and New York Rangers. The unfortunate four are New York Americans, Detroit, Ottawa and Philadelphia.

Boston Bruins lead both sections of the League in victories, having won 28 games, lost 10 and tied six, for a total of 62 points. Canadiens, winners of the Canadian loop, won 26, lost 10, tied 8, and are two points behind Boston. The Bruins garnered 143 goals, and were scored against 90 times. Canadiens had 129 for and 89 against.

Toronto Maple Leafs had the most powerful scoring line. Almost equalling the Tinker-Evans-Chance of baseball fame, the Conacher-Primeau-Jackson forward line of Toronto ran up 117 scoring points in the 44 games. And at that, Conacher and Primeau both missed five full games through injuries. They were given a close run by the Bun Cook-Boucher-Bill Cook line of Rangers, who scored just one point less.

Conacher leads the entire league in actual goals, having netted the disc 31 times. Bill Cook was just one point behind "Conny" with 30. Primeau had most assists, 30, but he too was given a close run by Boucher, who has 27 to his credit.

Church Gardner, Chicago, was the leading shut-out artist. He blanked the opposition 12 times, far more than any other goalie could do. In the Canadian section, Hainsworth, Canadiens; Worters, of Americans, and Toronto, all registered 8 shut-outs. In the latter case, however, the honors were shared. Benny Grant, former goalie, scored two of them while Lorne Chabot, regular net-minder, scored the other six.

"Bad Boy" Leader

Harvey Rockburn, of Detroit, drew more penalties than any other player, 118 minutes. Rockburn is, therefore, the theoretical "bad man" of the big leagues. However, it may be said that Harvey plays a hard but not a "dirty" game, and is as much sinned against as sinning. Shore, of Boston, is the only other player in the league to reach the "100" mark, having been thumbed to the sidelines for a total of 105 minutes. He occupies second "worst" position in the American section. Burke, of Canadiens, led the Canadian section to the last leg with 91 minutes spent in the penalty box.

American Pacemakers Drop Week-end Games

CHICAGO, March 23 (C.P.).—Pacemakers in the American Hockey League as the season wanes, Tulsa Oilers and Kansas City Pla-Mors started to-day after week-end beatings. Duluth Hornets, third-position team, consolidated their chances of entering the play-offs by downing their closest rivals, Buffalo Majors, 2 to 1.

Oilers, who have led the League unchallenged for weeks, accepted an 8 to 7 trimming from the tail-end St. Louis Fliers. Chicago Shamrocks, one-time leaders, now unable to make a play-off post, defeated the second-place Pla-Mors 6 to 3.

The league standing, including last night's games, follows:

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS For EVERYONE

Hockey is all over here, and will soon be finished everywhere till next winter. So the talk is naturally turning to baseball. And the big question with local sports is: "Will Peterborough have a senior team this summer?"

* * * * * * *

Well, why not? We haven't imported any players this year, that's true. But there must be a few ballplayers in this city left. Take a few of the better ones from each of the teams in last year's East Peterborough League, and you've got a nice outfit.

* * * * * * *

The executive of the E.P.L. last Spring promised to co-operate with backers of the senior team, and they are men of their words. They realize that good sportsmanship and civic pride means more than big gates. And, at that, the gates wouldn't suffer.

* * * * * * *

Fans will turn out to see good amateur ball anytime. Just so long as they are fighting teams, it doesn't matter so much whether they are winning or not. And why shouldn't our entry in the Central League be a winner? Look at Belleville.

* * * * * * *

Every summer, the same bunch of veterans down there, check their crutches at the entrance, and limp onto the diamond. And every summer those old-timers are in the race all the time. And we've never heard of a Fountain of Youth down in Belleville either.

* * * * * * *

There's some talk of there being no Central League this year. Sounds like the bunk. They'll get together as usual and thresh it all out, and the league will be functioning again. That's our guess, anyway.

* * * * * * *

Sure it's early to start beefing about a senior team, but there's no use waiting around till grass is growing on the base-paths. That was the trouble last Spring. Let it slide till too late

* * * * * * *

It's hard to figure how a senior outfit can lose any money here. Expenses can be kept down by using a little system. Big crowds will be on hand regularly if the team is playing fair ball. And with the material in this town, there certainly ought to be a well-balanced team wearing the Petes' uniforms.

* * * * * * *

There are backers here who will step forward quick enough if they think the whole city is with them, including all local leagues. Well, there'll be plenty of discussion on the matter at the O.B.A.A. meeting here a week from Saturday.

* * * * * * *

Everyone may not agree with this line of reasoning, but a little chewing of the fat over the subject won't do a bit of harm. And, besides, it's nice to get this steam off our chests. You can't arrest a man for saying what he thinks.

* * * * * * *

A gallant bunch of kids that don't know how to quit, that's what the Ottawa Primroses are. They meet the Elmwood Millionaires of Winnipeg in Toronto to-night in the first game for the Canadian Junior championship, and the Memorial Cup.

* * * * * * *

The Ottawa boys were never conceded a chance all winter. They didn't even have their own equipment, but had to borrow sticks and sweaters. But they battled over all obstacles to represent the east in the final playoffs. And now the east is backing them to a man.

* * * * * * *

Jack Sharkey, through his manager, has agreed to fight the winner of the Griffith-Loughran scrap on Friday night at the Chicago stadium some time in June.

* * * * * * *

"The terrible Sharkey man" had no trouble knocking Loughran out last year, but Tommy has shown improvement since. And followers of the sour science would likely turn out to see a return bout.

* * * * * * *

To find out exactly where this city is going to stand in baseball this coming season a meeting of all those interested has been called for Thursday night in Duffus Bowling Alleys at 8:00 o'clock. The East Peterborough League is ready to organize for the coming season but before doing so it is willing to give those who want a senior team entered this year an opportunity to organize Now is the time rather than wait until the fine warm days when the boys are out on the sandlots to decide the all important question. So let every baseball enthusiast be present to express his views on the important question in 1931 baseball

THREE PROVINCES OF WEST NAME BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

New Westminster Adanacs Ousted by University of British Columbia at Vancouver.

Capitals In Saskatchewan.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 23 (C.P.)—Three of the four provinces in Canada's West to-day have named their 1931 basketball champions—and the fourth has seen the 1930 Dominion champions eliminated. New Westminster Adanacs, who last season swept across the country on a tide of victory to the Canadian title were ousted by University of British Columbia in the Vancouver district final.

Before the British Columbia honors are decided, the Varsity team must meet Victoria Pedens, Vancouver Island champions. The Varsity crew downed Adanacs Saturday night 21 to 16 after splitting the previous four games in the three-out-of-five series.

Union Jacks of Raymond, little Mormon settlement far down in Southern Alberta, are winners in the foothills province. Saturday night they administered the finishing touches to University of Alberta, winning 44 to 34 and taking the two-game series 97 to 54.

Saskatchewan's titilists are Regina Capitals, crowned Saturday night after a 47-to-29 victory, making a 94-to-51 series count against "Y" aces of Saskatoon.

Winnipeg Toilers have long since cinched the Manitoba crown and are waiting to play off with the Thunder Bay champions, Toilers and the lakehead champs play off in early April for the right to start the westward elimination trek.

Third Game May Be Played In Ottawa

REGINA, Sask., March 23. (CP)—If a third game is necessary in the Memorial Cup series between the Winnipeg Elmwoods and Ottawa Primroses it will be played on Ottawa ice, according to a ruling handed down by President Jack Hamilton of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association over the week-end. Originally the entire series was billed for Toronto, where the first two games will be played, but negotiations between the Ottawans and the C.A.H.A., have resulted in the change.

Mr. Hamilton pointed out that arrangements had been made for two games on Toronto ice and thus the only chance Ottawa fans have of witnessing the Primroses in action is for the rival aggregations to split even in the first two struggles of two-of-three series.

Flat Season Opens On English Tracks

LINCOLN, England, March 23. —(Canadian Press Cable.)— The English flat racing season opened here to-day, and the first great race of the season will be run on Wednesday—the Lincolnshire Handicap at one mile.

Lady Ludlow's four year old Massal is a lukewarm favorite for the Lincolnshire, which was first run in 1853. Last year's winner, Leonidas second, is in the field again.

Thirty-seven horses were listed in the revised probable starters and jockeys to-day. The betting was as follows: 100 to nine against Massal; 13 to one against The Masher; 100 to six against Knoght Error; 20 to one against Eye's Front; 20 to one against Leonidas and Rivalary; 22 to one against Sargasso; 25 to one against Telasur and Bunch; 28 to one against Cat O' Nine Tails and Fleeting Memory.

Grand National Odds

LONDON, Mar. 23.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Easter Hero, the high class steeplechaser owned by J. H. Whitney of the United States, was back in the forefront in today's call-over of betting odds on the Grand National, to be run at Aintree on Friday.

The betting on the leading contenders was as follows:

Easter Hero, 100 to nine against; Sir Lindsay, 100 to seven; Ballasport 100 to seven; Drintyre 18 to one; Erin 18 to one; Grakle, 18 to one; Kakushin 20 to one; Shaun Goilin, winner in 1930, 25 to one; Melleray's Belle 25 to one; Gib 33 to one; Richmond Second 33 to one.

The field was reduced to 47 today when Delarue, owned by J. R. Snow was scratched.

Vest Pocket Motor Perfected By German

BERLIN, Germany, Mar. 23. (AP). Development of a 200-horse power "vest-pocket" motor weighing only 14 pounds, which is expected to revolutionize long-distance aeroplane flying, has been accomplished by Paul Heylandt, a German expert on liquid gases.

Max Valier the inventor last year surprised the world with a rocket-motor, propelled by recoil caused through igniting liquid air mixed with gasoline.

By improving and enlarging his rocket-motor, which originally weighed seven pounds and then yielded 25 to 40 horsepower. Heylandt now feels that he has a motor which surpasses any gasoline motor for economy, simplicity and safety.

I.O.O.F. ENTERTAIN.

Campbellford Rebekahs Are guests at Jolly Social—Sumptuous Repast.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — Fun and frolic was the order of events Friday evening when the Campbellford Lodge No. 248 I.O.O.F. entertained their sister organization, Loch Lomond Rebekah Lodge, No. 248, to a social evening in their lodge rooms, Ferris Block. A large attendance was registered and a very enjoyable evening spent.

The first portion of the program consisted of cards, the winners for which were, games, ladies, Mrs. J. N. Ackerman and gents, A. Hollings. A sumptious repast was served to the visitors, after which a short musical program was presented, G. Lucy presiding. This comprised several numbers by Miss K. Smith of Albert College, Belleville, well known entertaner, and a vocal and piano solo by G. Lucy.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. Alex Krenbrenk, Clavet, Sask., writes: "Constant indigestion and cramps just about doubled me up. I lost weight; nerves were on edge; felt tired all the time. TANLAC brought back my healthy, vigorous self again; meals digested easily; cramps gone for good."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

PILES ALL GONE

Without Salves or Cutting.

Itching, bleeding, protruding Piles go quickly, and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemmorrhoidal veins causes Piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail, because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients, with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

'NEATH SUNNY SKIES

Spicy Bits of Baseball Gossip From Majors' Camps.

Back at their training camp at San Antonio, Texas, after a week-end experiment with night baseball at Houston, the New York Giants still are debating the good and bad points of the floodlight game. The general opinion is against it, since the Giants lost to the Chicago White Sox Saturday night and beat them in Sunday's sunshine, but they still have open minds. The teams have decided to try it again and plan to play next Weneeday's game here at night.

Training at the Red Sox camp at Pensacola, Fla., will be one continual round of batting practice until Wednesday, when the boys start out on the road. President Bob Quinn leaves to-day for home highly pleased with the way things have gone during the training trip and Manager Collins stays behind, dissatisfied and bound that within the next few days his boys are going to learn to hit harder and farther.

The Athletics at Fort Myers, Fla., were split into two teams to-day for the leisurely trip to Philadelphia starting to-morrow.

Manager Mack, feeling that the unsettled state of his pitching staff calls for vigorous methods, will be in charge of the second team at the exhibition games en-route to get first hand information on how much help he may expect from his recruit hurlers. All the youngsters will get plenty of work on the homeward trek.

The regulars under Captain Collins, will move north over a different route. Pitchers Hank McDonald, Santa Monica; Max Butcher, West Virginia, and Lew Krausse, Media, Pa., will travel with the first team, an indication, perhaps, which way the wind is blowing.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Fine Program Planned For Omemee; Peterborough Citizens Invited.

OMEMEE, March 23—Opening here to-morrow with the play "Turn to the Right" the Canadian Chautauqua players enter upon a four days' engagement with a splendid cast and attractive program. The second day will feature Lowell Patton, Fenwick Newell and Gloria Robinson, musicians, while on Thursday the Elias Tamburitza Serenaders occupy the bill along with Julius Caesar Naphe, a native of Palestine who is to lecture on Czecho Slovakia. Friday the engagement will conclude with a three act farce, "The Whole Town Talking", by the Canada Players.

That the Chautauqua will attract large crowds from the surrounding country districts, is a foregoing conclusion, andf or the benefit of residents of Peterborough who may wish to attend it may be stated that the roads are in good condition.

Bowling
Alley Gossip
By Pin Boy

The Rangers had the edge this week in the City League battle against the Westclox, thanks to the superlative pin toppling of J. Playford who made 909 in three games. The Clockmakers took one point out of four winning the first game but lost the second one by the close margin of 28 pins. Fred Jones was second high for the Rangers with 653 while Joe Marsden, lead-off man for the same team, suffered a reverse of form, securing only 517. Dave Ahern's triple of 774 was high for the Westclox.

The Bowlrites centered along to a lopsided win over the Brinton Carpet spilling a team total of 3,520 pins against the Carpet Makers' 2,892. Frank Woods for the winners came into the limelight when he piled up a high three of 827 which included a single of 335 while Bill Sweetman was next with 757 and Shiner Johnson third with 729. W. Curtis was the only player on the losing side who was up to form, making 664.

The Canadiens with a winning majority of 160 pins in three games took a 3-1 decision from the Lucky Strikes who won the first game. Roy Lewis for the former crew joined the 300 hitters' circle when he secured 331, 289, 282 for a triple of 822.

LADIES CITY LEAGUE

The Nashua Paper and West Ends fought to a 4-all tie in the regular league games last week, with D. Copping turning in the highest score for the Paper Makers and Ann Simpson leading the latter team in heavy hitting.

Columbians walked over the Brintons rough shod winning every game to pile up a margin of 348 pins. G. O'Connell tumbled 272 in one game to take high single honours while Lil Campbell with 222 and 542 was next. C. Doran and Mrs. Firth were well up for the Brintons. The Quaker Oats team met with plenty of opposition in their game with the Metropolitans but finally won out 6-2. Agnes McCormick was high for the Clerks while Z. Northey, L. Murdock and A. Dixon, were the outstanding bowlers for the winners.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 19 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Shortly before sundown, a group of horsemen on the horizon were seen by a sentry. They came galloping over the now golden sands directly toward the French Legion's little camp. They made no attempt to conceal themselves, but Captain Jacot, suspecting treachery, gave his men a few sharp commands. The party of Arabs halted a hundred yards away; all but one, who rode straight into the camp and dismounted before Jacot.

"I am Sheik Amor ben Khatour," he announced. Captain Jacot eyed the newcomer, a tall, sour-looking man, narrowly. "Well?" he asked. The Arab came directly to the point. "Achmet ben Houdin, your prisoner, is my sister's son. Deliver him to me and I will see that he behaves." Jacot shook his head. "That cannot be. He is charged with many murders. If he is innocent, he will be released!" "And if he is not?" questioned the sheik.

The Arab's left hand had been hidden beneath his burnoose. Now he withdrew it, disclosing a large goatskin purse bulging and heavy with gold coins. He opened it and let a handful trickle into his right palm, then replaced them. All the time he was silent. Jacot watched him closely. They were alone now. The Sheik held the purse toward Jacot, stepped close and whispered meaningly: "Achmet ben Houdin, my sister's son, MIGHT manage to escape this night?"

The French officer flushed deeply, then he went very white and with fists clenched took a half-step toward the Arab. Suddenly he thought better of whatever impulse was moving him. "Sergeant!" he called. The non-commissioned officer hurried forward saluting, as his heels clicked together before his superior. "Take this black dog back to his people," he ordered. "See that they leave at once and shoot the first who attempts to return."

ROADS BARE—DEEP IN SNOW.

Country roads present fifty-seven varieties, more or less, of traffic conditions, ranging from the bare paved highways to side roads that have not yet emerged from the storm of two weeks ago. An Otonabee farmer in the Stewart settlement set out from home on Friday with a team and sleigh. The snow was more than knee deep on the horses and when he reached a county road he borrowed a waggon from a friend and completed the trip into the city. Several implement salesmen reported that they had never seen the roads with such a diversity of difficulties as last week.

Both arms of the young woman were tattooed with fantastic pictures and the legends, "Death before dishonor," and "The godless girl."

ONE HUNDRED PERSONS ATTEND ANNUAL FATHER-SON BANQUET

Leo Copp is Speaker of Evening at Knox Church Gathering.

INTERESTING ADDRESS.

A Father and Son Banquet was held in Knox Church on Friday evening, sponsored by the Boys' Work Leaders of the church, when about one hundred sat down to supper, served by the ladies and kept lively with the yells of the Tuxis and Trail Ranger groups.

Song, that antidote for the poison of depression, was lustily indulged in, and it was interesting from the spectator's viewpoint, to observe how they joined in at first in rather timid fashion, later with shining, reddened faces and roundly opened mouths, yelled out in booming bass or baritone.

The King was honored, and Mr. Gillies, superintendent of the Sunday School, welcomed the guests. Hugh Morton, president of the A.S.K. Class for young men, neatly expressed the father and son relationship in proposing a toast to the Church. The Rev. Mr. McDonald, in his reply, stressed the value of the church for dads and lads, in interesting and characteristic fashion.

A youthful orator, Ross Allen, Sub Chief of the Trail Rangers, wittily toasted "Our Dads" in verse, the response coming fittingly from his father, John Allen, in appropriate and well-chosen words.

The toast, "Our Sons," was proposed by A. McKenzie in a novel way, "Dad as a salesman, selling himself to his son." The response by Harry Anderson, Pretor of the Tuxis Square, maintained the high standard set by his predecessors.

Leo Copp.

The speaker of the evening, Leo Copp, of George Street United Church and president of the local Boys' Work Board, gave an interesting and entertaining address, conveying a real message. One of his illustrations on the developing youth, the wriggler or larvae of the dragon fly, finding itself at a particular period in life with wings and power, its horizon having been previously limited to a muddy pond, now finding itself enabled to soar to undreamed-of heights, with a whole world before it, was exceptionally well taken.

Larmer Brown, Mentor of the Trail Rangers, was congratulated upon the efficient way in which he had handled the organization of the banquet, replying modestly, but well

Mr. Lockie, of the Sunday School, thanked the ladies for their kindness, and Mrs. Londerville, for the ladies, expressed pleasure in having been able to be of service.

The soloist for the evening was H. Hughes, and the pianist was Tom Allen, both of whom contributed greatly to the enjoyment of the entertainment.

The proceedings were conducted throughout by John Donaldson, Mentor of the Tuxis Square, officiating as toastmaster and song leader.

The singing of "Follow the Gleam" marked the end of an event which gave every participant the feeling of an evening well spent.

St. Andrew's W.M.S. Holds March Meeting

At the March meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church, held in the church parlor, Mrs. C. V. McLean read a copy of the resolution on Temperance which was recommended by the secretaries of Temperance at the Peterborough Presbyterial, requesting the ladies to sign the resolution at the close of the meeting.

Miss F. Dixon the president of the W.M.S., took the chair for the first part of the proceedings, followed by Mrs. Leslie's group, in charge of the program, which included the Scripture reading by Mrs. Pilling, a vocal solo by Miss Bryce, a paper by Mrs. M. Kerr on "Demonstrations of the Love of God", with Dr. Norman's work and life in Japan as a shining example, and a most interesting talk on Foreign Missions by the Rev. S. H. Moyer of Springville.

The Rev. Mr. Moyer, in alluding to the cost of medical and educational work in the foreign fields, pointed out that there was no place where money would go as far or do as much good in helping to carry on this work.

Railway Workers Continue Conferences

LONDON, Mar. 23. (By Thomas T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent) Further meetings of railway workers in the principle centres yesterday decided, in main, to instruct their delegates to accept the awards of the Railways National Wages Board at the meetings of the big unions.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers meet, to-morrow, the conference of delegates of the Firemen's Union is also called for to-morrow, and the adjourned conference of the National Union of Railwaymen will be held Thursday.

A few meetings voted in favor of rejecting the board's recommendations of an all-around wage cut of about 2½ per cent., but the leaders were strongly in favor of acceptance.

If the worst should happen and the board's findings are rejected by the workers, a railway strike would probably be called for Good Friday April 3.

Sister Julianna died at the Hospital at Pembroke on Sunday after a prolonged illness.

HOOVER UNLIKELY TO CALL PARLEY

President Favors Starting Probe Into Silver From Another Quarter.

DELICATE POSITION.

Washington, March 23 (By Ken Clark, C. P. Staff Correspondent).— The prospect of President Hoover acting upon the Senate resolution recommending that he consider the advisability of calling an international conference to consider what steps may be taken to rehabilitate silver, appears remote.

Senator William E. Borah, who discussed the matter with the President last week, thinks such a conference would be a move toward the improvement of world conditions.

It is believed, however, the President, while favorable to the idea something should be done about silver looking toward the benefit of the Oriental market, would prefer that international action should be initiated from some other quarter.

The position of the United States Government in the matter is obviously delicate, since the feeling of American silver advocates is the chief cause of the present depression is attributable to the threat of silver controlled by the British Government for India.

It is indicated Washington would like to see the British Government move in the matter and failing that prefers to await action by business. Silver is listed as a topic for discussion at the forthcoming meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and will probably come up at the International Chamber meetings later.

BESSBORO' KEEN TO SEE DOMINION

Comptroller of Rideau Hall Returns From England After Arranging Arrival.

PLAN EXTENSIVE TOURS.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 23 (C.P.)— The Earl and Countess of Bessborough are "tremendously keen" to come to Canada, declared Lt.-Col. Humphry W. Snow, C.M.G., D.S.O., Comptroller of Rideau Hall, who returned to Ottawa Sunday after a hurried trip to England to make arrangements with the new Governor-General and his lady for their scheduled arrival at Government House in two weeks' time. Speaking of the great personal charm possessed by Their Excellencies, Col. Snow confidently predicted for them "a great success" in Canada.

"I found Their Excellencies most charming when I met them at their Eaton Square Home," Col. Snow said. His Excellency speaks beautiful French, while Her Excellency, who, as you know, is French, speaks equally good English. His Excellency is most eager to arrive in Ottawa and commence his term; he is especially pleased that his arrival here about April 6 will enable him to meet all the Members of Parliament assembled in session; and he hopes to become acquainted with Canada from coast to coast as soon as he possibly can."

Lord Bessborough, it is understood, has given up his many directorships in various business enterprises throughout England, to leave himself free to devote his whole efforts to his position here.

Col. Snow will confer with Premier Bennett this week to complete arrangements for Their Excellencies' arrival in Halifax on April 4, where the formal swearing in ceremony will take place, and their journey to the Capital and reception here.

CUSTOMS UNION OPEN TO EUROPE IS AUSTRIA'S ANSWER TO PROTESTS

Foreign Minister Claims Pact With Germany First Step to Abolish Barriers.

FRANCE INVESTIGATING.

VIENNA, March 23. (AP)—Austria to-day answered protests against her proposed customs union with Germany with an invitation to other European countries to join in an abolition of customs barriers.

A formal protest by diplomatic representatives of France Italy, and Czechoslovakia drew from Dr. Johann Schober, Foreign Minister and Vice-Chancellor, the word that Germany and Austria had no intention of concluding any treaty which excluded the other powers. On the contrary, he said, both have invited any other European state—all European states—to join the projected customs union, so as gradually to extend it to embrace all European countries.

He declared also that Austria felt more encouraged to embark on the customs arrangement with Germany since she was conscious that the plan had the approval both of Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister and author of an ambitious pan-European scheme and of the League of Nations.

Cabinet Approves Probe

PARIS, March 23 (A.P.). — The French Cabinet approved to-day the movement initiated by Aristide Briand to attempt to determine whether the Austro-German economic accord involved any infringement of the independence of Austria.

Briand explained that the Ministers of various European powers interested have requested information on the proposed treaty from Vienna.

Dispatches from Vienna brought the information that diplomatic representatives of France, Italy and Czechoslovakia had called upon Austrian Prime Minister Schober, but there was no mention of Schober's having received the British Government's representative.

The French Government, it was said, has minimized the importance of the Austro-German accord, although the Parisian press has printed columns about it, calling it the first step in an Austro-German union and consequently a possible threat against European conciliation.

$100,000 BLAST WRECKS FACTORY FELT FOR BLOCKS

Explosion in Detroit Golf Ball Company Caused by Igniting of Naptha Tank.

TWO EMPLOYEES HURT.

Nine Residences Take Fire and Families Hurled From Beds Flee to Neighbors.

DETROIT, Mich., March 24 (C.P.). — Persons in adjoining buildings were thrown from their beds and windows were shattered for blocks around as an explosion and fire wrecked the factory of the Bon Dee Golf Ball Company, on the west side, late last night.

The explosion was caused by ignition of a 40-gallon tank of Naphtha, officials of the company said. Stanley B. Nicholas, treasurer of the company, estimated the damage at $100,000, and said that 75 men would be thrown out of work temporarily through destruction of the plant.

The blast was felt as far west as Coolidge Highway in Dearborn. It shattered the rear wall of the McGraw Hotel nearby, and the flaming naphtha set fire to nine residences. Families were driven from their homes and were cared for by neighbors for the rest of the night. Only two men were injured. Albert Asselin and Richard Cyriax, employees in the plant, were blown into the street.

TRUCK HITS POLE PASSENGER DIES

DRIVER BADLY HURT.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Mar. 24. (CP) Arthur Joyce, Brockville, was killed early this morning when a car in which he was riding left the provincial highway Number 2, one mile east of Maitland and crashed into a pole. Donald Blair, also of Brockville, driver of the car was injured.

Joyce and Blair were returning from Ottawa in a light truck which was discovered by Provincial Police lying upturned in the ditch on the south side of the highway after having snapped off a telephone post. Joyce, whose home was at Tincap, five miles from Brockville and who was recently working at Fitzroy Harbour was instantly killed, his skull being fractured while Blair was taken to the hospital here with a broken shoulder and other injuries. He is unable to give a clear account of the accident. An inquest will be opened to-day.

Appellate Court Upsets Surrogate Court Ruling

TORONTO, Ont., March 24.—(C.P.)—Ruling that the Surrogate Court had no jurisdiction to make an order on the question involved, First Appellate Court of Osgoode Hall declared void an order of Judge Reynolds of the counties of Leeds and Grenville in which he held that Minnie Haddigan was entitled to share in the estate of the late David John Haddigan. The claimant, Minnie D. Haddigan, had been married to David John Haddigan at New York in 1889, it was explained, and the parties were divorced in Rome, N. Y., last year.

Judge Reynolds held the evidence showed that the claimant was the lawful widow of the testator, and that the divorce could not be recognized in the Ontario courts as the party still had their domicile in Canada. The claimant said that her husband had lived and worked in Peterborough till the time of his death.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 24 (A.P.).—Word was received here to-day that fourteen Turkish longshoremen had been torn to pieces March 17 in Zonguldak harbor by the propeller of the German boat Mexico.

The men had approached alongside the Mexico in a rowboat, when the engines were unexpectedly started, the report said, tearing the occupants of the small boat limb from limb.

Landmark Removed At Young's Point

YOUNG'S POINT, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—An elm tree which has long been known as "Francis Young's tree" has been cut down, and the village has lost another link with the past. The old tree was a landmark on the shore of Katchawanooka Lake, and it has always been understood that it was to this tree, more than one hundred years ago, that Francis Young, grandfather of P. P. Young, tied his boat when he first paddled up over the rapids of the Otonabee River and decided on this site for his home.

EXPLOSIVE MIXER VICTIM OF BLAST IN POWDER PLANT

Concrete Building at Brownsburg Blown to Pieces in Gigantic Explosion.

CAUSE NEVER BE KNOWN.

Victim Had Held Job 10 Years and Always Worked Alone —Leaves Family.

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 24. (CP) A terrific blast of gunpowder levelled the little concrete mixing building of the Canadian Industries Limited powder plant at Brownsburg and snuffed out the life of Alex Mason, 47, the only worker in the building. News of the explosion reached Montreal to-day, it having occurred late yesterday.

Mason, who leaves a widow and two children, mixed the formulas for primers and blasting caps in the little building set apart for that purpose. He held the job ten years, and always worked alone. Cause of the explosion will never be known. Others working at a distance heard a terrific roar and saw a sheet of flame. The little concrete building was blown to pieces and Mason's mangled body was found many yards distant after the smoke cleared.

HUNT CONTINUES FOR LOST PLANE

Thousands on Foot Scour Ranges Around Melbourne—Carried 7 Passengers.

KINGSFORD-SMITH ASSISTS.

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 24 (C.P.). — The air liner Southern Cloud, missing with seven occupants for four days, still was sought to-day by a score of planes and a thousand men on foot.

After scouring the bush for hours, one party reported they had sighted what they believed were the wings of an airplane in a ravine in the Strathbogie Ranges, about 80 miles from here. With dusk coming on, it was impossible to proceed further, and the search in that region will be continued to-morrow.

Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith again plunged into the hunt following the installation of a new propeller on his plane to replace the one he broke in a forced landing yesterday.

POLICY OF GOV'T ON AGRICULTURE ASKED OF WEIR

Parley Between Packers and Hog Producers Suggested By Red Deer Member.

OPPOSITION CRITICAL.

Beaubien Suggests Tory Caucus in West—Plea to Premier to Follow.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 24. (CP)—Dr. W. D. Cowan, Conservative Member for Long Lake, will lead off the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne when the House of Commons opens this afternoon. Nine members yesterday took the debate into the second week, the majority being from the opposition side of the chamber.

"What's the use of raising a crop when you cannot sell it?" was the question Western Canada wheat farmers were asking to-day declared Alfred Speakman, U.F.A., member for Red Deer. In his 40 years experience in the West, he had never seen conditions so acute, "the present discouraging and the future so black".

Two Suggestions

Two concrete suggestions for assisting the west were advanced by the member for Red Deer. A conference between packers and producers of hogs might be called to evolve means of supplying regularly the British market. The need for this market was great because many Western farmers had been driven into this industry. The Government also might establish an experimental processing plant in connection with the pork packing industry. Danish bacon, the House was told, was displacing the Canadian commodity in the Alberta market due to the tremendous price spread between the amount paid the farmer for the live hog and the cost of the dressed food. Production costs in Denmark were below those in Canada.

Both A. F. Totzke (Lib., Humboldt) and A. L. Beaubien (Lib.-Prog., Provencher) suggested to Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, that

PARTY LEADERS IN DISCUSSION

Ontario House Budget Debate to Come to an End With Vote on Amendment.

16 NEW BILLS READ.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24 (C.P.)—The chiefs of three parties discuss the financial affairs of the Province in the Legislature to-day when the Budget debate comes to an end. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader, will lead off and will be followed by the Progressive Leader, Hon. H. C. Nixon. After that, Premier George S. Henry will reply, and the vote will be taken on the Liberal amendment to the motion to go into supply which regrets the failure of the Government to reduce the burden of taxation.

In preparation for the approaching end of the session the House is going about its business with a will. Yesterday it gave first reading to 16 nearly-introduced bills; second reading to 7; passed 9 through the committee stage, and 16 through third reading. In addition it voted $5,000,000 for Northern Development Fund.

TWO OMEMEE WOMEN ARE INJURED WHEN BREAD TRUCK STRIKES BUGGY

Miss Helen Johnson and Her Mother Are Thrown on to Highway.

BUGGY IS WRECKED.

OMEMEE, March 24. (Examiner Correspondence).—Two women were injured here last night when the buggy in which they were riding was struck by the Valley Lily bread truck. Helen Johnson and her mother, Mrs. Robert Johnson, were driving to their home on the west extremity of the village.

The truck struck the buggy from the rear totally demolishing it. Miss Johnson was thrown out into the snow on the side of the road, but Mrs. Johnson was thrown upon the pavement suffering bad bruises. The truck driver's face was cut by flying glass from the broken windshield.

Plan Thorough Probe Of New York Affairs

ALBANY, N.Y., March 24 (C.P.).—The affairs of the City of New York are to be investigated by a legislative committee.

A resolution calling for a "thoroughgoing" investigation was adopted early to-day by strictly party vote in both Houses of the Legislature, after prolonged debate in which the Democratic minority vigorously assailed the proposal, while the Republicans, for the most part, sat quietly by, secure in the knowledge that they had enough votes to put the plan through to a successful conclusion.

The action of the Legislature followed closely upon the announcement of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt that he had forwarded to Mayor James J. Walker of New York, now visiting at Palm Springs, Calif., a copy of the charges preferred against him by the City Affairs Committee.

Crack English Train is Derailed

The Royal Scot, one of Britain's finest railway trains, and one of the fastest in the world, left the rails when speeding north from London to Carlisle on Sunday. Six passengers and crew were killed and a number injured. Only two weeks ago the Royal Scot travelled the 299 miles from London to Carlisle at the average speed of ninety miles an hour including stops. This picture shows the Flying Scotsman, sister engine of the Royal Scot, leaving London on its daily run.

Laying Black Eggs Brings Duck Fame

BRIDGETON, N.J., March 24—If the goose that laid the golden eggs could have a chat with the duck that laid the black one, poultry raisers hereabouts might go in for finance in a big way.

The first might have been a fable, but Marvin Snowwhite, 15-year-old farmer boy near here, offers convincing proof that the latter is a reality.

There is one black duck in Marvin's flock of white ones and this business of laying black eggs may be just a passing fancy. Thus far the total is four. Poultry raisers are puzzled; agriculturists amazed, and neighbors are wondering. As for Marvin—well he's wondering about the old nursery tale; for if black eggs can be laid, why not golden ones?

TRIO ARE FACING LIQUOR THEFTS

Government Store Loot is Allegedly Bootlegged in Hastings County.

TRACING BUYERS.

BELLEVILLE, March 24.—Harold Simmons, George Gold and Clarence Cooper, all former resdients of this city, were rounded up during the week-end in connection with a liquor theft at Deseronto Dec. 13, when nearly $1,000 worth of liquor was stolen from the Government store. The men will appear in Police Court to-day for trial.

A car was stolen at the time and a blacksmith shop in Deseronto was entered and cutters, hacksaws and other articles taken. The liquor, according to police, was brought back to Belleville and stored in a private garage, from which the youths allegedly peddled the whiskey to the northern part of the county. Statements were obtained by the Provincial Police, and it is understood the names of men buying liquor were given. Charges under the L.C.A. will be made, and purchasers will have to reimburse the Government for the quantity bought. Only the best Scotches, gins, brandies and liqueurs were taken.

TRIO PICKED UP IN NICK OF TIME

Ice Floe With Sargent, King and Dying Capt. Kennedy Dwindled to 6 Feet Wide.

MASTER WATCH IS HERO.

ST. JOHN'S, March 24.—(C.P.) — Dr. S. H. Martin, one of the medical staff on board the Sagona, told of the rescue of Sargent, King and the dying Captain Kennedy.

"We were providentially directed," he said. "We were sweeping the sea with powerful binoculars when into our vision came a dark object that at first looked like a patch of seals. This was at five o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Then we made out flags waving and soon discovered two figures and another moving as a blinded man might. We bore down as carefully as we could on the pan which was about six feet across and in bad condtion, and in danger of breaking up. A dory was slung out and King was gently lifted into it and swung aboard the ship. Ready hands helped the other two men from their hazardous position. The ship at the time the rescue was effected was 21 miles from the spot where the disaster occurred. A search was made of the surface of sea and ice but not another trace of living or dead was found before darkness set in."

Greatest Hero of All.

One party of men who had set out for Horse Island with two injured men in a dory in charge of Master Watch W. G. Johnston of Conception Bay, the outstanding hero by the unanimous decision of all concerned, struggled over the rough ice for hours until they were within about four or five miles of shore. Considering it hopeless to drag the dory further the men determined to reach land themselves.

Johnston decided to remain, refusing to leave the injured mate, Alfred Kean, and Fred Best, the helper of the picture men. He stood by for 32 hours when the sealers Beothic which had reached the scene with the other sealers Imogene, Ungava and Eagle, bore down and rescued them from their terrible predicament. These with the three on the wreckage were the only survivors who were picked up on the ice and only one body, that of Patrick Bartlett, found by the Eagle in the werckage strewn on the ice. His body was broken almost beyond recognition. The Beothic's rescued were later conveyed to the Sagona, Johnsten accompanying them here. He continued to render valuable service, helping with the injured and when volunteers were called for to undertake any dangerous work, he was the first to respond.

Brought Back 13.

The Sagonia brought back thirteen men, seven of whom were conveyed to hospital and the others taken to private homes. The body of Captain Kennedy was last removed.

The whole of the work was efficiently carried out, with the Prime Minister, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and other members of the Cabinet remaining by and directing affairs until everything was completed.

The steamer Prospero arrived at six o'clock, having stopped at Catalina to land one batch of men from that locality and bringing others here.

SILENT THRONG SEES SAGONA LAND SURVIVORS

No Bustle, No Shouts of Greeting as Ambulances Carry Away Sick, Ont Dead.

STIRRING TALES TOLD.

Theories Differ Widely on Cause of Blast on Sealer Viking.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, March 24 (By C. E. A. Jeffery, C.P. Staff Writer).—The steamer Sagona, victor over the ice, pierced the darkness of the early hours to-day and steamed into St. John's port.

She bore survivors of the Viking, some sick, one dead. There were no shouts of greeting, no bustle as the ship berthed. A silent crowd watched, with it the Prime Minister and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Stretcher bearers worked swiftly, silently. Loaded ambulances began to depart as soon as the gang plank was down.

Stirring Tales

Eager ears listened for first hand stories of the Viking's fate, how she exploded on Sunday night, March 15, eight miles off Horse Island, White Bay. The stories came reluctantly.

At 8 o'clock that fateful Sunday the crew of the Viking were below singing hymns. The Sealer, making slow progress, hit a pan of heavy ice and lurched.

"Hell burst loose", said one survivor.

George Day, of Placentia, was the only man aft of the somestack who survived. He said he was fung into the air and pitched on to the deck.

When he regained consciousness the whole stern of the ship was gone and flames were licking at him.

He jumped over the side to loose ice pans and had a hard time of it to hold his footing. Men were scattering in all directions.

Captain Rallies Men

Captain Abram Kean, Jr., Master of the barkentine, picked himself up from the ice where he had been flung from the bridge, barked quick orders to keep his men together. It saved many from death between the pans. Together then they struggled over the ice, and hours later reached Horse Island.

On the cause of the explosion nearly all had theories, hardly any two of them alike.

Varick Frissel, New York movie producer; Harry Sargent, Boston explorer, and A. G. Penrod, movie cameraman, were in the cabin just before

RUMOR U. S. CONSIDERING REVISION OF LIQUOR SMUGGLING TREATIES

Diplomatic Feelers Likely to be Sent Out After Josephine K. Case Dies Down.

THREE MAIN FACTORS.

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 24. (CP) The Baltimore Sun prints a dispatch from Washington, D.C., which states a move to revise this country's liquor smuggling treaties is being considered by the State Department.

The dispatch adds that diplomatic feelers to the most important of the sixteen nations bound by such treaties probably will go forward as soon as public attention has shifted from the Josephine K., the latest rum-runners to cause international complications.

Stating that only recently had the treasury been able to obtain the cooperation of the State Department and that the need had been acentuated by the capture of the Josephine K. and the killing of her captain, the dispatch sufmarizes the three factors behind the treaty revision move as follows:

1. The unsatisfactory provision which permits seizure of rum-runners one hour's sailing distance from shore instead of twleve miles, as provided in domestic laws since 1790.

2. The belief that the United States, in giving foreign vessels the right to bring liquor under bond into United States ports, is giving greater concessions to foreign countries than similar concessions given by them in return.

3. The probability that after the arbitration of the I'm Alone case, a new definition of the right of "hot pursuit" will have to be worked out in regard to the treaties.

Viking Disaster Highlights

Survivors believe Viking's whistle blew ominous warning.

Varick Frissell had premonition of impending disaster.

Viking struck ice pan, causing her to lurch badly, immediately before detonation.

Oil lamp believed to have been burning in boatswain's cabin adjacent to ammunition.

Powder magazine definitely fixed as source of explosion.

Captain Abram Kean, Jr., despite serious injuries, personally directed disposition of survivors on ice floes, and saved many lives.

Sternpost saved life of Henry Sargent.

Three men adrift on wreckage, embedded in small ice-pan gradually melting, miraculously picked up after 44 hours.

Master Watch W. G. Johnston, Conception Bay, refusing to make certain his own safety, stood by injured men in dory 32 hours.

Peterborough Woman Holds $5,000 Ticket

An Examiner reporter went out this afternoon, happy in the thought that he was bringing Frances Walker, 583 George Street, good news. A flash from Toronto had brought official word that Frances Walker had to-day won $5,000. The money was a consolation prize in the Irish Free State Sweepstakes.

Unfortunately the reporter could not deliver the glad tidings, however. It was learned that Frances Walker had moved from the house on George Street, and neighbors could not furnish the new address.

It was learned later than the Walkers now live at 314 Maitland

CHIEF JUSTICE SIR WILLIAM MULOCK GRANTS BAIL $10,000 TO LAWYER TWO OTHER A.B.C. OFFICIALS APPEAL

Charles Paddon and Herbert Ward Are Granted Bail of $2,000 Each.

Grounds Almost Identical.

Similar Charges Been Laid in London and Have Yet to be Decided.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24. (CP) An appeal against convictions on which he was fined $8,000 yesterdayfi was filed on behalf of Louis M. Singer, K.C. of Toronto, former commissioner of Amalgamated Builders' Council. Bail of $10,000 was granted Singer by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock. Two other officials of the Builders' Association who were convicted and fined along with Singer, Charles Paddon and Herbert Ward, both of Windsor, were granted bail of $2,000 each. Appeals were filed also on their behalf.

Singer was convicted in Windsor yesterday on seven charges brought under the Combines Investigation Act and the Criminal Code. The $10,000 bail allowed the accused must be supplied in his own bail to that amount and two or more sureties aggregating the safe amount the court ruled.

Appeals Nearly Identical

The appeals of the three men, which are almost identical in form the main ground set forth is that "neither the Combines Investigation Act nor section 498 of the Criminal Code, apply to act of members of Trade Unions done in restraint of trade, but in the execution of the purposes of trade unions". It is also contended the sentences were excessive.

Other grounds of the appeal are that there is an entire absence of evidence; that the convictions are not based on reasonable grounds, that all facts proved were as consistent with the innocence of the accused as with their guilt, because the indictments upon which the accused were tried did not disclose any offence known to the law, and the accused had never consented to or elected for trial or conviction on any other charge; that two motions to quash the indictments and to arrest judgments made at the trial "ought to have been allowed and were disallowed."

The sentences and convictions at Windsor do not conclude the protracted investigation into the operations of the A.B.C., the Dominion Chamber of Creditors and other organizations. Similar charges have been laid in London, Ont., which have yet to be decided upon by the courts. W. F. O'Connor, K.C., counsel, who was acquitted in Windsor, is also defendant in London cases. No charges have been laid as a result of the investigation at Toronto.

No Objection to Bail

No objection was taken to-day by W. B. Common, for the Crown, to the granting of bail. "As there has been substantial fine imposed by this trial Judge," the Crown Counsel said, "I think there should be ample bail supplied." This was concurred in by

Pianist Shown How By Five-Year-Old

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., March 24. — Percy Grainger, eminent pianist, doesn't mind some pointers on how to play his own compositions—even from a five-year-old boy.

Francis Laska called on Mr. Grainger the other day and asked him to play. The composer played "Country Garden," one of his favorites.

"You didn't play that right," criticised the boy.

"Is that so?"

"Yes," Francis replied, "and I'll show you how."

The boy then gave his impression of how it should be done.

FROM PNEUMONIA.

He was manager of the Royal Alexandra Theatre, principal proprietor of the Sunnyside amusements, and at one time managed the Toronto Ferry Company, now operated by the Toronto Transportation Commission.

CUSTOMS UNION DRAWS ATTACK FROM ALL SIDES

London Papers Regret Stealthy Manner In Which Pact Was Drawn Up.

OLD GERMAN POLICY.

Pan-European Committee Meeting in Paris Views Proceedings With Distrust.

LONDON, March 24 (A.P.) — The Austro-German customs union proposals drew some fire from London morning papers to-day, not because the union is opposed in principle, but because of the secret manner of its arrangements and a suspicion of political motives.

The Times regretted that a scheme for which so much that is favorable can be said was conducted in "stealthy secrecy," which it said was bound to arouse suspicion that Germany merely is paving the way for complete incorporation of Austria. The paper added that the controversy thus aroused would not help to smooth the way for next year's disarmament conference.

The Morning Post declared that even a blind horse could see that Germany was pursuing her old policy and that she and Austria would work together for pan-German ends.

The Labor paper, Herald, deplored that atmosphere of restlessness created at a moment when calm is more than ever necessary to Europe and condemns as a serious blunder that Herren Curtius and Schober omitted the "obvious courtesy of previous consultation with other Governments."

PARIS, March 24.— (A.P.)— The economic union projected by Austria and Germany to-day stole the thunder of the Pan-European committee meeting to consider further phases of Aristide Briand's scheme for an economic union of all Europe.

Members of the Briand committee assembled in an atmosphere of some distrust of the proceedings at Berlin and Vienna, and of suspicion that the projected Austro-German accord is the first step toward a political union of the two countries in violation of the peace treaties and the Geneva protocol of 1922.

The text of the accord, which is subject to ratification of the two parliaments, was made public in Berlin last night and telegraphed here. Its outstanding features as clauses which proclaim the equality and independence of the two nations and their willingness to have other nations join them in the union.

As seen here the effect of the accord will be to give Germany free and favored access to the markets of Austria, accomplishing the dual advantage of making German goods available to Austrian citizens at lower price levels than have been the case. If the union could be extended to certain of the Balkan countries the advantage to Germany would be inestimable.

Besides Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Minister, there were present for to-day's committee meeting of the Foreign Ministers of Poland, Denmark and Switzerland, and Herr Von Simson, formerly Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs for Germany. It was understood that the Vienna-Berlin agreement was the principal topic of conversations in the committee lobbies and that M. Briand and Henderson discussed it in some detail. Mr. Brand seeking to know the British attitude toward the demarche at Vienna, where French, Italian and Czecho-slovakin representatives protested the union

A wooden necktie, a wooden shirt, a muffler of wood, a wooden handkerchief, and wooden socks. That is, if things might be seen as they are.

Ricknagel explained that in 1930 125,000,000 pounds of imitation silk were made from forest trees.

JEWS BECOMING FARMING PEOPLE SAYS DR. INKSTER

Minister of Knox Church, Toronto, Delivers Illustrated Lecture in St. Paul's.

PROGRESS IN EDUCATION.

Fondness For Prophecy and Its Fulfillment Shown by the Speaker.

"The Jews of Palestine were formerly non-agricultural people, but now they go in strongly for it and are showing marked progress along this line. They are as up-to-date as possible and are interested in the everyday events. They are alive to the value of public utilities." These were the opening words of Rev. Dr. John Gibson Inkster of Toronto, in an illustrated lecture on "Palestine," given last evening in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. By means of the life-like slides, Dr. Inkster took his audience through Palestine on much the same trip as he made a year ago. The speaker showed his fondness for prophecy and its fulfilmen in Palestine by making frequent reference to it in his lecture.

Dr. Inkster is thoroughly versed in the geography, peoples and many of the details of the Near East. He listed his travels under three trips: North Palestine, Phoenicia, and Syria. The lecturer also mentioned the most famous guides of the country: Rev. Rohoe, a rabbi; Dr. Christie, a missionary, and Father Raphael, a Franciscan.

"The press has reported much on Palestine in late years, and therefore the country plays an important part in the public eye," said Dr. Inkster. There are 150,000 Jews and four times as many Arabs in Palestine. Before Lord Balfour's mandate of 1929 there was an unsettled situation; the Jews were threatened to be wiped out by hostile Arabs. However, at the present, both have settled down to a great extent to the more peaceful occupation of farming and the furthering of civilization in the country.

The speaker then commenced the story of his trip, showing many details on the screen. The "Empress of France" brought him through the Mediterranean to Hyper, the first port in Palestine. During his two weeks' trip from here to Accra, he came into contact with the various types of Bedouins—shepherds, warriors, and Efendi (upper class tribesmen), Along the Egypt-Babylon road, several Megiddou, or mounds of ancient cities now buried, were portrayed. Many Old Testament prophecies were fulfilled by the complete deletion of many of the then-powerful cities.

Grave of Rachael

From here, the speaker took his audience on a visit to Mount Carmel. From the roof of the Carmelite monastery there could be seen Mount Gilead, the Sea of Galilee, Jesreel, the Mediterranean and the plains of Megiddo. The grave of Rachael on the road from Jerusalem to Bethel was visited.

The scenes then shifted around towards the seacoast. The multitudes of fishing boats in Tyre were particularly noted. Architectural advancement is proverbial. Great strides are being made in education, as the authorities are stressing its importance and are specializing in Western methods of teaching. One interesting prophecy was mentioned at this point: that the rocks should be browned, the buildings levelled and that there should be fishing boats in the bay. All of these are fulfilled: the rocks are browned, for the building of the highway through the city; many buildings have decayed away or have been replaced by newer ones; the harbor is filled with fishing boats. Twenty miles from Tyre is the city of Sodom with its wonderful orchards and multitudinous fruits and nuts.

Beirut is the most important seaport on that part of the Mediterranean. The city belongs to Syria, which is at present a French mandate. Bedouins congregate here with their flocks of sheep and goats and with their tents covered with goatskins. There is an American college in the city, and the Mohammedans are made to go to Chapel every morning. Thus many are losing faith in their own

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and one fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Orlex will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

SIX NOMINATED BY ROTARY CLUB

G. A. Kingston is Guest Speaker at Regular Meeting of Campbellford Club.

ELECTION APRIL 20

CAMPBELLFORD, March 24. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The weekly luncheon of the Campbellford Rotary Club, held on Monday in the St. Lawrence Hotel, was featured by the nomination of a slate of six names from which the president, secretary-treasurer and two executive officers for the current year will be balloted on April 20. This slate composes E. C. Dolman, Rev. R. C. Tait, Elie Brunelle, G. A. Kingston, E. H. Greig and A. D. Bennett.

The speaker for the day was G. A. Kingston, who gave a very interesting address on a trip taken by himself through Western Canada. Starting from Toronto and arriving at Winnipeg he spoke of the beauties of that city, known as the gateway of the west, and of the nationalities that comprise its population, there being about fifty languages spoken there. Medicine Hat, Alta., was the next stop, the speaker discribing the city, which is built in a hollow and largely built on the fact that there are many natural gas wells there. Three large milling concerns are also located at this point. The electricity for this city is generated by gas. The nearest summer resort to Medicine Hat is at Elkwood Lake, 45 miles south, and is approached over priarie trails.

Mr. Kingston next spoke of Calgary and Banff, the latter place being the great summer resort of the country, situated at the foot of the Rockies and featured by the hot springs. From there to Lake Louise which is the beauty spot of the range, and the Great Divide, which marks the boundary between the provinces of Alberta and British Colufbia, to the canyon country and so to Vancouver, the speaker describing the different places of interest on the way.

Vancouver, he said was the most beautiful city on the coast. From that point he went by boat to Victoria on Vancouver Island. This city he described as a city of homes, stating that it was settled by English people and possessed the second largest observatory in the world. One of the beauty spots of the city is the Butchet sunken gardens, covering 14 acres of land. These gardens are divided up into sections, reproducing the flowers of different countries. There is also a fine avery attached.

Mr. Kingston also spoke of the salmon fishing of the west, the coal industry and the fertile nature of the soil.

He also paid high tribute to two institutions of the west, the C.P.R., the greatest transportation system of the world, with its fine hotels and camping grounds, and the Hudson's Bay Company. The speaker outlined the growth of the latter company, from 1672, when the license was given them to trade. In 1873 they sold land to the Dominion for one and a half million dollars, being given large portions of the furtile areas of the west, much of which they still retain. The company's stores are to be found throughout the west and are held in high estee m.

$5,000,000 GIVEN NORTH BY HOUSE WITHOUT BALLOT

Finlayson Plans to Particularize Estimates and Set Up an Audit.

ADEQUATE SAFEGUARD.

Travelling Auditor Will Make Thorough Check Minister Promises.

TORONTO, March 24.— Appointment of an auditor who will tour the ten engineering districts of Northern Ontario and check all expenditures of the department of northern development was forecast yesterday by Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of the department, during his address on the resolution granting $5,000,000 for development work in the North.

Announcement that the department would also, for the first time since its creation, table estimates detailing as closely as possible the routes through which it would expend its grant during the present year, was also made by Mr. Finlayson. The House, without any opposition being offered, then voted the $5,000,000.

Detailed Estimates.

In a debate with W. E. N. Sinclair, the Minister asked the House to take into consideration the condition of Northern Ontario, which he pictured as far worse than any district of old Ontrio. Mr. Sinclair voiced sympathy with the North, but heralded the appointment of an auditor and institution of detailed estimates as evidence of the weight of Opposition demands in the past.

The interjection of the resolution and its ensuing debate came at the close of a quiet afternoon during which the House had advanced much legislation discussed at earlier sittings. It followed Premier Henry's humorous suggestion that "something argumentative be undertaken and at the same time forward the duties of the House." The Speaker then read the message from the Lieutenant-Governor authorizing the $5,000,000 grant and Mr. Finlayson rose to speak upon it.

Expenditure in North

In 18 years, he said, since the formation of the Department of Northern Development, the House had voted $50,000,000 for work in the district which has become a great part of Ontario. Since then the small department had become one of the largest of the Government. Last year, he continued, the department had spent $7,000,000 in the north.

"It was an election year," remarked Harry Nixon, Progressive leader.

"No," repleid Mr. Finlayson with a puzzled look.

"Yes," insisted Mr. Nixon. "Was not there a Federal election up there the same as everywhere else?" Members applauded and laughed.

"Oh," remarked Mr. Finlayson. "I was not interested in that. I was not consulted on it, and the gentleman who brought it on brought the consequences on himself.

"I am sure, however, he continued, "that no one will question the probity of the administration of the northern development fund. There has never been a serious charge voiced against it. I do not say there have been no charges; there have. Nor do I say there have been no irregularities; there have. No one could claim to spend $7,000,000 over that vast territory without some irregularities occurring.

But, he continued, every hint of irregularity had been probed and investigated and punishment meted the explosion. Frissell and Penrod still are missing with 22 others. Sargent was aboard the Sagona and his sister was on hand to meet him.

Navigator Kennedy of the Viking died of pneumonia as the Sagona battled ice.

The power magazine of the Viking was in the very stern on the starboard side. Next to it was the boatswain's cabin in which there was believed to have been an oil lamp.

The Captain's cabin was next forward. On the opposite side were rooms occupied by Navigator Kennedy and Wireless Operator King. Between was the cabin of Penrod, Sargent and Frissell.

Frissell Had Hunch

Frissell had been speaking of the danger of the powder magazine with its tons of explosives.

He had just said: "I'm no artist but I'm going to make a danger notice." Penrod was engaged with some films. Sargent was discussing the next day's operations.

Frissell had scarcely spoken when the ship lurched before the explosion.

Operator King was in his bunk behind where Penrod was sitting and was blown out through the side onto the ice. His face and eyes were badly burned and his leg was fractured. On the ice his feet were badly frozen and one leg must be amputated. Sargent was flung out with a piece of wreckage which pitched onto a pan of ice. He hauled King up with him and was joined by Navigator Kennedy.

Sargent and Kennedy managed to gather from the ice near them some of the debris, including tins of milk, preserves, two flags and a piece of burlap which was laid over King. They drifted all night and all the next day, suffering untold hardships.

Floe Grows Smaller

Sargent was suffering from burned eyes and an injured arm. Kennedy had a fractured skull. The pan in which the wreckage was imbedded broke and gradually became smaller. The drifting men watched it dissolving as they approached open water. Then, to their eyes came the welcome sight of a ship. It was the Sagona.

The body of Navigator Kennedy was the last removed from the Sagona this morning.

The night before the disaster, said the survivors, there was a shrill blast on the whistle of the Viking.

Master Watch Johnson ran to the bridge. The officer on watch had seen no one pull the whistle cord.

They thought it ominous.

POLICY OF GOV'T ON AGRICULTURE

he state the agricultural policy of the Government.

Conservative members from the West should hold a caucus among themselves on the problems facing agriculture, Mr. Beaubien said. The Prime Minister should be approached then with the suggestion that ruinous tariff wars cease and wider markets be sought.

No secession movement worthy of the name existed in the West, J. L. Bowman (Cons., Dauphin) explained. Reasonable credit for the farmers on the Prairies should be advanced by the banks, he said, and efforts should be made to reduce the price of farm implements.

In leading off the debate, Pierre Casgrain, Liberal Whip and member for Charlevoix-Saguenay, said the man on the street would look in vain for anything constructive in the Speech from the Throne. The only definite prospect seemed to be increased taxation to meet the deficit which the Government admitted.

Opposes Salary Cut.

Opposition to any movement to reduce salaries for civil servants was forthcoming from E. R. E. Chevrier (Lib., Ottawa). Both he and Mr. Casgrain defended the memory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier which they claimed had been attacked earlier in the debate by Armand Lavergne, the Deputy Speaker of the House.

History would show, they said, the former Liberal chieftain had been one of the great men of Canada and of the British Empire.

T. A. Thompson (Cons., Lanark) claimed the tariff revision instituted at the emergency session had gone a long way in stimulating Canadian industry. He foresaw still greater results from the tariff legislation to be introduced at the present session.

With Western Canada holding vast quantities of barley and Eastern Canada importing corn for stock-feeding, E. F. Willis (Cons., Souris) saw an opportunity of a profitable channel of trade.

The Government had demonstrated, declared W. J. Loucks (Cons., Rosetown) that a tariff increase might be made without an attendant increase in price to the consumer. Because of the upward revision made at the special session last fall, there had been no exploitation of the consumer and he instanced the glass industry, the protection on which had been taken away for failure to maintain price levels.

The concluding speaker of the day, Harry Butcher (Liberal, Last Mountain), said high protection stemmed the purchasing power of the people, particularly of the farmers, who purchased the manufactured goods.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BASEMENT FORMALLY OPENED AT LAKEFIELD

POWERFUL MESSAGES

LAKEFIELD, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — The basement of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was formally opened on Sunday when special services were held by Rev. Dr. Kannawin of Toronto, secretary of the Board of Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies of the Presbyterian Church.

The morning service was in many ways the most important, with the administration of the Lord's Supper, the reception of several new members, and the baptism of the infant son of Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Burton by Dr. Kannawin. An octette of members of St. Paul's Church choir, Peterborough, were present, and assisted with the musical part of the service.

Dr. Kannawin preached an excellent sermon taken from the 16th to the 19th verses of the 3rd chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians.

At the evening service Dr. Kannawin preached an excellent sermon taken from the 16th to the 19th verses of the 3rd chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians.

IN some types of covered elements an effort is made to make them rust-proof by just treating the surface—in the industry it is known as "pickling". This treatment has no lasting value, the reason being that constant heat causes the element cover thus treated to crack and chip, eventually breaking down the whole element. But this cannot happen to Moffats Cook-Quik Element, because the cover is made of a solid rust-resisting alloy which, while radiating heat very rapidly, cannot be destroyed by it. In short, Moffats Cook-Quik Element lives up to every Moffat standard of excellence. It has lots of speed, and durability to boot. CAMPBELLFORD BRANCH CANADIAN LEGION HOLD SUCCESSFUL SMOKER

Major J. F. Belford is Guest Speaker—Business Men Are Guests of Evening.

MUSICAL PROGRAM GIVEN.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 24. — A capacity meeting was registered last evening when the Campbellford Branch No. 103, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. were hosts to the business men and all returned men of the town and district at a smoker staged in the Parish Hall, Campbellford. The president, G. A. Ironside, occupied the chair.

The guest speaker of the evening was Major J. F. B. Belford of Codrington, who was introduced by the vice president of the Campbellford Branch, Rev. N. Clark Wallace. The meeting took the form of the regular proceedings of the branch, with the business conducted in the usual manner and reports from committees being heard. Interspersed with the business items were musical selections by the Ionic Quartette composed of Major J. M. Bygott, W. Henson, Dr. H. O. Richardson and A. Hazel, and vocal solos by E. H. Lewis. E. C. Dolman accompanied at the piano.

After the regular session was over a cafeteria lunch was served by the Comrades and cards indulged in. The proceedings opened with two minutes silence honoring the fallen comrades.

Work Of Legion

Major Belford, in a splendid address, spoke of the work of the Legion and the way it commends itself to the citizens of the town. He stressed the fact that it was to interest those who were not returned men in the problems and difficulties of the ex-serviceman that this smoker was arranged and declared that every dollar that was contributed to the Legion went to the purpose for which it was donated.

The speaker declared that one of the things that the Legion was endeavouring to do was to see that returned men got a square deal with regard to those positions that were the gift of the government. He quoted as an example of this the case of Lieut. Charles Rutherford, V. C., stressing the fact that in such cases a square deal was not forthcoming. "He was glad, he said, "that Lieut. Rutherford had not obtained the position, for it had caused a wave of sympathy to sweep through Canada that would help all those who had served their country."

He was glad to state however, that Lieut. Rutherford, who was Northumberland's only Victoria Cross holder and who had set a high pinacle of the standard of manhood in the county, had now been given an appointment by the Provincial government, but deplored the fact that this recognition had come 13 years after he won his award.

"It is our own fault, declared Major Belford, for we do not go after the things we want in the right way", and continued by stressing the fact that it was necessary that every comrade should go after the government of the country through the particular political party to which he belonged, by attending the party conventions and making his presence felt in working for himself and his fellow returned men. "We have to make ourselves so strong that no party can afford to overlook us" the speaker declared, pointing out that when the country called for the services of the manhood of the nation those services were not denied, and now it was time that the ex-servicemen went out and got their share of the good gifts of the political parties.

Membership Drive

Major Belford also stressed the matter of the Provincial wide membership drive scheduled for April.

He stated that what was wanted was that the Legion should be made strong. It did not want it to become a political party, but a party which politicians would have to take notice of. He deplored the fact that the pensions machinery had broken down and that there were so many urgent cases being delayed, and also the fact that it was hard for deserving cases to get into Christie Street Hospital, emphasizing the fact that this should not be. He also pleaded with the outsider to watch these things and to see that the returned men got a square deal.

The speaker also stated that the old complaint that many returned men were lazy was caused by a lack of understanding, pointing out that any men who had gone through the stress of war had been aged beyond their years and had left upon them the effects of their service. It was not laziness, he declared, but burned up and burned out vitality, with hope and ambition gone in so many cases.

In conclusion, Major Belford made a strong appeal for the building up of the nation. He declared that Canada was holding her head above the world with every resource to draw from, but wanted a united effort to carry on the sound principals that existed in the hearts of the people.

He deplored the fact that to some extent the nation was losing this principle to-day, and appealed to his hearers to cultivate those things that are right, declaring that what was wanted was a national feeling so that the nation could grow together as one people. "The old traditions of the British Empire are the best ever given to man," he stated. "Be true to them and to the flag, be true to the memory of our forefathers who have made Britain the mightiest Empire in the world and be worthy of the mantle that has fallen upon our shoulders."

The Rev. N. Clark Wallace, in his introduction of Major Belford, explained the constitution of the Legion and its method of activity, stressing the fact that it should be made so strong that it would be able to talk to the politicians in the only language that they knew, the vote.

Comrade Alexander MacColl reported for the Pensions Committee, giving a detailed statement of the work done by that body covering the past three years. Eight claims had failed, but eleven claims totalling $4,434.25 had been put through, thirteen now being in progress. He pointed out that these did not only benefit members of the local branch, but all ex-servicemen in the town and district.

Only four out of the eleven claims won went to members and only three out of the thirteen being now handled were for members. The sum of $1,620 had been received from the Canteen Fund and between nine and ten thousand dollars had been gotten for ex-servicemen of the town and district. Since the organization of the branch between three and four thousand dollars had dispersed on direct relief.

The Rev. N. Clark Wallace, reporting for the Relief Committee, stated that during the months of January and February $125.11 had been spent on direct relief, and for the four months ending with February $240.11 had been used.

From Beirut the pictures took the travellers to Damascus. Several of the 60 mosques and bazaars were portrayed. Dr. Inkster also showed the house and ramparts where St. Paul took refuge and later dropped down from the walls to escape the enemy.

Many splendid views of the Sea of Galilee were given, with the Mount of the Beatitudes in the background and the former city of Capernaum at its foot. All is now ruin, according to the prophecy "And thou, Capernaum, shalt be brought low." Though decayed from age, the temple where Christ cleansed the leper may be discerned. The stone seats are in a wonderful state of preservation as is also the diamond-shaped stone on which Jesus told the leper to stand to be healed.

Rev. William Allan acted as chairman, and in this capacity extended a warm welcome to Dr. Inkster. The lecture was preceded by the singing of "The Holy City" (arranged for male voices by Martin B. Chenhall) by an octette composed of William H. Grieves, John Anderson, Horace Hope, John Fowler, Robert Cobbold, George Coleman, Jr., Harold Coulson and George East, with M. B. At the close of the address Dr. J. M. McCulloch moved and Richard Lees seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker. Hurrell Dodds operated the lantern and to him goes much credit in the masterly handling of the slides.

BIG SPENDERS.

The situation in British Columbia where the Tolmie Government, faced with the prospect of another huge deficit following a shortage of some two million dollars last year, has introduced a universal income tax to apply to all incomes over $12 a week, is an interesting commentary upon the spending proclivities of Provincial Governments generally.

"Our Provincial Governments are becoming big spenders," says the Lethbridge Herald, and the statistics bear out that contention.

British Columbia, for example, a Province with a population of well under a million people, has been collecting in provincial taxes some $28,000,000, and this year is aiming at more than $30,000,000.

In Ontario, despite greater revenues than ever, another large deficit is predicted for the current fiscal year.

Alberta, which reported a tax bill of only $8,500,000 for provincial purposes in 1910, now has to collect $17,000,000, the expenditures having doubled in a decade.

Manitoba and the Maritimes tell the same story of rapidly mounting provincial expenditures and a greater task every year of finding the money necessary.

Quebec alone has a record of steady surpluses—but it must be remembered that Quebec has remained aloof from many of the social services that the people of other Provinces have demanded from their Governments.

STABILIZATION PLAN ABANDONED.

While many westerners are calling upon the Canadian Government to "peg" the price of wheat, the United States Government announces the abandonment of its costly plan for stabilizing the American wheat market.

So far as this year's crop is concerned, the farmers of the United States will have to sell their wheat subject to the ordinary law of supply and demand.

The United States Grain Stabilization Board will continue to stabilize last year's crop, and declares that its sales policy will "impose the minimum of burden upon domestic and world prices," but the scheme as regards the new crop is to be abandoned.

"The board cannot indefinitely buy more than it sells or indefinitely hold what it has bought," says the announcement, and adds: "It cannot follow a regular policy of buying at prices above the market, paying heavy storage charges and then selling below cost. It would not in the long run be in the farmers' own interests."

The American stabilization experiment has got to a stage in which the board controls about 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, with prospects of holding the entire carryover of the 1930 crop, and it is impossible to find the additional money needed to stabilize this year's crop.

The gradual decrease of wheat prices in the United States and the eventual re-entry of American wheat into the world market are predicted as a result of the abandonment of the stabilization plan.

IN THE INTEREST OF THE HORSE.

Two matters of considerable importance were called to attention in the report of the activities of the Peterborough Humane Society, which appeared in The Examiner a few days ago.

The question of providing shelter for the horses of rural mail-carriers—by no means a local problem, for the same conditions, The Examiner is informed, prevail elsewhere—is one that should receive attention from the Government.

Under the present conditions the horses of these rural carriers have to be left standing for an hour or more in the open in all kinds of weather while the mail is being sorted, and the Humane Society is living up to its aims and objects by bringing the situation to the attention of the postal authorities.

Of greater general interest is the grievance many farmers living off the main highways have against the practice of removing practically all the snow off these highways, a practice that involves great inconvenience to the farmers and hardship for their horses.

It is impossible for many people living on side roads to get out to the highways except by the use of sleighs, and once out to the main roads they find progress a matter of the greatest difficulty because of the absence of snow—and, incidentally, the same conditions apply on the principal urban streets as well.

It is a problem that has come into being along with winter motoring, and one that an earnest effort should be made to solve.

THAT CHICAGO GAS CONCERN.

Despite a last-minute protest from that well-known advocate of public ownership, T. L. Church K.C., the ratepayers of Oshawa, or the few of them who took the trouble to go to the polls, have approved of the sale of the Oshawa gas plant to the Utilities Power and Light Corporation, an international concern with a Chicago head office.

The price paid is to be $214,000, and the company gets a fifty-year franchise.

The system is to be improved, and if the plans of the company to secure other franchises in Central Ontario are successfully completed, the company is to establish a two million dollar working plant in Oshawa.

This was probably the sugar-coating that earned the proposition the approval of the Oshawa ratepayer, inasmuch as the company has agreed that all gas and coke sold within a radius of one hundred miles from Oshawa will be manufactured in that city.

The same plum can, of course, only be used once, and in negotiating for other franchises in this district the Chicago company will have to develop some other selling point.

It is understood that the Peterborough plant, now operated by the Utilities Commission, is among those the purchase of which will be sought by the new concern.

Without a two million dollar coking plant to dangle before the eyes of Peterborough people, the going here is not likely to be as smooth as it proved in Oshawa.

Under the management of the local commission the rates here have been lowered, further decreases are predicted, and an operating surplus has been earned.

BRITISH TRADE PROGRESS.

Recent cables from London have disclosed bright spots in British trade conditions. The cotton industry, in particular, was mentioned as showing a revival. To this may be added the impressions created by the success of the British Industries Fair, to which buyers went from seventy-five countries. Canada came eighth in numerical strength among the buyers at the fair, but the number from this country was smaller than in 1930, being 125, compared with 153. Countries exceeding Canada in buyers at the fair were as follows, in order of numbers: Holland, Irish Free State, Germany, Denmark, France, India, the United States.

The Minister of Overseas Trade, Hon. G. M. Gillett, M.P., gave Parliament this encouraging report:

> So far as can be ascertained from inquiries among exhibitors at the fair, the business done in practically all sections has been thoroughly satisfactory. . . . The increased attendance and the volume of business done are particularly satisfactory, in view of the present condition of world trade.

The auspicious success of the British Trade Exposition at Buenos Aires recently is another heartening event. Perhaps the Imperial Trade Conference at Ottawa in August may give the trade movement another helpful lift.—The Globe.

CAN OTTAWA DO IT?

The Federal Government is now well under way at Ottawa, and the country had had a chance to get a taste of real old political fighting again. Since the election of last summer we have previously had just that one short session of Parliament called to deal with the unemployment situation. Action then was very direct, and an amount of some twenty million dollars was voted to be spent in conjunction with provincial and municipal effort. The expenditure gave chance for the providing of considerable work in recent months which would otherwise have been much more curtailed, and it aided in meeting a situation which was above the financial level of a good many centres.

This present session is different. It is a regular affair, with all the fixings; it gives scope for debate; it presents opportunity for members to do all things they desire, and for these reasons it is going to give us a good chance to see if Parliament is a helpful agency in meeting a situation which is still acute enough.

There is nothing particularly encouraging in the manner of its starting. We are prepared to grant certain latitude for the political instinct which it is impossible to entirely divorce from Ottawa, but we submit that the people of the country are entitled to something very unusual from the Parliament of this country during the year 1931.

If it is essential that there be a review given of all the turns and avenues that led up to the last election, then let that be done as quickly as possible. It might almost be placed on the records of Hansard "as read," in order that it would occupy the least possible time. Certainly there is no disposition in this country to stand back and listen to much address that does not have a direct bearing on the question of the hour, and that question plainly is: "Can the Canadian Parliament do anything to help the Canadian people?"

* * * *

From the manner of its make-up, the Parliament of Canada has representatives in attendance from every corner of the Dominion. It is in this way that there are men in Ottawa to-day with a fairly intimate knowledge of the problems that are facing the people all over this country. It cannot be said that there is a condition in the Dominion which cannot be adequately voiced at Ottawa if there is opportunity and inclination to do so.

We believe that the Canadian people have a right to look to Ottawa to-day and say plainly that they expect better leadership from that source than they have ever received before. Conditions are different; men are unemployed; there is a strange uncertainty in regard to the relationship of prices in cities and rural sections; there are piled-up reserves of natural products which seek a market.

We believe that the people of the Dominion, regardless of their political affiliation, would sanction a session where politics would be crowded well into the background.

First things should come first, and the fortune of any or all the political parties in Canada cannot possibly be brought to the front to-day as the paramount issue before Parliament. So why should we not have a plain business session, as though the members of Parliament were in name, and in actuality, a board of directors with but one object in view—doing something to help the Canadian people.

The political battles can be fought when we get well under way again. At present we are not minded to spend much time about such things because they are not of primary importance.

The present Parliament of Canada has an opportunity to dig out for itself a big place in Canadian history if it can measure up to the size of the problem which stands to-day right in front of it.

It will call for the scrapping of a good many old ideas; it will mean departure from traditional policies which think and act in terms of party advantage and all that.

But the plain fact is that the people of Canada, with none too much money to spend to-day, are paying the bills for the holding of this session of Parliament, and they are entitled to something that exceeds in constructive ideas and in united effort anything that has been done heretofore.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Most people will hope that Angus MacInnis, Labor member for Vancouver South, was a poor prophet when he predicted that worst times for Canada lie ahead.

The Globe puts it neatly when it says that the desire of the people of Ontario seems to be more power to the Hydro and more light on its operations.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By

He tried to attract the attention of the hunchbacked figure before him, but as he feebly lifted his hand, a movement beside him caught his eye. Turning his head he saw, with a mingling of bewilderment and curiosity, the huge figure of a man tipped back against the wall in a straight chair. His glance traveled, in his slow, puzzled way, over a heavy laced boot swinging idly against the round, over corduroy pants, over a brown checked woolen skirt and up to a bearded face, where he met a pair of keen gray eyes under overhanging brows. Unable to speak yet, Dirk mutely begged the answer to the hundreds of questions that were surging in him. The eyes above him glinted with a light smile, and the still figure dropped his chair forward, and leaned toward him.

"Hullo!" he said. "My name's Jim, Red Jim." The cheerful, matter-of-fact voice held the same deep musical resonance that Dirk had heard in his first half-waking. "I found your name on a card in your wallet, which, by the way, I put under your mattress."

"Thanks," Dirk whispered. "But when, how——"

"Give me time!" laughed the red-headed, shaggy giant. "You've been intelligent only two minutes, though I picked you up on the desert more than a week ago."

"Oh!" Dirk's startled eyes held instant alarm. What about Lorraine, then? What could have happened to her in such a lapse of time?

"She's safe." Red Jime, divining his thought, spoke quickly, and in such a positive, reassuring way that Dirk was impelled to believe him. Yet how did he know? Had he seen her?

Before he could try another weak question, the hunchbacked figure in blue denim slapped his way in felt slippers to the bunk, holding a bowl that let off a most appetizing odor.

"This," said Red Jim, with a wave of his hand toward the Chinaman, "is my corps of trusted servants. Yet I must add that he only serves when he has to, and is never to be trusted."

"The soup smells good," said Dirk, his mouth watering.

"If it isn't," Red Jim returned darkly. "Chin Lee will live on it for a week. Here! Give it to me!"

"Tlicken sloup! Nice Tlicken tloup!" said Chin Lee in his high, thin voice, handing the bowl to Red Jim, and then bowing low to Dirk, with his hands pressed to his stomach and his wrinkled yellow face spread in a wide grin. "Chin Lee damn good clook. White man eatee all nice tlicken tloup so can go fin' lost white ladee klick!"

At this Red Jim rose to a towering height and bent upon the too voluble Chinaman a terrible, menacing look. Beneath it Chin Lee's grin faded. He shriveled and shrank and scudded for the door, a scant inch ahead of Red Jim's heavy boot. Then the master of the house drew his chair close to Dirk's bunk and proceeded to feed him in calm and quiet deliberation. In vain Dirk tried to speak, to ask the questions that burned in his haunted eyes, but each time he opened his mouth, the other quickly slid in a spoonful of the hot, rich broth. At last Dirk could stand it no longer, and gave an impatient shove with a weak hand to the one so kindly ministering to him.

"Then you don't really know that Lorraine's safe?"

"Sure I know," affably.

"But how? Tell me!"

"Sure I'll tell you. In just a minute. Finish this first."

There was no help for it. The other's immense calm was like a wall, against which his own impatience would beat itself out. In futile fury Dirk gulped down the remainder of the nourishing soup, and sank back against the pillows.

"Now!"

The big man put the empty bowl on the floor beside him, tipped up his chair in a maddening deliberation, filled his pipe in the same leisurely fashion and began at last to speak.

"You've been," he remarked irrelevantly, "a devil of a guest."

"Agout Lorraine——"

"I've jumped from an airplane with you, and fallen over a cliff with you, and climbed down a canyon with you, and found a brook with you——"

Dirk was beside himself with impatience at this apparent digression, but Red Jim was not to be deterred from his reminiscences of that week of nursing. For eight days he had never left the shack, and scarcely left the bedside, and for eight nights he had slept like a cat, ready to spring up at the slightest stir from the sick man. There had been moments when it had taken all his strength, great as it was, to hold Dirk under the covers, to keep the man, driven by the poison in his blood and blurred, maddening memories, from leaping up and dashing out to 'find Lorraine.' There had been hours when Dirk had clung to his hand, and had murmured short broken sentences, with a tender light of love in his eyes. And from these experiences he had been able to chain together events from the time the two had struck the desert until Dirk had encountered the Indian.

But of this he had never had more than a garbled, incoherent account that left many questions unanswered. Where had he and the Indian met? Where had Lorraine been then? Why did Dirk suspect the redskin of foul play? He wanted these questions answered before he answered Dirk.

"You let me do the talking boy. It's sure my turn. You've been doing it for a week. And when I got things straight in my head, I can answer you better. Now you said an Indian came to your canyon. Do you remember if his name was Silver Tongue?"

Dirk's face clouded.

What Other Editors Think

MR. SHAVER TALKS OF CORNWALL AND STORMONT.

Judging by his speech in Parliament, Mr. Shaver, the new member for Stormont, is a real addition to the debating talent on the Conservative side of the House. The effort, though brief, was that of a man who knows what he is talking about. Dealing chiefly with conditions in his own constituency, he replied with effect to the Opposition argument that the country is worse off to-day than it was when the present Government came into office. After quoting statistics to show that millions of dollars have been invested in Canadian industries, and that thousands of workers have been given employment since the emergency session of last Autumn, he went on to speak of his own town of Cornwall and its large textile industries, including three cotton mills.

Successive reductions in the tariff under the Mackenzie King Government had serious results in Cornwall. During the whole of 1929 and in 1930 up to last September the employes of the local mills worked only three or four days a week. To-day, purely because of the tariff changes of six months ago, the 1,300 employes of these mills are working full time and in one mill they have been working overtime for some weeks past. The payrolls of these mills have been thus increased by $6,000 a week, or at the rate of $300,000 a year. It is unnecessary to say what this means for the merchants of Cornwall, for the men, women and children of the community, and for the farmers who look to the town as the local market for many of their products.

Nor did Mr. Shaver stop here. He went on to destroy the Opposition argument that an increase in the tariff necessarily means an increase in prices to the consumer. The price of ordinary shirting for working men is 11 per cent. lower to-day than it was a year ago. And other cotton lines are down from nine per cent. to 17 per cent. as compared with a year ago. These reductions include the material used in heavyweight overalls and the material for children's dresses.

Mr. Shaver went on to say that Courtauld's Limited, manufacturers of rayon, began a two million dollar addition to their Cornwall plant within two weeks after the tariff increases at the special session. This industry has a weekly wage bill of $17,000, one thousand hands being employed at full time. When the addition to the plant is completed this year the number of employes will be augmented to 1,400, with a corresponding addition to the weekly wage bill.

As a result of the change in the tariff on book paper, the Stormont mills are shipping carloads of that commodity to Canadian magazine publishers who last year got their supplies from the United States. We may judge from Mr. Shaver's remarks that the farmers of Stormont benefit doubly from the new tariff policy. They benefit from the large consumptive capacity of the Cornwall market, and, also, by the fact that foreign butter, eggs and vegetables have been largely shut out by the new administration—and that without additional cost to the consumer. The developments thus described as having taken place in Cornwall and Stormont have been duplicated in many parts of the country. Are such developments good for Canada, or are they bad? To this question even Opposition critics can make only one answer.—(Mail and Empire).

THE FOSTER FORMULA

In a distinguished career which reflects the whole political history of Canada since Confederation Sir George Foster never made a more statesmanlike speech than that delivered in the Senate on Thursday. If he struck a sombre note in describing Canada's present predicament, he also pointed to the only possible path to a new era of prosperity.

As a lifelong partisan and a realist Sir George could not have meant that the quietus should be put upon Parliamentary debate. When statesmen, or other men, feel kenly upon matters at issue they speak with frankness, force, and frequently with heat. Such discussion is the well-tried foundation upon which the whole British constitution system rests. But the danger is that Parliamentary privileges be prostituted for partisan purposes. There is a real danger at the present time that the political rough-and-tumble at Ottawa will knock out hopes for a speedy solution of Canada's difficulties.

The people of Canada were in a period of depression a few weeks before the King Government was defeated. The depression has steadily deepened since. It is as unfair to blame the present Government for failure to end unemployment overnight as it was to blame the former Ministry for failure to preserve Canada from economic difficulties which were world-wide.

It would be easy to ridicule Mr. Bennett for his promises to wave his magic wand, create general prosperity "or perish in the attempt."

It would be easy to spend most of the session pointing out the absurdity of such a statement as the following, made by Mr. Bennett last July:

> Mr. King promises consideration of unemployment. I promise to end unemployment. Which plan do you like best?

It would be easier still to pour ridicule on another notorious electioneering pledge "to end unemployment in three days."

But the only questions in which the public are interested are those concerning measures for actualy improvement of actual conditions.

Outstanding among such questions are the following:

With world markets demoralized, is Canada's Empire trade policy to be one of bludgeon, blast and bargain, or one of friendly co-operation, based on common sense?

Are tariff changes already made, or to be made, of such a nature as will relieve the actual predicament of the primary producers—rural as well as urban?

Is the Budget to be balanced by more taxes or less expenditure?

These are questions which must be answered. They are questions which cannot be too thoroughly discussed.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

PREPARED BY THE REV. CLARENCE H. WILSON, D.D. FOR THE COMMISSION ON EVANGELISM OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

THE WISE MOTHERS

"And they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them." Luke 18:15. (Read Luke 18:15-17.)

Meditation

These mothers would tell their children later that Jesus had touched them. That would be a sacred and suggestive memory as when the child learns that it has been consecrated in baptism. These mothers were not foolish—the disciples were the foolish ones. Our adult world is always blundering. When is a child old enough to be brought to Christ? This story gives the answer. Someone has said that "The race moves forward on the feet of little children." Jesus said that the kingdom of God comes in the hearts of little children. They are the first to have it. We talk about "the years of discretion," and about the proper age at which to receive children into the church. They are in it already, says Jesus. The problem is how to keep them there.

Prayer

Our Heavenly Father who dost hallow our homes by the gift of children, grant us to learn from their innocency and trust the ways of Thy House of Love. Guard us against those errors which would cause one of these little ones to stumble. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THE TRUE POINT

To The Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Magazines like "The Columbian" the U.S. organ of the K. of C. contain articles against Russianism and a more or less implied defence of our present system. But the Rev. Father Coughlin, of Detroit, the celebrated controversialist appears to think differently and it seems to me he has struck the right note.

He says: "But shortage of money and shortage of food are due solely to the criminal perverseness that refuses a sound plan of distribution for the world's goods."

Our present plan has broken down completely. What plan would the reverend father suggest?

GENERAL LIST REMAINS QUIET

Hudson Bay, Waite-Ackerman and Pend Oreille Show Light Declines.

Wright-Hargraves Active.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24.—(CP)—Specialties continued to hold the floor on the Standard stock and mining exchange, with major portion of the list relatively quiet and somewhat irregular in tone.

Noranda, opening strong around $27, sold off later to stand unchanged from last night at $26.75 when taken at midday. Nickel firmed 15 to $19.15, but Hudson Bay was off 10 to $5.95, Waite-Ackerman 4 to $1.61 and Pend Oreille 3 to $1.40. Softness in London metals is held partically responsible for the easier feeling.

Wright-Hargreaves was active in the golds with price up 6 to $2.12 at noon. Moss, Huronian and Central Manitoba also made small gains, but Eldorado, McLeod and Brownlee showed a softer tone.

Homestead, which has featured the oils for the last two sessions, moved to $1.70 on the opening but reacted later to stand off at $1.49. Home oil dropped 4 to $1.05 while balance of the oils were steady in quiet turnover.

STRONGER TONE IN SPECIALTIES

Possibility of Favorable Dividends To-morrow Prompts "Bear" Retreat.

TRADING SLUGGISH.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 24.—(CP)—The possibility that dividend disbursements to be announced to-morrow may be more favorable than expected prompted a quiet retreat of bears in to-day's stock market.

As in the previous session, the list was chipped away by further selling in the morning, but rails and some of the specialties turned upward after midday. Bulls harried the shorts as they sought to withdraw, and produced a few substantial advances.

Trading remained sluggish, but Union Pacific pushed up 4 points, and issues moving up about 2 or more included New York Central, Atchison, Norfolk and Western, American Telephone, Westinghouse and Case. Auburn moved up about 8 to another peak for the year. Early losses of 3 and 4 in Allied Chemical and Columbian Carbon were largely regained. Losses of a point or two were numerous during the morning, embracing such issues as U.S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Eastman, Public Service of N.J., North American, Bethlehem, Anaconda, Dupont and Union Carbide.

GARRISON REBELS 40 ARE KILLED

Regiment Chased Into Barracks at Lima Wiped Out in Cannon Fire.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED.

LIMA, Peru, March 24.—(C.P.) — Forty or more soldiers were killed in the 5th Regiment Barracks at the Santa Catalina army post here this afternoon, according to Government reports when the regiment, led by its non-commissioned officers, revolted against the Samanez Campo Government.

The barracks, into which the revolutionary troops had been pursued by the Loyalist army, were swept by cannon fire and almost demolished. Martial law was declared this afternoon.

Riding in taxi cabs and omnibuses which they took forcibly, the revolutionary troops over-ran the streets, firing wildly with rifles, pistols and machine guns. Civilians and other pedestrians scurried for shelter. The disorder lasted about four hours. Authorities said the revolt was crushed.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Mar. 24.—(CP)—Prime mercantile paper 2¾-2¾ per cent.

Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents):—Great Britain 4.85 27-32; France 3.91 5-16; Italy, 5.23½; Germany, 23.82½; Canadian dollars at 1-64 of one per cent discount.

Eggs imported into London last year weighed more than 73,000 tons.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner.

Massey's Board Shaped For Consistent Effort

TORONTO, Mar. 24.—Ratification by shareholders of Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., at their annual meeting yesterday of a new by-law which will secure the position of the directorate for longer periods than under the old system of annual elections was interpreted as a move by the management to give them a sounder footing on which to base long-term policies of operation.

The new system will give the incoming directorate a unified front for a period of five years. It is understood that it may take a similar period before the full benefits of new policies adopted last Fall, which include a new system of handling inventories and merchandise distribution, will be fully realized.

In his address to shareholders, President T. A. Russell admitted that it would be a number of years before the present acute problems of the agricultural implement industry would be really solved.

On Friday occured a typical drive, backed by a big Chicago operator against the periodically congested short interest in Westinghouse Electric. It proved a short-lived success, Saturday selling wiping out practically all of the gain. The heavy trading in Radio and Radio-Keith-Orpheum were equally professional. Citation of these various individual issues, where strength and activity have prevailed is only for the purpose of emphasizing again the highly artificial and professional character of speculation.

Foreign Obligations Weak On Bond Market

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—With the exception of United States Government issues, bonds worked lower yesterday, foreign issues and domestic rails showing widest recessions.

Some recent leaders in the South American list suffered heavier losses among foreign loans, while carrier issues were featured by heavy pressure on Soo Line 5's, which drop more than five points.

Convertibles were mixed, with Warner Brothers 6's strong, while American Telephone 4½'s were in supply and dropped more than two points.

In the complete lack of symmetry in the recent advance is the best evidence of the spasmodic and professional character of speculation. First came the advance in the high-grade utilities, based on nothing more tangible than rumors of consolidations in the East. Then followed a modest rise in the three best motors: General Motors, Nash and Chrysler; and, next, as outlined, a brief rise in steel shares. The speculation in motors and steels was at the expense of utilities, which quieted down and sagged, thus further suggesting a low state of general speculative vitality.

World Wheat Prices Work Slightly Lower

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 24.—The following wheat quotations were supplied by Broomhall, Liverpool, yesterday all prices c.i.f. (cost, insurance and freight, Liverpool):

	To-day	Sat' day
No. 1 Man. North. Vancouver shipment April	76⅝	77
No. 2 Man. North. Atlantic shipment April	76	76
No. 3 Man. North. Atlantic shipment April	69⅗	69¾
Argen (Barusso 63⅗ lbs.) shipment April	60¾	61⅛
Argen. (Rosafe 63 lbs.) shipment April	61⅛	61⅜
Australian (new crop) shipment March	63¾	64⅛
U.S. No. 2 hard winters.	unq	unq
Russian (afloat) average sample	61⅜	61⅜

The above was translated from British weights and currency to Canadian bushels and money at to-day's exchange rate between banks which was $4.85⅞.

Scheduled for this week are several important dividend meetings, including Westinghouse Electric, United States Industrial Alcohol and National Cash Register. The extremely low earning power of all three points strongly to downward revisions, and the faith, or lack of belief, of these various directorates in a spring business revival should be manifest in the courage of their dividend policies. Lately several dividend cuts have been promptly followed by market recoveries, from which the inference is that adverse action had been over-discounted. New York Central with its 10-point decline to 109 1-8 is, of course, the shining exception. Temporary market response to news of this sort is not of so much importance as the cumulative effect of falling dividends upon general sentiment, and, in turn, upon the entire market structure.

General Motors Co. Investors At Peak

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—A new high record number of investors owned General Motors common and preferred stocks at the end of the first quarter of this year, according to an official statement. Holders now total 286,378, compared with the previous record number of 263,528 at the end of 1930.

Compared with the first quarter of 1930, when 240,482 persons were listed as stockholders, there has been an increase during the past twelve months of 45,895 stockholders.

Of the current total, 268,907 own the common stock and 17,471 the preferred. These figures compare with 247,885 common stockholders and 15643 preferred at the end of the preceding quarter.

In a market so thoroughly liquidated as the present, and with call money at 1%, falling dividends may not warrant immediately lower prices. But lowered dividends are of themselves negative speculative factors, discouraging speculation for the rise. Enough reductions may even cause a general revision of sentiment and of price levels. For, unless there is to be an early business boom instead of the slow revival which even the most optimistic predict, directors will necessarily go as slow in restoring dividend rates as they were in lowering them.

Cocoa Futures In Further Declines

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—With cocoa futures prices hovering within a quarter of a cent of the lowest price in the history of the industry an increasing amount of investment buying has been noted by market observers. For the week ending March 20 futures showed net losses of 10 to 13 points.

On March 15 visible stocks in the five important consuming centres New York, Havre, Lisbon, London and Liverpool—were 300,000 bags less than last year, but this deficit is counterbalanced by stocks still on the Gold Coast. Arrivals are expected to be heavy in consuming countries during the coming month.

SECURITY SELLING COMBINE FORMED

On of the largest security-distributing organizations has been developed in the recently formed Allied General Corp. which combines the functions and facilities of Founders General Corp. and Insuranshares Corp., of N. Y. The realignment marks a separation of security- selling functions of United Founders Corp. group and Insuranshares Corp. group from investment-management operations.

The two organizations, Founders General of the United Founders group and Insuranshares Corp., of N. Y. of the Insuranshares group, were similar in character and operation, and formation of Allied General Corp. represents a combination of personnel of the two concerns. More than 1000 security dealers throughout the United States and Canada have distributed securities to be handled by Allied General Corp.

Automobile Output In February Gains

NEW YORK, Mar. 24.—February automobile production in the United States and Canada totaled 229,768 cars and trucks, as compared with 178,347 in January and 345,962 in February, 1930, according to the Department of Commerce.

Output for the first two months of the current year showed a total of 408,115 cars, which compares with 629,571 in the corresponding period of last year.

FRESH LOW PRICE MARKS AT CHICAGO

Favorable Weather For Domestic Wheat Growth Adds to Bearish Influence.

CHICAGO, Ill., Mar. 24.—(CP)—Low price records quickly came about in wheat to-day, largely as a continuing result of removal of artificial props to values of new crop deliveries. Favorable weather for domestic winter wheat growth as an additional bearish influence. Opening 1 3-8 cents off to ¼ up, wheat underwent a further sag before showing power to rally. Corn started 1-8 5-8 down, but subsequently scored gains.

REO WILL BUILD TRUCKS IN CANADA

Plant Owned by Dodge Brothers in Toronto Taken Over By Reo Company.

TORONTO, March 24.— Arrangements have just been completed whereby Reo motor cars, trucks and busses will again be produced in Canada. R. G. Hudson, Canadian and Export sales manager of Reo Car Company is authority for this announcement, which involves one of the pioneer producers of motor vehicles in the Dominion, the Reo Canadian manufacturing charter dating back more than twenty-two years. The Reo Motor Car Company, of Canada, Limited will stablish itself in the former Dodge Brothers' plant in Toronto, where actual production operations will be commenced April 1st.

SIGNS OF EARLY SPRING

THE PAS, Man, March 24—(By The Canadian Press)—The earliest spring in a decade is predicted for the North country this year, despite the present cold weather Indians, those shrewd observers of Northland weather vagaries, declare that April will be an unusually warm month.

Ice in all parts of the North is thinner on lakes and rivers than at any time in the memory of pioneers here. Few trappers have been able to reach civilization this winter because of the poor trails afforded. Snow has been too deep for travel over the barren lands and the majority are waiting for their packs of furs to come out after winter's toy grip is released from the Northland.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Bawlf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

The wheat market experienced a pretty good house cleaning yesterday when general liquidation by longs was in evidence and prices gradually worked lower until they were almost two cents under the close on Saturday which is a pretty drastic break at these levels. At the same time Chicago, July and Sept. broke 2-5-8 and 2¼ cents respectively. The official announcement from Washington that the Farm Board would not make any attempt to stabilize prices for the new wheat crop, was the chief bearish factor in the news. The market had slight rallies from time to time, but generally speaking it was very heavy, and holders apparently had lost confidence in looking for higher prices for the time being, at least. There was no export business over the week-end, but on the scale down the market met resting orders and export business worked yesterday morning was estimated at 300,000.

The market may sink a little further but believe wheat should be bought on further declines for moderate profits only

Coarse Grains.—The weakness in wheat had its effect on the Coarse Grains and all prices were sharply lower. Outside of some scattered liquidation the markets were generally quiet. No export business was reported and so far as could be confirmed there was no inquiry or bids in the market.

Liverpool Cables due 5-8 lower based on Winnipeg.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 24. (Special to Examiner.)—Anticipated improvement in the metal situation is failing to materialize, the London metal market to-day making giving an unusually soft performance. Tin dropped £1 10s to £121 5s lead touched a new low for the current movement of £11 13s 9d, off £1 and zinc dropped 8s 9d to £11 10s. Silver was somewhat stronger price moving up a quarter to 13 13-16d.

According to word from New York strong interests are behind the resumption of operations at the Macassa property. An unofficial report carried the information that R. C. Stanley, president of International Nickel Company and William J. Hutchinson of C. J. Lawrence and Sons, New York brokers, will be added to the Macassa board. Confirmation of this statement could not be secured at the Toronto office of the company as managing Director R. A. Bryce is out of town.

Improvement in demand and enquiry for seats on the Standard stock and mining exchange is reported, One bid of $25,000 is said by an official of the exchange to have been received. This compares with the last sale of a seat at $20,000 which in turn registered an increase of $5,000 over the preceding sale. During the past two weeks million share days have been almost the rule.

According to New York advices copper buying continues quiet both there and abroad. Amounts obtainable at 10 cent delivered seem to be somewhat abundant. Producers continue to ask 10¼ cents, but seldom sellers are willing to sell for 10c in the domestic market Some foreign consumers refuse to buy at a quarter cent abroad above the parity, as a consequence foreign buying has been quiet for more than a week.

ONE MILLIONTH FORD CAR MADE IN CANADA RUN OFF TO-DAY

Event Hailed By Officials As New Milestone in Progress of Canadian Industry.

WILL BE EXHIBITED.

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., Mar. 24.—(Special to Examiner.)—The one millionth Ford car manufactured in Canada came off the assembly line to-day at the East Windsor plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited.

The event, which was hailed as a new milestone in the progress of Canadian industry, was witnessed only by officials of the company, and veteran employees.

The ceremony was climaxed when Wallace R. Campbell president of the Ford Company armed with a hammer and punch, pounded the serial number, "1,000,000," into the engine block and then drove the historic car off the assembly line. The manufacture of the car was in charge of G. E. Dickert, vice-president of the company in charge of production.

The car bore the legend, "The one millionth Ford car made in Canada."

The final assembly of the one millionth Canadian Ford car was directly in charge of two foremen, Andrew Moir and G. P. Panabaker. Veteran employees of the company, who had assisted in the assembly of the first Ford made in Canada.

It was said after the car was driven to the main offices of the Ford company that the historic car will be exhibited during the next few months in various Canadian cities.

"The attainment of this milestone in the history of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., is of even greater importance to the dominion as heralding a new era in Canadian industry," Mr. Campbell said, following the ceremony. "This may better understood when I say that our business—the manufacture of the Canadian Ford car and its sale in Canada. The British overseas dominions—with a capital investment in excess of $40,000,000, has spent in Canada during the last ten years a sum aggregating almost $300,000,000.

Factor in Economic Life.

"Our manufacturing and selling organization represents a very real factor in the economy life of the Dominion. Our shareholders number almost 23,000.

"During 1930, we had an average of slightly more than 6,200 employees. Our dealers employed another 4,600 workers, our service garages, 1,500, and our allied industries—those manufacturing parts going into the Canadian Ford car—another 6,000.

"Our pay-rolls during the last ten year period have totalled $95,000,000. During this same period, our company spent in Canada, in the purchase of materials, supplies and service more than $170,000,000, which great sum furnished employment to thousands of other workers in all industries.

SINGER ALLOWED BAIL OF $10,000 APPEALS HIS FINE

Chief Justice Mulock. "I don't think there is the slightest danger that Mr. Singer will not come to Toronto. I think he should be admitted on his own bail alone, as before," said J. S. Kelly, defence counsel.

"The situation has changed," Chief Justice Mulock replied. "I have no doubt personally that Mr. Singer will appear, but I musn't allow my own opinion to sway my judgment. I think $10,000 is reasonable bail, in this case."

As Mr. Singer was in custody at Windsor, it would be a little more difficult to raise the bail there in two sureties, Mr. Kelly pointed out, and the Chief Justice altered his judgment to allow of more sureties if necessary. The men will be released as soon as the bail bonds are arranged, and the Attorney-General's Department properly notified.

NEILL MANAGERS

Bissette of Cornwall delighted the Rotarians with his spirited singing of Allouette.

Luncheon was followed by a motor drive around the city, and the main business of the conference proceeded during the afternoon. It covered discussions on such topics as merchandising, advertising, styles, various phases of the extensive Neill stock of boots and shoes, and other details of the trade. The managers were dinner guests of Mrs. Neill at her home on Hunter street, and the conference was concluded with a profitable evening session at which additional features of the business were considered.

The Founder's Vision.

The vision of the late Robert Neill is limned more cleary today against the background of modern methods of merchandising than in the years of his active, personal management when he had few, if any imitators. The first Neill store stood on a small corner of the premises now occupied by the company's headquarters on George street. Fifty years ago the spirit of individualism in business was so strong and so deep-rooted that? the eventual development of the chain system perhaps seemed a negligible possibility.

Time has proved with accumulating emphasis the exceptional business ability of the late Robert Neill. Not only did he conceive the idea of his own chain of boot and shoe stores, but he carried it into effect with such enduring success that the business he extended throughout the province meets contemporary competition on even terms.

A Pioneer Chain.

The Neill Stores of Peterborough were the first chain, the forging of which was begun more than half a century ago. Today there are still one of the outstanding chains in this country. The purchasing power of these combined twelve stores enables the company to obtain from manufacturers substantial advantages which can be passed on to the buying public.

Since the death of Mr. Neill, the central management of these stores has been conducted by Mr. Kidd with a sustained enterprise that is reflected in such incidental affairs as this conference of the company's branch managers.

The people of Peterborough do not generally know that the Neill store is one of the city's modest attractions. Many visitors, including tourists, look through the Neill store, examining its arrangement, its display and care of stock, and other business methods that may interest them.

MARATHONERS SET NEW ROAD RECORD

Pete Gavuzzi and S. H. Newton Better Time in Hamilton-Toronto Run.

HAMILTON, Ont., Mar. 24. (CP)—Covering the 44-mile highway route in five hours 52½ minutes, Pete Gavuzzi and S. H. Newton, well-known marathoners, to-day established a new record between the cities of oTronto and Hamilton. Their time was an hour and four minutes better than that made by the previous record holder, who created his record over a slightly longer route in 1900.

To-day's race was run over a different course, Gavuzzi and Newton holding to the upper road on the approach to Hamilton, while the previous record holder, followed the old Lake Shore Road and ran direct through the Valley Inn road, a slightly longer course.

Gavuzzi and Newton left Toronto city hall at seven o'clock this morning and reached the Hamilton city hall in a dead heat shortly before one o'clock.

YOUTH FIGHTS GAMELY FOR LIFE AFTER BATTLE WITH DESPERADOES

Monteral Restaurant Keeper Shot Under Heart Defending Money in Till.

16 SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

MONTREAL, Que., March 24 (C.P.) —With the same courage that led him to battle two bandits with his fists in the face of their revolvers, Marcil Dupre, 21-year-old restaurant keeper, is fighting for his life to-day in a Montreal hospital. The bandits who held up his restaurant on Amherst Street early this morning shot him beneath the heart as he struggled with them in defence of the few dollars in his till.

Pair Escape With $10.

The pair escaped and took with them 10, leaving Dupre unconscious and wounded on the floor of his restaurant. The bullet pierced his liver and intestines, and an operation has been carried on in an effort to save his life.

Meanhile squads of detectives combed the city and their dragnet brought in 16 suspects. There were two other lesser hold-ups during the night. Police have recovered three revolvers, a burglar's jemmy and a stolen car in the search. The names of the suspects were not announced. Two were taken with a stolen car in which revolvers were found, two more were arrested in a West End rooming house, each violently disclaiming ownership of money found in their room.

Port Hope Was Small Indian Village in 1778

PETER SMITH WAS FIRST WHITE MAN PURCHASE FURS FROM THE INDIANS

Myndert Harris Was First White Man to Take Up Permanent Residence.

CALLED SMITH'S CREEK.

(By Bessie G. French.)

As far back as 1778 a trading post flourished in Port Hope, at which time the site was occupied by a small Indian village. The encampment, which consisted of a number of wigwams inhabited by Mississauga Indians, was called Cochingominck. The first white man to leave any enduring record of himself there was Peter Smith. He was a trader and dwelt in a log cabin on the east bank of the creek which empties into Lake Ontario at this point. For many years the Indians of the neighborhood refused to sell their furs to any one else along the entire north shore of the lake, and consequently he enjoyed a monopoly of the trade. The creek which flowed past his hut came to be named after him, and the village in time was called Smith's Creek.

The first white man to take up permanent residence on the Port Hope side of the creek was Myndert Harris, a United Empire Loyalist. He came here from Port Royal (now called Annapolis), Nova Scotia, in the year 1792. He made the journey from the Maratimes to Upper Canada through the state of New York. When he arrived at Newark (Niagara) he was entertained for some days by Governor Simcoe.

Acting upon the Governor's advice, Mr. Harris determined to settle at Smith's Creek, whither he was conveyed in a gunboat commanded by Captain Jonathan Walton, a man whose name is familiar to all old residents of Port Hope and whose surname is perpetuated in the designation of the principal street of the town. The boat reached its destination on June 8, and Mr. Harris and his family disembarked at once, though not without misgivings as to how they would be received by the Indians, some two hundred in number. Only one white man lived there then, Mr. Herchmier.

Yankee Intruders.

The Indians regarded the fresh arrivals as "Yankee intruders," and were by no means disposed to welcome them. It required all the eloquence of Herchmier and Captain Walton to convince the Indians that the emigrants were not Yankees, but loyal subjects of the "Great Father," the King of England.

Before winter set in several other families arrived from Nova Scotia and the smoke of half a dozen log cabins mingled with the curling wreaths which ascended from the wigwams of the Mississaugas. The aborigines came to be not altogether unfriendly, and the settlers set to work to clear the land.

The situation of the village, clustered together at the foot of the gently sloping hills, was charming. The woods abounded with deer, rabbits, partridge, pigeons, and other varieties of choice game. The stream was full of salmon and speckled trout. However, flour was difficult to obtain as the nearest grist mill was at Kingston. The erection of a mill in 1794 at Belleville by Mr. Meyers shortened the distance by about 40 miles. In 1779, a Crown Patent of the land on which the town of Port Hope now stands was granted to Smith and Walton on condition that they should erect a grist mill and a saw mill.

For more than 20 years after Mr. Harris' arrival there was no regular store in the village, and supplies were obtained from the boats which called in at the harbor. However, a store was opened in 1815 and a Post Office two years later. In 1819 a public meeting was held for the purpose of fixing a definite name for the village. The late G. S. Bolton suggested the name of Port Hope, and accordingly the village of 1,517 inhabitants took this name.

There were formerly five or six large distilleries in the town, and the whiskey of Port Hope had a high reputation from one end of the country to the other. A large battalion drill shed was built in 1867 at a cost of $2,200. Many handsome residences were built in "English Town." On Protestant Hill could be seen the little tower of St. Mark's Anglican Church, erected in 1818 and hence the oldest edifice of its kind in Port Hope.

Trinity College School is a branch of Trinity College, Toronto, and was moved to Port Hope in 1868. The school was established in buildings provided by the townspeople free of rent and was occupied for the first time in 1873. The cost of building the school was in the vicinity of $60,000.

The town was lighted with gas and whether seen by day or by night presented an appearance greatly dissimilar to that of the little Indian village which Myndert Harris found when he settled on the site 85 years previously.

FOUR NOMINATED FOR VACANCY ON SEYMOUR BOARD

Vacancy on the Council Board Caused by Death of William S. Grills.

ELECTION NOT LIKELY

CAMPBELLFORD, March 24—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Following the special nominations held yesterday in the Public Library, Campbellford, for the office of councillor in the Seymour Township Council, Frank Lee, Harold T. Rutherford, Harry H. Grills and Fred Peake were all slated for that office.

This vacancy in the council was caused by the death of the late Councillor William S. Grills. At the public meeting held after the nominations and at which Wesley Stephens presided, all the speakers paid a high tribute to the late councillor, and on motion of Alex Hume, seconded by Frank Glenn, it was decided that a letter of sympathy be sent to the family of the late Mr. Grills from the ratepayers of the Township of Seymour.

Three of the nominees, Messrs. Lee, Rutherford and Peaks, declared their intention of withdrawing should their presence in the field cause an election. Mr. Lee stated that he would only accept the nomination if it did not entail an election, otherwise he would withdraw. Mr. Rutherford declared that he would not run in any case, as his district was well represented by Councillor Fry, and Mr. Peake also echoed the first speaker's sentiment, that he would not be the cause of an election. Mr. H. Grills was not present to speak.

In a brief address to the meeting Reeve R. Innes explained the reason of the nomination, expressing the sorrow he felt at the necessity for it. He declared that in the death of the late Councillor Grills, a man who has served faithfully and well for many years in the council, that the township had lost a good and faithful servant and the community a good neighbor.

It is thought that there will be no election, only one candidate being expected to qualify.

QUINTE LODGE PLANNING VISIT TO BELLEVILLE

George B. Van Blaricom is Guest Speaker at Annual Past Masters' Night.

GOING TO BOWMANVILLE

The brethren will also journey to Bowmanville on Wednesday, April 8, as the guests of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 31. Bowmanville.

Erastus W. Grant, a former resident of Tweed, is Worshipful Master of Bay of Quinte Lodge, which held its annual Past Masters' Night in the Masonic Temple, Toronto, on March 20.

The following Past Masters, all former residents of the Bay of Quinte district, ably occupied the chairs in confering the Fellowship degree: V. W. Bro. G. A. Kingston, I.P.M.; W. Bro. W. Carl Rous, W.M.; R. W. Bro M. E. McKenzie, S.W.; V. W. Bro. W. S. Morden, J.W.; W. Bro. F. L. DeLong, Chaplain; R. W. Bro. J. A. Slade, treasurer; V. W. Bro. A. E. Jewett, secretary; V. W. Bro. F. G. Ketcheson, D. of C.; V. W. Bro. A. M. Thorne, S.D.; W. Bro. C. R. Parliament, JD.; W. Bro. T. M. Pine, S.S.; W. Bro. G. T. Everitt, J.S.; W. Bro. F. W. Moody, I.G.

George B. Van Blaricom, editor of the "Canada Lumberman," Toronto, and a former Belleville boy, was the speaker at the social hour, his subject being "Human Nature as Seen by an Editor." Bro. Van Blaricom's remarks, covering an experience of many years as a newspaper man and his contacts with the public, were interesting and instructive.

The strong and weak points in the character and conduct of those encountered on the great highway of life was reviewed and the opinion expressed that human nature was much the same in every sphere of activity. In his relations with his brethren, the average man got out of his career exactly what he put into it. The people, who contributed to the world the best that they had, invariably reaped a larger measure of happiness and satisfaction than those who held aloof from their fellows or tried to go it alone. The speaker added that meagre, indeed, were the returns from a narrow, restricted and unsympathetic existence when compared with the rewards of a life marked by thoughtfulness, generosity and work in the wide service of humanity.

Millbrook I.O.O.F. Holds Euchre Party

MILLBROOK, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—Millbrook Lodge I.O.O.F., No. 308, held a successful benefit euchre in the Oddfellows' Hall on Friday evening, eighteen tables being in use for play.

Prizes were dispensed with because of the nature of the social event, the hours spent about the card tables being thoroughly enjoyed with probably no thought of the incentive such as the offering of a prize sometimes affords.

The bad state of the roads throughout the countryside prevented many of those who would like to have been present from attending, and also accounted for the absence of the orchestra, expected to play for the dance following the supper hour. However, the young people found the orthophonic victrola a fairly good substitute, and the happy gathering was brought to a close at a reasonable hour.

C.C. Garside is Noble Grand of Millbrook Lodge this year, and J. A. Vance secretary; the social committee looked after the event on Friday evening, and attended to the service of refreshments.

Mission Band Candy Sale

The candy sale, sponsored by the Sunshine Mission Band, and held on Saturday afternoon at the home of one of the associate superintendents, Mrs. John Ridge, King street east, was quite successful all the 'sweets' being disposed of before the tea hour.

The sale was considerably helped by the boys and girls, particularly the latter, going to the stores and other business places in the downtown section and offering the 'wares' to prospective purchasers, this plan never failing to bring speedy results.

Assisting with the sale were the superintendent, Mrs. M. McDowell, and her two associates, Mrs. Ridge and Mrs. Phyllis Kidd, with practically the whole membership of the Mission Band, the latter acting as "salesmen" in the manner already indicated.

The Sunshine members have an allocation of one hundred dollars to reach each year, with thirty dollars of the amount to help in the salary of Miss E. C. Hawken, the personal representative on the home mission field of the local United Church Auxiliary, Circle, and Band. Miss Hawken will speak in Saint Andrew's Church here on Sunday morning, April 12, in connection with the special thankoffering service of the three organizations mentioned.

BREWERS TO OFFER GUARANTEED PRICE

Canadian Companies Guarding Against Possible Barley Shortage in 1931 Crop.

MONTREAL, March 24 (C.P.). — Guarding against a possible shortage of barley in the 1931 crop, a guaranteed rate of 55 cents a bushel for 1,000,000 bushels of barley is being offered by the National Breweries Company and Molson's Brewery, it was learned yesterday.

The current price of barley has recently fallen as low as 25 cents a bushel, and it was feared that the low price now quoted would lead farmers in Quebec and Ontario to neglect this grain during the coming season.

SIR HUBERT WILKINS' REMODELLED SUBMARINE PUTS OUT ON FIRST LAP

An interesting view of the Nauthilus, Sir Hubert Wilkins' remodelled navy submarine, which is seen leaving Philadelphia on its first lap of its journey to the jumping-off point of its perilous undersea trip across the north Polar seas. At New York the trim craft will be officially christened. Preliminary trial runs quite came up to the expectations of its sponsors. Note the special shock absorber sticking from the bow which is made to take impact, should craft strike an ice wall or similar surface. Structure seen amidships disappears when craft is ready to dive under the ice.

The victory of Captain A. Duff Cooper, Conservative candidate in the St. George's bye-election in England, was largely due to the untiring efforts of his wife, Lady Diana Duff Cooper (top, right), who carried on a vigorous campaign on behalf of her husband who was defending the good name of Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader. The unsuccessful candidate was Sir W. Petter, who although a Conservative, was backed by the British newspaper barons, Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere who sought to out Baldwin (top, left), from power.

A Fighting Soccer Aggregation From Auld Scotia

Airdrieonians, one of Scotland's oldest and best known soccer aggregations, have not had the best of breaks either in the first division or Scottish cup-ties this year. A staunch outfit, as this picture plainly shows, the team is composed mainly of miners. As the years go by, season after season, some English team is sure to announce the transfer to its folds of at least one of Airdie's stalwarts. The fact is that the management finding the club in straitened circumstances are forced to part with some of their best players. The district from which this team sprung is a well-known breeding ground for football players and every miner, showing the least prospect of developing into a player, is hailed as a potential international. The town of Airdie is a famous hunting ground for English spotters. At present Aldrieonians occupy a fairly comfortable position in the league table.

win took the text from the 2nd verse of the 18th chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew: "Jesus called a little child and set him in the midst of them."

The speaker would like to have been present when that great scene was enacted, the disciples had been indulging in a sharp dispute as to who was the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. When they could not settle the dispute they did the commendable thing and appealed to Jesus to settle it. There was the mark of interrogation in evey face and expectancy in every eye as He took the child and set him in their midst. A great German once sa'd when he saw a little boy he felt like taking off his hat as he did not know in whose present he was standing.

What is Canada's greatest asset? We are all loyal Canadians, and what have we to make our country great? Some would say agricultural lands, mines, timber, and manufactured products. What about the great principles of life, democracy, justice, integrity, and fair play, and what about the great religious institutions —the home, church, school, and the Sabbath? We put the home first, for no other institution can take the place of the home, and while in these days of purely secular education we might hesitate about calling the school a religious institution, nevertheless it had its origin in the church, and if we do not see that the teachers in the schools where we send our children are Christian men and women, we do not place the same value on the children that Jesus did.

Occupied Honored Place.

The Presbyterian Church has occupied an honored and envied position because of the place given to the first day of each week — the Christian Sabbath, maintaining it as a holy day and not as a holiday. Long before Columbus d'scovered America and before John and Sebastian Cabot made their voyages all our material assets were here but valueless because the Indians who inhabited the land set no value on them. They were discussed and valued by the new type of people who settled the country after its discovery by the white men. There are two great classes of people in the world to-day—those who have come to maturity and middle life, who have made the great choice, and there will not be many vital changes in their lives; and the second class, the boys and girls, whose lives are in the making and who are the future occupants of our homes and the pews of the church.

What the church and country will be depends on what the boys and girls of to-day become, and that depends on us and the use we made of them counts for more than what we make of our material assets. The good harvest depends much on good seed, good soil, and good cultivation; the young people take root in the home and it is ours to make the environments, for the home is the greatest institution we know anything about. What do the first four years mean to a child? His whole world is the home, perhaps a little less in urban localities and longer in rural districts. The child starts absolutely dependent on others, but at four years can speak the English language, and is beginning to assert an individuality. We are anxious at any physical or intellectual defect, but are we equally careful about their spiirtual welfare? Have we been building up their bodies and starving their souls?

The greatest need in Canada is the revival of the home relations and the second greatest need is the revival of the family pew. The Sunday School is not the children's church, and it is the duty of parents to bring their children to the morning worship so that they may grow up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. The plea for workers in the Sunday Schools which goes out for superintendents is a disgrace to the church. Let us invest in the lives of living boys and girls, and hope to enlist the services of the boys and girls in the congregational worship.

When the speaker comes down each evening from his office in downtown Toronto, there is a bevy of newsboys selling the evening papers, and while they differ in many ways they all have bright eyes and there is this challenge in those eyes: "Be the man you want me to be when I grow up." We are teaching the boys and girls every day by our example.

In reading the Gospel stories we see in the disciples type: of people whom we know and meet every day. Andrew was the type of the Sunday School teacher, as he had that peculiar faculty of finding people and introducing them to Jesus, and at the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand, the only miracle recorded in all four Gospels, it was St. Andrew who found the boy with the loaves and fishes and brought him to Christ, and while he could not perform the miracle he co-operated with the Lord, Who could and did do so.

During the service Mrs. Chaplin and Dr. J. C. Smith sang a duet, "Drifting," and Mrs. J. C. Smith sang the solo parts in a selection. "He's the One," with chorus by the choir. Miss Lulu Smith is the organist, and the organ is the bequest of the late Mrs. Thomas Hendren. The pulpit and chairs are the gift of the Presbyterian Church of Port Hope, and the massive oak Communion atble and the Communion linen are gifts of Mrs. James Duff, while the Communion set is the gift of Miss Duff and Mr. Robert Duff.

The basement of the new church is complete, and is very attractive. The walls are finished in gyproc, painted a cheerful buff color, with white trimmings, the ceiling is a deep cream, and the aspect is bright and cheery.. There are six windows which give ample light, and the electric fixtures light the building excellently. The heat is supplied from a furnace of sufficient capacity to ensure comfort no matter how cold the weather. The stairway leading down from the main entrance of the church is finished in light colored wood, and is a very pretty stair. There is also an entrance at the rear.

Until the main auditorium of the church is completed, the services will be held in the basement in real comfort, and the congregation, which has been homeless for nearly six years, has now a church home in which to worship God, and which is comfortable and convenient, neat and compact both without and within.

CANCELLING TRAIN OPPOSED IN TWEED

Board of Trade Goes on Record as Opposing Removal of Local Train.

TWEED, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence).—Again at the annual meeting of the Tweed Board of Trade the opinion was expressed that the permanent cancellation of the Tweed-Havelock local train would react as a major loss to this district. The Board went on record as being opposed to the train's removal and the Council will be urged to take up the matter again with the railroad.

The proposed closing of the hotel sheds was also discussed, and it was deemed that such action would be unsuitable to the farmers of the district. The Township of Hungerford will be asked to make a grant to keep the sheds open.

The executive of the Board was elected as follows:

President, ames Ryan; Vice-President, Dr. Dales; Second Vice, Paul Rashotte; Secretary, Fred Hindle; Treasurer, F. . Hunter; Council, F. E. Moffat, E. Myles, T. Beatty, W. E. Tummon, M.P., J. BOARD ISSUES WARNING.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 24.—(C.P.)—The Farm Board's decision not to buy into the 1931 wheat crop was interpreted to-day by George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, as a warning to farmers that stabilizing must come through acreage reduction.

out if it was found true. When members of the House had drawn the attention of the department to any irregularity an inspector had always investigated and reported. Some men had been dismissed. He pointed to the different conditions; in Old Ontario small districts, easily watched and thickly populated; New Ontario had vast areas, sparsely populated, and whole areas had foreign populations, so that the department's local foremen were often uneducated foreigners who would employ their friends and relatives on road work until the department forbid such action.

The department had two big tasks, he stated, building the Ferguson and Trans-Canada highways. Construction on these roads was altogether different to that in old Ontario. Entire sections of road had been known to disappear into a morass; cars had sunk from sight. Sometimes it cost fabulous sums to build a short stretch of road where it was almost impossible to find a bottom to a bog.

Ferguson Highway

Work on the Ferguson Highway had been continued all year. When completed a few years hence he said, it would form a cross-section highway from Lake Ontario to the salt water of Hudson Bay.

Of the trans-Canada highway, he could not predict much, continued Mr. Finlayson. Work had gone forward on the sections which the Ontario Government had been assured would form links in the eventually planned route. In September, he said, the grand opening of the link that will join Manitoba and Ontario would be held—and he invited all the members of the House to be present.

"But don't think that all the money you vote is spent in these highways," continued Mr. Finlayson. "Total up the items you find in the accounts for the lateral or branch roads, the roads into settlers' communities and you will find that it is more than is spent on the main trunk roads.

"This year we will find we have an overdraft. Last year we had a balance but we spent over $7,000,000. At the end of the fiscal year we had a credit of $3,000,000, but it disappeared because during the Winter we continued work for the benefit of the men and women. You in old Ontario cannot appreciate what it means when lumbering and newsprint have closed down and even the wheat failure has thrown thousands out of work at the head of the lakes.

"We regret Winter work for one thing; it is not economical. One dollar in Summer would do what two dollars does in Winter. The Premier and I went to Ottawa and we gained a relief grant for Northern Ontario especially. Thus, of the $3,000,000 credit which we spent we will receive soon $1,000,000 from the Federal Government, so that our total expenditure in this way will be about $2,000 000. By the end of the session here we will be just about even when we receive the $1,000,000 from Ottawa.

Declines to Argue.

"The Premier said he wanted to start a debate," remarked Mr. Sinclair, and he and Premier Henry exchanged smiles. "But I'm afraid he won't. He will be disappointed. I won't argue.

"I do want to say, however, that the accounts are vastly improved. Also I note the Minister admits irregularities. Yet it is only a year since the season of storms when the public accounts committee heard certain charges and threw them out. After the session last year, I might say, I went to Porquis Junction and did a little investigating for myself and learned that there must have been some good lying before the committee.

"I don't blame the Minister. He cannot check up on everybody. But the Liberal group here can take credit for four big improvements: The appointment of this auditor, the tabling of detailed estimates, the present system of setting out the public accounts, and the checking of the payrolls. We have tried to tell this House for years about the condition under which an unscrupulous person could pad the payrolls and send them down containing the names of fictitious employees.

"Less politics and more business will certainly improve the development of the north," continued Mr. Sinclair. "Northern Ontario must be the home of future generations and not the garden for the Conservative Party to play around in. No one can go up there now without seeing it."

"I agree we are not perfect," retorted Mr. Finlayson. "But we are trying to be reasonable. I won't sit here and hear ourselves accused of maintaining a political machine. The member must realize that every time we discharge a man for reasonable cause, he writes to the Leader of the Opposition and complains. Thus he hears of much that is wrong — or seemingly wrong. Really it is not so bad."

Without a division the resolution was then carried.

WOOLER MAN HURT IN CUTTER CRASH

Horse Runs Away Throwing Occupants of Vehicle Unto Road.

WOOLER, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—A noted event of the social season took place on Wednesday evening when the members of the Plus Ultra Bible Class of the United Church sponsored a Men's Banquet, the supper being served by members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Seventy-five men were seated at the tables which were attractively decorated the honored guest of the evening was Rev. Mr. Jones, of Trenton.

After the supper, Rev. A. Poulter, pastor of the church led in a sing song. The president, J. J. McColl called on Percy Gooding for a few remarks in honor of the teacher, Percy Whaley. During the past year, Mr. Whaley was absent for only two Sundays, caused by a bridge being out of order. This is a very fine record in view of the fact that he lives six miles out in the country. In replying, Mr. Whaley said it was because he loved to be in his class of men, that he had such a good record.

C. F. Wessels in a few well chosen words, expressed thanks to the ladies for their loyalty in always being ready to serve a meal such as this. Many humorous stories were told after which the chairman introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Jones, of Trenton. The men adjourned to the auditorium where lantern slides were shown, giving an interesting description of the Peace River district. The address accompanying the slides was most interesting.

Terrible, Tickling Cough Could Not Sleep For It

Mrs. Gordon J. Roy, S. W. Port Mouton, N.S., writes:—"I had a terrible, tickling cough, and at night could not get to sleep for hours for it. I read about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and decided to get a bottle of it, and I can truly say it did me a wonderful lot of good.

"I have three children and I give them the Syrup just as soon as I see them getting a cold or cough, as I always keep it on hand both for the children and myself."

BEWARE OF COLDS NOW

If Neglected They May Pave The Way For Flu Attack

TREAT COLDS PROMPTLY BUT AVOID "DOSING"

Now that flu is in the air again health authorities advise everyone to take these common-sense precautions: Eat wisely; get plenty of sleep and fresh air; avoid undue exposure; and above all treat every cold promptly. Unless checked quickly, colds tend to pull down the body resistance and may pave the way for an attack of flu with all its serious complications.

Attack Colds at the Start

At the first sign of sniffling, sneezing or other signs that you are "catching cold," start treatment at once with Vicks VapoRub. Place some Vicks up each nostril and snuff well back. Do this several times a day. It will often prevent a little cold from developing into a big one.

If the head is clogged with mucus or phlegm, or there is much coughing, melt a teaspoonful of Vicks in a bowl or kettle of hot water and inhale the steaming vapors for five minutes at a time. This auxiliary vapor-steam treatment with Vicks has a remarkable effect in clearing the air-passages, easing the breathing, and helps keep the cold from spreading.

Double Action Effective

At bedtime, in order to get the benefit of its long-continued stimulation and inhalation effect, rub Vicks vigorously over the throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Vicks attacks colds in two direct ways: (1) through the skin like a poultice or plaster, drawing out the tightness and soreness; and (2) at the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are inhaled direct to the irritated air-passages.

Protect Children, Especially

Children should be put to bed at the first sign of a cold, and Vicks rubbed on throat and chest. Its use brings prompt relief, and avoids constant "dosing" which often upsets the digestion. When used at bedtime, Vicks often prevents sleep-disturbing night coughs, thus permitting needed rest for both mother and child.

Don't take chances with colds NOW!

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 82½c per 80-lb. bag,and to retailers 95c per 80-lb. bag. Remaining stocks, in car lots, per 90 lbs. bulk, were quoted at 80c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 24. — Announcement from Washington that the Federal Farm Board did not intend to stabilize the 1931 crop brought about considerable liquidation in the wheat pit here yesterday. Values started a descent with the opening of the trading gone, and at the close declines of 1⅝c in all three wheat futures were recorded.

Sentiment was quite bearish and locals, while not pressing sales, were not friendly to the buying side. Best buying came from Chicago traders who were unwinding spreads involving purchases here against sales at Chicago. Scattered buying against export sales near the close steadied prices somewhat and checked a more serious decline.

Export sales over the week-end and during the morning amounted to 300,000 bushels.

There was little activity in the cash wheat market, and spreads showed little change. No. 1 Northern was quoted at 1⅝c under the May future. Small business was done in coarse grains. The futures markets were all weaker in sympathy with the leading cereal.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Mar. 24.—With receipts of eggs fairly well cleaned up over the week-end, the market was slightly steadier yesterday, with the prospect of additional strength. Wholesalers and brokers were of the opinion that prices would go higher if receipts held to yesterday's level during the next few days. There was very little surplus for the week's opening in trading and shipments were not too heavy.

Some sales of graded eggs were made at prices ½c per dozen higher than last week's close, but there were also sales at the prices in effect then and the general range for graded eggs in free cases was 21c to 21½c for extras, 19c to 19½c for firsts, and 17c to 17½c for seconds. Eggs have been shipped East from the West, but they have been going to Montreal.

Country egg shippers were quoted the steady prices of 18c for extras, 16c for firsts and 14c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned, and retailers were also quoted unchanged prices at 26c for extras in cartons, 24c for extras loose, 22c for firsts loose and 19c for seconds loose.

Butter

Trade was quiet on the butter market and prices were the same as last week. Creamery solids were offered at 31c to 31¼c for No. 1 and 30c to 30¼c for No. 2. There were a few scattered offerings of Western butter at 31¼c but the pressure from the West was light.

Cream

Churning cream was steady at 31c for special, 30c for No. 1, and 27c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

The demand for cheese was light and prices were unchanged at 14½c to 14¾c for new large, 14¾c to 15c for triplets to the country shipper, and 16c for new large, 16¼c for twins and 16½c for triplets to the retail trade.

Railways of England report that reductions in the number of employees effected in the last 10 years have saved them $1,515,000,00 in wages.

LENT IS A TIME OF SELF-DENIAL

Millbrook Pastor Delivers Powerful Lenten Message to His Congregation.

CHURCH BORN IN PRAYER

MILLBROOK, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—Continuing his Sunday morning Lenten sermons on Pentecost, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., spoke on Sunday on the eleventh in the series, "The Conclusion of the First Distinctive Period in the Spirit-Filled Church," basing his remarks on Act v., 34-39, the trial of Peter, John, and the other apostles before the Sanhedrin, when Gamaliel, who was evidently at heart in sympathy with those who were preaching Christ, stood up and gave his advice that for the present they be let alone. "If this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found to fight against God."

"No selfish thing can live in God's kingdom, hence the disciples departed from the presence of the council rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His name."

"Gamaliel might have been more fair had he asked the privilege of examining a number of witnesses, and looking into the facts, and so have reached a right conclusion, but like many others to-day, he was apparently afraid of taking sides directly with Christ and His followers, and becoming unpopular with his fellow members in the Sanhedrin."

Considering the evidence that may plainly be adduced, however, "the minister brought out clearly that the early church was born in prayer, just as was Protestant Christianity in the time of Luther, and the great movement of Methodism through the Holy Club at Oxford.

"Let us then so live and pray in these Lenter days that it will be a time of real self-denial, not making it a jam sandwich and lunch basket period of living, but rather a heroic adventure bringing real advantage to the church we love."

The choir sang, "The Cross Triumphant," with duet by Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Mrs. M. McDowell, and at the evening service a special women's choir, composed largely of the membership of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, led in the service of song.

SIR J. CAMPBELL FOUND WOUNDED

Injured Man Rushed to Cornerbrook Hospital With Jaw Shattered.

NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE.

BLACKDUCK, N. F., March 24.—(AP)—Sir John Campbell was found in his summer home yesterday with his jaw shattered from buckshot. He was conveyed to a hospital in Cornerbrook where it was stated today that he was not expected to live. Sir John said it was an accident.

Sir John Home - Purves - Hume Campbell, to give him his proper title is the 8th Baronet and 51 years of age. Formerly a commander in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, he served in the Great War and was wounded twice. He married Emily Jane Ram, daughter of a vicar, in 1901 and there are two daughters, 25 and 23 years of age. The couple were divorced in 1919 and his wife died in 1929.

The family title was created in 1665, when William Purves of Berwick, Kent, descendant of a Scottish family, was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia.

The family surname is Purves, but the sixth Baronet, Sir William Purves, assumed the names Hume-Campbell according to the will of his grand-uncle, Hugh, last Earl of Marchmont, who died without issue.

Face Slapping Laid To Religious Attitude

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 23 (C.P.)—The Rev. Christian F. Reisner, of Broadway Temple Methodist Church, says the slapping of Sinclair Lewis's face by Theodore Dreiser may be traced to the fact that they are not church-goers

"To neglect worship is to degenerate," he declared in his sermon last night.

"Two noted authors, who came originally from Christian homes but who now ridicule organized religion, show how they have slipped by acting like hoodlums at a distinguished dinner."

The slapping took place after a dinner at the Metropolitan Club which was attended by literary eminents.

TEMPERANCE TOPIC IS GIVEN SCHOLARS

"The Story of Two Lives," Special Lesson Given Millbrook Sunday School.

MILLBROOK, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—Unusual interest attached to the session of the Sunday School of Saint Andrew's United Church on Sunday afternoon, when the superintendent W. Fred Fallis, took up a special temperance lesson, using slides for the topic, "The Story of Two Lives," and giving the lecture material while C. C. Garside, teacher of the Trail Rangers' class, looked after the lantern.

The entire school gathered in the auditorium for the session, the usual seating in separate classes being dispensed with, and event the little folk of the primary department, who have class rooms especially for themselves, coming out with the larger school for the temperance story period.

The slides and story were intended as a culmination to the lessons in "Temperance and Life," Miss McCorkindale's book which the superintendent has been using for months past, with the accompanying charts, to give temperance instruction to the school.

The story of the two lives was an interesting one, telling of two boys, Clement St. Claire and John Truscott, the former born in a home of wealth and given sips of wine from his early youth at his father's table, and the other born in a poor home but taken from earliest boyhood to the Band of Hope meetings and other gatherings at the church, and instructed in the home in clean, honest living.

Naturally the drinking habit grew stronger with the passing years with the one boy, and though he had a brilliant career at Oxford, yet the selfish indulgence in which he had been reared, and a foolish marriage, led step by step to the dragging of his wife and family into a life of poverty and disgrace, and ended finally by Clement filling a drunkard's grave.

Early training showed its effect on the life of John Truscott as well, and he rose steadily in the business world, was a mainstay to his parents, married well, and finally came to be Mr. St. Clane's most trusted employee. It was John whom Mr. St. Clane, heartbroken at the news of his son's untimely death, sent to make arrangements for a fitting funeral, and bring the wife and two children to his home town, where the manly grandson and pretty granddaughter became the comfort of their grandfather's declining years.

Next Sunday, March 29, the young ladies' Bible class, Miss Estelle Hetherington teacher, will take the quarterly review for the entire school.

Last year 120,000 tons of cheese were shipped into London.

Items Of Current Interest In Art, Music And Literature

ELISSA LANDI

by Archibald Browne

Yvonne Georgie

by Gilbert Stuart

Bettina Vegara

Features of current interest in the world of art, music and literature. Indefatigable artist is Elissa Landi, screen leading lady, already author of two successful novels, published in England, and now at work on her third, which will be published both in America and England this fall. She always writes her original script in "long hand"—edits it—and then turns it over to her secretary for typing. "The Trail" by Archibald Browne, noted portrayer of the Canadian scene, is one of a collection of 22 of his works now on exhibit in Toronto. Yvonne Georgi, is the partner of Harold Kreutzberg, world-famous dancer, and herself considered as one of the greatest exponents of the new dance to-day, who is scheduled to appear in Toronto shortly. Portrait of Caleb Whitefoord is by Gilbert Stuart, early American master, which was recently discovered in New York after having been lost for nearly a century. Since it was shown at an exhibition in London in 1834 its whereabouts had been a mystery. Whitefoord was a son of Col. Charles Whitefoord, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and a friend and neighbor of Benjamin Franklin, in London. Bettina Vegara is the youngest Canadian violinist able to play a program ranging from old classics to the Witches' Dance by Poganini.

DR. MARGARET McKELLAR IS SPEAKER AT WARSAW MEETING

Noted Missionary Gives Vivid Description of Work in Eastern Countries.

GOOD PROGRAM

WARSAW, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — Dr. Margaret MacKellar was the speaker at a meeting held in the United Church on Friday afternoon, when Rev. J. W. Wilkinson occupied the chair.

The opening hymn was "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" and the twenty-fourth Psalm was read followed by prayer by Rev Mr. Wilkinson.

The male voice quartette sang, "Sometime, somewhere."

Dr. MacKellar, introduced by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, first told the story of the hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains." Reginald Heber's Uncle was to preach a missionary sermon. There were no missionary hymns and R. Heber composed this one in two days. Later the third verse so sunk into his soul that he too became a missionary and the first Bishop of Calcutta. Three years later he died suddenly and was buried in India.

"There is no coral around India, but there is lots of it around Ceylon. The natives cut it into bricks, dry it and use it for building."

The first words of the Psalm read, "The Earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof" are to be found over the main entrance to the Royal Exchange in England." Forty years ago when Dr. MacKellar went to India there was a population of two hundred and ninety millions. The latest census gives a population of three hundred and fifty-one millions, a gain, in the last ten years, of thirty-one millions, in spite of famine and plague.

Very graphically the speaker described the climate, the hot season and the rainy season and once in about six years there is frost. The Himalaya Mountains, the highest in the world, with Mt. Everest, five miles high, are covered with snow. The name means, "The abode of snow." The land is fertile and where there is irrigation, two and three crops are produced in a year. Besides saving lives, Britain has given the Hindu railways and education. There are five universities and one hundred and fifty colleges.

When the East India Company had control there was no medical care for humans. Britain now has seven medical colleges with 3,500 hospitals and dispensaries. Within India there are native states with native rulers who are under British sovereignty, but manage their own affairs while the greater part is directly under British rule. Dr. MacKellar asked prayers of God's people that all in authority would be guided aright. Britain will give India home rule when she is able to take care of herself, but if India had home rule now it would be helpless.

In Queen Victoria's reign the Indians were promised no interference with their religion. Later it was seen that there was much destruction of life, with the burning of widows, throwing children into the Ganges etc., that William Carey determined he would not rest until these terrible practices were stopped. Certain laws were made which hold throughout all India, though they are sometimes secretly disobeyed. While they so sacrificed human life, they do not destroy animals, even vermin, and there is one class of Indians who wear masks for fear some insect might get into the nose or mouth and be destroyed. They believe in transmigration of souls and in killing some animals they might be killing some ancestors.

The work of the United Church lies in Central India. Fifty years ago there were no protestant missions. Now there are nineteen organized churches. The first hospital was at Indore. The women need hospital care more than the men and women doctors are an absolute necessity where women are secluded in the Hindu Zenanas or Mohammedan harems.

At Neemuch, where Dr. MacKellar was stationed, the hospital is of grey stone, with a white marble floor. The need of the marble floor was felt, from a sanitary standpoint but the speaker felt she must not ask the women of the W.M.S. for it. It was an earnest desire and she prayed. God put it into the heart of a wealthy man from Montreal to contribute the money needed for the floor. There are fifty-two beds and a special ward for T.B. patients. There are seventeen cook houses, a necessity in India. Caste must be discarded if they become Christians. Food must be prepared by one of the same caste. They must have their own cooking utensils and supplies, even bringing their own goats to supply milk. If a patient requires a drink of milk, the goat is brought to the patient's bed and the patient opens her mouth and one of her own caste milks the milk right into her mouth.

There is a training school for nurses in connection with the hospital also Bible women, and there is a great need for many more doctors and nurses in India. The wrongs of Indian women are past imagination and very difficult to overcome.

Dr. MacKellar pointed out that in Central India there are six thousand confessed Christians, but Dr. MacKellar believes there are many thousands who are Christian secretly.

Christian Indian girls are being trained as nurses and are conscientious, while young men are being trained as teachers and doctors. Dr. MacKellar asked for no money, and only took enough to cover her travelling expenses. She was only glad to show the need of money and of men and women volunteers. The speaker showed her medals, the one given by King George at the Delhi in 1911, but pinned on at Neemuch. Another was given by the Missionary Society after twenty-five years of service and three bars have since been added, one for each five years.

Dr. MacKellar is an original speaker, filled with love for the Hindu and her work among them. She held the attention of the children and adults alike and her coming to Warsaw was one of the greatest honors bestowed upon the district.

A talk was given before a number who gathered in Mrs. Arthur Edwards' home on Friday evening, by Dr. MacKellar.

Welcome Home, Jimmy.

NORWOOD, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence) — The members of the Y.P.L. of the United Church presented the play, "Welcome Home Jimmy" a comedy in three acts in the Town Hall on Friday evening.

The first scene took place in Mrs. Brooks' living room. The family is in eager excitement awaiting the arrival of the son, Jimmy Brooks, after an absence of fifteen years. In the excitement, they mistake a young lawyer, Valentine Gardner for the real Jimmy. He is accompanied by a friend, Chester McSwope. They have come to tell Mrs. Brooks that her son Jimmy is in jail accused of theft and is waiting trial, the young lawyer to plead his case.

Under the circumstances, he cannot very well explain the situation so decides to play the part of the real Jimmy and run the farm for a month. Many humorous and tragic incidents are the result. He is gentle and sympathetic to Mrs. Brooks but Banks, a neighbor boy overheard the young lawyer and his friend talking and found out that he was not the real Jimmy and tells Allie Thomas, the school teacher, who makes her home with Mrs. Brooks.

Miss Thomas tells Mrs. Brooks, for whom it is hard to believe at first. Finally she questions the young lawyer and he tells the whole story and how he is going to the city to plead Jimmy's case and free him because he knows he is not guilty. The day of the trial brought great excitement and Lucille Brooks, sister of Jimmy, Peggy Sommers, a sixteen year old neighbor, and the school teacher go to hear the trial and to telephone the news home to Mother Brooks, awaiting with great anxiety the verdict.

The part of Mrs. Brooks was capably taken by Miss Edith Buck, while Lucille, her daughter, was played by Maud Bongard. The part of the young lawyer, Valentine Gardner, was well portrayed by Alex Fairweather and his friend Chester McSwope by Emlyn Edwards, bringing a great deal of humor into the play. Georgina Beavis played the part of Peggy Sommers while Earl Bongard took the part of Danny Banks. The role of Allie Thomas, the school teacher, was portrayed by Miss Grace Dayman. Miss Lillian Parker took the part of Melinda Preston, the real Jimmy's girl before he went away and Lyle McMillen the part of George Pierce, a country lawyer who looked after Coolbrook Farm which Mrs. Brooks had rented.

The league orchestra played splendid music between acts, Charles H. Walker at the piano, James Mullins, Arthur Hamblin, Earl Hamblin and Russel Gardner, violins; Maitland Gardner, cornet and John Hamblin, traps.

The Best Way

Sometimes evenings were very lonely in the city, and May would try every way to keep from getting homesick. But nothing really helped her but the telephone. Every so often she would have a good talk with her family by Long Distance. It revived her spirits immensely.

Dr. and Mrs. N. D. Buchanan, who are taking the Mediterranean trip, were caught during the last week of February in the terrific storms which were raging around the Sicilian coast at that time. In a letter to a friend here, Dr. Buchanan comments on the storm and on his efforts to reach Malta, which were prevented by the high waves. The letter says: "We were at Malta yesterday and got back to the boat for noon lunch but we could not get on land again. I got three-quarters way back, but could get no farther. The storm was fierce. We had to leave the harbor at 4 p.m. because all the hawsers broke and we almost blew on top of the Queen Elizabeth. There must have been twelve of these battleships in the harbor. Our boat was much higher and the wind got us. We were within three feet of the Queen Elizabeth and I got some pictures looking into her guns.—We will be in Italy all next week and will join the boat again next Saturday night." The "Memogram" of the cruise, issued on board the ship, the Empress of France, for February 21st, is headed: "An Exciting Maltese Experience," and says: "Our visit in Valetta, Malta, to-day, was accompanied by the worst gale experienced there for twenty years and the lowest barometer reading every recorded. It is unfortunate that the stormy conditions precluded the possibility of completing the shore excursions. During our leaving, some three hours before scheduled time, tow lines parted, causing anchors to drag and foul a war ship buoy, so that one of our anchors had to be unshackled. The position was thrilling for a time, and, under the exceptional conditions which prevailed, we must consider ourselves fortunate in leaving undamaged and with all our members safely on board."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

It won't be very long now before Peterborough citizens will be seen out walking in their new Easter clothes.

• • • • • • •

Your Easter outfit is very important not only because it will get much attention from those interested in what you are wearing, but because it is doubtless your first splurge into a Spring wardrobe.

• • • • • • •

I have noticed a large number recently who have donned their new Spring hats, but so far I haven't seen anyone with a Spring coat on.

• • • • • • •

If you like the sport type of costume you will find a tweed suit with a short, slightly fitted jacket, hip-yoke skirt and tailleur blouse, most serviceable.

• • • • • • •

Wear it with a tweed beret to match or if you don't find one to go with the suit, choose one of the rough, sporty straws, in a sailor-brim model.

• • • • • • •

If you want to add a color note to your outfit, wear a red, green, blue or rust bag to which you will be able to match your shoes. A high-low oxford, opera or strap pump of combination suede and kid and patent, will be most appropriate and don't forget a vivid scarf.

• • • • • • •

A printed frock worn with a three-quarter jacket lined in the fabric of the dress is very good looking and quite dressy if your coat has a fur collar.

• • • • • • •

The fur collar may be either a scarf of flat fur, or a shaw collar of soft fox in a natural color, or dyed pastel. If your costume is in monotone, or in a combination of two solid colors, you should strive for still another contrast in your hat, bag, shoes, gloves and hose.

• • • • • • •

It is usually best to choose a hat to match your coat, unless you are always attending luncheons and afternoon teas where you will have to wear your hat with your frock, minus the coat.

• • • • • • •

In that case, match your hat to the predominating color of your dress. There are so many flattering new types, some picturesque, some simply tailored, some daringly extreme, that you should use your best judgment in making your choice.

• • • • • • •

Your choice of shoes depends entirely on your taste for activities. You may wear a flat-heeled oxford with sports clothes—a high-low heeled opera or strap pump with tailored costumes.

That Body of Yours

HELPS FOR EPILEPSY

If there is one ailment more than another most physicians would like to stamp out, it is epilepsy. There are many thousands of these cases, and life is made so sorrowful for themsleves and their families, that research men are working day and night to clear up all these cases.

As you know, epilepsy is not now the hopeless ailment of Bible times. Thousands of cases are being cured, and thousands more have had their attacks lessened in number and severity.

When observers found that if the patient did not eat he did not have any attacks a great step forward was made. However, after ten or twelve days of starvation, as food had to be taken to preserve life, the attacks returned.

It was discovered also that washing out the stomach two or three times a week prevented attacks in some cases.

The Mayo clinic discovered that using a fat diet—cream, butter fat meat—eating the usual amount of meat, but cutting down bread and vegetables to one-third the usual amount, prevented attacks in many cases.

Surgeons found that in some cases removing the appendix, and also removing a portion of the large intestine, caused all epileptic attacks to stop immediately, only to begin again some months or years afterward.

Lately it has been discovered that cutting down the amount of liquids taken has prevented attacks in a number of cases.

As this fat diet has received a great deal of attention throughout the world, it is interesting to get the figures from the Mayo clinic as to just what success has been attained there. Drs. H. F. Helmholz and H. M. Keith give the results of the past eight years, counting only those in whom there have been no attacks for at least a year. Of 141 cases, 43 are cured, 32 are improved, and 66 have failed definitely to improve. Thus, in a little over one half the cases the fat diet gives a complete cure or some real improvement.

What does this all mean?

That if increase in fat helps some, decrease in liquids others, washing out stomach and removal of appendix still others, that it can confidently be expected that before long nearly all these cases will be helped. Surgery has been of help where injury or growths have been the cause. I had a case who kept free of attacks for two years, due, I believe, to the bite of a cat, which caused his arm to swell to twice its natural size. It may be that just as locomotor ataxia has been cured in some cases by an attack of malaria, so also may some similar help some day be found for epilepsy.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If March 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2:15 p.m and from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 11a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Astrological influences on this date spell progress, and more or less substantial gains will be made in various directions. A silver lining will be revealed in the dense clouds of uncertainty which have been obscuring your vision from the goal of your heart's desire. Troubles which occur will be due to "the other fellow."

The child born on this March 24th will develop into a strong character, in which willpower and consistency of purpose will be prominent traits. A tendency to an exaggerated self-importance should be checked, or conceit will spoil an otherwise likeable personality. It will be very ambitious, and a good student.

Were you born on March 24th? If so, according to your horoscopical picture, you are always looking forward, peering into the future. You are a pioneer of advanced thought. Because of your remarkable foresight, you are seldom caught napping, when opportunities knock at you door. You would achieve more if you were less idealistic and more practical. You live in a world of ideas.

You are very self-willed and self-opinionated and it is difficult to restrain you from acting upon impulse when it would be wiser to wait for the development of plans. You are never lacking in zeal, but you are lacking, sometimes, in discretion. Your enthusiasm is so great that it is rarely daunted by obstacles, and you will never be a failure through the want of trying. Your will is dominant, and your spirit masterful.

You make a splendid companion, being affable, genial and witty. You are never at a loss for a word, and you make an excellent conversationalist. You try to make those around you happy and are never a joy killer. Jealousy sometimes creeps out in your nature, and you exact extreme loyalty from others. Those of your type do best in life as organizers, leaders or promoters. Marriage with a Leo individual is advised, if harmonious blend from the union is desired' You, perhaps, need to learn more thoroughly the lessons of "give and take."

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SPRING FLOWERS

What's the matter?" whispered Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she heard a noise down stairs early one morning when it was yet dark in the hollow stump bungalow. "Is the Fox trying to get in?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper as she looked over the railing down into the lower hall.

"No, there isn't any Fox," a voice whispered in answer.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What are you doing up so early?" asked Nurse Jane in surprise as she heard the voice of Mr Longears. "Are you ill and do you want me to make you some carrot coffee?"

"No, I'm all right, thank you," was the rabbit's answer. "I just got out of bed early because—"

"Oh, I'm sure it must be the Bob Cat trying to get in and nibble all my little bunny rabbit!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Oh, it is so brave of you, Uncle Wiggily, to go down and drive him away!"

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I tell you there is no Fox, no Wolf, no Bob Cat! Nothing at all to be scared about. I just came down stairs early as I want to hop out and look for something before the forty-sixteen little rabbit children come down to breakfast. They are jolly and I love them but they make so much noise getting ready for school that I can't think. And I have something very important to do this morning."

She heard a noise downstairs.

"What?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I am going to look for spring flowers," answered Mr. Longears. "I have sung my Spring Song, I have heard the Spring Robin sing and, though I didn't see a Blue Bird, I am sure Spring is here."

"And now you are going out to look for Spring Flowers, is that it?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper as she, too, came down stairs, for, though it was so early that the sun was not yet up, yet she must begin to get breakfast.

"Yes, I'm going to start early and look for Spring Flowers," Uncle Wiggily said. "I may find some and be back before the children start for school. Or I may not be back until late. Don't tell my wife. I want to surprise her with the Spring Flowers."

"Oh, how lovely!" exclaimed Nurse Jane, who, though she had never married, still had romance and love in her heart. "I'll just pretend you are up stairs asleep," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper, "when your wife asks for you. When she is eating breakfast with your forty-sixteen bunnies you hop in with the Spring Flowers. Won't that be fine."

"It will be if I can find the flowers," Uncle Wiggily said, as he hopped softly out of the bungalow front door. "I'm afraid it is a bit too early for any blossams," he murmured as he saw a faint red glow in the east where the jolly old sun was just getting out of bed. "Still," went on Mr. Longears, "I sang my Spring Song and I saw a Robin so perhaps I may have a good luck and find Spring Flowers.

Over the fields and through the woods hopped the rabbit gentleman. The sun was climbing higher and then it was light enough for Uncle Wiggily to see that it had snowed a little in the night. The ground was quite white though the snow was not very thick.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" sighed Uncle Wiggily sadly.

"What's the matter?" asked a deep, growling voice and out from behind a bush stepped a big, shaggy bear. But Uncle Wiggily wasn't at all afraid for he knew this bear. It was the kind gentleman bear named Mr. Stubtail, the father of Neddie and Beckie Stubtail. "What makes you so sad, Uncle Wiggily?" growled the bear.

"I am sad because it snowed in the night and now I can find no Spring Flowers," answered the rabbit. Then Mr. Stubtail began to laugh.

"Why are you laughing?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am laughing to think that you do not know much about Spring Flowers," chuckled Mr. Stubtail. "Why, right here, where we are now, I can show you some beautiful flowers with lovely perfume!"

"You can? Flowers under the snow?" asked Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"Surely!" growled the jolly bear "Look here!" With his big paws and claws Mr. Stubtail scraped away the snow and leaves in the forest. And there, where they had been kept warm by the leaves so that even the snow had not chilled them, were growing some. lovely blossoms of the trailing arbutus! They are the very first flowers of Spring

"Oh, how wonderful!" cried Mr. Longears. Quickly he gathered some arbutus flowers and hopped home with them just as his wife came down to breakfast.

"Spring flowers, my dear! Spring flowers!" creid the rabbit, and then everybody in the bungalow was happy. (Copyright, 1931, by Howard R. Garis.)

Ottawa Wins First Game Of Canadian Junior Finals

PRIMROSES BLANK WINNIPEG ELMWOODS 2-0 IN FIRST GAME FOR DOMINION SUPREMACY

Westerners, Although Outscored Have Better of Play From First.

PERLEY IS SUPERB.

Injuries Forces Rockburn, Ottawa Defense Star, Out of Game.

TORONTO, Mar. 24.—Completely outplayed in the first half of the game, the gallant little band of Ottawa Primroses, unheralded until they became champions of Eastern Canada, rose to great heights to down the Winnipeg Elmwood Millionnaires, mighty monarchs of the West, by 2 to 0, and take a strong hold on the O.H.A. Memorial Cup, emblematic of the Dominion junior hockey championship, before 6,000 enthusiastic fans at the Arena Gardens last night.

Backed by the brilliant goaltending of "Wick" Perley, who was the stumbling-block against the Niagara Falls juniors, the maroon-garbed Bytown youngsters checked the Westerners into submission, and their "never-say-die" attitude made them strong favorites with the fans, who cheered them to an echo when the game ended.

The Capital City youths were matched with a super team, it seemed, in the first period. They were smaller, lighter and slower than the tri-colored Western champions, but their close-checking tactics throughout and the ability of the brilliant young Cowley brothers, Bill and Dan, their accurate marksmen, to take full advantage of opportunities, gave them the verdict.

Cowley and Perley Star

Bill Cowley and Wick Perley loomed up as the heroes of the combat. Cowley's brilliant backchecking and poke-checking at centre ice broke up numerous Winnipeg rushes, while Perley's performance in goal was nothing short of sensational. He turned aside shots which certainly looked labeled for counters and only one beat him, this a deflected goal which was called back for off-side.

These Westerners are really a brilliant team and, although defeated it is quite possible that they will come bask and capture the series. It must be admitted that they outplayed the "game" little Capital City team, but were completely outluckred around the net. They are fast, perhaps faster than any amateur team which has performed here this season. Their defense is very strong and body check consistently, while both Kitson Massey and Bill McKenzie, who form the rearguard, are powerful rushers.

McKenzie in particular is a colorful performer. He made numerous speedy rushes at the Ottawa citadel and with anyone but Perley in goal would likely have had two or three counters. The crowd could not but cheer him as he returned to his post after these sensational sorties. Another member of the Elmwood crew who stood out was "Spunk" Duncanson, their stellar right-winger. Duncanson, who is also very speedy as well as tall and robust, fairly bore through the Ottawa youngsters and drove bullet-like drives at Perley, but failed to score.

The Primrose team was severely handicapped by the loss of Rockburn, their regular right defense player. Rockburn, who has been finding the going very rough in recent games and is patched up from injuries, was forced to retire early in the second session when he collided with MacDonald, Winnipeg's husky centre forword. Although he returned to the game momentarily, it was noticed that his old dash was missing and the Ottawa management used "Red" Miller to team up with Pratt. Miller filled in as well as could be expected and it was his heavy body-checking, combined with that of Pratt, that wore the Elmwoods down in the final period and made them think first before trying to harry their way through the defense. Pratt also made many brilliant rushes and worried Rice-Jones, the Millionaire goalkeeper with his long, hard drives.

ROUND ROBIN SERIES OPENS THIS EVENING

Two Games Scheduled To-night in King Loop New Play-off System.

PLAY SIX GAMES.

Bisons Entertain Windsor While Jackets Tackle Indians in Cleveland.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24. (CP) Keeping in step with other professional leagues the International hockey league to-night commences its play-off program.

Two games are scheduled in the first of the King loop's brand new play-off system. In other years the International has followed the fashion set by the major league with the first and second teams clashing and the third and fourth teams fighting for supremacy with the winner of each series meeting for the title. This season the International will experiment with a round-robin affair, each of the qualifying teams playing six matches.

Buffalo Bisons, who wound up the regular schedule far in the lead entertain Windsor Bulldogs at Fort Erie. The Windsorites finished second to the Buffalonians, but somehow seemed able to whip Mickey Roache's thundering Herd when victory was needed.

In the other struggle the fourth place Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets tackle the Indians in Cleveland. The latter club finished third and last season won the title.

London Tecumsehs and Olympics wind up the regular schdule at Detroit. The result doesn't mean a thing to either team. Manager Roy Brothers, who is well known for his player trading ability, is understood to have turned in his resignation and will not accompany the Londoners to the Motor City.

MRS. SABATINI GRANTED DIVORCE.

LONDON, March 24.—(C.P. Cable) Ruth Goad Sabatini was granted a divorce decree to-day from her husband, Rafael Sabatini, widely known novelist and dramatist. Sabatini did not defend the suit. The divorce was granted on grounds of misconduct. It was alleged the marriage was an unhappy one and that the couple had separated some time ago.

BRAMPTON NOT SATISFIED

Owah! Owah! The Mann Cup Champions have revolted against the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association. Adopting the motto of the Three Musketeers "all for one and one for all", the Brampton Excelsiors have sent an ultimatum to the C.A.L.A. refusing to be divided in the selection of Canada's team for the coming international games at Baltimore next June. It had been the popular idea in the East that the Brampton team would go intact and Gord Thom and Bill Davis of St. Simon's, Toronto, Chuck Davidson and Bill Coulter of Weston, Angus McKinnon and Bleecher of Montreal, would be the choice of Joe Lally and A. E. Lyons, the selection committee. Possibly players from other centres such as Weston, Wallaceburg, Hamilton and Ottawa might be included. However, there is another thing to take into consideration and that is where are the shekles coming from? On the other hand you can't blame the boys who had to "take it" in the quest for the Mann Cup for not wanting to sit back and read about the great time their team mates are having. From Brampton's viewpoint a split in the team would ruin their chances of defending the cup and there is also the possible visit to the Pacific Coast to take into consideration. Lacrosse is Canada's National game and perfect harmony must be retained to keep the game in its place.

HAMILTON BENGALS DEFEAT RIDEAUS 1-0 IN 2ND GAME TO TIE SENIOR ROUND 2-2

30 MINUTES' OVERTIME.

Teams Will Meet on Wednesday Night at Montreal to Break Deadlock.

OTTAWA, March 24.—A lone goal, rifled from centre ice by Bill Louch, gave Hamilton Tigers victory over Ottawa Rideaus in a gruelling tilt here last night, and made an extra game necessary before the Ontario aspirants for the Allan Cup and Dominion honors among the senior amateur hockeyists can be named.

That solitary goal, produced by 90 minutes of thrilling play, wiped out the unexpected margin the Capital clan gained through upsetting the Bengals in their own lair by 2-1 last Saturday. The teams will meet Wednesday night on the neutral ice of the Montreal Forum to break the two-goal deadlock.

Score Represents Play

The slim margin represented by last night's 1-0 score closely measured the supremacy a sure-fire combination gave the Jungle Kings over their opponents. Solo rushing predominated the work of Rideaus, and while it was brilliant it was hardly a formidable weapon to combat the heavy Hamilton defense and their brilliant netman.

The Ottawa goaltender also bulked large in the joust, and but for the phenomenal manner in which he muffled the vicious drives which came from the Bengal combination machine, the toiling Ottawas would surely have been out and the Tigers now sharpening their claws for Truro Bearcats, who remain to be met before the East's champions are crowned.

Louch's surprise goal came in the second period and threw a hush over 7,500 fans who filled the seating space of the auditorium. Louch pivoted to steal away from the Rideau wingman who covered him, and rifled the puck over the heads of the defensemen.

The one disastrous move of a brilliant evenin, Goalie Johnson failed to sight the disc until it was almost on top of him. He threw out an arm in a frantic effort to ward it off, but the puck ricochetted from his glove into the net.

MARMORA PLANS FOR CHAUTAUQUA

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, Mar. 24.—Marmora is to receive the Canadian Chautauqua in the course of its Ontario Festival from March 31st to April 4th, excluding Good Friday. As in most of the towns visited, two afternoon and four evening programs will be rendered by the noted exponents of comedy, pathos, drama and humor.

Montreal Bantamweights Give Clever Exhibition

MONTREAL, Que., March 24.—(C. P.)—Pete Sanstol and Bobby Leitham a pair of outstanding Canadian bantam-weights who have adopted Montreal as their home, fought a pretty exhibition here last night, Sanstol winning the decision by a clear cut margin. Sanstol, who has hopes of a crack at the bantam title, took six of the ten rounds, with the other four going to Leitham.

Sanstol's victory came through a series of strong uppercuts while Leitham, although he was aggressive throughout, was not fast or clever enough for the smiling Norwegian.

Vancouver Lions Take Pacific Series Lead

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 24. —(By the Canadian Press.)—Vancouver Lions took the jump on Seattle Eskimos in the first game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League play-off series by a 1 to 0 victory here last night. The game was lightning fast and clean, though both teams checked strenuously throughout. Arnott scored the lone goal on a pass from Jerwa in the first period. Second game will be played in Seattle on Wednesday night.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

LEAFS READY FOR TORONTO SERIES GAME

Six National Hockey League Teams in Action To-night.

CANADIENS AT BOSTON.

Capacity Crowd to Witness Maple Leaf-Chicago Tangle.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24 (By George Maguire, C.P. Sports Writer) —The annual mad scramble for the pasteboards is on again. To-night six splendidly conditioned teams swing into battle line for the opening games of the National Hockey League and the Stanley Cup titles, and as of old more people want to see these great ice spectacles than can be accommodated.

Opening hostilities will flash forth at Boston, Toronto, and New York. In the former city the Bruins, league champions, entertain Les Canadiens of Montreal, the team who put them out of the Stanley Cup final last season. It is the first of a three out of five game series. The second game on Thursday will also be played at the hub with the remaining games carded for decision at Montreal.

Chicago Blackhawks, who finished second in the United States section, well back of the leading Bruins, meet the Maple Leafs in the Queen City. The latter club, like the Hawks, finished second in their group behind the flying Frenchmen. The teams play home and home games with total goals in the round deciding the winner.

Maroons and Rangers, third place holders in their respective divisions, also play home and home games with total goals deciding the team to meet either Toronto or Chicago. In both instances the return tilts will be played on Thursday.

If the season's record of the Canadian against United States clubs can be taken as a criterion, all three northern section teams may win their rounds. Canadian teams played 104 matches with the United States outfits, and won 50 of them, lost 41, while 13 were tied.

While records as a rule do not mean a thing in hockey play-offs, Art Duncan"s dashing Leafs appear to have the best chance of vanquishing their opponents. The Torontonians met the Hawks four times during the schedule just closed, and chalked up eight points at the expense of the Windy City hockeyists.

The Hawks arrived in fine fettle and eager to revenge the 8 to 2 pasting the Leafs handed them in their last engagement. With a list of 16 speedy puck chasers to draw on the Hawk board of strategy plan to skate the Toronto squad off their feet, if possible, in the early stages and then sweep in for goals before the Duncanites get settled, which is an excellent policy, if it works.

A torrid battle is anticipated at Boston. Boasting one of the most rabid hockey populaces in the big league, the New England city's classy team is certain of a record-breaking throng attending this first important struggle.

The Bruins have an edge over their red-shirted rivals in the four-game schedule series during the season. The Bruins won two, lost one, and tied one with the Munromen, and outscored them 12 to 8. However, the Ranger triumphs were registered before Lionel Conacher, backbone of the Maroon rearguard, had reached his present fine form, and this factor will no doubt make considerable difference.

VETERAN GOALIE STARS.

STADIUM, MONCTON, N. B., Mar. 24.—The crooked hickory of Truro's thin blue line write hockey history into the glassy ice of the Moncton Stadium last night. For the first time since the inauguration of systematic Allan Cup playdowns a Maritime team met the champions of Quebec and won. The Bearcats defeated by McGill University by a score of 4 to 2, and won the Quebec-Maritime round by a count of 5 to 4. The Bearcats will now continue their crusade for the supreme emblem of Canada's national amateur game and the right to represent the Dominion at the Olympic Games in 1932.

The goal that gave the Atlantic Province their first entry to the advanced stages of competition for national supremacy in amateur hockey came in the early minutes of the third period of last night's game, when Frankie Lavigne went down left wing from defense, to beat the Montreal goalie from close-in. Truro's aggressive forwards had balanced accounts from their 2-1 defeat by McGill at Halifax, earlier in the game, but up until Lavigne's perfect shot, had been unable to mark up the necessary margin of victory on the round.

Veteran Goaler Stars

Credit for Truro's victory must go to Owen Lennon, Sammy Murdock and their followers on the sniping line and the defense, but back between the posts was Earl Wright, a veteran goaler, who filled the breach when Leo Sargeant was disqualified by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association along with forwards Jemmett and Shields. Wright, never rated a first-class goal-tender, stopped the final thrust of McGill last night. The stops were: Power, McGill, 34; Wright, Truro, 29.

As at Halifax on Saturday, Truro was forced to play with only one spare, Ollie Proulx alternating on the wings as Lennon and Ryan rested for the contest.

Trophies Awarded to National League Players

HOWIE MORENZ AWARDED DR. DAVID S. HART CUP FOR THE SECOND TIME

Winners of Annual Awards For National Hockey League Playing Announced By President Calder—Frankie Boucher of Rangers Chosen Cleanest Player in Loop to Win Lady Byng Trophy For Fourth Successive Time.

GEORGE VEZINA MEMORIAL CUP GOES TO ROY WORTERS OF NEW YORK AMERICAN CLUB

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 24. (CP) Howie Morenz, speed king of the world's champion Canadiens, is the player in the National Hockey League most useful to his team, and Frankie Boucher is, for the fourth successive time, the cleanest player, according to the voting of hockey writers in each of the eight cities in the National Hockey League circuit.

Results of the annual balloting were announced to-day from the offices of President Calder of the National Hockey League, which disposes of another year of the Hart and Lady Byng trophies. The Hart trophy was awarded in the season of 1923-24 by the late Dr. David A. Hart, father of the present manager of the Canadian hockey club, to be awarded to the player adjudged by ballot the most useful to his team. This is the second time in the colorful career of Morenz that he has won the coveted award, for in the season of 1927-28 he also won the cup. He thus becomes the second double winner of the cup, sharing this distinction with Nelson Stewart, of Montreal Maroons, the winner in 1926. Stewart's first season in professional hockey, and again in 1930.

The voting revealed that Morenz, with his dashing qualities and his scoring ability, was an outstanding favorite among the hockey critics of the circuit, for he won by a comfortable margin over Eddie Shore, robust defence player of the Boston Bruins. Close behind Shore came "King" Clancy, whose dynamic qualities are held responsible in part, in the estimation of many critics, for the improved play of Toronto Leafs which, in the present season, has raised that team to a play-off position.

Ebbie Goodfellow, the high scorer of Detroit Falcons; Nels Stewart, of the Maroons; Bill Cook, the clever rightwinger of the Rangers; "Red" Dutton, the hard-working defense player of the New York Americans, supoprted by the writers in competions for the award. Thirty-three players in all received points in the contest.

Hart Cup Winners

Winners of the Dr. David Hart trophy:
1923-24—Frank Nighbor, Ottawa.
1924-25—W. L. Burch, Hamilton.
1925-26—Nels Stewart, Montreal Maroons.
1926-27—H. M. Gardiner, Canadiens.
1927-28—Howie Morenz, Canadiens.
1928-29—Roy Worters, New York Americans.
1929-30—Nels Stewart, Maroons.
1930-31—Howie Morenz, Canadiens.

In winning the Byng Trophy, Frankie Boucher scored his fourth stranght victory. This cup was awarded by Lady Willingdon in the season 1924-25, and the former Ottawa centre ice star, Frank Nighbor, was the winner in two successive seasons. The cup then went to Billy Burch, at that time with Hamilton Tigers, but later transferred to New York to wear the American colors, after which Boucher has won the trophy every season. This trophy is not necessarily for the least penalized player, but for the player who combines gentlemanly and sportsmanlike qualities with efficiency, which it is widely admitted Boucher does. He is regared as one of hockey's most skilful play-makers, and leads his team in assists, while he has earned less than a dozen minor penalties all season.

Norman Himes Second.

By co-incidence(another New York player was second to Boucher, this being Norman Himes of the New York Americans. Himes, a clever stick-handiler and prolific scorer, is another of the least penalized regulars in the game. Joe Primeau, centre-ice play-maker for the Toronto Leafs, was third in the voting, with Harry Oliver, one of the Boston Bruin right-wingers, close behind him. Close to Oliver was Goodfellow, the Detroit ace, and right on the heels of this star was Ralph "Cooney" Weiland, diminutive but clever Boston centre. Others who ranked well up in favor were "Pit" Lepine, of Canadiens, Johnny Gottselig, and Marvin Wentworth of the Chicago Hawks, Morenz, "Ching" Johnson of the Rangers and Jimmy Ward, of Montreal Maroons.

The third trophy awarded annually for league competition, is the George Vezina Memorial Cup, donated by the Canadien Hockey Club to perpetuate the memory of their famous net-minder. This trophy goes annually to the goalei possessing the best record at the end of the League season, and this year it passes into the possession of Roy Worters, of the New York Americans.

GROUP SHIELDS ARE PRESENTED TO THE WINNERS

Three Teams of Church Hockey League Are Entertained at Banquet.

IN KNOX S. S. HALL.

Number of Short Addresses Made By Various Representatives of Loop.

Last night the Church Hockey League held its annual banquet in Knox Sunday School Hall and fifty boys of all ages sat down to a fine spread arranged by the Knox Ladies' Association. The banquet was for the purpose of entertaining the winning teams of other teams in the league, and to present championship shields to the former.

Reverend W. McDonald officiated and the boys started in on the food. They were seated at a long table, and the ladies were kept busy passing replenishing dishes and pouring coffee until the last guest had to admit he had enough. It was a complete and tasty looking table, and the ladies came in for considerable thanks at the end.

Chris Sproat was a snappy, efficient master of ceremonies and led the assemblage in a number of popular songs. Then the captains of the three winning teams were presented with the shields along with congratulatory addresses. George Street Midgets, Knox Juveniles and St. James Juniors were the sectional champs of the league.

Addresses Made

A number of short speeches was made by various representatives present, including A. Gillies, superintendent of the Sunday School, Leo Copp, president of the Boys' Work Board, Reverend McDonald, members of the executive and others. A letter from Howard Hall, president of the league was read and received a big hand. Howard was sick and could not attend the gathering. The executive of the league came in for much praise which they certainly deserved for the work put in through the winter.

Everybody present passed a vote of thanks for the big time, and the singing of the National Anthem finished the evening.

MATCHES EVENED IN U. S. SERIES

Frankie Shields Downs Borotra But Bell Falls Before Boussus.

IN DOUBLES TO-DAY.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 24. (CP) Thanks to an entirely unexpected victory for young Frank Shields over the veteran, Jean Borotra, Tennis all even with France to-day in their international team series with youngsters of the United States were three more matches yet to be played.

Borotra, generally regarded as the world's foremost indoor player, fell before Shields in straight sets last night but the evening's programme ended in a stale-mate when Christian Boussus came from far behind to defeat the slightly-built Texan, Berkeley Bell.

To-night the doubles match will be played with George Lott and John Van Ryn Davis Cup stars, meeting Borotra and either Boussus or Pierre Landry.

To-morrow night the final two singles matches will be played with Borotra matched against Bell and Boussus against Shields.

To-morrow night, the entertainment committee ar e meeting at Duffus' to talk things over in connection with the O.B.A.A. annual convention a week from Saturday. Visiting delegates will get a big welcome to Peterborough.

At the executive meeting in Toronto on Saturday, the O.B.A. body expressed its appreciation for the way the Peterborough committees were stepping out and preparing to make the big meeting here a success.

The Lakeshore Baseball League meets in Port Hope to-night. Bill Kay and Wilf Rogers are expected to go from here and get a load of what's going to be what in that loop this summer. They don't know yet what the Rays will be doing.

The All Saints' Boys Club are getting together next Friday at 7.30 in All Saints' Hall to continue their plans in the sporting line and for a club banquet the week after Easter.

* * * * * * *

They have already begun boxing classes, and intend laying out a basketball field where the rink is, as soon as the ground is dry. Later on they will get into softball and maybe baseball. Good stuff. There should be more such clubs here.

* * * * * * *

That boxing tournament at the Armouries will go through O.K. But the date and final arrangements have not been decided on. There should be a good headliner of a bout, a wrestling exhibition and a number of Lindsay-Peterborough boxing bouts, if present plans go through.

* * * * * * *

The tournament will likely be the second or third week in April, and that's not so far away. If the show clears anything over expenses, the boys taking part ought to get a feed out of it. But the cost of staging a match of this sort is geenrally high enough.

There was some nice bowling in the Monday Night League at the K. of C. last night. Leo Martyn rolled a new high three for this section when he got 871 with a nice single of 363.

Several times George Gimblett tried to fill an inside straight with his cannonball, after picking the three-pin, but the Chief wasn't clicking in his usual style.

"Shiner" Johnson started sweeping the boards, getting three or four strikes in a row, but a change of alleys did his opponents a lot of good.

Who says Norwood isn't strong for hockey? Last Saturday, close to 400 fans turned out to see the Tiger Juveniles from here play the Rink Rats of that village to a 1—1 draw. Believe it or not, but that was the only game scheduled there that night.

* * * * * * *

Twenty minutes of overtime failed to break the deadlock, and the fans saw a great game. A number of fans drove down from here and took in the contest.

The Church Hockey League banquet last night was a big success, about fifty tearing into the victuals and skillful fork-handling earning the youthful diners a wide margin. The Ladies' Association of Knox Church were kept busy keeping up to the boys and deserve a lot of thanks.

Some nice things were said of the league executive and the latter deserved every bit. There's plenty of honest to goodness work to put any league across without a slip-up, and that's what they did.

Eight badminton exponents worked out last night on three courts at the Armouries, five ladies and three men. And some of the fair ones can certainly make the feathers fly when they get warmed up.

'NEATH SUNNY SKIES

Spicy Bits of Baseball Gossip From Majors' Camps.

Preparing to break camp at Fort Myers, Fla., to-day and start homeward with the Philadelphia Athletics' second string squad, Manager Mack said his only worry was about a pitching staff. He hopes to dig up somewhere another ace to go with Grove and Earnshaw, but admitted he had not found one.

Grove is ready now to go the nine-inning route and Earnshaw has written from Hot Springs, where he is working out, that he is all set and in shape. Walberg, Shores and Mahaffey, whom Mack has counted upon to do consistent hurling, have not rounded into winning form.

"We need pitchers badly," Mack said. "That's why we are going to give the recruits every chance to make good."

With the exception of hold-out Chick Hafey, the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton, Fla., to-day were at their full strength. Little Andy High, who refused to report to Rochester and was "repurchased" by the Cardinals, has reached camp, looking fit to take care of whatever work, such as pinch-hitting, falls his way. Two infielders were to depart to-day, Bill Myers joining Rochester and George Anderson reporting to Columbus.

Reports atWinter Haven, Fla., that Chuck Klein might be traded for Hick Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals, were laughed off to-day by Burt Shotton, pilot of the Phillies. "If any such deal was on," he said, "it was news to me."

"I wouldn't trade even up, two for one or even three for one," Shotton said. "Kelin won't be traded." Both Klein and Hafey are holdouts, and both are hard-hitting outfielders. Hafey is one of the few ball players who wears spectacles.

There is real concern among Manager Donie Bush and all the Chicago White Sox at San Antonio, Tex., over the condition or lack of condition of Tommy Thomas' pitching arm.

Thomas suffered with a kink in the arm last season and won few games, after having been a winner in 1929. He reported this spring with the news that the arm was O-Kay again, but none of his performances to date indicate he is any better than last season. Yesterday the Giants plastered him out of action in less than three innings.

CAVAN COUPLE 25 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Offa Williamson Are Honored by Friends and Neighbors.

HANDSOME PRESENT GIVEN

MILLBROOK, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Offa Williamson, Seventh Line, Cavan, was delightfully observed on Friday, the bride and groom of twenty-five years' standing entertaining at dinner at 6.30 p.m., for a limited number of guests, over seventy others arriving later in the evening as a surprise party, taking the host and hostess by storm and receiving a royal welcome to the hospitable home.

For her dinner-party Mrs. Williamson had planned a color scheme of green and silver for the dining room, the table being centred with lovely bouquet of daffodils in a pierced silver vase, while tall green candles were burning in silver holders, and silver containers with glass of a delicate green tint were used largely for the service.

The beautifully iced two-storey wedding cake had the place of honor on the buffet, and was the gift of the bride's aunt, Mrs. James McCurdy, of Peterborough. The invited guests included Miss Mabel Hutchison, of Toronto, who was the flower girl at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, the happy event taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Horner, Millbrook, on March 22, 1906, the late Rev. George Clare officiating; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ashby, and Mr. and Mrs. James McCurdy, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williamson of Hampton; Miss E. Thompson, of Newcastle and Mr. T. Biddle, of Hampton

Presentation Made

A number of beautiful individual gifts of silver were received from relatives, and intimate personal friends, and when the surprise party guests had arrived and the evening's enjoyment was well under way, Mr. W. I. Larmer took the chair, and after a few brief remarks relative to the significance of the happy occasion, invited the bride and groom of a quarter of a century to take seats in the midst of the company. The chairman then called upon Mr. James Roddy who read an appreciative address, Mrs. Harry Dawson and Mrs. Wilbert Larmer, on behalf of a wide circle of relatives, neighbors and friends, presenting the guests of honor with a handsome solid walnut table, with matching service tray; also enough silver table spoons and teaspoons, with a gravy ladle, to complete the set Mrs. Williamson already had in her possession. As a happy climax, little Catharine Elson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Elson, looking very sweet in her dainty summer dress, gave the bride a lovely arm bouquet of snap-dragon and other spring blossoms.

Mr. Williamson replied briefly, but with sincere feeling, on behalf of his wife and himself, and all joined in singing, "For They Are Jolly, Good Fellows," following which a number of those present spoke at the request of the chairman, including Messrs. Arthur Wood, J. Isbister, J. McRoberts, L. Williamson and others.

The committee in charge served a delicious supper, dancing until long past the midnight hour completing a most enjoyable evening, music being supplied by the Byam family orchestra, with Mr. L. Williamson assisting.

At least forty other guests had been expected to join the surprise party for the visit to Mr. and Mrs. Williamson's comfortable, and most hospitable farm home, but were prevented by the unfavorable state of the roads.

Rahway on Guard As Letter Tells Plan for Holdup

NEW YORK, March 24.—Rahway police took no chances Saturday.

A year ago they received a letter describing a planned robbery. They thought it a hoax and paid no heed. The robbery took place as scheduled.

So Saturday, receiving another similar warning, they had details of city, State and county police and an armored car guarding the Rahway National Bank. Nothing happened.

The letter came from a woman, who described herself as a maid. She said her employer, a New York woman, had received a letter telling of a plan "to net several grand in Rahway." When the letter was thrown away, she pieced it together and forwarded it to police.

SPLENDID READINGS AT LEAGUE MEETING

Miss Marion Inkster Has Charge of Trent River Society Program.

TRENT RIVER, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence)—There was an attendance of fifty-five at League meeting on Friday evening at the United Church, when the president, R. W. Umphrey was in charge for the opening excercises.

The program was in charge of Miss Marion Inkster, as leader for "Citizenship Night," being as follows: reading, "The Parable of the Sower," George Armstrong; hymn, "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus"; reading, "A little stone, talc where it is found and its uses," Miss Bessie G. French; solo, Fred Longton; reading, Milton Hawley; organ instrumental, Helen Brown; "Summary of One of Our Canadian Poets, Isabel Valency Crawford," Miss Marion Inkster. Miss Helen Scott acted as organist in a most efficient manner. Miss Inkster announced that the League paper would soon be ready, and that Rev. Mr. Archer had offered a prize for the best original short story for the paper. Miss Betty Ormiston contributed an organ instrumental, followed by the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers."

At the conclusion of the program, a spelling match was enjoyed, Mr. Umphrey being in charge, there being four groups, the Red, Blue, White and Khaki and the match was won by the White group.

On Friday evening, the meeting will be Literary and Social and it is expected that the Rush Point League will be visitors to provide the program.

The question regarding the boys' choir was brought up and volunteers were asked for to assist in the rehearsals held at seven-thirty previous to the regular League meeting. Miss B. G. French kindly offered her assistance in this matter.

Owing to the crowding of the Arts Building, the board will probably have the third floor converted into classrooms.

Ladies' Aid Honors The Oldest Member

LAKEFIELD, March 24.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The Ladies' Aid of the Regent Street United Church held their regular meeting recently and, in honor of St. Patrick's Day, had a special program with several unique and enjoyable features. Besides the members several guests were present, all of whom enjoyed the afternoon very much. Following the opening exercises, Miss Winifred Payne sang very sweetly "The Wearin' of the Green," a selection very appropriate to the day.

As March 19th was the birthday of Mrs. S. S. Spence, the oldest member in office she was presented with a beautiful bouquet of spring flowers by Mrs. F. N. Richardson with a few words of affectionate greeting on behalf of the members of the Ladies' Aid, who delight to honor Mrs. Spence, who has been an officer of the Society for many years giving cheerful and efficient service, co-operating with officers and members in each and every movement for the furtherance of the program of the church and society.

Mrs. W. Hamblin, the secretary, gave a brief report of the past year's work, which was a record breaker in the history of the Ladies' Aid, with receipts $1,802.93.

Misses Lulu Darling and Eva Hendren contributed a very pleasing duet, "Springtime in the Rockies" and three little girls, Helen McPhee, Phyllis Webster and Alice Hunter recited a pretty poem in parts, "What are little girls good for."

SIXTH TROOP WINS BOY SCOUT TITLE

Permanent Holders J. J. John Cup By Reason of Third Consecutive Victory.

The Sixth Troop captured the Boy Scout Hockey Championship for the third consecutive year, when they defeated the Second Armour at the Brock. The champions are now the permanent holders of the J. J. John Cup.

The score, which ended 6-1, fails to indicate the closeness of the play. In the first period Loescher for the Second scored, while Viteralli and Sweetman found the nets for the Sixth. The play was quite fast with the East City Boys displaying a dazzling speed. The work of the defence pair, Scollard and Hickson, combined with the close checking of the forwards, accounted for the small score at this stage.

It was not until the last period that the Sixth troop proved the better team by scoring four goals. Their extra weight on the soft ice proved a big asset. A number of fine individual rushes were made that carried them right in on Reynolds, who had very little chance of blocking. In the last few minutes the Second put every player up in an effort to score, but were unable to resigster against Grainger. The teams:—

Sixth.—Goal, Grainger; defense, Scollard and Hickson; centre, Viteralli; wings, Sweetman and Sullivan. Alternates: LeBarr, English and Picard.

Second.—Goal, Reynolds; defence, Loescher and Hill; centre, Earle; wings, Gardner and Howland; alternates: Darwin and Townsend.

Referee.—E. Wolff.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 20 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The Sheik drew himself up to his full height. His eyes blazed with hate. He raised the bag of gold level with Jacot's face and said: "You will pay more than this for the life of my sister's son! As much again for the name you have called me and a hundredfold of sorrow besides!" "Get out of here," growled Captain Armand Jacot, "before I kick you out!" With that he dismissed the Sheik and his threefold threat from his mind.

The Sheik's nephew and his accomplice were duly tried, convicted, and met their fate according to the laws of France. A month later, seven-year-old Jeanne Jacot mysteriously disappeared. Neither the wealth of her parents nor the powerful resources of the great Republic her father served were able to wrest the secret of her whereabouts from the inscrutable desert that had swallowed the lovely little girl and her abductor.

A reward of such enormous proportions was offered that many adventurers were attracted to the hunt. Most of them perished beneath the African sun upon the silent sands of the Sahara without even finding a trace of the stolen child. Two Swedes, Jenssen and Malbihn, after three years of following false clews, gave up the search far to the south of the Sahara and turned their attention to the more profitable business of ivory poaching.

Throughout the whole interior of Africa this pair became known for relentless cruelty and greed. The natives feared and hated them. European governments sought their capture in vain. In company with their fierce band of perhaps a hundred renegade Arabs and negro slaves, the cut-throats made swift and sudden raids, slaughtering elephants, plundering native villages, and leaving in their path brutal crimes and wanton depredations.

SPAIN WELCOMES MONARCH HOME

During Absence, Constitutional Decrees and Freedom of Press Restored.

ORDERS SENT BY AIR.

MADRID, March 24. (AP) — King Alfonso returned to Spain to-day from a visit to the bedside of his mother-in-law, the Princess Beatrice of Great Britain, reaching the city at 9.15 a.m.

Among those greeting him were members of the Royal Family, the cabinet and personal friends. A large gathering of the Juventud Monarquica, youth's monarchist organization, cheered him as he stepped to the platform.

It was different Spain to which the King returned. When he left most of the country was under virtual martial law with constitutional guarantees suspended, but while away he airmailed back to Madrid a decree restoring constitutional guarantees and freedom of the press for the first time since advent of the Primo de Rivera regime in 1922.

Pulley Flies Apart Young Farmer Killed

VANLEEK HILL, Ont., March 24.—(C.P.) —About the farm Alexander Lavigne operates in West Hawkesbury Township are many improvised labor-saving devices, the handiwork of a son with an inventive mind. Today that son— Daniel, aged 25—is dead, the victim of a self-fashioned wooden pulley that flew to bits when put into operation.

In the Lavigne grist mill Dan set up a power plant made from the engine of a discarded auto. To test a pulley he cut from the stump of a tree, he connected it with the revolving plant. When the motor reached top speed the pulley was torn asunder and Dan, standing nearby, was felled by a flying bit of wood. He died of a fractured skull.

INDIA IN UPROAR AFTER EXECUTION OF THREE HINDUS

Trio Convicted of Murdering Police Official—Were Implicated in Bombings.

PUBLIC OPINION IGNORED.

Gandhi Claims Gov't Lost Fine Opportunity of Winning Over Revolutionary Party.

LAHORE, India, March 24 (A.P.)—Grave fear of new and serious trouble was the aftermath to-day of execution last night of three Indians convicted of murder of a police official in December, 1928.

The three men—Baghat Singh, Raj Guru and Sukhdev, were hanged after efforts to secure amnesty for them had failed. With others they were implicated in a series of violent offenses, including the bombing of the Legislative Assembly Hall at New Delhi in April, 1929.

Nationalists Protest

Nationalist leaders protested the executions, claiming that the Viceroy's good faith in the recent truce with Mahatma Gandhi would be established by commutation of the two sentences. The bodies of the three men were cremated and in accordance with Hindu rites spread upon the Sutlej River.

Before leading the Nationalists from the hall Diwan Bahadur Rangachariar, the partys' head, addressed the House, voicing the Nationalists' "grief and resentment" at the carrying out of the sentences.

"The vast majority of the public," he declared, "believe that Bhagat Singh was at least not concerned with the particular crime for which he was sentenced (murder of a police official). The public fervently hoped that the Government would recognize the force of public opinion conveyed to it by the great saint of India (Mahatma Gandhi). The Government has flouted that opinion and done a thing which we fear will lead to serious consequences."

Just before leaving for Karachi with Vallabhai Patel, Pandit Jawaharal Nehru and others, Mahatma Gandhi was told of the executions of the three men, who were convicted of the murder of a policeman in December, 1928, and of participation in the Lahore anti-British conspiracy.

Gandhi Issues Warning

Gandhi warned his followers against putting themselves in wrong by becoming angry, and warned the youth of the Nationalist movement that the "deliverance of this country must not be through murder."

"The Government lost a golden opportunity of winning over the Revolutionary Party," he said. "It was their clear duty in view of the recent truce at least to suspend execution indefinitely. By their action they have put an immense strain upon the settlement and again have proved their capacity for flouting public opinion and for an exhibition of the immense brute strength which they possess."

Gandhi declared that, notwithstanding, the All India National Congress, meeting at Karachi this week, should endorse his truce with Viceroy Lord Irwin, and see if it will not yield the desired results.

EARL OF LINCOLN WEDS U. S. GIRL

New Countess Divorced First Husband in Reno Last Month.

EASTERN RITES FOLLOWED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 24 (C.P.) — A United States girl became a future duchess last night with the marriage of Mrs. Jean Banks Gimbernat, 25, and Henry Pelham-Hope, 23, Earl of Lincoln.

The ceremony was performed in the bride's home by the Right Rev. Arthur W. Brooks, titular Bishop of Sardis and United States Administrator of the Apostolic Episcopal Church. Ancient eastern rites were followed.

The new Countess of Lincoln is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Banks of New York and New London, Conn. She and her first husband, Jules R. Gimbernat, were divorced in February at Reno, Nev.

The bridegroom is the son of Henry Francis Hope Pelham-Clinton-Hope, eighth Duke of Newcastle-Under-Lyme.

The Duke inherited the famous Hope diamond, once the property of Marie Antoinette and popularly supposed to bring tragedy to its owners. He sold it in 1922.

Eastview's Finances To Be Investigated

TORONTO, Ont., March 24 (C.P.)—Financial affairs of the town of Eastview will be subject to review by the Provincial municipal authorities under a bill approved in the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature today. The town sought consolidation of its floating debt at $75,000.

Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, said the finances of the town were not in very good shape.

No new debentures can be issued by the town without approval of the Municipal Bureau. This was a condition of passing the bill.

ABOLISH STATUTORY GOLD RESERVE THEORORE URGES IN NEW MEASURE

Would Ship to London For Debt Payments Sums Thus Released.

STANDARD A SNARE.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 24 (C.P. Cable via Reuters).—Declaring that Australia was admittedly off the gold standard, Hon. E. G. Theodore Commonwealth Treasurer, to-day introduced in the House of Representatives a bill whereby the Commonwealth may shortly abolish the statutory gold reserve, and ship to London, for debt payments, the gold thus released.

The gold standard was a snare and delusion, said Mr. Theodore. It had definitely failed and the surest sign of that was the 30 per cent. discount against Australian currency overseas. The Australian banks hold $80,000,000 in gold, he declared.

Three States May Default

Hon. Mr. Theodore also revealed that if the Westminster Bank of London insists on a payment of $25,000,000, due from three Australian States on March 31, he feared those Governments would have to default. He was hopeful an arrangement might be made with the bank.

And unless the Commonwealth itself obtains funds in London by June 30, default is inevitable, he also declared.

The present bill is an amendment to the Commonwealth Bank Act. It will not be debated before the Easter recess. Under its provisions, the bank board may be required to hand to the Treasurer such gold as he deems necessary, in exchange for Commonwealth securities."

The bill limits notes in circulation to $300,000,000, which would need to be redeemed in gold on demand. The note issues would be backed by securities. The bill also makes illegal any business contracts stipulating payments of amounts due in Australia, in any but Australian currency.

EMERGENCY SETS OF CAPILLARIES AID IN STAVING OFF HEART DISEASE

Doctor's Discovery Likely to Make More Expert Diagnosis of Heart Troubles Possible.

FIVE YEAR'S STUDY.

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 24.—Discovery of how "emergency" sets of capillaries in tissues of the human body go into action to stave off effects of heart disease, was described today before the American College of Physicians.

Dr. Soma Weiss of the Boston City Hospital, announced results of five years of study of the laws that govern circulation of the blood in persons who have heart trouble. It is hoped his discoveries will make possible more expert diagnosis of heart ailments and reveal more exactly the effects of the treatments now in use.

When heart disease impairs blood circulation through the lungs, the reserve capillaries in the lungs open and serve as automatic adjusting mechanisms to offset the trouble. Operation of the "emergency" capillaries often enables them to live for years in fairly good condition, Dr. Weiss said. Circulation of blood in the lungs may be considerable impaired before any serious defect is seen in the circulation that carries nutriment to the other body tissues. When the lung reserves finally are exhausted other reserve capillaries in the other body tissues go into action to keep the circulation going as long as possible. Only when both reserves are exhausted does the circulation fail completely.

Thousands of Mistakes

Dr. John R. Williams of Rochester, New York, said thousands of persons have been mistakenly told by doctors that they have diabetes and are on restricted diets or receiving insulin treatment they do not need and which may even be harmful.

"Careless and inaccurate methods have led physicians to diagnose diabetes in numerous patients who do not have the disease, while many others who have diabetes are receiving inefficient care," he declared. He proposd a means of diabetes control that he believes more accurate, based on a patient's ability to produce his own insulin through the pancreas gland.

Excess of sugar being passed from the body is accepted by many doctors as sufficient evidence of diabetes. Actually, presence of the sugar does not necessarily mean a person has the disease, Dr. Williams said.

Measuring the amount of insulin a patient can produce in 24 hours reveals whether this amount is deficient. Treatment then can be regulated accurately to make up the deficiency, Dr. Williams explained.

LONDON, March 24 (A.P.). — Thomas Johnston, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Scotland, was appointed to-day to the Cabinet post of Lord Privy Seal, rendered vacant by the recent death of Vernon Hartshorn.

Offence Against Girl Costs Father 5 Years

BROCKVILLE, Ont., March 24. — Five years in Portsmouth penitentiary with five lashes, was the sentence today imposed by Police Magistrate Wright upon Edward E. Bell, aged 45, a laborer, living on the outskirts of the town, who pleaded guilty to an offence against his 20-year-old daughter. The prisoner admitted the offences had been repeated over a period of five years. The daughter, Sarah L. Bell, who also pleaded guilty to the same charge, was released on suspended sentence, and ordered to be placed in charge of the Misericordia Hospital, Ottawa, for two years.

Belleville Woman Perishes Under Train

BELLEVILLE, March 24 (C.P.)—Mrs. Louis Rushlow, 79 South Front Street, Belleville, was struck and killed by C.N.R. passenger train No. 10 shortly before noon to-day. Mrs. Rushlow's body was badly mangled and dragged nearly 200 feet down the right-of-way. The woman was returning from the market and apparently did not see the train approaching, and walked into the side of the engine.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors, where an inquest was opened, and after preliminary evidence was taken, the hearing was adjourned for one week.

PROMISE COMMISSION TO PROBE TAXATION

MONTREAL YOUTH IS FOUND GUILTY BY JUDGE HUYCKE

Sentence is Deferred Until Other Boys Are Tried for Cobourg Robbery.

WANTED CHARGE REDUCED.

Judge Rejects Affidavit as Proof That Accused Was a Juvenile.

COBOURG, Ont., Mar. 25. (CP)—Harold Blanchard, Montreal youth, was found guilty of armed robbery of the Dominion Bank, this afternoon. Sentence was deferred until next Monday, following the trials of Walter Clifford, Nova Scotia and Leslie Forbes, London, Ont., who are charged with participating in the hold-up. Judge Huycke rejected an affidavit as proof that the accused was a juvenile. Before counsel submitted an affidavit signed by the youth's father, declaring that the accused was born in Des Moines, Iowa, May 10, 1915.

"I cannot accept it as evidence of his age," ruled the judge. T. P. Hall sought to have the charge of armed robbery reduced, claiming that no evidence was produced to show that Blanchard was armed.

The judge cited a section of the code which held anyone guilty of an offence who aided and abetted the carrying out of the offence as planned.

ISLANDERS HELP FOGG TO HOP OFF

Skis and Wing of Plane Are Repaired and Runway Chopped in Ice.

RETURNING WITH PICTURES.

HAMPDEN, Nfld., Mar. 25, (CP)—The men of Horse Island who spent last week ministering to the hundred odd survivors of the sealer Viking turned out yesterday to chop runways in the ice and assist Pilot Bob Fogg to get his plane away for this point, sixty miles south of the island. The skis and wing of the plane, damaged when Fogg came down on the ice, were repaired and he was able to take off without difficulty and fly to Hampden. The plane, with Fogg and Cameraman B. Wright aboard, will hop this morning for Sydney, N.S., and thence to the United States with pictures.

WOUNDED YOUTH NAMES BANDITS

Two Montreal Suspects Held Pending Dupre's Fight For Life.

BULLET IS REMOVED.

MONTREAL, Que., March 25 (C.P.).—Identified by Marcel Dupre, 21-year-old restaurant keeper, as the bandits who shot him during a hold-up yesterday morning, William Wilkinson, aged 21, and also Jack Edgett, 20, are to-day held at police headquarters, under orders of Inspector Foucault, Chief of Detectives, while Dupre fights for his life at Notre Dame Hospital.

Successful transfusion of his mother's blood to his veins have lent doctors new hopes that Dupré's life might be saved. The steel-jacketted 25 calibre revolver bullet was extracted from below the victim's heart, and is in possession of police.

Sixteen suspects were quickly rounded up by detective squads yesterday, and some of the most likely culprits were paraded before Dupre as he lay weakly on his hospital bed. Detectives say he was positive in his identification of the two who will be charged with the crime. They were not arraigned this morning, pending the outcome of Dupre's fight for life.

Dupre was alone in his little restaurant, "Chez Marcel," at 2.30 yesterday morning when two men entered and demanded egg sandwiehs. As Dupre moved to comply, they thrust revolvers under his nose. Undaunted, he crashed his fist onto the face of one, while the other shot him. His mother on the floor above heard the shot and came downstairs to find her boy lying semi-conscious on the floor. The bullet entered his body blow his heart and pierced the kidneys and the intestines. The bandits escaped with $10 in bills.

COMMUNISTS ACTIVE IN PARIS.

PARIS, March 25.—(A.P.) — The Ministry of Colonies was stoned and several windows broken by about fifty young Communists in a noisy demonstration last night. All the manifestants escaped before the arrival of the police.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

Spring is here in earnest and it is here to stay. Mrs. William Whitfield of North Monaghan came across a ground hog out of his winter's lair in Springville the other day. Another Springville resident also saw a flock of nine robins. These friends of spring have no immigration bans; as many as come are welcome, only it is hoped that the weather man will not be cruel to them by sending more snow or cold weather.

WINNER OF $5,000 IS NOT EXCITED

Peterborough Woman is Notified of Her Luck in Irish Sweepstake.

BORN IN CITY.

"A pleasant surprise," was the way Frances H. Walker, 314 Maitland Avenue, expressed her acceptance of the news that she had been the winner of $5,000.

Mrs. Walker had received a cablegram from Ireland, bearing the tidings of her luck in the Irish Free State sweepstake, a little more than an hour before The Examiner called upon her yesterday afternoon. She did not appear over-excited, but was busily occupied in the task of getting settled in the home to which she had moved during the past week from 383 George Street. She would not say in what manner she would spend or invest the money, and did not seem worried as to how soon the cheque would arrive from Dublin.

Mrs. Walker was born here and before her marriage was Frances McFadden. She is a trained nurse, and did valuable service in Peterborough when she was here on a visit during the flu epidemic in 1918. Her recent home was in New York City, but for the past four months she has been living here and plans to remain throughout the summer.

SONS OF FREEDOM REMOVE CLOTHES

Seven Women Refuse to Dress and Battle With Constables Follows.

ITCH POWDER USED.

NELSON, B.C., March 25 (C.P.).—With the arrival of spring, members of the Sons of Freedom, Doukhobor sect, have taken to relieving themselves of their winter clothing. Reports of Doukhobors disrobing in the vicinity of Thrums on Monday, resulted in police investigating. Staff-Sergeant Stephenson and two Provincial constables came across seven naked Doukhobor women perched on fences at Thrums near the highway and close to the railway.

The police ordered the women to seek shelter and don their clothing but they resisted the officers. A melee ensued in which the officers dusted the women with itch powder. Several male onlookers, also Doukhobors, did not take part, but one did bring up aid to the women in the shape of a garden hose.

The women in their battle with the officers applied water from a standpipe on the officers. Finally, after much dusting of itch powder and by force, the women were sent into their homes.

Police are investigating reports that in the vicinity of Thrums, Doukhobors of both sexes were working in their gardens while in the nude. They are on their own property and are isolated.

Treat First Patient With New X-Ray Tube

PASADENA, Cal., Mar. 25.— The new giant X-ray tube, which produced artificial radium rays nearly as potent as the entire world supply of radium has treated its first patient.

The new tube, after its trial at the California Institute of Technology here yesterday, was said to have given off X-rays almost three times as powerful as any previously used for healing, the first of sufficient intensity to penetrate a malignant growth in any part of the body.

The rays fro mthe equipment, designed by Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, are deflected through a small tube to the patient.

The rays from the equipment, devolts. The previous highest intensity used in treating human beings was less than 250,000.

GANDHI GREETED WITH OPEN JEERS ON KARACHI VISIT

Outburst is Result of Mahatma's Failure to Prevent Execution.

RIOTING AT CAWNPORE.

Troops Called Out and 30 Killed, 100 Injured Before Order Restored.

KARACHI, India, March 25. (AP) Mahatma Gandhi, Indian Nationalist leader arrived here to-day to attend the annual all-India National Congress meeting to the acclaim of thousands, but with an undertone of hisses and imprecations to the ovations.

"We want the murder of Baghat Singh," shouted members of an Indian youths' revolutionary organization, referring to Gandhi, as he attempted to ride through the crowd, dust begrimed and nearly blinded by a fierce desert sandstorm through which his train from New Delhi had just passed.

Down With Gandhi

"Go back with your truce" some shouted at him. Others bawled out: "Down with Gandhi." On every hand were sneering faces of Indians made resentful by the execution of Singh and two companions at Lahore Monday night after conviction of murder of a policeman in 1928.

Gandhi was obviously pained at the sudden outbursts and he explained to the crowd that he had exhausted every means of saving Baghat Singh, and had appealed to the Viceroy as late as the afternoon of March 23, the day of their execution, to temper justice with mercy.

Gandhi was taken from the Delhi-Karachi express twelve miles outside Karachi in order to avoid the massed thousands waiting for him at the railway station. The crowds caught sight of him as he was driven in a closed automobile through the city however and closed in on him, thousands cheering but other thousands

POSTAL CHARGE RAISE OPPOSED

Daily Newspapers Delegates Propose Inquiry Into Postal Rate Structure.

APPEAL TO SAUVE.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 25. (CP)—Voicing a protest against the projected increase of postal charges on second class mail matter, a delegation of about 20 members of the Canadian Daily Newspapers and Periodicals Association conferred here today with Hon. Arthur Sauve, postmaster general.

The Government has had before it for some time the proposal to increase the mail rates on second class matter, under which category are included newspaper and periodicals. For the current fiscal year the deficit of the Post Office Department will likely range between five and six million dollars, and the proposal to raise the rate on newspapers has been advanced in an effort to overcome some of that deficit.

Atkins is Spokesman

The delegation comprised representatives from every part of Canada embracing the agricultural press, the magazine and business newspaper publishers. Spokesmen for the party was John Atkins, of Toronto, manager of the association.

The general effect of postal rates on Canadian publications was reviewed by Mr. Atkins, who emphasized that the Canadian periodicals had to bear the brunt of foreign competition. They operated under great natural disadvantages with respect to geographical divisions which could not be entirely offset; consequently the fixing of postal rates should take into consideration the handicaps which beset the publishers. No specific proposal was placed before the minister beyond the suggestion that the Government should institute an enquiry into the whole postal rate structure as far as it affected periodicals.

Mr. Sauve assured the delegation that their representations would be carefully considered and that he would discuss with his colleagues the situation as it had been presented to him.

ANGLERS SEEK AID FROM GOV'T TO GUARD STOCK

Protest Against Abuses of Commercial Fishermen in Port Severn District.

THREATS RECEIVED.

J. W. Gravestock, Peterborough, Claims Local Game Warden Too Old.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25. — A deputation of the Georgian Bay Anglers' Association to-day, before the Game and Fish Committee of the Ontario Legislature, protested against abuses of commercial fishermen particularly in the Port Severn district, and asked restrictions on an area from Moose Point to Sawlog Bay to shut out two commercial firms. They also asked a fish ladder at Port Severn.

George Friese, a member of the deputation, made the charge that those who complain against the fishermen are threatened with having their property burned.

Fire Threatened

"I have been told to look out for my property valued at $250,000 in summer resorts. A game warden was also asked for Port Severn, where it was charged spearing of game fish is carried on.

Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, who introduced the deputation, declared there must be a line drawn between commercial fishing in order to give the fish a chance. Trolling from gasoline boats was opposed; Hon. Mr. Finlayson declaring in such trolling the fish are not given a sporting chance.

D. McDonald, Deputy Minister, presented an amendment to Dominion Special Fishery Regulations, which would prevent the sale of pickerel, pike or lake trout except under authority of a commercial license. He pointed out that fish caught by commercial fishermen in 1929 totalled 9,555,000 pounds with a value of $1,163,000.

Warden Too Old

J. W. Gravestock, Peterborough, complained of the game warden in that district being too old to be active in carrying out the laws; while J. W. Barnes, Sault Ste. Marie, representing the Algoma Anglers' Association, urged the issuing of buttons for non-resident licenses, the same as are used in hunting, and also the restriction of the sale of gill nets, so that they could only be purchased through a permit from game wardens.

DRY FORCES' MOVE FLOUTED

LONDON, March 25 (A.P.)—Rallying after their recent defeat in attempting to introduce prohibition into Great Britain by Act of Parliament, the temperance forces to-day sought to curtail liquor advertising which flares over towns and country throughout the Isles, but the House of Commons rejected the move by a vote of 127 to 112.

Madrid Students Riot, Constable Is Killed

MADRID, March 25 (A.P.).—After a four-hour battle in which one policeman was killed and a score of police and students were wounded, rebellious students of the San Carlos Medical School abandoned the fortified building.

Police made no effort to detain the students, who ran from the school through a rear door and escaped through the streets. However, authorities surrounded the vicinity of the building to guard against further attempts at rioting.

L. SINGER POSTS BAIL OF $10,000

May Send Papers to Osgoode Hall by Plane to Avoid Spending Night in Jail.

Ward, Paddon Put Up $2,000.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 25.— (C.P.)—Bail bonds to the extent of $10,000 were posted to-day for Louis M. Singer, K.C., of Toronto by Harry Weinrab, of Toronto and F. W. Burford, of Windsor.

A. J. Brian and H. W. Cunningham signed the $2,000 bond for Charles E. Paddon, of Windsor. Mr. Paddon and B. E. Service, of Windsor, signed for Herbert Ward.

Authority to accept the bail bonds reached here about last midnight and the following steps were completed shortly after noon. This did not free the men, however, as the bonds had to be returned to Osgoode Hall in Toronto and a release authorized there. It is reported that an effort is being made to charter an airplane to send the papers to Toronto and that faling this an effort will be made to have the Toronto office kept open this evening so that a release may be signed and the men not have to spend another night in jail.

Singer aws fined $8,000 or eight months in jail and Paddon and Ward were each fined $800 or two months in jail, in the judgment of Mr. Justice Wright who heard the conspiracy charge against the men arising out of activities of the Canadian Heating and Plumbing Guild and the Amalgamated Builders' Council.

ITALY MAY JOIN ECONOMIC UNION

Commercial Situation After Lapse of Many Treaties Being Studied.

Changes Likely Necessary.

ROME, Mar. 25. ((AP)—Responsible observers said to-day that Italy in view of the possibility of joining in the proposed Austro-German economic union, had hastened its study of the three-page text of the accord.

It was said to be not[illegible] experts here to evolve a picture of the commercial situation after the lapse of many treaties between Austria, Germany and other countries, and the general upset of marketing conditions that such an economic union would bring.

The opinion was expressed that it would be much easier for Italy to get Austria and Germany to alter the plan before its execution than afterwards if Italy was in a position to say something such as: "We will join you and bring in some recruits if you make certain changes."

MADRIGAL CHOIR SCORES TRIUMPH IN FINE CONCERT

Local Choristers Win Loud Praise in Latest Achievement.

PLEASANT SETTING.

Miss Margaret Brown and Bobby Spergel Were Assisting Musicians.

The "English garden of singing girls," as Augustus Bridle termed the Madrigal Singers, presented one of their artistic concerts in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute last night to nearly five hundred people, under the direction of their teacher, Dorothy Allan Park, and assisted by Miss Margaret Brown of Toronto, pianist, and Bobby Spergel, the small boy 'cellist, also from Toronto, who is one of the precocious child musicians of the day and who brought with him his equally clever sister, Mildred Spergel, to play his piano accompaniments. Miss Gwen Mary Donley, at the piano for the Madrigal Singers, gave her usual proficient support to their efforts, although her duties were not as onerous in this direction as usual, as a large number of the selections were given without accompaniment, in the "a capella" fashion that makes choral singing difficult but very effective.

The program was most interesting and had that satisfying finesse and ease in presentation that marks Mrs. Park's work at all times. The Singers wore their colorful old-fashioned frocks of soft satin, in gleaming tints of orchid, green and rose, with their leader in white satin as a contrast. Their soft fichus were caught with floral breast knots and they wore new, finely-spun white wigs. Their colorful charm was enhanced by a backing of dead black and a number of tall palms.

The majority of the numbers were new to Peterborough ears, although several had been sung at the Royal York concerts in Toronto. Possibly the most striking of the selections was the out-of-the-ordinary Motet by Palestrina, edited by Deems Taylor. This was entitled, from the opening words: "Sub Tuum," and was in Latin, being a prayer to the Mother of God, asking for the protection and

DETROIT SEWER PROBE IS ASKED

City Council Requests Grand Jury Action After Reports of Collusion.

$100,000,000 SYSTEM.

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—A Grand Jury investigation of Detroit's $100,000,000 sewer system was asked in a resolution adopted last night by the City Council.

The resolution specifically asked that the Grand Jury investigate reports of collusion between representatives of the city in the Department of Public Works and contractors who have built sewers.

The action came after more than a year of discussion and controversy about defective sewers. The matter first came to light with the collapse of a part of the $20,000,000 Southfield drain, and new defects have been discovered in this sewer from time to time; the last on a few days ago. The city already has spent nearly $1,000,000 on repairs.

With the adoption of the resolution it became known that Harry S. Toy, County Prosecuting Attorney, has had an engineering investigating the sewers.

The Department of Public Works, under Joseph E. Mills, recently appointed Commissioner, has been conducting its own investigation. A board of Engineers probed into the Southfield collapse last year, but no definite action followed.

Missing Since Fall Man Found In River

QUEBEC, Que., Mrch 25 (C.P.) — The body of a man found floating in the basin yesterday near shed 18, was identified to-day as that of Loyola Piche, manager of the firm of W. J. Michaud, of Montreal. Identification was made by the victim's brother-in-law, Dr. J. O. Dussault, of this city. Piche, who lived with his wife and little daughter in St. Lambert, Que., near Montreal, disappeared late last November. He was forty years of age and the brother of Rev. Abbe Antoinio Piche, assistant parish priest of Portneuf, Que.

One of the effects already regarded as a certainty is that the project ed Italo-Hungarian treaty will not be negitiated now as was expected.

Another Black Egg

That Bridgeton, N.J., duck which gained the front page of papers across the continent yesterday because it recently began laying black eggs, is having its fame severely tested by a Peterborough County duck.

The Peterborough duck is owned by H. W. Cardwell, and its wading place is Wallace's Point. The fact is that the Peterborough duck went into a few minutes' seclusion this morning, and, not to be outdone by the Yankee web-foot, produced a sure-enough black egg.

The duck's evident joy at such success attracted her owner's notice, and the black egg was found in the nest. The egg is a slatey black, and slightly smaller than the usual duck egg.

LIBERAL STAND IS MADE CLEAR TO LABOR GOV'T

Lloyd George to Have 33 Followers—17 Go With Sir John Simon.

PREMIER UNEASY.

Terms on Which Majority Will Support MacDonald Expected Thursday.

LONDON, Mar. 25. (C. P. Cable).—Premier Ramsay MacDonald now knows where he stands with regard to support which is essential if the Government is to remain in office.

At least 33 of the Liberal Members of Parliament will continue to co-operate with the Government on unemployfent, housing telephone development and maintenance, free trade, Indian self-government, disarmament, dole reform and a few other policies.

But 17 of the Liberal M.P.'s may be reckoned as opposed to the Government. Headed by Sir John Simon, this faction of the Liberal party declines to dicker with the Labor forces. The size of the defecting group probably caused Premier MacDonald some uneasiness to-day.

The exact terms on which the Liberal majority will continue to support the Government will not be known until Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George places them before the Liberal Parliamentary candidates on Thursday.

The vote on co-operation with the Government was taken at a meeting of the Liberal members of Parliament last night. Earl reports that the Liberal party, once the ruling power would enter formal alliance with labor to keep the Government in office for a specific term were soon proved unfounded.

BRITAIN IGNORES PROPOSED UNION

Dalton Claims Austrian Plan Would Involve Radical Change in Fiscal Policy.

SCHEME BEING STUDIED.

LONDON, March 25 (C.P. Cable).—Replying to questions in the House of Commons to-day, Dr. Hugh Dalton, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that Great Britain had at present no intention of negotiating with Austria or Germany with a view to concluding a customs union.

Such a policy would involve a radical change in Britain's own fiscal policy, not only towards foreign countries but towards the Dominions and India, the Under-Secretary added. In the absence of Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Secretary, Mr. Dalton gave the Commons the Government's view of the proposed Austro-German customs union, saying that the situation was being closely studied in its legal, commercial and political aspects.

"No Austro-German agreement has as yet been concluded," Dalton said. "Whether such a union, along the lines of the announced proposals, would involve a breach of any existing treaty provisions is a legal question which cannot be answered now, but it will be fully and carefully examined."

PROBE OF OUSTRIC BANK SCANDAL FAIL

PARIS, March 25.—(AP)—Efforts of the committee of the Chamoer of Deputies to probe the Oustric bank scandal and other matters by forcing Senator Raoul Peret, former Finance and Justice Minister to appear before it, were balked today when the Senate refused to raise Peret's Parliamentary immunity.

The Senate's action was unanimous and without debate.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE IN HOUSE BY MACAULAY

Ellis, Honeywell Withdraw Bills to Abolish Municipal Income Tax Law.

DIFFICULT PROBLEM.

Appointment to be Made After Close of Session—No Date Fixed.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 25—Appointment of a commission to study the whole question of taxation was announced today by Hon. Lepold Macaulay, Ontario Provincial Secretary. As a result Arthur Ellis, (Con., Ottawa South) and A. E. Honeywell, (Con., Ottawa North) withdrew their bills to abolish and change the municipal income tax law.

Mr. Macaulay made his announcement when the Municipal Law committee of the Ontario Legislature began its second sitting on the bills introduced by the two Ottawa Members. He suggested withdrawal of the bill and said the Government was indebted to the two Ottawa representatives for bringing the matter to the attention of the House.

Time Arrived

"Since the bills have been before the House," said Mr. Macaulay, "the Government has been given very careful consideration to the suggestions which have arisen out of their discussion. We think the time has arrived when a commission might very well be appointed to study the whole question of taxation. This Government is confronted with a most difficult problem in finding revenue to meet the cost of the constantly increasing service demanded of it.

"All Governments, municipal and Federal, are carefully scanning the field of taxation. It is important that taxes be levied on a sound basis."

In reply to a question from Mr. Ellis, Mr. Macaulay declined to say when the commission would be appointed, but intimated it would be some time after the close of the session.

Declaring the whole Assessment Act was full of absurdities, Mr. Ellis agreed to withdraw the Bill on Mr. Macaulay's assurance of a commission. He warned, however, that if action was not taken he would certainly press his Bill at the next session.

Equality of Taxation.

Greater equality of taxation is the object of the Mr. Honeywell Bill, he told the committee to-day. The Bill would make the levy of income tax optional with municipalities and permit them to set a rate for income tax separate from the general tax rate.

The Bill is one of two Bills affecting municipal income tax originating in Ottawa. Arthur Ellis (Cons., Ottawa South) has a Bill before the House to abolish the tax altogether. Mr. Honeywell said apparently his Bill met with little more favor than Mr. Ellis'. He did not think the discussion provoked would lead to good results.

Mr. Honeywell also assented to the withdrawal of his Bill.

PILOTS PREPARE TO BREAK RECORD

Three Planes Being Groomed For Race Around World This Spring.

BALCHEN MAY TRY.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 25 (C.P.). — Four modern Magellans, aviators all, are to attempt this spring and summer to stretch new wings around the world.

Wiley Post, Oklahoma City pilot, winner of the non-stop Pacific Derby of the 1930 National Air Races, and Harold Gatty, Australian trained navigator, announced they will attempt to lower the round-the-world record.

Their rival will be John Henry Mears, out to recapture the record he has twice held, with Vance Breese as pilot.

Clyde E. Pangborn, Seattle, will pilot a single-motored Bellanca J-6, with Herndon, Jr., a wealthy aviation enthusiast, as navigator, in another attempt.

Bernt Balchen, Norse-American flyer of trans-Atlantic and North and South Pole fame, announced in January that he would attempt a round-the-world flight in a Fokker plane, probably in April, but has revealed nothing further.

Cooke Upholds Ontario Hydro Policy

POLICY OF BECK STILL IN FORCE DECLARES COOKE

Hon. John R. Cooke Defends Hydro Policy, Critics Talking Nonsense.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED.

Government Will Loyally Carry Out All Pledges to Municipalities.

TORONTO, March 25.—Emphatic claim that the policy and principle of Sir Adam Beck still live—that the recent McQuibban charges that the great public-owned power enterprise of the Province was rapidly going to the public-ownership 'bow-wows' had been made by one with as little intimate knowledge of his subject as one might expect from a babe on the street— and that Liberal Leader Sinclair's love for Hydro, regardless of how broad that might be, was not as great as his love for his own political party, was all packed into a hefty punch which Hon. John Robert Cooke loosed in the Legislature, yesterday, on behalf of the record of the Ontario Hydro Commission, of which he is Acting Chairman and in the interests of the policies which that Commission espouses.

Government Wins Vote

Mr. Cooke's vigorous argument—only part, however, of the defense he intends to lay down, for he will speak again on the Hydro estimates with respect to the Beauharnois contract, and in regard to export of off-peak power—came at the wind-up of the Budget debate, and a House division in which, by a registerd vote of 81-18, the legislators rejected the Tweed want-of-confidence amendment, and carried, on the same division, the main Budget motion, which now puts the House in Committee of Supply for consideration of the estimates.

The Tweed motion aimed at having the House regret the Government's failure to relieve the people of Ontario from unnecessary and burdensome taxation, and to announce any taxation survey that might make that relief possible.

Mr. Cooke's "pinch-hitting" for Premier Henry came somewhat as a surprise, and drew sarcastic gibes from the Opposition benches, and the claim from the Liberal House Leader William E. N. Sinclair, that no real reply had been put up to the statements made last week with respect to Hydro's "fall-down" by his Whip, Dr. George A. McQuibban Northeast Wellington.

From practically one end of Hydro's field of development to the other did the Commission Acting Chairman range, scoring criticism of rural extension; inviting members and press alike to inspect Commission documents, to learn, if they doubted him, that the policy of Sir Adam still thrived; jabbing at Mr. Sinclair for his stand on the resolution which

BANKS ATTACKED UPON ATTITUDE TOWARD FARMER

Dr. Cowan Claims Loans Hard to Get Even With Best of Security at Hand.

NOT PLAYING FAIR.

Boulanger Claims Monthly Average of 5,000 Newcomers is Too High.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 25.—(CP)—Hon. James L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, and who probably will be chief financial critic for the Liberals during the present session, will lead off the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne when the House of Commons opens today. There will be no member of the cabinet in rebuttal today, it was announced by T. E. Simpson, Government Whip.

Two separate attacks on the Canadian banks, both emanating from the Government benches, featured the address debate yesterday. Dr. W. D. Cowan, Conservative member for Long Lake, said the banks were not sufficiently willing to lend money to farmers, even when prime security was available. "We have a stable system of banking and we do not want anything else. But we do want a bank system which will enable us to do business and carry on agriculture in this country."

There are not enough Bolshevists in Western Canada to run a peanut stand, declared Dr. Cowan. He suggested to Sir William Mulock and others who warned against the inroads of Communism that they investigate the conditions that prompted people to think of turning to such political doctrines. Together with the bankers they might mix with the people, particularly of the west, and desert "their parlor cars."

Banks Not Playing Fair

The Banks were not playing fair with the Western farmers; exclaimed B. M. Stitt (Cons., Nelson). Vast profits had been made by the financial institutions in the past, enabling them to "build sky-scrapers as high as the sky" and now they should be prepared to assist general economic conditions by reducing interest rates.

Every political group in the chamber was represented yesterday in the debate and for the most part, a Government supporter followed an Opposition member. French Canada was well represented, and at one stage of the debate, three successive speakers used the French tongue.

Conditions in the agricultural industry, chiefly in the West, were referred to often during the day. Michael Luchkovich (U.F.A., Vegreville), after relating how deeply the depression had struck the agrarian, asked the following questions: "Why is it that the farmers of Canada, during times of depression, must accept heavier losses than the manufacturers? Why is it that manufacturing is being aided through numerous tariff increases and bonuses while agriculture is left to shift for itself without being given any corresponding relief? If the farmer asks for a fixed price for wheat he is immediately confronted with the argument that a fixed price is contended by grain expert, economist, business man and banker alike to be outside the pale of practical politics?"

All Protectionists

All members of the House of Commons were really protectionists, asserted Samuel Gobeil (Cons., Compton). Every Liberal from Quebec, Ontario and the Maritimes was a protectionist—that was conceded by everyone, the Quebec member said. Then, indicating the U.F.A.-Labor-Progressive group in the corner of the chamber, Mr. Gobeil said they "are protectionists also. When they ask for a minimum price for their wheat, what is that but protection? When they ask for reduced freight rates to bring coal to the Central Provinces, is that not protection? When members from the Maritime Provinces ask for reduced freight rates on their products, is that not protection?"

Trotsky Refuses Million Dollars

EXILED SOVIET WAR MINISTER WORKS ON MEMOIRS

Leon Trotsky, exiled war minister of the Soviet, is seen here at work in his Villa Izzet Pacha, Prinkipo, Turkey, on his memoirs of the Russian revolution, for which, it is said, he has turned down an offer of a million dollars. The villa was burned down March 1 last, and it is not known whether or not all the documents were saved.

Road Chief Confesses Taking Gov't Money

FREDERICTON, N.B., March 25.—Michel Savoie, road supervisor for the parish of Inkerman, Gloucester county, last night confessed to misappropriating government money, tendered his resignation, and thus terminated suddenly a prolonged examination by the Public Accounts committee of the New Brunswick legislature into the activities of minor public works officials in three counties.

Savoie was the last of a list of road supervisors against whom charges of misconduct were made and subsequently investigated. Northumberland, Albert and Gloucester counties were affected and the inquiry continued through two weeks.

WHEAT EXPERTS VIEW SITUATION

Plan Shaping Toward International Agreement Limiting Production, Fixing Quotas.

MEET IN ROME.

ROME, March 25 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—With William Robertson of Calgary, representative of the Canadian wheat pools, participating, the wheat experts continued to-day to survey the world wheat situation preliminary to the opening of the international conference to-morrow. They are technically concerned with defining the limits of the agenda, and preventing the discussions wandering too far afield.

But behind the formalities an idea is shaping towards international agreement limiting production, and fixing quotas, for the wheat producing countries. Estimates made by the International Institute of Agriculture here hold little hope of any considerable amelioration of the wheat market situation unless the 1931 production shows "marked reduction," in relation to that of previous years.

High Export Surplus.

The world export surplus is estimated at the beginning of the present crop year as 343 million quintals. Analysing the probable demand, the Institute estimates the absorption of the importing countries in the year ending July 31 next, at 230 million quintals, leaving a stock of 115 million. On the basis of last year's acreage, the Institute further estimates that even with an extremely bad season, the yield in the present crop year will total 950 million quintals, and concluded: "The situation in the wheat market in the near future depends to a large part on the areas devoted to the crop during the present year."

The Institute emphasizes that Russian exports constitute a new and complicating element in a situation already presenting serious difficulties. Russian production in 1930 is estimated at 87 million quintals higher than in 1929, far exceeding the pre-war average. Shipments from Black Sea ports between August 1, 1930, and February last, totalled almost 22 million quintals.

GANDHI GREETED

jeering and frankly inimical.

"Long live Gandhi, Victory to Gandhi, down the British Government," shouted ardent Nationalists in the crowd while women and children bowed in reverence before their leader. Congress circles, fully cognisant of the opposition of some of the great crowd here to the Mahatma, were confident that nevertheless his tremendous popularity and spiritual sway over the masses would triumph over the opposition engendered by the triple execution at Lahore.

Opposes Murder

Gandhi's answer to those who reviled him to-day was: "Let not India seek her deliverance from British thraldom through murder. Let us not fritter away our chance of winning our liberty, which is now brightest by being betrayed into angry action by this unhappy episode. Let us by all means copy Baghat Singh's capacity for sacrifice. His industry and his reckless courage, let us not resort to violence to secure our aims.

"God alone will grant them if we are true to our vow not to shed a drop of blood nor to injure any living creature."

30 KILLED IN RIOTING.

CAWNPORE, United Provinces, India, March 24 (C.P.). — Thirty persons have been killed and more than 100 injured in rioting which developed here in protest against the execution of Baghat Singhe and two companions at Lahore on Monday night. The rioting began yesterday, was suppressed after the military during the night, but broke out again to-day after order apparently had been restored.

Motor cars passing along the streets were attacked by mobs of sullen, resentful Hindus. Their inmates were assaulted and several European and Indian occupants were injured. Two companies of British troops were called out to-day to restore order and 200 additional police were summoned from Allahabad and Lucknow. An auxiliary force was raised here to patrol the residential area.

Baghat Singh and the two who died with him were hanged after conviction of murder of a police official in Lahore in December, 1928, and of participation in the so-called Lahore conspiracy, an anti-British development of 1929.

TRAIN SERVICE AGAIN ALTERED

Campbellford Evening Train Set Back One Hour—Morning Train Also Changed.

WILL AFFECT HIGH SCHOOL.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 25 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent) — J. M. Bygott, station agent at Campbellford has received word that a change in the Canadian National train service between Lindsay and Belleville will become effective on April 26.

This change calls for the altering of two of the trains running into Campbellford. As the new schedule will read, the west bound train for Peterborough will leave at 6.30 as usual, but the evening train to the same point will be put back one hour, from 7.17 to 8.17 p.m. The 1 p.m. train from Peterborough to Belleville will run as usual, but the 10 a.m. train from Peterborough to Belleville will be altered. Instead, this service will leave Lindsay at 2.00 p.m., and is expected to arrive at Campbellford about 4 p.m.

This change is viewed unfavorably by the citizens and business men of Campbellford. It will materially effect the Campbellford High School as many of the pupils come in on the ten o'clock train from points west, as far as Keene, returning on the evening train.

It is understood that civic and Board of Education authorities will protest the change to the railway authorities. A protest has already been lodged by the Campbellford office of the Canadian National Express Company.

Morocco's population is 4,500,000 according to the latest estimate.

Fire Destroys Home Two Children Burned

(Canadian Press Despatch)

CARLYLE, Sask., Mar. 25.—Two children were burned to death yesterday when fire destroyed the home of Thomas Humphreys, aged 11, and his sister, Sadie Humphreys, aged 3, were victims.

Mrs. Humphreys had gone to the barn to complete some chores, when the house was swept by fire. When she opened the kitchen door on her return, a cloud of smoke and leaping flames drove her from the house. She ran to the front door and attempted to gain entry to save her little children from the flaming structure, but the fierce blaze prevented any rescue.

MAYOR AND CHIEF IN OPEN CONFLICT

Mayor Stewart of Toronto Demands That Police Chief Be Disciplined.

DECISION POSTPONED.

TORONTO, March 25.—Open conflit between Mayor W. J. Stewart and Chief Constable D. C. Draper flared up last night, when the mayor publicly accused Toronto's police chief of having "attacked" him.

Mayor Stewart's charge followed a special meeting of the Police Commission, which he, as chairman, called last evening to consider disciplining the chief for what was termed his high-handed, defiant attitude in refusing to curb the use of batons by his men.

Controller James Simpson was also the butt of one of Chief Draper's "attacks" the mayor announced. Police Commissioners Morson and Coatsworth declined to take action until their next regular meeting. Mayor Stewart, ignoring their unwillingness to act, and refusing to wait until Thursday, peremptorily warned Chief Draper that police weapons were to be kept out of sight except in special circumstances.

That disciplinary measures will be taken is regarded as certain, but just how Chief Draper will be dealt with is a matter for considerable conjecture. That he would be offered the choice of resigning or apologising to Mayor Stewart and Controller Simpson was predicted last night, although forecasters were reminded that only the police commission can bring the chief to book. City Council and the Board of Control have no juisdiction.

Protested Use of aBton

The trouble arose out of Controller Simpson's report to the Board of Control that P. C. Kelly (96) had used his baton in moving a group of unemployed citizens gathered near the wrecking work now in progress on Queen Street at the foot of University Avenue.

Mayor Stewart attempted to secure from Chief Draper an assurance that unemployed, respectable citizens would not in future be threatened with police weapons. This undertaking, it is understood, the Chief refused point blank to give, choosing rather to criticise the Mayor and Controller Simpson for their "interference."

The highlights of Mayor Stewart's account of his interview with Chief Draper are as follows:

It was "wordy."

Police procedure was hardly mentioned, the Chief devoting himself to an expression of his personal opinion of Controller Simpson.

Later when three members of the Board of Control went back to the Chief, police procedure was once more not discussed, but Chief Draper "attacked" the Mayor for the manner in which he broached the subject.

He also "attacked" Controller Simpson for not coming to him first.

He went further and supported the action of P.C. Kelly.

Chief Constable Draper was asked by the Mayor to attend the special police commission meeting, but was "out" and could not come. A letter which the Mayor wrote the Chief on Monday had not been answered when business closed at the City Hall last night.

HERE'S THE SCIENTIFIC TRUTH ABOUT IT!

More every year about this time, flu becomes more widespread. More and more people suffer from colds. And pneumonia cases are generally on the climb.

To safeguard ourselves, authorities everywhere advise the utmost care. Lowered resistance, they say, makes us less able to fight off disease. And though the exact cause of flu is not scientifically certain, it's wise for all of us to keep our vitality high during this danger period. Eat nourishing food. Get plenty of sleep, fresh air and exercise. Avoid exposure. And start at once to take a good, fortifying tonic.

help of the Blessed Lady. It was sung with the reverence and dignity that belongs to these Latin prayer-songs, and had a beautiful interpretation.

A definite note of contrast was sounded in its companion, "On Market Day," a jilting bit of Old English jollity by Purcell, in the quick, light, delicately-touched music that seems to suit these fine-toned, high-pitched voices. A contrasting trio opened the singing program, in "Pretty Polly Oliver," an Old English folk song in gay, staccato style, with the final verse as a reiterated bit of musical picturization. Two compositions by Deems Taylor were in this group; an Armenian Folk song, "The Well Beloved," with an intricate arrangement that made many demands on the vocalists, and a Hungarian folk number, "Whither Going, Shepherd?" a dramatic, striking bit of poesy that brought out in bold relief the wrath of that vengeful shepherd lad. Stern and fierce was the deep-toned, effective line: "With my cudgel I strike him dead!" in a memorable number.

Light, Lilting Music

The Singers' flair for delicate vocalization, for a fine touch that does not linger on pianissimo notes, for an enunciation that brings every word clearly to the ear and for an instant attack and release of dainty melody, was demonstrated admirably in the Brahms' quartette of little morceaux of verse, in a group that touched lightly and sweetly on the problems of love and romance. These were a Barcarole, a brief thing called Questions; another entitled The Bridegroom, and finally, the sweet cadences of a Love Song with staccato intervals. This group was unaccompanied.

Contrast again was afforded by the group by moderns, with two unaccompanied numbers by Toronto composers: a 16th century hymn set to music by Healy Willan, with the Latin refrain: "Regina coeli, laetare," as a finale to English praise of the Queen of Heaven; and Leo Smith's "We Are the Music Makers," a captivating "Spoken" example of poetry in song. The other two selections in this group were an out-of-the-ordinary example of thoughtful music. "In the Highlands," its phrase of remembrance the finale to the first verse: "Her more lovely music broods and dies," and, lastly, that unusual composition for women's voice, "The Snow," with music by Edward Elgar and the words by Alice Elgar. This had violin and 'cello accompaniment, played respectively by Deane Miner and Bobby Spergel. The reiterated sibilants of the score, simulating the soft hiss of the snowflakes falling, the sighing background of the shivering strings, like the sighing of the winter wind, and the echoing voices, rising and falling softly, seemed to make a picture of the snow.

A bit of May-day jollity, bright, jaunty, vivacious, formed the closing choral number, in another 16th century air, "The Staines Morris," arranged by Percy Fletcher.

The assisting musicians were Miss Margaret Brown and Bobby Spergel, both of Toronto, winning renewed applause with their playing of piano and violoncello music.

Miss Brown displays a perfection of technique and a smoothness of silvery tone that makes her music a delight. Two numbers were outstanding, a Brahms-Grainger "Cradle Song," a gorgeous bit of tone that was like cream velvet in texture and like a shimmering reed in its supple pliancy of fingering; and a "Tarantella" (Neapolitan) that had plenty of variety in its fascinating presentation. In that clear, pellucid tone, there were little whimsical, gay dancing notes, tiny, swift, crystalline, that were succeeded by a vagrant, haunting melody that made its swift, pulsating way through a smooth treble and a well-defined bass. Then came plushy, rippling, fountain-like music and then the gay beat of dancing feet in an embroidered sequence of smooth, gay tone.

A Minuet was another dainty piano number, also Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith" and some of the more robust, clipped music of Chopin, in this descriptive bit Winter Wind, Etude A Minor.

Miss Brown gave the only encore of the evening, the singers contenting themselves with bows as acknowledgment of the applause that greeted their efforts.

Boy 'Cellist

Bobby Spergel, a precocious boy 'cellist, made a splendid impression, as on the occasion of his last visit here, some years ago. He is remarkable in his playing of difficult music and in the fact that one of his selections was from his own pen, a composition, brief but charming, in a little Waltz, that was followed by a tiny bit of fun in a Jig, and the more exacting melody of Saint-Saens' Allegro Appassionata.

A beautifully played number by the small 'cellist was Bargiel's Adagio, with its soft, vibrant cadences flowing forth from the facile bow that, in the junior musician's hands, was capable of such splendid instrumentation. A smooth, rounded, pleasing tone, an ease and mastery in presenting difficult music and an entire unselfconsciousness with his awkward instrument, marked the music of this young player. His program also included a merry bit of well-played melody, in Popper's Mazurka.

During the evening, bouquets of lovely flowers were presented to Mrs. Park, Miss Brown, Miss Donley, little Bobby Spergel and his sister, Mildred.

An intermission in the musical entertainment provided an opportunity for the audience to hear one of the musical authorities of the day, Lawrence Mason, Musical Critic of The Toronto Globe. Introduced by Mrs. J. Forbes Allan, Mr. Mason spoke briefly but to the point. He referred to the interest in the Madrigal Singers which brought him from Toronto last night to hear them, although prior attractions in musical events claimed his attention there.

"But The Globe is not like some of the Toronto papers," said Mr. Mason. "We do not believe that Canada is synonymous with Toronto."

"These Madrigal Singers are doing something tremendously important from a triple standpoint: 1st, to us as human being, because, in a time when the force of gravitation seems always to be pulling us down, we should try to contemplate those higher things to which the mind grows when it aspires upward; 2nd, because, in Canada, we should try to fight against the tide of the machine age which encroaches upon us, and 3rd, in Peterborough, it is important, because, although doubtless your city has other claims to distinction, still the Madrigal Singers are putting you on the map in their own particular line. I congratulate you on the excellence of this organization."

The Madrigal Singers, under direction of Dorothy Allan Park, have as honorary president Mrs. J. Forbes Allan, and officers in Mrs. G. D. McClelland, president; Miss M. J. Jory, 1st vice president; Mrs. T. H. Gillespie, 2nd vice president; Mrs. A. Barton, secretary; Miss Margaret Wolstenholm, treasurer; Mrs. C. H. Crowe, librarian; Miss Mary Gwen Donley, accompanist; Mrs. George Richmond, the Misses Helen Lytle, Bertha Hall and Elva McIntyre, executive.

The personnel includes Mrs. A. Barton, Mrs. C. H. Crowe, Mrs. Fred Free of Campbellford, Mrs. T. H. Gillespie, Mrs. E Kitney, Mrs. G. D. McClelland, Mrs. James Matthews, Mrs. George Richmond, Mrs. Leila Spriggs, Mrs. F. E. Saltman, Mrs. Ross Williamson, Mrs. R. A. Wainman, the Misses Freda Allison, Alma Blanchard, Jean Cameron, Geraldine Collins, Isabel Connolly, Margaret Dickson, Daisy Davidson, Ethelwyn Dix, Jean Dickinson of Port Hope, Bertha Hill, May Jory, Helen Lytle, Isobel McKee, Elva McIntyre, Emma Meiklejohn of Campbellford, Mildred Magee, Marion Rannie and Margaret Wolstenholm.

ernment," declared J. F. Poulliot (Lib., Temiscouata). This deduction was made from the fact that only the Prime Minister, of all the Cabinet, had participated in the present debate. Mr. Poulliot caused some laughter among the Liberals by reading what he claimed was the annual financial report of the Saskatchewan branch of the Ku Klux Klan. This showed, he said, that Dr. Cowan, the Conservative member for Long Lake, was the treasurer or "Kligrap."

Conflicting results from the tariff increases made at the emergency session were advanced by Alphonse Fournier (Lib., Hull) and C. N. Dorion (Con., Quebec-Montmorency). From the Opposition side came the statement the increases had failed to produce more work in the vicinity of Hull while the Government supporter was equally as emphatic in stating the textile industry in his riding had increased operations.

Too Many Immigrants.

From Oscar Boulanger (Lib., Bellechasse) came the statement that since the Government order-in-council restricting immigration had been passed, a monthly average of 5,000 newcomers landed in Canada. This, he said, was too high a total, but it followed the general practice of Conservative Governments in fostering immigration wherever possible. Restrictions should be made even more drastic.

Lack of foreign markets was retarding Canada from emerging from the economic depression, declared Dr. J. P. Howden (Lib., St. Boniface) When exports fell off there was a decrease in purchasing power because Canada was unable to absorb her total production, either in agriculture or manufacturing. He was not sure Canada did a wise thing in banning Russian imports. The time might come when Canada would be glad to trade with the Soviet Republic.

THE PROVINCIAL POLICE.

While the total number of cases under the Criminal Code and other statutes showed an increase last year over the returns for 1929, there is satisfaction in the fact that the annual report of the Commissioner of Provincial Police, General Williams, indicates that the most noticeable increase was for offences of a trivial nature and that the more serious cases maintained about the same average as for the previous year.

Liquor Control Act cases remained practically stationary with 6,516 in 1930 and 5,995 the year before, an increase of 20 cases for the whole Province.

The total number of cases prosecuted under all acts and statutes was 14,594, an increase of 1,406, and a total that shows that the provincial force has been active and efficient in its work during the year.

One section of General Williams' report that deserves attention is that pointing out the part played by home-brew in connection with the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act.

The Commissioner declares that home-brew and the importation of American alcohol are two of the chief difficulties his force encounter in their L.C.A. work—a statement that should be brought to the attention of the federal authorities.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

The Ontario Temperance Association, a new group aiming at the promotion of a temperance program based on scientific knowledge regarding the moral, physical, social and economic factors resulting from the use of alcoholic beverages, has been organized in Toronto.

The organization has secured the co-operation of the Ontario Department of Education in a program of temperance education to be carried out in the primary and secondary schools of the Province, feeling that the most successful plan of promoting the cause of temperance lies in educating the new generation as to the follies of intemperance rather than to depend upon political action to get the desired results.

Such a program as this deserves the hearty and active support of all temperance people who are alive to the situation and who have seen that arbitary laws will not take the place of prohibition by persuasion.

That the people of Ontario should pay over fifty million dollars a year for liquor is an economic waste—even allowing for the fact that over half of this huge sum goes into the coffers of the Dominion and Provincial Governments—and if carefully planned education will convince the new generation of the necessity of moderation in the purchase of what is at the best a luxury it should be enthusiastically endorsed.

A CLOSER CHECK.

Although the Ontario Legislature has voted without a great deal of debate $5,000,000 for development work in Northern Ontario, it is evident that objections raised at previous sessions and in election campaigns have borne some fruit.

It has been the contention of the Government—and there is, of course, considerable force in it—that in dealing with Northern Ontario it was impossible to give accurate estimates as to the work to be undertaken, and that it was necessary that the Government should be in a position to act quickly when the need arose.

Therefore, for a number of years the Legislature has been asked to vote the administration five millions—last year double that sum—for undertakings about which the House had little or no information, and in the spending of which the Government has had a free hand.

That was not in many ways a desirable situation, and objection to the method has been growing stronger until at last the Government has decided to bring about a change.

A much closer check is to be provided in the future on expenditures under this vote through the appointment of a travelling auditor who, working along lines similar to a bank inspector, will check up on all contracts, all cash payments and road projects.

In addition, the Government will furnish the House each year with as complete estimates as are possible in view of the unusual conditions under which this development work must be planned and executed.

INTOXICATED DRIVERS.

Frederick Skinner, Conservative member for Leeds, suggested in the Legislature the other day that gas stations should be prohibited from selling gasoline to intoxicated drivers.

That is an impracticable proposal, and most people will agree with Premier Henry that to put the responsibility of deciding whether a driver is drunk on the service station employee selling gas would be "rather a large order."

When even doctors and experienced policemen have difficulty in deciding sometimes as to the intoxication or otherwise of an individual who has just been involved in an accident, it would surely be unfair to throw the onus on the staffs of gas stations.

Everybody agrees that the drunken driver is a menace and that men guilty of this offence should lose their right to drive.

It is some satisfaction, however, to learn from the annual report of General Williams, head of the Provincial Police, that drunkenness played a very small part in the fatal motor accidents in Ontario last year.

There were 200 deaths in the Province from traffic accidents during 1930, and the Commissioner declares that the majority were due to reckless or careless driving and could have been avoided.

"I am pleased to say, however," says General Williams, "that our investigation show that in very few cases was intoxicating liquor a contributory cause."

A MARATHON SPEECH.

Mr. Mackenzie King's four-and-a-half hour address is described as "one of the longest speeches heard in the House of Commons for many years." Unless memory betrays us it was the longest speech heard in the House in 18 years. During the naval debates of 1913 there were numerous speeches lasting two and three days, so many of them, indeed, that they clogged Hansard and ceased to be reported verbatim. One member, a Mr. Lafortune, who was something of a quaint character, began his address some time through the night and was still going at seven o'clock in the morning. He always protested that he would have gone on much longer had he not been seized with hunger and driven to the parliamentary restaurant.

Apart from Mr. Lafortune's feat, however, Mr. King has probably established a record which, let us hope, will stand for a long time. With possible exception of Mr. Blake, no other leader of a Canadian party has ever given such a marathon performance. The fact is that so far as British countries are concerned, one must go back to Palmerston's celebrated Don Pacifico speech to find anything like a parallel for Mr. King. Palmerston's oration, which, in the picturesque language of one historian, continued from "the dusk of one day to the dawn of another," was really but five hours in length, or half an hour better than Mr. King.

In foreign assemblies, and in the case of foreign statesmen, lengthy speeches are more common. Mussolini spoke for eight hours on one occasion last year, while Mustapha Kemal, who is the Mussolini of Turkey, addressed a Congress of his party in 1927 for 36 hours and 33 minutes. "During the whole of a work-a-day week," says a writer in the current Atlantic Monthly, "he spoke for six hours a day, reading for the most part from the manuscript at which he and his friends had been working the night before till the early hours, but now and again breaking off to tell some humorously derogatory story about his opponents."

On the sixth day his voice failed him and he could hardly be heard, but he wound up with "a peroration which left him and his hearers in tears."

Mr. Mackenzie King may find less to wonder at in the effort of Mustapha Kemal than in the endurance of those who listened to him.

As a feat of physical endurance alone, such a speech as that delivered by Mr. King is extraordinary. Assuming that a speaker of the rapidity of Mr. King can speak 1,000 words in ten minutes (which would be quite ordinary) he must have spoken more than 27,000 words, or three and a half pages of a newspaper, or one-third of a fair-sized book. Preparation of such a speech must hve entailed in itself weeks and weeks of labor. And the preparation of a speech, the "digging" that goes into the securing of material, the marshalling of facts, their proper organization and arrangement, is the hardest sort of toil.—Ottawa Journal.

CRITICIZING THE BUDGET.

Mr. Tweed's criticism of the provincial budget and of the Province's financial policy, in the Legislature yesterday, was an able effort. The financial critic for the Liberal Opposition appears to have searched out the weaknesses in the Conservative administration's fiscal structure with the acumen which might be expected of one of Ontario's most brilliant business men.

* * * *

However, when all was said and done, Mr. Tweed had no remedy to offer for the situation. There is just one thing wrong with the Provincial Treasury—the Government services have been extended to such an extent that funds wherewith to operate them are becoming difficult to find. But Mr. Tweed or any other member of the Opposition, we are inclined to think, fears to put his finger on specific services and, say, "You should spend a million less here," or "You should spend half a million less there." The reason, of course, is that the citizenry which has come to expect these expensive services, and particularly those and their relatives who draw a livelihood from operating them, would become very angry. As we have said before, it is much easier to start a new Government service than it is to abolish it or even to contract its scope.

Mr. Tweed did pretty well with his exposure of the weakness of the debt retirement scheme, as at present operated. Boiled down to its esseptials, it appears that if there is money with which to retire part of the public debt, it is used for that purpose. If there isn't, lip service is given to the retirement, but the money is not taken from any other current requirement to make the retirement a fact. And Mr. Tweed quite rightly suggests that the entire scheme of debt retirement is falling into dark days.

* * * *

Premier Henry will no doubt reply to Mr. Tweed's apparent making out of a prima facie case for the Opposition's contention that the revenue from automobiles is not being spent on roads, but is being diverted, while the roads are being built with borrowed money. Some day these roads will have to be paid for, and some of them will have to be replaced or perhaps doubled in size. It will be a real problem if both eventualities come at the same time.

The member for Waterloo North told the Government how it could raise three or four millions a year to help with charity costs in the Province, by means of painless taxes. Mr. Tweed had better be careful about thinking up painless taxes. What we want is not more taxes, but less taxes, painless or otherwise. If he is not careful Mr. Henry may seize on his painless proposals and use them to give the Government a surplus again, forgetting all about the relief to the municipalities.

* * * *

Mr. Tweed was perfectly right in criticizing the $3,500,000 unpaid for timber rights. Most of the holders of timber limits are large and wealthy corporations. It is true some of them have not been making much money for a year or two, but that is no reason why they should expect to finance themselves on our money.

In the final analysis, Mr. Tweed's speech showed that something should be done about the Province's financial affairs, unless conditions improve rapidly and with them tax receipts rise. There is too much spending.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Noting the low prices of eggs, the Brantford Expositor sadly adds, "And there's not an election in sight."

Armand Lavergne is once more in the limelight as a storm centre in the House of Commons. Probably Mr. Bennett figures when they are attacking the Deputy-Speaker they're letting the Government alone.

Another case of a horse-drawn vehicle without a light being involved in an accident is reported. The law in regard to lights should be more strictly enforced in the general interest.

The absurdity of the request that publications carrying liquor advertising should be banned from Ontario is seen in the fact that such a law would shut out such fine British publications as Punch, The Graphic and The Illustrated London News.

If the West continues to report platinum finds possibly the wheat situation will be forgotten.

Ontario folks will soon be able to bathe in James Bay, which suggests the idea that that would be an excellent place to stage those swimming marathons.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By

ALICE ROSS COLVER

"It's all confused—wait!" He closed his eyes for a moment, and slowly came the picture of a proud, dark face. " 'Silver Tongue can more easily kill the white man crawling at his feet——' " He opened his eyes and Red Jim saw them alight. "Yes! That was it!"

"What else do you remember about his coming?"

Dirk struggled again, groping in the shadowy recesses of his memory. "He said—Lorraine was safe—and for me to wait there until he got back. I thought that was queer. I asked him why he didn't take me to Lorraine or bring her back to me."

"But where was she?"

"She had gone to find his camp the night before, when I was delirious. And when she didn't come back the next morning I started out to look for her. Silver Tongue found me in a faint—I guess—half way up the path."

"I see. Go on. He told you she was safe. Then she got there to his encampment. I thought so. I saw her tracks, clear and headed straight, when I found you. Go on. What else did he say? Why hadn't he brought Lorraine back?"

"I—don't remember. He talked fast—said it was a long story—wait!" Again Dirk closed his eyes, and again memory, so sluggish on the matter, slowly set to work. "It's coming back now. He said she was safer without me, and that made me mad. He said he was on his way to wire Mr. Kent—Lorraine's father—and then—then—No. I can't get it," he concluded. "It was something about a dance. What would a dance have to do with it?"

Red Jim made no answer. He was puzzled himself. Doubtless Silver Tongue was referring to the Fire dance, their annual fall ceremony, which would occur shortly; but why should he mention that to Dirk? Suddenly a light broke on him.

"Did he say he was going to take Lorraine to the dance?"

"Yes! That was it!"

"And you, too, if you waited there?"

"Yes! Yes! But it sounded queer to me. Why should we have to be taken separately to the same place? And why should we go there anyway? We want to get home."

Red Jim shook his head.

"Let me think," he said, and for a few moments there was silence in the shack while the big hermit's mind went over and over the material he had gathered, sorting it, sifting it, trying to piece the strange parts into a pattern. There was a mystery about Silver Tongue's hiding of Lorraine that he did not like and that filled him with gravest forebodings. If she had met with an accident, why hadn't he told Dirk quite frankly? If she had met with worse—with death, perhaps,—his reason for concealment was plain. "He was planning to smuggle a dead body back to an anxious father for the reward promised. Dirk spoke again, interrupting his thought:

"He said—I remember now. It was rather poetic. He said Lorraine's safety was as "slim as the new moon." And if I joined her I would do her more harm than good. Can you make anything out of that?"

Red Jim smoked thoughtfully, seeking careful words. What Dirk had just said alarmed him for the girl's chances more than he could admit to her haggard faced lover. He assumed an air of seriousness, not too important, wanting to warn without unnecessary worry.

"The Navajos are on the eve of a rebellion against the Government. I don't suppose you knew that——"

But Dirk noddded.

"Yes, I did. Lorraine's father told her. She couldn't forget it. She was terrified. Do you think—"

"If it breaks—and it is due to any time now; in fact, I think they have issued an ultimatum to Agent Smith, and have even set the date for their uprising— if it breaks, it will break on all the whites in the territory. Not just the officials. You, I, Chin Lee, anyone in their path, on the night that they declare war, will suffer without mercy."

Beneath his beard Dirk paled.

"Then Lorraine is not safe with them?"

"Not too much so. But remember she is safer with them than wandering alone and lost on the desert. She has an excellent chance for escaping unhurt, for Silver Tongue will do all he can to save her."

"Why should he?"

"There's a large reward offered."

"Oh, of course. I hadn't thought. Mr. Kent would do everything—"

"I figure it out this way. What Silver Tongue meant by her being safer without you was this. His people might have resented her presence at this time. Your arrival, a white man, might have increased their animosity. Until he could return from Winslow and give you both the protection of his presence——"

Listening to him and looking at him, Dirk found comfort. There was in those deepset eyes the tranquility and wisdom of the desert, and in his breadth and bulk and manner, a promise of an ability to cope with any difficulty. The big, slow voice went on:

"—so, as you weren't well enough to go with him, and it wasn't altogether safe to take you back to Lorraine, he decided to leave you where you were."

"That's all right. But if his people didn't want her there, why didn't he bring her back to me? She would have wanted to come. I was sick."

Apparently Red Jim did not hear this. He went blandly on with his soliloquy.

"He had a three day's journey to Winslow and another three days' journey back. That means he got back yesterday—and you weren't there." He paused a moment to draw his bushy brows together in deepest concentration. Suddenly he slapped his knee in triumph. "I've got it all! He wired Lorraine's father to meet him and her at the Fire Dance, with the money he promised. Whites are allowed to watch it, you know. It's the last performance after a nine-day ceremonial. It would be the nearest and most convenient place for him to take Lorraine, and, yes!, by jove! That would just allow time for the old man to get here from California!"

"How far away from here do they hold this dance?"

"This year it's to be held at a place the Indians call "Windy Ditch."

"How long does it take to get there?"

"It's a two days' journey."

"When is it?"

"Let me see. It's regulated by the new moon. Next week some time."

"Do you think they've started already. Or do you think they're still in the encampment back there?"

"I don't know." Red Jim sat pondering a moment. "I tell you what I'll do. It's only about fifty or sixty miles from here to the Greek Temple. I could do it," he consulted a large, dented timepiece and rubbed his thumb over the face of it thoughtfully, "before dark."

"Oh!" Dirk struggled up and dropped his feet to the floor. "Then let's get started."

Red Jim spat across the room. "Keep your skirt on," he drawled quietly. "I said I could do it."

"I heard you. And I said we'd better get started."

"You're in no condition to make the trip."

"I've got to. I'm worried. I've got to know whether she's there or not."

"Well, you will know. I'll go and find out and come home and tell you. See? If she's there, I'll bring her. If she's not, we'll start for the Fire Dance."

"Yes. But——"

Red Jim rose.

"Now worry all you want. It's a great help. Only it'll do you more good to take another nap while I'm away. If you do, the time will pass like a breeze. I've got a Ford car that's a regular jack-rabbit on the desert."

"Good. I'll be ready—in a minute—'

Red Jim said nothing more. He just stood there blowing smoke rings and watching Dirk as he tried to rise. The attempt proved his weakness much better than an argument could have done, and he sank back raging at his helplessness. Red Jim smiled and stretched.

"How's your ankle, by the way?"

"Is that a radio you're taking?"

"I'm going to trade this for Lorraine," said Red Jim. "Is it a fair exchange?" he asked quizzically.

But the look that leaped to Dirk's eyes held such a tortured light that Red Jim forebore to say more. With a nod he went out, and a moment later there was heard the roar and splutter of the engine. Dirk listened to it eagerly as the car rushed by the window. In a few hours it would be returning. Would it hold Lorraine? Would all the wretchedness and misery, the terror and anxiety be had known, and still knew, be ended before night? It seemed too good to be true. To his straining ears the engine was missing, had faltered, had stopped—

Obediently Chin Lee pattered to the window.

"No. Car no stuck. White master big damn fine boss. White master go flind lost ladee blong sick mister. He no stuck. When Flord stop he pushee. He maekm go long. He get dere."

"Do you think he'll find her, Chin Lee?"

"Sure he flind her. Sure he flind her! White master know Lindian. He scare Lindian. If Lindian no mind white master he shootem klick. He know how do. He damn fine devil."

Chin Lee drew near to the bunk and, squatting down, proceeded to enlarge in his pigeon English on a favorite theme. Dirk lay down and composed himself to listen, with interest at first, and thankful for companionship to keep him from worrying, drowsily at last as the monotonous high voice went through its singsong repetitions, until, soothed by the nourishment he had taken and calmed to confidence by his memory of Red Jim and the extravagant compliments of Chin Lee, he slipped into a doze.

He woke a couple of hours later with every nerve taut and a cry of "Lorraine" on his lips. Chin Lee came running and stared in fright for a moment, fearing a return of the terrifying delirium, but Dirk's look was steady, his voice normal.

"I had a dream, Chin Lee. It wasn't pleasant. It woke me up. What time is it?"

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

PREPARED BY THE REV. CLARENCE R. WILSON, D.D. FOR THE COMMISSION ON EVANGELISM OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

CHAINS OF GOLD

"He was very sorrowful: for he was very rich." Luke 18:23. (Read Luke 18:18-30.)

Meditation

"It goes by veries," as Jancy said in De Morgan's story. That happiness is inversely as one's wealth is a suggestion to ponder. We may not miss the fine character of this man. Mark says that Jesus loved him. He had noble aspirations. Wealth had not blinded him to the finer things than money would buy. But he was accustomed to comforts which he would not relinquish, to refinements without which life would seem bare. He had a position and a prestige which came with his wealth and would go with it. He was not free; his wealth mastered him. As much as any slave he was bound though with chains of gold. Either too much or too little may be made out of this story. Jesus did not go about telling rich men to give up their wealth. But he did say that very thing to this man. To the man who aspires greatly, wealth is a bond.

Prayer

O God who hast chosen the poor to be rich in faith deliver us from the corruptions of wealth and from all covetousness which is idolatry. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

THE WEATHER

Mr. Editor,

Dear Sir,—I was pleased indeed to hear that my old friend and schoolmate Walter Peters is convalescing after a somewhat extended serious illness and is again able to be out to enjoy the sun these lovely spring days.

I think I can safely voice the opinion of hundreds of readers of your valuable paper who for the past thirty years back have followed with much interest W.P., ever reliable "Weather Notes" and hope he will very soon be fully restored to health and back to regular duty in playing his part in building up the daily edition of The Peterborough Examiner.

May W.P. long be spared to grace the front page of your paper with his most interesting and profitable weather lore is the sincere wish of,

Yours truly,

J. T. Tucker.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If March 25th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., from noon to 1:45 p.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. The danger hours are from 2:10 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 p.m. to 9:15 p.m.

The planteary aspects of March 25th do not indicate any immediate material advancement. They do, however, denote benefits from self-examination. Old methods will be dropped and the resolution will be formed, with eventful benefit, to do things in a different way.

Children born on this March 25th will be impatient of control, impulsive in their likes and dislikes, and always argumentive. They, in mature years, will be energetic, and self-confident and in their love affairs will be impetuous and irresistible. Quick wooers: lightning workers.

You, if born on March 25th, are two-sided, but not double-faced. Your nature is divided into two very different parts;: the one is vigorous, aggressive, and self-confident; while the other is feeble, dependent, and ultra pacific. You will suffer from a continuous inner fight between these two complexes, and your success or failure in life will depend on which complex eventually dominates.

You have a generous disposition, but you must learn to say "No," as your sympathy outruns your judgment. You, unfortunately, are not blessed with the iability, in so far as humans are concerned to sift the chaff from the wheat. You are very affectionate, and extremely susceptible to the appeal of the opposite sex. Constancy is not one of your outstanding virtues.

The signs denote that, in spite of many drawbacks, you may rise to a commanding position in life—either commercially or socially. This will not happen until you have learned to dominate the weaker side of your character, and have resolved, willy nilly, to go for your goal with might and main, regardless of the seductions of indolence, and of a "laisser faire" attitude. You take offence very easily, and are unduly sensitive. You, too, must learn to give "A Roland for an Oliver."

INTEREST RATES FOUND EXCESSIVE

Alberta Committee Finds Banks oNt Giving Farmers Proper Consideration.

SIX WEEKS PROBE.

EDMONTON, Alta., Excessive and probably illegal interest rates and unnecessarily harsh and extremely unreasonable forms of land mortgages obtain in certain cases in the West, in the opinion of a sub-committee of the Alberta Legislature's Agricultural Committee. The committee presented its report after sessions lasting several weeks.

Its findings included:

Excessive rates of interest are charged in the West.

Prairie banks are not giving farmer-borrowers the consideration adequate for the proper financing of their ordinary operations.

Indications are to be found that "excessive and probably illegal" rates of interest are being charged by various finance corporations in connection with the purchase of automobiles and trucks.

Would Adjust Act.

The committee, which sat under the chairmanship of George MacLachlan (U.F.A., Pembina), recommended amendment of the Alberta Debt Adjustment Act in the following particulars:

"(a) To give the director power to file a certificate anywhere in the Province:

"(b) To provide that this power may be exercised upon the application of any persons engaged bonafide in farming operations in the Province, rather than, as at present, only upon the application of any person with an interest in a growing crop.

"(c) To provide that all the assets of the applicant farmer, including crop, live stock, machinery, and other chattels, be brought within the jurisdiction of the director.

It further recommended that the Fraudulent Practices Act be amended by extending the period of attack from 60 days to 12 months, and that provision be made for the appointment of an official to act as representative of retail merchants at meetings of their creditors.

Declaring that, despite evidence of representatives of various finance corporations, it was "not satisfied excessive and probably illegal rates of interest are not being charged in connection with the purchase of automobiles and trucks under the cloak of so-called "finance charges," the committee adds:

"Furthermore, the committee regrets that the one finance corporation requested to submit a detailed analysis of its finance charge in a specific transaction referred to, did not supply this information."

Prices Respond to Notices of New Move By Government Sponsored Agencies.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 25. The proposed increase would amount to ½ c.nt bushel every ten days until June 30, the end of the current crop year. Opening ½ lower to 7-8 cents higher to-day, wheat afterward showed some additional gain. Corn started ½-¾ up, and also advanced fur her.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A Special Service to The Examiner.

Milreis On Toboggan Hits New Record Low

NEW YORK, March 25.—Led by a sharp break in Brazilian milreis to new record low ground all South American currencies turned lower on the Foreign Exchange Market yesterday. The milreis dropped 65 points, the largest drop in its history to close weak at 7.30 cents, compared with a nominal par value of 11.07 cents. The Argentine peso lost 3 points, the Uruguay peso 20 points and the Peru sol 8 points.

Europeans and Far East rates were generally firm. The Hong Kong dollar gained 62 points to 23.75 cents and the Shanghai tael 63 points to 32.75 cents. Sterling cables, French francs, Italian lira, and German marks made fractional gains. The Canadian dollar recovered 1½ points to 99.96½ cents, a small discount under par.

A BULL ON AMERICA

T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, some time ago said there were times to sell stocks as well as to buy them. The investment list of his company at the end of 1930 shows substantial gains in its holdings in many American companies, although some stock were sold. Mr. Macaulay has been described in banking circles as "a bull on America," and the fact that he has steadily increased the insurance company's holdings in a long list of utility, oil and industrial companies, even in 1930 shows the description to be accurate.

Payment Time Extended For Prudential Shares

MONTREAL, March 25.—The Mortgage and Trust Corporation of Canada, who have been negotiating for the purchase of the shares of Prudential Trust Company, Limited, have been granted an extension of time in which to make the first payment on account of such purchase, until April 22, 1931. On that date, the second payment is also due, and the extension is granted on the understanding that both payments wi'l be made together.

The purchasers alleged, in asking for the delay, that the 1930 statement of the Prudential Trust was not available until the end of February and this delayed the completion of their financial arrangements.

THE SPANISH LOAN STATUS

When, as and if an international loan, or, perhaps more correctly speaking, a credit, is extended to Spain in the interests of stabilizing the faltering peseta, it is a foregone conclusion that no public offering of bonds will be involved. In 1928 Spain obtained a credit of about $20,000,000. This time, it is believed, the amount under discussion is about $50 000,000 to $60,000,000. A few years ago a credit of $50 000,000 was extended to Japan, but it is understood that matters were straightened out without making use of the credit.

American Car Gets Equipment Order

NEW YORK, March 25.—William T. Hoops, president of L. C. L. Corporation, states that an initial order has been placed with American Car & Doundry Company for 50 L. C. L. drop-side container cars and 300 containers.

Equipment, it was stated, will be used on the New York Central Railroad.

ST. REGIS PAPER

"Although practically 98 per cent. of the outstanding stock of the St. Regis Paper Company of Canada, Limited, is controlled by the St. Regis Paper Company of New York, there is Canadian interest in the operations of the company on timber property in the Province of Quebec estimated to contain 2,500,000 cords of pulpwood. The entire output is purchased under contract by the parent organization in New York. Earnings for the fiscal year ended on December are understood to be close to $2.

"The latest development is the possible amendment of the company's Quebec charter by changing the authorized capital stock from 100,000 shares of no-par value common stock to the same number of shares of a par value of $5 each. The application to the Government, moreover, further asks that a clause be inserted in the supplementary letters patent to the effect that in the future, the authorized common hare capital of the company hall be $500,000."

Nat. Steel Car Lines Notes On The Market

NEW YORK, March 25.—Freeman & Company are offering at prices to yield from 4 to 5.20 per cent a new issue of $900,000 National Steel Car Lines Equipment Trust 5 per cent equipment trust gold certificates series N, due $50,000 each April 15 and October 15, 1932 to 1940, inclusive.

The certificates, which will be secured through deposit with Girard Trust Company, Philadelphia, as trustee, of title to 515 steel underframe and steel super-structure poultry cars valued at $1,375,000, will be unconditionally guaranteed both as to principal and dividends by Palace Live Poultry Car Company, largest and leading operator of railroad equipment for the transportation of live poultry in the country.

AGGRESSIVE SPONSORSHIP

NEW YORK, March 25.—Reports were current that the group which has been persistently accumulating American Can, was planning to extend more aggressive sponsorship to that issue. In this respect, particular emphasis was laid on the extent of the short interest lodged in "Can" Prominent bearish professional interests have steadily sold the stock on all minor bulges recently with the result that the short interest in "Can" has reached unwieldy proportions. Incidentally, most of the recent selling has been absorbed by interests closely allied with the management of the company with the result that the technical position of "Can" has been materially strengthened. Sponsors of the stock apparently feel that the outlook is sufficiently encouraging to warrant more aggressive demonstrations against the short interest.

BASE METALS ARE AFFECTED

Further Declines in Metal Prices Develops Lack of Buoyancy.

NORANDA OFF QUARTER.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25. (CP)—The mining list had a somewha easier fone in the forenoon, the base metal group particularly showing lack of buoyancy due to further declines in metal prices.

Wright-Hargreaves, on reports of favorable developments on the 2,400 level, was active and 10 higher at $2.32, but Hollinger dropped a few cents to $8.15 and Teck Hughes was off 10 to $7.70. Eldorado softened in early trade, price declining below $1. A subsequent rally carried it back to $1.04 at midday, off 8 from last night. Sulvanite and Macassa showed small gains while Kirkland Lake gold and McLeod were easy.

Noranda and International Nickel were off a quarter at noon, though both displayed considerable resistance to light selling pressure. Hudson Bay dropped 5 to $5.70. Chibougamau prospectors was up a point to 48 on word of progress in the railroad situation.

Homestead was weak on the opening, price dropping off to $1.35, but later recovery carried it back to around last night's close. Nordon was a couple higher at 45 and oil selections advanced fractionally.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25 (Special to Examiner.).—The cut of a quarter cent in export copper price in New York was followed by further declines in the red metal in London. Today's closing prices were: Standard copper, £43, 16S, 3d off 6s 3d. Electrolytic copper £46 10s off 10s. Silver dropped 5-16 to 13½d but other metals were stronger.tin moving up 5s to £121 10s, lead 18s 9d to £12 12s 6d and zinc 6s 3d to £11 16s 3d

According to a wire from Vancouver the Alberta Pacific Consolidated spring coulee well encountered oil and gas in the top of the lime at 5,934 feet. The oil tested 28 gravity. The well, it is believed, should ge the equivalent of the Turner Valley producing zone in the next 150 feet. Drilling is proceeding cautiously and cores are being taken regularly.

The fact that a typical Turner valley section has been drilled in the spring coulee area is regarded by the geological fraternity as a most important development and opens extensive possibilities in southwestern Alberta where all the major companies are already concentrating. Results at the A. P. Cons. well have significance for Nordon which owns over 12,000 across on top of the tructure Nordon acreage will probably prove shallower drilling than the A. P. Cons. test, it i thought.

A despatch from the no th s ates a road has now been completed from Gowganda to the McIntyre Porcupine property in Tyrrell township. Part of the lumber and supplies is said to have been delivered to the property and work of transporting further materials and equipment is being carried out as rapidly as possible.

Current activity in Wright Hargreaves is attributed in some quarters to the report sent out by a company official that work on the 2400 level revealed a high grade ore body running better than $34 to the ton over a width of 30 feet Work has not yet proceeded far enough to determine the full extent of the shoot. At the present time the mill is said to be treating ore of a grade better than $12.50 per ton.

Exports of nickel of all classes showed improvement in February over the proceeding month but were still considerably below those of the corresponding month last year. Totals for February were 5,582,823 pounds valued at $1,302,783 against 5, 164, 300 pounds valued at $1,148 595 in January and 7,654,100 pounds valued at $1,810,201 in February 1930. Nickel, fine, was valued at $815,591 last month compared with $599,202 for January and $1,289,827 in February 1930.

Total Sugar Melt Below a Year Ago

NEW YORK, March 25.—Total melt of fourteen United States sugar refineries from January 1 to March 14 to 740,000 long tons, as against 855,000 in the like period of 1930.

Deliveries amounted to 650,000 long tons, as compared with 760,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

Winnipeg Review

Special Service to The Examiner through the courtesy of E. J. Bawlf Company, Grain and Stock Brokers, of Toronto

While wheat prices were lower practically throughout yesterday's session, the market acted stubborn and prices fluctuated within a narrow range of about ¾ cents. There was further liquidation in May, part of which was forced, but on the scale down the offerings were taken by seaboard or Eastern interests and a little export business was worked on the dips, but the latter was confined to a few scattered loads. During the latter part of the day the market was held steady buying against the daily bids. There was very little feature to the market and the trade aggregate was small with no export business reported worked overnight.

The cash market was quiet with no particular interest being shown. The demand was quite moderate and offerings were extremely light and spreads continued unchanged. There was no change in the flour situation, a fair domestic business passing but nothing doing in export channels.

Liverpool closed ½ lower, slightly firmer than earlier in the day and Buenos Aires was only ¼ lower at 3 o'clock after being half lower at mid-day. Broomhall reported large purchases of Australian wheat for Chinese account but also stated that International Markets were depressed by large stocks of wheat in exporting countries especially North America but that shippers were not pressing sales.

Crop conditions the world over appear to be very favorable except in France, but European stocks are reported as small and increased buying of foreign wheats is expected during the next four months.

The Chicago market broke over one cent but recovered this loss but the close was unchanged.

Coarse Grains.—These markets were extremely quiet with oats and barley holding very steady, rye easier. Flax dull and featureless.

Liverpool cables due ¼ to 3-8 higher based on Winnipeg.

NEW YORK LIST IS IRREGULAR

Freight Car Loadings and Electric Power Production Make Better Showing.

SMALL VOLUME TRADING.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Mar. 25. (CP)—The stock market backed and filled uncertainly in a welter of conflicting forces to-day.

Freight car loading and electric power production, as reported for the latest weeks, made better showings than normal seasonal trends had indicated. The weekly steel trade reviews, however, reported the first definite halt in the uptrend in steel mill activity since the first of the year. Also, Westinghouse directors reduced the annual dividend rate from $5 to $4, after rumors had been circulated in connection with the recent drive against shorts that the $5 rate would be maintained.

Shares were again turned over feebly in small volume. The list worked higher during the morning, sold off around midday, and turned upward again in early afternoon, under the leadership of American Can and Radio. Coppers were under considerable pressure in the midday decline, American Smelting losing 2. Westinghouse and Allied Chemical lost as much. National Cash Register lost 3, and Columbian Carbon 4. Pere Marquette dropped 10 to the lowest since 1925. Auburn shot up to another new high above 250. A rumored objective in the recent operation, then fell back only to receive another thrust. Mullins was again given a whirl, getting up 6 points. McKeesport and Continental Can each rose about 2 to new tops. U. S. Steel sagged a point, then rallied.

SOME ACTIVITY IN DOMINION BRIDGE

Announcement of Quebec Government Construction Plans Rouses Interest at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Que., March 25. (CP)—Disclosure of the plans of the government of the province of Quebec in the legislative assembly yesterday to spend $8,000,000 on a bridge construction programme aroused some interest in the shares of Dominion Bridge on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning.

Narrow changes were scored in the remainder of the list and trading was dull on the whole with a fair amount of business appearance in the standard leaders such as Brazilian, Montreal Power, Breweries and Nickel. Price changes were of a mixed nature.

Action of Brazilian Traction continued to attract considerable attention in view of the recent break which appeared to have culminated yesterday at 21 3-8. After rallying to 22 7-8 yesterday with the closing at 22½. The previous high on the rally was repeated this morning, although it eased off slightly later.

Both Montreal Power and Nickel were steady but Quebec Power gained one point at 46. Shawinigan was steady at 57½ to ¼.

Dominion Textile was a firm feature at 82½, Power Corporation at 63.

DIVIDEND REDUCED.

NEW YORK, March 25.—(CP)—Directors of Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company to-day reduced the annual dividend basis on the common and participating preferred stocks to $4 from $5 by declaring quarterly dividends of $1 a share on both issues.

GAINS SHOWN CHAIN STORES

Interlisted Issues on Toronto Exchange Fluctuate Within Narrow Range.

UTILITIES FIRMER.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25. (CP)—Toronto Stock Exchange market went through a very listless session this morning. The inter-listed issues, influenced by Wall Street, fluctuated within a narrow range, majority showing small additions to market price over the ourse of the morning. The market was not strong, however, nor could the trend be said to be upward, as adverse annual reports, dividend reductions and heaviness in the oil group proved an effective dampener to bullishness.

Chain store stocks, selling at their highs for the year yesterday, were pushed upward again this morning, with Dominion Stores equalling yesterday's best and Loblaw "A" and "B" setting net top prices on fractional advances to 14¾. The utilities were somewha firmer, Brazilian, C.P.R., among others, above last night. Atlantic Sugar recovered a point to 25, Ford of Canada, Nickel, Walkers, Goodyear were, for the most part, unchanged from last night. Noranda sold off ½ point to 26½.

B. A. Oil dipped again, and at 12¾ was within a minimum fraction of its record low. International Petroleum also eased but Imperial and Supertest did slightly better, the former rising to 16 and the latter ½ point to 26.

Dividend Reduced By Hamilton Bridge

Directors of Hamilton Bridge Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 25s per share on the dommon stock, together with the regular quarterly dividend on the 6½ per cent cumulative preferred voth payable May 1, to shareholders of record April 15. The new rate on the common compare with 50 cents quarterly previously. The action of the directors in reducing the rate on the common was taken on the ground that the immediate outlook did not justify the retention of the $2 per share per annum rate prevailing hitherto, and that it was in the best interests of the company to conserve its liquid position.

SCHOOL BANQUET ON FRIDAY NIGHT

King Edward Association to Honor Members of Athletic Teams.

A very interesting monthly meeting of King Edward Home and School Association was held on Tuesday night in the Assembly Hall, with a splendid attendance of members and friends present.

The meeting was opened, as usual, with a short devotional service, and was then thrown open for business and the social hour which followed.

Interesting reports were read by the Secretary and Treasurer. The business after the routine part was finished, consisted largely in plans for the future, in which all departments found a place.

A treat which is promised in the near future will be the report of the Home and School Association Convention, which was recently held in Toronto. The delegate, Mrs. Wand, will be invited to deliver this report.

The school hockey and football teams are fortunate in having behind them an association which takes so keen an interest in their sports. The ladies have put into motion a splendid banquet which will be given on the evening of March 28th, to the boys of these teams.

After the adjournment of the meeting proper, a delightful program was enjoyed, and the following took part: Reading, Mrs. Bennett; vocal duet, Misses Marion Wood and Edith Smith; reading, Isabel Young; solo, Clifford Cruickshanks; solo, Griffin Young; sketch, "How some little dollies came to go as missionaries," by Little Misses Aileen Brisco, Madeline Gilbert, Beatrice Bryerley and Dorothy Cunningham.

A feature of the program which has been eagerly looked forward to, was the drawing for the quilt which was donated by Mrs. B. Forbes for relief work. Mr. Crawford, vice-principal of the school, drew for the lucky number, the fortunate winner being Mrs. Hutchinson, Perry Street.

Dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge and all enjoyed a social time together.

The singing of the National Anthem brought this very profitable and successful meeting to a conclusion.

ASBESTOS OUTPUT

During the month of February, exports of crude asbestos and asbestos sand and waste from Canada amounted to 12,528 tons, valued at $420,843. This contrasted with 12,627 tons valued at $398,695 in the preceding month and 16,348 tons valued at $604,659 in February of last year.

Trinidad Oil Flows At Increasing Rate

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad, B.W.I., March 25 (By The Canadian Press)—Trinidad oil production continues to be on the increase. The flow of oil in 1930 was more than quadruple the output of oil ten years ago. With a recovery in prices this year the production promises to show a very favorable increase compared with any previous year.

"The average monthly production of oil from Trinidad wells in 1930 was 784,915 barrels of oil, as compared with 726,304 barrels in 1929," Hon. A. P. Catherall, inspector of Mines, stated recently in an interview with the Trinidad Guardian. Since 1919 there has been a steady increase. In 1920 the output was 2,083,627 barrels.

"At the end of 1929, there were 8,715,652 barrels produced. And last year showed a greater increase. I cannot say what 1931 will bring forth. The prospects for this year are dependent upon the prices."

L.C.B. OFFICIALS LOSE POSITIONS

Vendor in Hamilton Failed to Follow Regulations, Too Good Natured.

BREWERY EMPLOYEES FIRED

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 25.—(CP)—Sir Henry Drayton, Chairman of the Liquor Control Board, announced today the dismissal of a number of employees of the Liquor Control Board in Hamilton, although he declined to give the names of those who have been dismissed.

"One vender has been removed," the Chairman said, "not because of an improper profit that he has been making out of his position, but because he had failed to comply with the provisions of the law in the handling of liquor for sale. We do not think that there was any dishonest intention on his part but he was too good natured.

"It is said that at this store cases were found of permit holders buying bottles without having their permits marked. They might want a bottle and promise to bring their permits to the store next day to be marked. This is quite contrary to the regulation. When a purchase is made the permit must be marked.

"As for the Sherman Street brewery, Sir Henry stated there had been evidence of drinking beer on the premises, and the men responsible for this irregularity had been let out."

LIMESTONE RATE MUCH REDUCED

Steps Taken to Encourage Greater Use of Lime in Agriculture.

BENEFIT TO FARMERS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25.— (C. P.)—As the result of a movement to encourage the greater use of lime in agriculture, particularly in those sections where soil corrective is required to stimulate more economical production of farm crops, Ontario farmers will enjoy a great reduction in the transportation cost of pulverized limestone, it was announced to-day by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture.

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways have agreed to reduce the present tariff on the pulverized limestone to be used by farmers, to the amount of 25 per cent. and the Provincial and Dominion Department of Agriculture in cooperation, will grant further subventions to the combined amount of one-half the remaining freight rate with a maximum of $1.00 per ton. On limestone screenings which now enjoy special freight rates the two governments will grant subventions amounting to one-half the freight rate, with a maximum of $1.00 per ton, Hon. Mr. Kennedy said. In order to take advantage of this assistance purchasers must order at least a minimum carload of thirty tons.

School Board Bill Dropped By Premier

TOPONTO, March 25.—There will be no revival by the Henry Government this year of former Premier Ferguson's Townships School Board proposal, and from the attitude of the present Prime Minister it is doubtful if the bill will be heard of for some time.

Mr. Henry confidently believes that the arrangement will eventually operate throughout Ontario, but contends that, at the present time, "local prejudices" are still too strong to warrant any re-presentation of it.

The Townships School Board Bill appeared for four straight years in the Legislature; was debated at length; was even passed so far at one session as to be printed and circulated throughout the Province to educate the general public as to its aims. But now it has been shelved this session, as it was in 1930, and it would not be at all surprising, unofficial sources of information say, if it had been shelved for all time.

Major J. A. Morrison, 57, who inherited $10,000,000, was married at Kensington, England, recently, to Miss Gwendoline Phyllis Talmage, aged 27.

PRIMEAU MOVING INTO NEW STORE

For 58 Years the Name of Primeau Been in Business on Hunter Street.

FASHION CRAFT STORE.

For the first time in fifty-eight years the name of John Primeau will be missing from the business section of Hunter Street when Jack Primeau begins tomorrow the transfer of his "Fashion Craft Shop" to George street.

John Primeau, Sr., and his brother Joseph Primeau were barbers in partnership for many years on Hunter Street, west of George street. For a time their shop was located in the vicinity of the Pulkinghorn garage, and finally in the present Royal Bank premises occupied by Heintzman Hall.

Jack Primeau has conducted the "Fashion Craft" men's wear store since 1918 when he assumed it upon the retirement of A. W. Laidlaw. On March 7, 1907, the "Fashion Craft" shop was first opened by Mr. Laidlaw in partnership with Everett Oles. The firm name was Laidlaw and Oles, but after several years in business together the partners dissolved their association, and Mr. Laidlaw carried on alone until 1918.

"Fashion Craft" has been one of the prominent trade names on Hunter Street for twenty-four years. Next March it will complete a quarter of a century as one of the leading retail stores in Peterborough. The business was soundly established by Mr. Laidlaw. The name "Fashion Craft" became a hall mark and guarantee of quality in men's wear with such enduring satisfaction to customers that many of the originals during the proprietorship of Andy Laidlaw still buy their suits and coats and haberdashery from Jack Primeau. In addition to the quality of the stock its merchandising under both managements has been backed by enterprising methods of salesmanship and also by a pleasant atmosphere that will no doubt continue in the George Street store.

BRAZILIAN EARNINGS

February gross earnings of the Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company Limited fell $694,203 below the figures for the corresponding month of 1930. In a note attached to the monthly report, it is stated, in making comparisons with the corresponding months of last year regard should be had to the fact that Brazilian exchange rates during the first six months of 1930 were considerably higher than those prevailing in the second half of 1930 and that during January and February of 1931 there has been a still further progressive decline in exchange.

Gross earnings of $3,104,495 for February, 1931, compare with $3,798,698 in February, 1930. Operating expenses are down from $1,631,562 to $1,276,846. Net earnings for the month at $1,827,649 show a decrease of $339,487 from $2,167,136.

For the first two months of 1931 gross earnings are down $1,156,457 from $7,660,787 to $6,504,330 and net earnings $521,693 from $4,366,261 to $3,844,568.

OUR DESTINATION IS 1931 PROSPERITY STREET

ALL CANADA, and the rest of the world for that matter, has been detouring away from PROSPERITY STREET.

We've been groping down dark and uncharted lanes...Over-production, Cheap Money, Heedless Speculation and Easy Credit...these are the by-ways we have been traversing in our riotous ramblings that led us to a blind alley of Depression.

The great trouble was an excess of Cheap Money, making it easy for everyone to run into debt. A wild stock market was another consequence and Over-production another.

But great forces are now at work generating this return to Prosperity. We're getting used to doing without Cheap Money...we're adjusting ourselves to rely on savings, both in what we buy and in what we invest, rather than to gain by the hysteria of Speculation.

We've come to realize that Over-production often meant hurried production . . . the slighting of quality to produce volume . . . to hide cheapness under the veil of Low Price.

But we've changed our tempo to produce quality rather than volume and that in itself means more substantial value to the consumer and fortunately the re-adjustment is attended by lower cost on better grade commodities.

For the past six months merchants have been selling more than they have been buying and the country has been consuming more than manufacturers have been producing. A situation of this sort leads inevitably to a spurt in business with the ensuing result of Prosperity to wage-earners as well as retailers and manufacturers.

Surely 1931 is fraught with promise and beckons us all to turn the corner into PROSPERITY STREET

POLICY OF BECK STILL IN FORCE

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson had before the Legislature some years ago to condemn the Georgian Bay Canal "steal," and warmly defending Hydro's policy of what the Opposition had termed "risking" in connection with power-securing plans.

Attraction of Risks

"I might point out to the House in this connection," said Mr. Cooke, "that if no risks had been taken the cliffs of Dover would still mark the outer boundaries of the British Empire. If the Hydro had not taken a risk in purchasing the Ontario Power Company, the Electric Development Company, and had it not put $18,000,000 into the Chippawa development, the municipalities of this Province would not be in the fortunate position in which they find themselves today."

Mr. Sinclair preceded Mr. Cooke in the debate wind-up with a general denunciation of the Government's financial policy and some extra "cracks" at Hydro thrown in for good measure. He also called for a taxation survey. Hon. Harry C. Nixon, Progressive Leader, supported, along with his following, the Tweed amendment. Following Mr. Cooke, the Prime Minister came on long enough to maintain that the Opposition speakers had done nothing more than "thresh a lot of old straw."

Mr. Sinclair, in opening his address, noted that the increased expenditure by the Government over 1929 of $7,778,600, was alone more than the total expenditures of the Province when the present Provincial Treasurer first took his seat in the House in 1904. He discounted the Government's statement that the deficit was created by the present period of depression. Its revenue had increased by $3,363,361. Eleven sources of income had shown increases, and five had shown decreases. But there had been increases in nineteen channels of expenditure, and decreases in only two.

"The deficit is accounted for," declared Mr. Sinclair, "by the increased expenditures of this Government. It was a fortunate year for the Government so far as succession duties were concerned. The increase in succession duties was $4,619,057. And it saved a terrible deficit."

"Window Dressing."

The statement regarding assets and liabilities was just a "window-dressing" statement, said Mr. Sinclair. It showed an excess of assets over liabilities of $36,476,969, a decrease of $1,393,801 as compared with the year before. "Many of the assets are unrealizable at any price, but it looks good as an introduction to public accounts. The biggest assets of the Province are the 3,000,000 who will have to pay the debts."

Dealing with the Provincial debt, the Liberal Leader showed that it had increased by $40,000,000 in three years during the operation of the debt-retirement plan. The Conservative Administration, he went on, in eight years had produced five deficits and three surpluses. There had been a total deficit of $27,000,000 over all. He twitted the Government on the rejoicing that had heralded the surplus announcements and the declarations that the era of deficits had passed with healthy financing.

Too Much Spending.

Expenditures, he repeated were the cause of the deficit, and in spite of some $4,500,000 expected new revenue a $2,670,000 deficit was predicted for next year. He criticized the Government's policy of taking reserves from the Hydro and Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway in former year and its proposal to take $1,800,000 in reserves from the Liquor Control Board this year. "It must have taken courage for the Government to increase the cost of liquor to help its revenue, for, judging from the last election, few of the patrons of the liquor stores fail to vote for the Government," he added.

The proposed corporation tax, he continued, would be a burden to business, would affect the commodities people buy at a time when business needs relief and with the prospective return of the sales tax would seriously affect business. "It is a tax imposed as a last resort," he affirmed.

With a deficit of nearly $3,000,000 predicted in spite of these additional taxes and with $4,500,000 of this year's taxes outstanding, the future was not very promising for the Treasurer. There were two options which faced the Treasurer: less expenditure or more taxation. Mr. Sinclair thought that the latter would be the more likely.

Mr. Cooke Replies

Living in such a wealthy district as Brant, it was easy to talk about hard times, said Mr. Cooke in his opening remarks. There were thousands of persons, however, who found their burden of taxation too great for them, and the Department of Education was making a real and honest effort to relieve this burden.

Replying to S. C. Tweed (Liberal, Waterloo North), Liberal financial critic, Mr. Cooke said that there was no basis for his criticism that $63,000,000 had been withdrawn from the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway last year.

Mr. Cooke at this point dealth briefly with the sale of liquor in Ontario, and said that there was no comparison between the Quebec system of free sale and the Ontario restrictive policy. The cost of administration of control was one of the reasons why Ontario had to bring her liquor prices in line with those of the other Provinces.

Debt Retirement

Mr. Cooke then dealt with debt retirement and pointed out that the plan which would retire the debt within twenty years dealt only with the debt which existed at the time the plan came into force. A very creditable showing had been made by this Government, said Mr. Cooke. No Provincial Treasurer was ever entitled to more credit than Hon. W. H. Price, who, when he held that portfolio, originated and introduced this scheme of debt retirement.

The Minister then turned to the matter of power, and said that during the post four years the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission had acquired various properties. There were four independent sources of power in Quebec, and he defended the purchase of power from these sources.

Dr. McQuibban had, he contended, "a wonderful imagination." Referring to the Liberal member's detailed explanation of the Beauharnois prospectus in which the Beauharnois had advertised the fact they were going to supply Ontario with power, Mr. Cooke declared that Dr. McQuibban had asked: "What right has Beauharnois to do such a thing?" "Well," Mr. Cooke continued, "I don't know what right they have. Beauharnois is a private company. What I'm concerned with is how we can provide power for the people of this Province."

Assailing Dr. McQuibban's charges that the Province was sick to death of Hydro's "full-dress parade of speeches" and that it was time that the Commission's chest should be thrown back and the "skeleton" laid bare, the Hydro Chairman, heatedly, observed that Dr. McQuibban had had considerable temerity in speaking of things of which he knew no more than the average child one might meet going down the street.

Calls for Order

"Order, order," cried Liberal Leader Sinclair.

Mr. Cooke went on.

Mr. Sinclair—Mr. Speaker, couldn't the honorable member be called to order.

Mr. Cooke—What do you want me to explain.

Mr. Sinclair—You can't say that—about knowing no more than a babe.

Mr. Cooke—I'm speaking of having no more knowledge—intimate understanding of the question.

When the flare-up subsided, Mr. Cooke proceeded to deal with what he termed his critic's inferences that the contracts into which Hydro had entered were "not worth the money" and that too much had been ventured.

"I might recall something from history in this connection," declared Mr. Cooke, "and point out that if no risks had been taken the cliffs of Dover would still mark the boundaries of the British Empire. If the Hydro had not taken a risk in purchasing the Ontario Power Company, the Electric Development Company, and had not put $18,000,000into the Chippawa development, the municipalities of this Province would not be in the fortunate position in which they find themselves today."

At some length, the speaker dealt with the purchase of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company at Hamilton; referred to the negotiations which the Commission has under way toward the sale of company subsidiaries — negotiations which, when consummated, will net $6,875,000—and made it perfectly patent that in his opinion the Hydro should operate for the development and distribution of energy alone.

In belligerent mood Mr. Cooke denied Liberal Opposition accusations that the Hydro had departed from the policy of Sir Adam Beck.

"Such statements are not true," said Mr. Cooke, "and I want to prove it here tonight, in Sir Adam's own handwriting."

When he went on the Hydro Commission in 1923, said Mr. Cooke, the first thing he had to consider, along with his associates, was the purchase of outside power. Sir Adam could see then, submitted Mr. Cooke, that Niagara was not going to last forever. Under consideration was the purchase of 250,000 h.p. from Quebec at $15 per h.p.

Hartwick, a well-known resident here, offers some good advice that ought to be taken heed of because it concerns your health, and what is a more valuable asset than good health? Mrs. Hartwick writes: "I used Dodd's Kidney Pills before my second child was born and I found them such a help. I had no trouble with sore back and felt quite strong. I was able to do all my own work. I would advise all women to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are safe and give quick relief."

Mrs. Hartwick is not repeating what someone has told her, but something she knows, from her own experience. She feels that she owes it to other sufferers to tell them how Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved her.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 25.—Greater strength was apparent on the local egg market yesterday. Graded supplies were commanding ½c better than on Monday, or 1c higher for the week, and conditions pointed to still higher prices later in the week. The sudden turn toward higher levels was due to lighter receipts this week and a steady demand. On Monday dealers were of the opinion that the lull was temporary, but yesterday they were not so sure, and prophesied higher prices to the country shipper if more eggs did not arrive. Many expect high levels before Easter, and if receipts do not show substantial increases a general advance is a certainty.

Egg Prices

Yesterday local brokers were obtaining 21½c to 22c for extras, 19½c to 20c for firsts, and 17½c to 18c for seconds graded and in free cases. Country shippers were quoted 18c for extras, 16c for firsts, and 14c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned, and retailers were offered supplies at the steady prices of 26c for extras in cartons, 24c for extras loose, 22c for firsts loose, and 19c for seconds loose.

Butter

There were no changes in butter prices, but there was an improved demand for No. 2 creamery solids. This was due to a scarcity in that grade for a few days, and yesterday there was little to be had. The demand for No. 1 was not too good, and classed as fair. Brokers were offering No. 1 at 31c to 31¼c, and No. 2 at 30c to 30¼c.

Cheese

There was a moderate demand for cheese at the steady prices of 14½c to 14¾c for new, large; 14¾c to 15c for twins, and 15c to 15¼c for triplets, colored, paraffined, Government graded Retailers were quoted 16c for new large; 16¼c for twins, and 16½c for triplets.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, March 25.—Price of eggs, butter, cheese and potatoes were unchanged on the Produce and Dairy Market here yesterday.

Carlot prices of Ontario and Prairie fresh eggs were quoted at 23½c to 24c for extras, 21½c to 22c for firsts, and 16c to 17c a dozen for seconds. Fresh extras to retailers regained their Monday's loss, being quoted at 28c a dozen. Receipts were 3,909 cases.

Regraded Eastern Townships and fresh Western No. 1 butter was quoted at 31c to 31¼c a pound, and to retailers, solids were 33c, and prints 34c a pound. Receipts were 100 boxes.

On the cheese market, winter colored was 14¼c a pound, and receipts were 23 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were $1½c per 80-pound bag, and to retailers 95c per 80-pound bag. Remaining carlot stocks, were quoted at 80c per 90 puonds bulk.

WARSAW GUEST SPEAKER GIVES INFORMAL TALK

Dr. Margaret McKellar Addresses Meeting at Home of Mrs. Arthur Edwards.

SPLENDID ADDRESS.

Gives Vivid Description of Durbar at Delhi in 1911—Good Friday Service.

WARSAW, March 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — Dr. Margaret MacKellar gave an informal talk to a number of people who gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards on Friday evening when she spoke, by request, of the Durbar at Delhi in 1911. Dr. MacKellar described the forty acres square of white tents pitched regularly in the squares and streets, each tent numbered and the guests therein registered. The city of Delhi itself was not fit for the celebration. Just the day before it was to have been used, the grandest tent, hung with priceless rugs, was burned. Another time the King and Queen were on their dais when the cry of fire in the adjoining tent was raised. It was found to be in the second one away and the flames were soon extinguished. When all was quiet again, Queen Mary was seen to pat King George's arm just as if to say, "It is all right, George."

In the Zenanas in India there are forty million women and twenty-two millions are widows. Under fifteen years of age there are more than three million girls; one hundred and fifteen thousand under ten years and more than a thousand baby girls under one year old are widows. These may never marry and their lives are hard.

There are four distinct castes subdivided many times. Any caste may be educated, hold high position, but no two castes may eat together or eat food prepared by another.

Many worship the true God, and accept Jesus Christ as their Saviour, but because of the family, dare no let it be known. It is not for us to blame them, we cannot realize what caste means. They quietly do not worship idols, but to be baptized by a Christian to them means to forsake their family. Before being baptized they must not only acknowledge the Saviour and forsake their idols, but realize that there is no caste among the followers of Jesus. The last thing many will do is to part wiht a long tuft of hair by which they believe they are pulled into Heaven.

Dr. MacKellar was very anxious that it should be made clear that if anyone wished to be a missionary, he can. She herself surmounted many difficulties. Now a woman of more than seventy, who has been forty years in the field, she longs to return, but the United Church regulation is that she be superannuated. Her heart is in India, and she loves the Indian people and feels her work lies there. Dr MacKellar is very proud of her medals which came to her as a result of hard work and determination. Work for Jesus will succeed with strong determination, which includes earnest prayer and "casting out the unclean thing"—giving God all that belongs to Him.

The girl who won the medal after the bitterness of going to school in the entrance class at the age of twenty-two, with the handicap of a mind clear and bright, but untrained to settling down to books; who now speaks three languages besides perfect English; who knows the history of India and of its people and the relationships of other nations; whose voice is clear and without efforts fills a large building, is still able to travel around and tell her story. She is still fit, and her aim in Canada is simply to show the need in such a way that people will willingly give their money and themselves.

No Service.

There was no service in the Anglican Church on Sunday. Rev. J. W. Wilkinson in the United Church preached a Palm Sunday sermon. On Palm Sunday he will take the last four days of Christ's life, and on Good Friday evening will hold a service.

ROMAN BRITAIN YIELDS SECRETS

Royal Air Force Planes Uncover Four Camps Never Found Before.

Photograph Hadrian's Wall.

LONDON, March 25 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — Roman Britain is yielding her secrets to pilots of the air.

For four centuries imperial Rome held Britain under sway. Agricola carried her eagles over the Tyne right into the Grampians. Across the stretch between the Tyne and the Solway, she threw a line of small forts as a barrier agggainst the wild tribes of Caledonia. Hadrian came and the defences of Agricola became the great Roman wall which can be traced for miles to-day over hill and dale of the English northland.

Air Force Enters Field.

For years, antiquarians have excavated and discoursed learnedly on the precise meaning of this or that curve in a ditch, or the significance of a few letters on a broken tile. Now, the Royal Air Force has entered the field. It has made a photographic survey of Hadrian's Wall from the air. It has discovered four temporary camps never before revealed It has added to knowledge of both military and civil stations along the wall.

The legions of Rome came and went, leaving little beyond a road system that has fallen into decay, villas and camps that almost disappeared, and memory of a power that was. Yet by air photograph and excavation, the disjointed story of Rome in Britain is again linking together. And in all the dramatic history of these islands, there is nothing stranger than this: that Britain's airmen should reveal where Rome once planted her eagles, where a Roman sentry once looked southward towards the conquered province of Britain.

MILLBROOK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CELEBRATES 30TH ANNIVERSARY

Officials and Past Officers of District Attend Gathering.

STORY OF ORGANIZATION.

MILLBROOK, Mar. 25. (Examiner Correspondence). An event of special significance in the history of the local branch of the Women's Institute took place on Monday, March 23, when the thirtieth birthday of the organization was celebrated by a largely-attended social gathering in the Town Hall, the president, Mrs T. G. Harkness, occupying the chair.

The stage was made the centre of attraction because of the birthday table, done in a color scheme of pink and green; the light overhead being lovely with a shade of pink curled rose petals, with touches of gold and green, from which streamers of green and pink satin ribbon were drawn to the four corners. The table was centred with a huge rose, concealing the three-story birthday cake with its full quota of candles, which were later lighted when the rose petals were drawn back by means of pink satin ribbons. Tall green and pink candles in holders of a matching shade, were also set aligh; the bon-bon holders were roses standing on curled green stems, and the table cloth was white with a deep border of roses. Tiny canaries ornamented streamers and candle holders.

On either side the central table were smaller service tables each with linen cover, with border of hemstitching and drawn work, and each holding a dainty cake container, the handle tied with a big bow of pink tulle, and the plate part made of rows of rose petals. These were later used for passing the delicious birthday cake when it was served at the supper hour.

Associated with the president on the platform were the vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Garside, the secretary, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, the treasurer, Mrs. T. H. Aiken and a number of former officers who were guests of honor for the birthday occasion, and included Mrs. Charles Thorndyke Mrs. F. H. Smith, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. R. J. McKnight and Miss E. Grandy.

Mrs. Harkness welcomed the guests in a few well-chosen words, emphasizing the special nature of the gathering, and all joined in singing the W. I. opening ode. Community singing, with Mrs. McKnight at the piano, followed, and the minutes of the organization meeting of the East Durham Women's Institute, the first in the counties of Durham and Northumberland, instituted at Millbrook on March 22, 1906, were read; also a short narrative telling in story form something of the work of an Institute in the early days of this useful society.

Associate Institute

The initial branch was organized in connection with the Farmers' Institute when the late T. A. Kelly was president, and the late William Vance secretary; twelve ladies were present, and Miss Ada Richardson was elected the first president, Miss M. S. Fair vice-president, and Mrs. Jos. Mulligan secretary,-treasurer.

From the Millbrook branch workers went out and in a comparatively short time other Institutes were organized throughout the district until there were flourishing branches at Bewdley, Fairmount Manvers Station, Canton, Garden Hill, Elizabethville, Bethany, South Monaghan, Cavanville, Mount Pleasant, and in more recent years at Charlecote.

An interesting item was the reading of letters from former presidents, the secretary, Mrs. Armstrong, having written to as many of these workers as names and addresses could be secured, inviting them to attend the birthday-party. Among those from whom letters were read were Miss Ada Richardson, Miss Alice Vance, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. M. Milligan, while the former officers on the platform also gave brief but most interesting messages.

Musical numbers on the program, which interspersed the letters and addresses were vocal solos by Mr. Chas. Thorndyke, "One Little Raindrop" and "That Old Irish Mother of Mine", Miss Ruth Thorndyke acting as her father's accompanist; vocal solo, "Spring is Coming", by Mrs. G. W. Sayles, her daughter, Miss Marjorie Sayles, playing the accompaniment; instrumental duets by Messrs. Lawrence Winslow and Jas. Wood, with violin and piano, their selections including, "Sweet Jenny Lee", "Am I Blue?" "The Organ at Twilight", and other numbers.

Officials Absent

The absence of the district president, Mrs. T. A. Skitch, of Baillieboro, was deeply regretted, her message of congratulations and best wishes being conveyed in a letter read by the secretary; and the president voiced the feelings of all present when she referred regretfully to the absence of the district secretary Mrs. J. R. Eakins, through serious illness, and mentioned the general and earnest desire for this valued officer's speedy recovery. A letter from another past president, Mrs. Wilbert Thorne, now of Reaboro, was also read, containing best wishes and appreciation of the good work being accomplished, her absence being due to the unfavorable state of the roads.

Supper was served shortly after eleven o'clock, this enjoyable feature taking the form of a buffet luncheon, those in charge at the long service table being Mrs. W. J. E. Gillott, Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. I. M. Nattress, and Miss Margaret Christie.

A flashlight was taken of the lovely birthday table, with its candles all alight, and the officers standing about it, C. C. Garside announced that the Institute would sponsor a community dance in the Town Hall, on Monday, April 6, with a good orchestra in attendance.

A dance was enjoyed before the party broke up on Monday evening, L. J. Morton calling off for the old-fashioned square dances, music being supplied by Messrs. L. Winslow and J. Wood.

QUEENSBORO

QUEENSBORO, March 25 (Examiner Correspondence)—There was a large attendance at the United Church on Sunday evening when a choir of male voices furnished special music, with William Glover presiding at the organ. The address was on the subject of "Stewardship" based on St. Luke, 16, 2, "And he called him and said unto him, how is it that I hear this of thee, give an account of thy stewardship."

The speaker pointed out that it was over 2,700 years since the prophets of old foresaw from the heights of Hebrew vision the end of war and the sitting up of a kingdom of peace and righteousness such as Jesus announced in His sermon on the mount. He referred to the sacrifices of the Great War and stated that they were all in vain if they passed into oblivion without bringing a new hope to us and to our posterity. "A world conscience must be created," said the speaker, "and the responsibility for this rested upon the church, which must lead through its officials and ministers, who will have to walk where there is no path taking their guidance from the will of God revealed through facts, events and opportunities. The real Christianity of Jesus must be practiced without any frills or milk and water interpretation." Quoting from William Adam Brown in "Beliefs that Matter," he said, "Whoever would come to grips with living religion must start with Jesus Christ. Christians live to grapple with problems and by their patience, courage and faith overcome them. The church can lead only when Christian people guide their lives by the principles Jesus taught. When they apply to their problems the Christ spirit of brotherliness, goodwill, unselfishness, readiness to co-operate, bear one anothers burdens and make heavy sacrifices for the common good." The church, the speaker stated, with its message of hope and confidence, emphasizing integrity in life and dealing, waging an unceasing and valiant fight against every form of evil, is the bulwark of the home, the friend and protectress of children, the mother of the public school, the support and advocate of every wholesome community interest, but the foe of every anti-social thing. Its arms are open to the outcast and there is no person in any community beyond its pity. Its value to the community and the nation is inestimable. Millions of dollars are being spent on things which are of much less than Christianity and if human hearts are looking to the cross of Christ there will be no difficulty about church work. Men need a clearer vision of the mortal needs of their fellows and in the light of calvary to re-dedicate themselves to the task for which Jesus lived and died and ever lives.

FOR MOTHERS WHO LACK STRENGTH

Mrs. HARRIET THACKERAY

Hamilton, Ont.—"After my last baby came my health was poor for several weeks after I came from the hospital. I would be completely exhausted after washing the baby and had no strength left for any of my household duties. One of my good neighbors started me on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I was amazed at the quick hold it took on my weakened condition. It seemed to be exactly what I needed. The second bottle put me on my feet and restored me to perfect health, which I still enjoy. I can't say too much in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women who are ailing; it has my highest endorsement."—Mrs. Harriet Thackray, 176 Stratham St., East.

Doctors pretty well agree that (barring germ diseases) most illness and headache are due to failure to keep "clean inside."

In blaming this condition for much of our sickness, so they agree on the safest way to relieve it—keeping clean inside by the Nujol type of treatment. Nujol is not a medicine at all. It has no drug in it. It is crystal-clear—tasteless—and children love it.

Remember two things if you want to enjoy "Nujol Health."

One: Don't expect results over night. This is nature's own method, and nature is never violent.

Two: Don't accept any substitute. Your druggist has Nujol—in a sealed package—trademarked "Nujol" so you will be sure to get it.

IT is baby's hour. This is a sweet, secret time with mother. There is a game that includes tender murmurings and baby chucklings. It is a necessary game, too. For it is baby's bath. There should be a warm soapiness and a fresh fragrance. There should not be any worry over soapbite to tender skins. There should not be any danger of after-chafe. If this hour is to be happy, not dreaded, only the purest soap should be used—Infants Delight. Experienced doctors and nurses will then assure you that your baby's skin is completely protected by its use. It is pure and particularly mild with an abundant suds. FLYING ALONE.

TIMBUCTOO, Upper Senegal, Mar. 25 (A.P.).—Missing for more than four days on a return flight to Germany from West Africa, Fraulein Elly Beinhorn has arrived here afoot after a 30-mile hike across the burning desert sands.

The fraulein explained that after completing most of a 450 miles' flight from Mammaku, from where she took off Thursday, she was forced down in the desert by an oil pipe leak. She managed to land without cracking up, but had insufficient runway for taking off again, so she trudged on here to get help, either to clear the runway or move the plane.

Fraulein Elly, who is flying alone, took off from Berlin aJnuary 4, and flew by stages to Bissao, Portuguese West Africa.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

During this period of Lent, I find that in many of the homes in Peterborough, the dessert course is omitted from the dinner menu, a minor form of fasting.

• • • • • • •

Should this be the case in your home, the discussion to-day will be of interest to you and even if it isn't, no doubt you will be interested in the serving of salads anyway.

• • • • • • •

To round out the meal pleasingly, in such cases, it is advisable to serve a salad in especially tempting form.

• • • • • • •

And as fruits are not barred, they being necessary to good health, fruit salads are admirable to serve.

• • • • • • •

Without infringing on this stipulated omission of sweets from the diet, a proper assortment of fruits can appease the appetite accustomed to delicious desserts.

• • • • • • •

It is for the homemaker to give her family tempting meals during the period of limitations, but to keep the foods strictly within the desired scope.

• • • • • • •

You will find the following salads attractive and nourishing: Orange Salad: Wash and cut large oranges in halves. Remove the inside of each, keeping the sections as whole as possible.

• • • • • • •

Allow two dates, one fig, half a teaspoon of nut meats, two teaspoons minced apple and two marischino cherries to each half orange. Chop the dates and fig and mix with the other ingredients including the orange.

• • • • • • •

Fill the orange skins with the mixture. Across the top lay narrow strips of lettuce in diagonal parallel rows with little spaces between and cross these with similar strips, giving a basket weave effect.

• • • • • • •

Sprinkle the lettuce with chopped marischino cherries and serve with French dressing, passed separately.

• • • • • • •

Shred crisp lettuce leaves, for Salads in Nests, and form little hollow nests on a large serving dish or on individual plates. Line each nest with half a large canned peach.

• • • • • • •

Mix finely chopped nuts and rice with cream cheese and mayonnaise and form into eggs. Roll lightly in minced pistachio nuts or minced parsley to givea speckled-egg appearance.

• • • • • • •

Place three eggs in each peach and serve with Russian dressing passed, but not put on the salad.

The only alkali-forming foods are fruits, vegetables, milk, almonds, egg yolks and Roman Meal (the only alkaline grain food known) At fifty my pressure was 215, heart threatening to stop each beat. By exercising in bed, overcoming tension, eating alkaline Roman Meal, fruits, etc., my pressure at seventy-two is 130—heart—I can run five miles in forty-seven minutes run up four flights of stairs two steps at a time, work ninety hours a week and never tire. COLONIC IRRIGATIONS

One of the new forms of treatment that is becoming very popular is what is called colonic irrigation, that is irrigating or washing out the large intestine or colon as it is called by the profession.

Many people get this mixed with the old-fashioned enema or injection, which is still a very effective method of ridding the lower part of the bowel of waste matter. The enema however, simply sends the injected liquid up a short distance, whereas colonic irrigation sends the liquid the entire length of the large intestine, a distance of about six feet. By means of a long tube a few ounces of liquid is allowed to enter from time to time as the tube gradually ascends the left side, then across the abdomen, and down the right side to the point where the large intestine joins the small intestine.

This means that a certain section gets washed and the material which is thus loosened from the sides of intestine is removed immediately from the body. The idea of course if that if the fluid were injected in large amounts it might force some of the wastes further up the intestine instead of downward.

Once the tube reaches the right side of the abdomen any fluid or medicine that is being used is then allowed to flow in a quantity large enough to fill, first the right side then across the abdomen, and then down the left side as the tube is slowly withdrawn.

You can readily see that a knowledge of the exact position of the large intestine in the abdomen is necessary if this irrigating is to be done safely.

Why is this form of irrigation so valuable?

Because it gradually widens out the inner surface of large intestine, and stimulates the intestine to healthy action as it squeezes and presses out the fluid again. With this fluid go also the harmful wastes and organisms.

Further, this method permits fluids which can kill off harmful organisms to get right up into the intestine and attack them.

When you remember that organisms from infections of teeth, tonsils, and gall bladder are known to remain in the large intestine for months, you can see how helpful this treatment can be. This treatment is being found of great help in chronic rheumatism or arthritis.

A BEDTIME STORY

Howard Fee Gore

"Buster! Buster! Where are you?" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she stood in the kitchen doorway of the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Here I am," answered the little rabbit boy. "Have you something good for my breakfast?"

"Oh, Buster! I'm so glad to see you!" squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper "Please go out to the shed and bring me in some sticks of wood. The fire is low and I want to boil the kettle to make coffee."

"Oh, I don't want to go get fire sticks!" cried Buster, his smiling face changing all of a sudden. "I'm hungry! Let Custer get the sticks. Besides, I want to study my lesson before I go to school!"

"Oh dear me," sighed Nurse Jane. "You were lively enough when you thought I was calling you to breakfast, Buster. Well, where's Custer?"

"I'll send him to you!" answered Buster, laughing a little as he hopped away to look for his brother. "Hi, Custer!" he called. "Nurse Jane wants you."

"What for?" asked the other little rabbit boy.

"You'd better go ask her!" Buster answered.

"Oh, maybe she has something good for my breakfast!" cried Custer. "I'll hop fast."

Out to the kitchen he hopped on one paw to show how lively he was.

"What is it, Nurse Jane?" he asked.

"Please get me some fire sticks to boil the kettle!" begged the muskrat lady.

"Oh! Fire sticks!" murmured Custer, beginning to limp all of a sudden, "I can't get them for you, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy!"

"Why not?"

"Oh, I guess—Oh, my paw! Oh, I must have hopped on it too hard. I guess I'm going to be lame and maybe I can't go to school. But, anyhow, I can't go out and get you any sticks!"

"It's too bad you were so lively, hopping on one paw a minute ago," said Nurse Jane with a queer smile that made her whiskers twiddle. "Come here and I'll put a mustard plaster on it for you."

"Oh, no, thank you! I guess it will be all right in a little while," Custer said, quickly. "I'll just hop around in the bungalow and it will be all right by the time breakfast is ready and I have to go to school."

"But it won't be all right in time for you to get me any fire sticks, will it?" asked Miss Fuzzy.

"I—I—now—don't believe so!" Custer answered. "I'll see if I can get Buster to go."

"Never mind! I'll get the wood myself!" Nurse Jane said. And when she was picking up the sticks for the fire Uncle Wiggily, who had gotten early out of bed, hopped along and saw what his muskrat lady housekeeper was doing.

"Why didn't some of the boys get the fire sticks for you, Nurse Jane?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Well," she answered, "I asked Buster and Custer, but they both had excuses."

"Hum!" murmured Uncle Wiggily with a funny twinkle of his pink nose. "I shall have to see about that."

He said nothing to Buster and Custer while they were eating breakfast before going to school. But that afternoon Uncle Wiggily happened to be in the woods along a path through which soon came hopping Buster and Custer on their way from school. Uncle Wiggily was sitting on a hollow log with some carrots beside him.

"What are you doing here in the woods, Daddy?" asked Buster,

"I was going to make a jolly camp fire and roast carrots," Uncle Wiggily answered, "but I have no fire sticks so I can't."

"Oh, we'll gather the fire sticks for you, won't we, Buster!" cried Custer eagerly. "Come on, we'll get a lot of wood."

"Oh, I'm afraid you're too tired, or that your paws might hurt or that you have to study your lessons," said Uncle Wiggily solemn like. Don't bother about getting some fire sticks now to roast carrots."

"Oh, but we'd love to do it," cried Buster. "It's such fun to roast carrots at a fire in the woods."

"Sure!" cried Custer. "Come on! We'll get the fire sticks!"

Then the rabbit boys began looking in the woods for dry sticks. But Uncle Wiggily had played a little trick. He had gathered and hidden in the hollow log on which he was sitting, all the dry sticks for a long distance. So Buster and Custer had to hop around a great deal before they found enough to make the fire and roast the carrots.

"Gathering fire sticks is hard work, isn't it?" said Uncle Wiggily, slyly.

"Oh, no! We love it!" said Buster and Custer, laughing.

And the next time Nurse Jane asked them to bring in wood those rabbit boys did it right away.

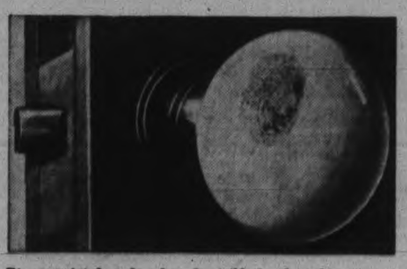
The Man Who Shot Her Boy



Finger print dusted and made visible for the police camera

Finger Print on Police Files

Left Print on a Knob

At midnight, April 9, 1927, Mrs. Violet Hatch of Los Angeles returned home from a restaurant she was running with the night's receipts—$400—in her bag. A masked robber met her at her door and stole the bag. Her son, coming in from the garage, tried to recover the bag, and was shot. He died next day.

There was no clue to the murderer—except a thumb print on a door knob.

Three years later a man was arrested for another crime. His finger prints were taken, and an investigator found that one was identical with the print left on that knob. So, after three years, a finger print on a door knob brought a man to trial for murder.

Countless crimes are thus detected by things that a robber touches. He leaves his print.

All Prints are Dangerous

Each of us runs grave danger through finger prints. Not through crime or wrong doing, but through germs.

A child becomes ill, you know not how. Perhaps with a vicious cold. The reason may lie in a finger print on a cookie—a germ-laden finger print. The child may have touched something which infected hands had touched—then she touched her cookie. All children gather dangerous germs this way—grown-ups do too.

The germs thus conveyed may breed in the mouth. Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be conveyed in this way.

Remember those finger prints. Never touch anything which enters the mouth until the germs on your prints are destroyed.

Peterborough To Have a Senior Baseball Club

"Shiner" Johnson Manage New Entry In C.O.B.L. Field

Move Definitely Decided at Meeting of Baseball Enthusiasts Held in Duffus Bowling Academy Last Night With Joseph Ranger and His Son Harry to be Financial Backers of the Club.

SUPPORT APLENTY PROMISED TO NEW TEAM; WILL BUY NEW UNIFORMS AND EQUIPMENT

Exhibition Grounds Will Likely Be Used as Home Grounds for Club—Several Promising Young Intermediate and Veteran Senior Players Listed on Prospective Roster.

Peterborough will be represented by a senior ball team once more. After an absence of one year, the Petes will again be entered in the Central Ontario League. This has been made possible through Joseph Ranger and his son Harry, who will be the financial backers. This was decided at a meeting last night held at the Duffus Bowling Academy.

The announcement came as a distinct surprise to all local followers of baseball, not even a rumor of the newly-formed club getting out. The backers have been working quietly, but decided to make their intentions known now in order to clear the air. 'Shiner' Johnston will be the field manager and has already lined up a number of the best players in the city.

Harry Ranger will get in touch with Bob Elliott, of Deloro, president of the C.O.B.L., to-day notifying him of the Petes' entry, when the Central League re-organizes this Spring. It is expected that there will be three or four other teams in the circuit. Belleville, Oshawa and Kingston have so far made no announcement but chances are good that they will talk business at the O.B.A.A. meeting here.

Joseph Ranger, of Ranger and Sons, has been a close follower of baseball in this city for many years. While taking in the games played in the East Peterborough League last summer, he decided that there was plenty of material for a good senior team in this town. He waited to see how things were shaping up toward a senior outfit this Spring, and when prospects looked poor, decided to organize and back one himself. Ranger believes the Petes will draw the crowds they did in other years and give the boys better competition. He also thinks the advertising gained through inter-city competition is of no small importance.

Support Promised.

There was no doubt in the minds of any of those present at last night's meeting that Peterborough could and would support a senior team. The only thing lacking last year, when the Petes were out of the circuit for the first time, was systematic co-operation and a hesitancy of backers to start them off. But all those who met last night were delighted at the early declaration of putting a team in the field, and promised Ranger and Johnston their heartiest support.

"Shiner" agreed to act as manager of the outfit and assured those present that he would have no difficulty in getting the best talent in the city to come out for him. He divulged the fact that he has already sounded a number of well-known players out and found them willing, and even anxious, to get a chance to play in the Central League.

Harry Ranger, speaking for his father, said they would be right there with the money necessary to start the team off. New uniforms and other equipment will be bought for the first practise. This will not be held for at least three weeks yet, unless the ground drys up quicker than expected. But when the practises do start, "Shiner" promises a grand scramble for every position.

The question of where the home games would be played came in for some discussion, and the general feeling of those present was that the exhibition grounds would be used unless the city puts James Stevenson Park in playing condition. While the latter park is more centrally located, the crowds turned out regularly at the Fair Grounds for the E.P.L. fixtures.

Prospective Roster

The many ball players around here who have senior league aspirations should get in touch with either Harry Ranger or Manager Johnston as soon as possible. In the meantime, the management has secured the promise of the following players to be on hand for the first workout: Swanston, Collins, Utronki, Hardill, Kitchen, Masterson, Holmes, Hickey, H. Hollingsworth, Sweetman, H. Nichols, Hall, J. Jones, F. Jones.

Other senior stars who are expected to be back in Peterborough uniforms when the umps cries "Play ball!" include Al Heckman, Abbie Rose and Fred Ash.

COLLEGE HOCKEY TEAMS PLAN NEW INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

McGill, Toronto, Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth Enter Negotiations.

VIEWED FAVORABLY.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1931)

TORONTO, March 25.—Before another year rolls round hockey history will be made on this continent. International intercollegiate hockey is the event and both McGill university and the University of Toronto have expressed their desire for such competition. At present the onus lies with the American colleges for the Canadian universities have not only recognized the ability of the teams of the American union but have opened negotiations by letter with Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth as to the formation of such a league. A few years ago a suggestion of such a nature would have brought loud laughs from the Canadian hockey public, but the past few years have made a world of difference.

Not by talk have the Americans proved that they have begun to threaten the supremacy of Canada in hockey, but by action, and the amateurs of the collegiate circles have proved during the past year that they are not only the equals but the superiors of the Canadian colleges in hockey ability.

T. A. Reed, secretary-treasurer of the University of Toronto athletic association, told the writer that he was in favor of such a move. McGill has also through Major Stuart Forbes expressed their desire for such an organization and now it lies with the American colleges.

Have Strong Teams.

The Harvard and Yale teams are particularly strong this year and with their color and their systems of play they would not only be a fine attraction but would be able to teach the Canadians a few angles on how to make men who have never played hockey turn into capable ice men.

Harvard of course not only roundly defeated Toronto on their annual Christmas invasion, but also trimmed McGill twice, once on the Forum ice at Montreal. Then Yale turned around and defeated the Harvard team by five goals to one.

The question of whether or not it would be financially undesirable to enter into this league has been answered by the Harvard trip to Montreal. Close on 12,000 people turned out at the game and it was billed as an exhibition. While Toronto would not likely turn out as wholeheartedly there would be no question of making enough to carry the team on its trips.

The question of getting away from studies can be looked after adequately. With week end games the mode there will be very little loss in classes attended and the keener competition and international rivalry will be well worth the sacrifice if there has to be any sacrifice whatever.

At present it is not secret that the college hockey union is weak in Canada. There used, to be four teams in the group with McGill, Varsity, University of Montreal and Queen's the competitors but with the dropping of the last named a few years ago and with the further dropping away of Queen's it became a two-game series.

The standing of the colleges concerned would ensure the high standards set for competition and eligibility would be adhered to, and that feeling amongst the four would tend to be friendly without any doubt.

The path leads to that league whether it comes next year or the year after. It is a natural movement, the athletic outlook of Canadian and American colleges being so similar in the ice world.

Canadian teams from Queen's, McGill and Varsity for many years have been travelling over the line for competition and now the natural step of an international league is coming. That competition with the American colleges is a desirable thing is seen by the good feeling that has resulted when not only Canadian hockey teams have crossed the line, but also boxing and wrestling teams, basketball quintets and water polo teams have invaded foreign territory.

Canada's Stanley Cup Hopes Dimmed

TORONTO LEAFS HELD TO TIE BY HAWKS IN FIRST FIXTURE

Third Place Contenders For Stanley Cup Honors Play Listless Game—Bailey Scores First Goal for Smythemen—Rangers Take Four Goal Lead By Winning From Maroons 5-1.

WEILAND SCORES OVERTIME GOAL TO GIVE BRUINS 5-4 VICTORY OVER LES CANADIENS

BY GEORGE MAGUIRE
(Canadian Press Sports Writer)

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 25.—Canada's prospects of retaining the Stanley Cup, the much travelled and coveted emblem of world's supremacy in professional hockey circles, were considerably dimmed as a result of last night's National Hockey League play-offs.

To climax a bad night for the Canadian squads, Les Canadiens of Montreal, present holders of the battered old emblem, were nosed out by the Bruins at Boston, 5 to 4 after 79 minutes of rousing hockey. Maroons suffered the same fate as their fellow townsmen but in this case there was no doubt as to the better team for New York Rangers whipped the puck into the Montreal cage five times while the losers were able to tally only one marker. While the other American team, Chicago Blackhawks did not win, their ability to hold Toronto Maple Leafs to a two-all stalemate in the Queen City indicates they are not going to be put out of the contenders class very easily.

The defeat of the Habitants was tragic. The colorful world's champions clearly outplayed their opponents during the major part of the struggle. They led at the end of the second period three to one, Johnny Gagnon, Nick Wasnie and Marty Burke, all sweeping in for tallies which were richly earned. The best the Bostonians could do was collect one counter, notched by "Dit" Clapper.

A goal by Sylvio Mantha early in the thir term gave the Flying Frenchmen a three goal lead to work on. The Rossmen then proceeded to show they won the United States division honors on their merits by squaring the count within six minutes on goals by Eddie Shore, Cooney Weiland and George Owen.

Nearly 19 minutes of the "sudden-death" overtime had elapsed when Weiland darted in to snare the puck, after Goalkeeper George Hainsworth had cleared a shot from Shore, and chalk up the winning tally.

The next game of this series for the league championship and the right to enter the Stanley cup final will be played in Boston on Thursday.

Playing a vastly different style than they showed on their last appearance here, when the Leafs walloped them, 8 to 2, the Blackhawks were full value for the tie. The game was a listless affair after the opening frame due to the defensive tactics of the Hawks and the poor showing of the Leafs.

Bailey Scores

Each team scored in the first period, Toronto taking the lead on "Ace" Bailey's goal after 12 minutes' play and the Windy City puck chasers equalizing less than five minutes later on Hal March's clever goal.

Both goals were registered with players resting in the penalty box, March got his while "Hap" Day was serving a major penalty for tripping.

March, who enjoyed a great evening on right wing due to the laxity of his check, Harvey Jackson, put the Hawks in front halfway through the second frame with an artistic goal. The lead was shortlived, however, as Andy Blair knotted the count less than a minute later when the Hawks were a man short. After this goal the game lapsed into a state of coma. The Chicagoans seemed satisfied with a tie and erected a five man barrier in front of "Chuck" Gardner and the tiring Leafs didn't make headway in their efforts to gain a lead.

The teams will fight it out in the second game at Chicago on Thursday, goals on the round deciding the winner.

Score at Will

Led by the league's all-star right winger, Bill Cook, the Rangers just about made certain they will be the team to meet the winner of the Toronto-Chicago play-off. Bill gave his team an early lead by scoring the only counter of the first 20 minutes. He collected another marker in the second and the blue shirts were two up entering the final frame, which turned into a route of the Montrealers. Two goals by Paul Thompson and another by "Butch" Keeling completed the Ranger total before Nels Stewart penetrated the New York defence for the Canadian team's lone score.

During the first two sessions the Maroons fought a valiant battle matching speed with speed and check with check. Usually a team capable of outlasting most others their collapse in the last 20 minutes was totally unexpected and the four goal margin garnered by the Rangers seems destined to prove too large an obstacle for the Munromen to overcome in the second tilt at Montreal on Thursday.

SOFTBALLERS ORGANIZE

COBOURG, March 25.—With the organizing of the Mathew Conveyer softball team the town of Port Hope has five softball teams ready for entry in the Port Hope softball loop.

WINNIPEGS WILL PLAY IN FINALS

North Battleford Loses Game 2 to 0 and Round 3 to 1.

TO MEET SUPERIORS.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 25.—(CP)—The Allan cup playdowns narrowed down to five teams last night. North Battleford, only intermediate team to win the Saskatchewan senior championship, were knocked out of contention at Winnipeg by the Seniors of that city, who won the second game of the two game series, 2 to 0, to advance into the Western Canada final by 3 goals to 1 on the round. The first match ended in a one-all tie.

Winnipegs, conquerors of the Thunder Bay representatives, Port Arthur, will now meet Edmonton Superiors, Alberta titlists and eliminators of Trail, British Columbia's dominion championship aspirants.

Ken Moore Injured

Last night's victory over the doughty Saskatchewans proved costly for the Winnipegs when Ken Moore, dusky wingman, crashed into the boards and suffered a fractured arm. He is out for the rest of the campaign.

Moore made a perfect play for the winning team's second goal. Tiny Garbutt, relief center, scooping up his perfect pass to clinch the game. Moore will be greatly missed by the Manitobans who intend using Cliff Gray, in his place.

While Edmonton and Winnipeg are deciding the western crown on Thursday and Saturday the eastern contenders will pare the eligible teams down to one.

At Montreal tonight, Ottawa Rideaus, winners of the Ottawa and district honors, and Hamilton Tigers, champions of the Ontario Hockey Association, will clash in the third game to decide who will meet Truro Bearcats, proud monarchs of the Maritime provinces and winners over McGill University, Quebec Provincial title.

The first Rideau-Tiger clash at Hamilton resulted in a two to one victory for the Ottawans at Hamilton. Tigers squared the count on the round in the second tilt at Ottawa by winning one to nothing. Thirty minutes overtime failed to break the deadlock and the third game ordered on neutral ice. The winning team meets the Bearcats on Thursday and Saturday and the Eastern champions will entrain for the west to start the Allan cup finals on Monday.

T. V. L. PROTEST FIGHT CONTINUES BETWEEN RIVAL SPORTS WRITERS

Stirling Scribe Quotes Belleville Reporter as Being Fairy Story Novelist.

QUINTE SENDS 'HOT' REPLY.

The battle between the Belleville sports writers and the Stirling scribe goes merrily on, with the writers on the daily paper leading on points at present. But, then, they have the big advantage of having their thrusts and jabs register every day, while the unfortunate chap in Stirling must concentrate his punch in one weekly issue.

It all started over the protest Stirling lodged against Madoc, Trent Valley League champions who beat them out in Belleville. When the protest was disallowed, the Stirling scribe waxed bitter, and was taken to task by the Belleville writers. And now the boys have got to the point where they are calling each other insulting names. As for Bill Whitty and the majority of the members of the Stirling Hockey executive, the Belleville scribe believes they have taken the ruling in a sportsmanlike manner. So the fight seems to be strictly between the rival sports writers.

Fairy Story Novelist

In last week's issue, the scribe from the northern village says the Quinte writer would make a successful fairy story novelist, and goes on to speak of his "frenzied mind" and his "little tantrum." He then says, "Bless his little heart, some of his remarks are so cute and cunning—google, google!" His parting shot is a warning to beware the germ of the "swelled head" disease.

The Belleville columnist retaliates by calling the other a poor sport and a sorehead. He continues with caustic comments on each statement made by the Stirling fellow, and ends up in this manner:

"The Stirling writer says that the fumor was afloat in Madoc that the Madoc players were out to get Davis and that they sure did. This perhaps the only statement in entire article from which Madoc takes any offence. Anyone who writes a statement like that needs to be tarred and feathered and ridden to the next game on a rail. It is a most despicable one and has not an atom of truth in it. Davis himself says it was as much his fault as it was McGuire's. One Stirling player said he guessed the only reason for such a rotten write-up was that it helped sell papers!"

Well, there you are. The opposing scribblers seem to be getting a lot of steam off their chests, even though the issue is now a dead one. Still, it fills the sport page. A case of much ado about nothing, for it is all over now and nothing can be gained by prolonging the argument. But there is at present no indication of an early armistice between the feudists, and hostilities may continue far into the summer.

France Is Favored To Beat U.S. Stars

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 25. — With tennis history repeating itself and France winning the doubles, the United States forces to-night face the Frenchmen in the final two singles matches of the "Winter Davis Cup" competition expected to lose.

The score stood two to one in France's favor to-day with Jean Borotra, Davis Cup veteran and leader of the French team, called to defeat Berkeley Bell in one of the singles matches and clinch the victory for the tri-color.

Frank X. Shields, on the basis of the form he showed Monday night in handing Borotra a surprising straight set defeat, was favored to take Christian Boussus in the other singles but to no apparent purpose, other than to make the final score two to three.

March 27—Oshawa at Niagara Falls.
March 30—Guelph at Niagara Falls; Oshawa at Stratford.

THIRTY-SEVEN HORSES WILL START IN GRAND NATIONAL

Started in 1839 Will Be Run Off on Friday. Historic English Turf Classic

OVER FOUR MILES LONG.

LIVERPOOL, England, March 25—(By The Canadian Press)—Horses will start in the Grand National steeplechase at Old Aintree on Friday; probably less than a dozen will finish the tremendously difficult course of the greatest horse race in the world. Four miles and 856 yards, with more than 30 jumps—and they are real jumps—annually take a terrific toll of the ambitious fields which go to the starting line.

It will be the 90th renewal of the Grand National (first run in 1839) not counting three substitute Nationals run during the war years, at Gatwick. The winners of the past two years, Shaun Goilin, '30, and Gregalach, '29, are probable starters on Friday. But only five horses have ever repeated in the great steeplechase, including Manifesto, whose record of two wins, three thirds and a fourth out of eight starts will perhaps never be equalled.

Had Humble Beginning

Like many another British institution, the Grand National had very modest beginnings. A Liverpool innkeeper of a sporting nature, named Lynn, was landlord of a tavern in the Waterloo district much favored by the "horsey" gentry. The country round about Maghull was ideal for the purposes of a steeplechase, and the innkeeper had no difficulty in securing the support of a few kindred spirits for the establishment of an annual contest to be called the "Liverpool steeplechase." It was first run in 1837, and in spite of its modest inception and the opposition of a certain section, an enormous crowd gathered to watch it.

Two years later the venue of the struggle was transferred to Aintree, then a bleak open country, intersected by many small streams and watercourses. A rough and rather primitive stand was erected on top of a hill near the finish line in 1840, and the course the horses had to follow was mapped out afresh. The race quickly grew in public esteem and it is recorded that Lottery's win in the first Grand National in 1839 was witnessed "by an assembly at once vast and influential."

In 1847 came "Chandler's leap," which has passed into a proverb. Chandler in 1848 was perhaps the most romantic winner of the Grand National in the history of the race. It was purely chance that Chandler was put to steeplechasing. He was originally the property of a Chandler, who used him in harness, but Captain Peel took a fancy to the horse, bought for $110 and hunted him for several seasons. In the Leamington Hunt steeplechase at Warwick, Chandler, in 1847, made the biggest jump recorded in racing history:

"At the last brook two horses and riders fell just in front of him. With a terrific effort Chandler cleared the lot, a distance variously recorded at 35, 37 or even 39 feet in one jump." And the year afterwards Chandler won the National.

Remarkable Stories

A great many remarkable stories in turf history have been provided by the great Aintree steeplechase. Perhaps the strangest National on record was that of 1908, when a horse named Rubio cleared Beober's Brook in front of every other competitor, won by 10 lengths and was going like a steam engine at the finish. Rubio could probably have galloped another couple of miles. He started at 66 to one and there was hardly a 10 pound note on him in the Ring.

The Grand National annually brings an increasing contingent of Irish visitors, though Irish horses have not been so prominent in the race; thanks to the habit of big English stables who gobble up any promising Irish horses. In this connection there is an interesting reminiscence of the late Lord Balfour attending more than 40 years ago.

Mr. Balfour, as he then was, was chief secretary for Ireland and was closely guarded by a couple of detectives. One of these rushed over to a "bookie" and bet a pound "each way" on Playfair. The Chief Secretary, never an enthusiast for horse racing, left before the big race and the detectives had to leave too. Playfair won at 40 to one, but the bookmaker neither saw nor heard of the detective until the year after, when he turned up guarding some other personage. He was duly paid for the bet of a year previous.

"NOT ALL THEY ARE CRACKED UP TO BE," SAYS MACKINNON

Dominion Junior Finalists Guests of Honor at Oshawa Banquet.

PLAY AGAIN TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25. (CP) It is a case of just one banquet after another for Ottawa Primroses and Winnipeg Elmwoods, eastern and western Canada junior champions, respectively, who clash here to-night in the second game of the two-out-out three series for the O.H.A. Memoria Cup, emblematic of the Dominion title.

Ottawa's plucky little band of puck chasers handed the flashy westerners a two to nothing setback in the first game on Monday and firmly believe they are good enough to accomplish that feat again.

Elmwoods, however, hold opposite views and believe the rest have squeezed in between banquets following their long train journey will prime them for their best effort which should be good enough, they think, to topple the brainy youngsters from the capital.

Yesterday Elmwoods received sage words of advice from Ross MacKinnon, while attending a banquet there as guests of honor. The speaker advised junior hockeyists to beware of professional contracts which he claimed "are not all they are cracked up to be." He pointed out the life of a pro player was short and when he finished finds he is not fitted for anything else.

To-day both teams will be guests at a banquet tendered them by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Primroses, regardless of whether they will the cup or not will be awarded the civic crest by civic authorities of their home city. Hitherto this honor has been given athletes winning senior national championships for Ottawa.

Victory to-night for the Primroses will make hockey history, for never before has a team from Ottawa won the coveted cup. Gunners of that city made a great bid for the honors two years ago.

Should Elmwoods win the second clash a third will be played at Ottawa on Friday. This is the 13th year of the competition and Winnipeg squads have won the crown twice. Falcons of that city were the first team to take the trophy out of Ontario. This clever outfit beat the famous Stratford midgets, led by the great Howie Morenz, ranked the greatest player in professional hockey to-day. Frank and Bill Carson were other well known National league players who played for the midgets on that occasion.

In 1923 University of Manitoba took the championship after Fort William had won it in 1922.

Knight Error Is First Lincolnshire Handicap

LINCOLN, Eng., March 25 (C.P.)—Knight-Error, one of the favorites, owned by Captain A. S. Wilson, today captured the classic Lincolnshire Handicap. Lord Woolavington's Rattlin' the Reefer, finished second, and Captain E. Elgee's Telasur third.

Knight Error, with Whitaker up, galloped under the wier a length and a half in front. Three-quarters of a length separated the second and third horses.

The winner was quoted at 100 to 9, the price shortening before the race. Rattlin' the Reefer was quoted at 33 to 1 and Telsaur at 28 to 1.

The stakes were 1,000 pounds sterling with extras, and the distance one mile.

$275,745 Estate Left By Judge J. G. Kerr

LONDON, Ont., March 25—An estate amounting to $275,745 is reported in the application for probate of the will of the lte Judge John G. Kerr, formerly of Chatham, made by the Canada Trust Company, which is named the sole executor.

The will is dated February 9, 1931, only about 11 days before Judge Kerr died at Nassau Bahamas, where he had gone to recuperate from an illness which, however, proved fatal on February 20 of this year.

Various bequests are left to several of the late Judge's employees, several nieces and also to two sisters. The bulk of his estate, however, was left to be divided equally between his four children. Mrs. Kerr predeceased him several years ago.

The estate, valued by executors at $275,745 is made up of $254,385 personal and $21,360 reality.

Urge U.S. Grow Wheat For Domestic Use Only

ROME, March 25 (A.P.)—A project to have the United States produce wheat solely for domestic consumption, eliminating wheat exporting, was presented to a preliminary executive meeting of the International Grain Conference to-day by John A. Simpson, President of the National Farmers' Union of the United States.

The Conference which begins Thursday, seeks to solve the world's wheat overproduction crisis.

The Simpson project centres around a Government operated system of licensing to purchase wheat at fixed prices which the American said should be around $2 a bushel.

Canadian delegates are G. H. Williams, former President of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, and G. S. Robertson, Winnipeg, Man.

'NEATH SUNNY SKIES

Spicy Bits of Baseball Gossip From Majors' Camps.

When the New York Yankees break camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., on Friday, George Pipgras, the eminent right winger, will not accompany the team.

Big George, who reently underwent an operation for appendicitis, will stay here to recuperate for several weeks, rejoining the team only when it reaches the Yankee Stadium, a few days before the American League season opens.

Elephantine Chad Kimsey may be found in the St. Louis Browns' outfield, instead of on the pitching mound this season. The big Oklahoman swings a mean club, and Manager Bill Killefer is giving him part-time employment in the outfield to determine what he can do in the way of snagging flies and picking up the grounders. The Browns are at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Reports that the Cincinnati Reds had offered $40,000 for Hick Hafey, holdout outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, were discounted at Tampa, Fla., to-day. In the absence of Sidney Weil, president, en route to his home, the report could not be confirmed, but Manager Dan Howley said he doubted that President Weil would pay that much. Efforts were made earlier to secure an outfielder from the Cardinals, but met with no success.

As if the uncertainties of leg injuries suffered by Johnny Hodapp and George Detore weren't enough, along comes Jonah Goldman's failure at the bat to complicate the infield troubles of the Cleveland Indians at New Orleans, La. Hodapp had been slated for second, Detore for third, and Goldman for short, but now there isn't a single infield job definitely decided. Manager Roger Peckinpaugh will try to make up his mind by sending the Tribe against the New Orleans Pelicans every day next week.

Lester Bell is the big question mark in Rogers Hornsby's mind as he gets ready to make up his regular line-up for the 1931 make or bust campaign before leaving camp at San Francisco, Cal.

The Cub third baseman was of little use last season because of a sore throwing arm. So far this spring, the arm hasn't looked much better, but Bell is hitting hard and often so as to force Manager Hornsby to overlook some of his shortcomings in relays.

In the spring exhibition games Bill Jurges has been used consistently at short with English and Bell alternating at third. The best guess so far is that English will be at short and Bell at third. But if Bell's arm continues sore and his hitting weakens, it may be Jurges at short and English at third.

BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYED DECREASE.

LONDON, March 24 (C.P.).—The number of unemployed persons in Great Britain on March 16 was announced by the Government to-day as 2,639,633, a decrease of 52,104 under the previous month. The total figure is 1,017,875 more than at the same time last year.

CASUAL COMMENT

Local boxers are holding stiff workouts three and four times a week in preparation for the tournament early next month. Gord Garwood has them skip rope and shadow box till they are thoroughly warmed up, and then they are paired off for three fast rounds.

• • • • • • •

Most of the boys are in the pink right now, and they wade into each other with a will. Gord was up to Lindsay the other day and has made arrangements to have some of the better scrappers from there come down for the bouts.

• • • • • • •

He expects to have a local wrestler and a Lindsay grappler on the card too. A Toronto fighter will be matched with Reg. Lesurf as the main bout of the evening. All in all, it ought to be a great night.

• • • • • • •

The Public School Hockey League champs, King George, will be entertained by the runners-up, King Edward, at a banquet Friday night at the King Edward school. The championship trophy will be presented the winners after the dinner.

• • • • • • •

There is a long established rivalry existing between the two schools, and this banquet is another fine gesture of sportsmanship. The banquet begins at 6.30 sharp.

• • • • • • •

Percy Bond, who is first vice-president of the O.H.A., will take in the Allan Cup playoffs in Winnipeg next week. He will leave from Toronto on Saturday.

• • • • • • •

Percy and the other members of the executive will travel with the eastern team. They leave on Saturday and the first game in the western city is on Tuesday. They will be gone about a week and a half.

• • • • • • •

The report that Choates had defeated the Grove School last Thursday in Lakefield was incorrect. The two teams did not play, as there was no ice available. The only game played was in Peterborough, with Choates winning 3-2.

• • • • • • •

Well, now we've got things started in baseball. And what a big surprise it was to know that a senior entry had been planned for several weeks. They sure kept it under cover. It ought to put an end to some of the rumors which have been buzzing around lately.

• • • • • • •

The Rangers, father and son, deserve three rousing cheers. While most of the baseball moguls have been going into huddles and holding secret meetings, and going around "feeling the public's.... pulse," they stepped out and quietly organized a club. And let the others do the talking.

• • • • • • •

Joseph Ranger is in the butcher business with his boys down in the South-end. He has always been a sports fan, but has kept to the background as his son Harry has. "Biffer" is better known here, having done considerable puck-chasing with the Petes before turning pro. with Kansas City.

• • • • • • •

They couldn't have selected a better manager than "Shiner" Johnston. The veteran knows Central Ontario League ball and players thoroughly. And he is optimistic of the Petes' chances.

• • • • • • •

There is a flock of promising youngsters here, with enough good, experienced senior players to form a well-balanced club. And if "Shiner" can't get them working right together, no one else can.

• • • • • • •

We can expect any time now to hear from some of the other Central Ontario towns concerning their plans for the summer. They will likely know definitely when the O.B.A.A. meets here.

• • • • • • •

And now that there is a senior team assured for Peterborough, the East Peterborough League and others will soon be heard from.

MONTREAL HOCKEY SQUADS CREATE HISTORY GALORE

McGill and St. Francois Better All Former Marks for Amateurs.

BEAT PRO BROTHERS.

By LEONARD L. KNOTT
(Special to The Examiner—Copyright, 1931)

MONTREAL, March 25—Montreal prides itself on being the greatest hockey city in Canada, and not without reason its thousands of professional and amateur league fanatics will tell you as they argue convincingly that both trophies are again coming to rest in this city this year.

Right now, just to prove their first contention that this is a real hockey town they are spending the last few hectic days of the season shattering a few records. Both fans and players are contributing to set the new marks.

Amateur hockey, which for so long had taken a back seat in Montreal, has come back this year stronger than ever, sent off to a good start by the fact that the Allan Cup made its first visit here last spring. Last week the play off for the Quebec championship concluded and the fans got enough hockey to prime themselves up for the N.H.L. play-offs this week with both Maroons and Canadiens, present world champions in the running.

Hard Record to Beat

The amateurs set a mark that it will be difficult for the big timers to beat. McGill seniors and St. Francois intermediates are probably the most evenly matched teams that ever met on ice and it took exactly four games and five hours of hockey to decide a winner. After 300 minutes of hectic playing which enthused even the most hard-boiled N.H.L. supporters, McGill finally nosed out a victory by a one goal margin and started off the next day for the maritimes.

During the series at least three records were shattered. Three hundred minutes with only seven goals scored, an all-time attendance record at the Forum rink when 13,740 paid admission were registered in one night, and the largest revenue ever collected by amateur clubs in one series were in new marks established.

As far as Montreal fans are concerned the amateur season is practically over, except for welcoming the McGill squad back with the Allan Cup. A few weeks ago they were dubious about the chances of the red team now they are if anything overconfident. McGill rose to the occasion in the final series and nosed out one of the greatest little aggregations of hockey players that Montreal has seen for some time.

Last year St. Francois intermediates played off with M.A.A. in the finals and on that occasion had hard luck in losing after taking the first game by one goal. This year they were at least as strong as last year and had a large French-Canadian following that was confident an intermediate team would capture Dominion honors. By beating them McGill have established themselves as a team as great, at least, as last year's Allan Cup winners. Now if they are not worn out after this hectic series they should go the distance.

Pro Situation

In the N.H.L. followers of the game here have just as convincing arguments to prove that the Stanley Cup must remain in the city for another year. Canadiens pulled a surprise last year when they outscored Boston in the final series, after the latter team had been strong favorites all year. This year the teams go in on almost an even footing as the schedule ends. And in Montreal at least Canadiens are three to two favorites.

Maroons and their up and down antics have kept the fans puzzled all year. Every week it was a case of "now you're in now you're out" and until the season was almost over the Dunc Munro clan had a tough job on their hands to climb into the big money. Now they're in and they got there by an end season dash that marks them as a team that might possibly upset the dope and after a rocky season finally bring home the bacon. They are an outside chance at their best, their supporters admit, but so were Canadiens last year and yet they were a good enough chance to bring the mug to Montreal.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 25 (C.P.). — A flying leap over the prostrate hulk of Minneapolis' humbled hockey team placed Duluth Hornets to-day in the play-offs for the American Hockey League title. Hornets trounced the tail-end Millers 7 to 2 last night and clambered into a tie with Kansas City Plamors ofr the runner-up position to the leading Tulsa Fliers.

On Thursday night Kansas City, 1930 champions, open a play-off series with Hornets for the right to tackle Tulsa in the final.

BELANGER IN DRAW.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 25 (C.P.). — Rosy Rosales, Cleveland Indian, and Charley Belanger, of Winnipeg, fought ten rounds to a draw last night. They are light-heavyweights.

Rosales, making his first appearance in the North-West, had enough of a margin in the opinion of many ringsiders to entitle him to the decision, but Referee Mike Stoops called the fight even. Rosales weighed 173, Belanger 176.

JACKETS THROW SCARE.

Leo Reise, Veteran Defenceman Scores Final Goal of Game For Pittsburgh.

TORONTO, Ont., March 25 (C.P.). —Pittsburgh's battling Yellow Jackets threw a scare in the camp of the Indians at Cleveland last night when they held last season's International Hockey League champions to a two-to-one victory in the opening game of the King loop play-offs.

Leo Reise, veteran defenceman, scored the first goal of the keenly fought tussle in the first minute of the second period after a scoreless opener. And it was not until almost 14 minutes later that the Indians were able to square the account. Captain Alexander Gray turned the trick by poking in Cliff McBride's rebound.

Doug Young brought triumph to the home team by scoring on a pass from the clever Ken Doraty eight minutes after the start of the final session.

An indication of the closeness of the match can be garnered from the shots on goal. Indian marksmen levelled 36 shots at the acrobatic Abbie Coxx in the Jacket cage, while Pittsburgh marksmen forced Wood in the Cleveland cage to block 35.

London and Detroit wound up the regular schedule at Detroit with the Olympics winning a carefree contest 3 to 1.

Lakeshore League Meeting To-Night

To-night in Port Hope, the Lakeshore Baseball League holds its annual meeting in the Department of Agriculture. The meeting was originally called for last night, but was postponed one day. Bill Kay received word of the postponement yesterday afternoon, and will not be unable to attend owing to the meeting here to-night of hte Entertainment Committee of he O.B.A.A. However, Wilf (Cack) Rogers will represent Peterborough at the Port Hope conference, and get a line on that league's plans for the summer.

SOOT TROUBLES WORRY CITIZENS

People Seen on Streets With Dirty Faces Caused By Soot.

BIG RUSH ON SOAP.

For months now Peterborough citizens have been maintaining a losing battle to keep their faces clean. Stores report that month by month throughout the winter soap sales have mounted to new highs. But the increased standing of soap in the family's budget these days is not the worst phase of this contest that the citizens are waging in an attempt to keep recognizable. The strain it is putting on society is having disastrous effects in some circles.

The next time a friend passes you on George street without giving the customary "How do you do!" don't let your thoughts run bitter at his neglect, and on the other hand don't be inclined to think that he is getting near-sighted. No, the approved method to adopt in this crisis is to go home and wash your face. It has just happened that one or two perhaps three of the millions of specks of soot which are floating down from the city's five thousand-odd chimneys have found rest upon your face and your friend naturally did not recognize you under the black make-up.

The city's business men return home to their wives and children these evenings not so tired but certainly with faces grimy and sooty. The story is going the rounds about one husband who had dared to plunge through the soot screen in the business district and when he reached his home his young son took him for the coal man.

However, the laundries are benefitting directly and the scrub-scrub of linen on wash boards can be heard far into the night.

Meanwhile Peterborough is becoming famed as Ontario's Pittsburgh.

LAWRENCE MASON REVIEWS MADRIGALS

(By Lawrence Mason.)
(Music and Drama Critic of The Globe.)

The Collegiate assembly hall here was well filled for the excellent concert by the Peterborough Madrigal Singers last night regardless of the inauspicious weather. The affair was really first-class in every respect, in the platform appearance and procedure of the singers, in the choice of music, in the character of the artistic rendering, and even in the format of the printed program. The general setting was unusual also, for the handsomely gowned and bewigged choir made a charming picture on the stage of this attractive auditorium.

Dorothy Allan Park led the choir with skill and authority, and the exacting program was sung entirely from memory. The opening group of unhackneyed folksongs, English, Armenian and Hungarian, had fine moments, but the choir had not fully warmed to its work. The Palestrina motet, which opened the second group, however, was as well-nigh flawless in execution as it is in beauty. The organ-point at the top of the elaborate polyphony, instead of at the bottom, was wonderfully sustained, while the delicate waves and crests and eddyings of the many interlacing voice-parts ebbed and flowed beneath it in pure enchantment.

Brahms Part-songs.

A group of four dainty little part-songs by Brahms followed, deftly introduced by Mrs. Park as picturing a courtship, elopement and honeymoon. Here much taste and resourcefulness were shown in varying the color and expression so as to prevent any feeling of sameness due to the somewhat limited dynamic range of a woman's choir.

Another outstanding number opened the next group, namely, Dr. Healey Willan's little gem of devotional music, "Queen of Heaven." This typical blend of old and new harmonies, ancient feeling and modern workmanship was handled with true virtuosity. Another successful item was Elgar's "Snow," with accompaniment by violin, 'cello and piano, all the other numbers on the program being sung a cappella. The concluding group maintained the high standard of the concert by giving us able performances of Lully's "Lonely Wood," and Percy Fletcher's "Staines Morris."

Finished Art.

The evening was a triumph of finished art, enlisted in the service of high ideals. The Madrigal Singers made no compromises with easy popularity. Their programs are difficult and undeviatingly worthwhile, their training is arduous and faithful, and their conception of their art would do credit to any of the largest music theatres. Peterborough has good cause to be proud of them.

What little there is to say by way of suggestions for further development and for avoiding some few faults await another occasion, the hour now being very late. Mention must be made, however, of the assisting artists, gifted little Bobby Spergel, Toronto boy 'cellist, with his clever young sister as accompanist, and brilliant Margaret Brown, Toronto pianist.

Mission Band Guests At Friendship Tea

The regular meeting of the Fidelis Mission Band of George Street United Church was held yesterday afternoon with a large attendance. The meeting opened with the call to worship by Superintendent Mrs. E. G. Wellwood. The minutes of the last two meetings were read by the secretary Jean Kerr, and approved. The president, Ruth Parnell, led in the reading of Psalm 103, which was followed by a piano solo by Dorothy Smith. The treasurer, Loreen Wellwood, reported, and it was moved that $25.00 be sent to the Presbyterial treasurer at the end of the first quarter. The next meeting will be held on Easter Sunday morning, when the Easter thankoffering will be received. The second instalment of the life story of Mary Slessor, the African missionary, was given by Joy Walker in a very interesting manner. It was reported that Effie Saunders and Mrs. Wellwood had written to Miss Coon in China since the last meeting, and Merrill Smith was appointed to write during the next two weeks. After the roll call eleven new members were received, followed by the study of "Young Japan," by Mrs. J. B. Nelson, who gave an educational talk on Japanese homes, showing a paper house to demonstrate their modes of living. The Band was then entertained by the Woman's Missionary Society at a friendship tea, which was much enjoyed by all. The president expressed the thanks of the Band to the Woman's Missionary Society for their kindness. This was responded to by Mrs. A. L. Brown, who with Mrs. W. H. Cunningham was in charge of the tea. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 21 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the heart of the jungle, hidden away on the banks of an unexplored river, lay a small, heavily palisaded village. Twenty palm-thatched huts sheltered its black population; a half dozen goatskin tents housed a few Arabs who lived here while collecting the cargoes their camel trains bore twice each year to the markets of Timbuktu. Before one of these tents played a little black-haired, black-eyed pretty girl, some ten years of age.

With her nut-brown skin and graceful carriage she looked every inch a daughter of the desert. Her little fingers were busily engaged in fashioning a skirt of grass for a grotesque doll made of ivory and wood, quite hideous and soiled, but Meriem thought Geeka (as she had named it) the most adorable thing in the world. On Geeka she lavished all her confidence and love; for everyone else was either indifferent or cruel to little Meriem.

Mabunu, the toothless, filthy, ill-tempered old hag who watched over the child, was always inflicting some minor torture upon Meriem. Even more than she feared old Mabunu, she was afraid, with an almost hysterical terror, of the Sheik whom she knew as father. Always was he scolding her for nothing, often ending his tirades by beating Meriem until she was black and blue. Yet no amount of cruelty seemed to crush the innate sweetness of her nature.

Left alone, she was always happy and singing, playing with Geeka, decking her hair with wild flowers, or making ropes of grasses. Only when the Sheik was near was Meriem quiet and subdued. She feared too the gloomy jungle surrounding the village, filled with chattering monkeys by day and roaring beasts by night. Yet often she wanted to run away out into the terrible jungle forever rather than longer face the ever present terror of her father.

Young People Hear Talk On Newspaper

At the meeting last night in the Reid street hall of the Young People's League of Trinity United United Church, a talk on "Humour in Newspaper Work" was given by Miss Cathleen McCarthy of The Examiner. The meeting was in charge of John Krogh, and the program included vocal numbers by Miss Eleanor Brown and Gerald and Donald Perks, a recitation by Miss Jessie Tully and a piano selection by Miss Marguerite Rome. Games followed, in charge of M. Latimer, and the evening concluded with the service of dainty refreshments.

The Young People of Trinity Church have a pleasing habit of taking refreshments that may be left from their weekly meetings, to the Police Station, where they are given to the transients who come in from day to day. It is a thoughtful idea of the young folk.

MUSICAL RECITAL MUCH ENJOYED

Pleasing Numbers Presented By Pupils of Miss Aileen Rose in Wesley Hall.

ASSISTING ARTISTS.

There was a splendid attendance in Wesley Hall, St. James' United Church, last evening for the musical recital given by the pupils of Miss Aileen Rose, pupil of G. F. Liddle. Assisting in the very fine program was a group of Roy Rome's violin pupils who were accompanied at the piano by Miss Rome and Miss Irene Houghton.

In the song program Mrs. Elmer Frost received great applause for her sweetly rendered songs, "The Swallows", "The Train for Poppyland", "The Piper of Dreams" and "Welcome Pretty Primrose", and Miss Aileen Rose provided her usual sympathetic accompaniment.

The young visiting artists were warmly applauded for their charming numbers. The first was "Minuet" by a string quartett, Misses Alice Kay, Ruth Fisher, Dorothy Cunningham and Mr. Rome, Miss Irene Houghton accompanying at the piano.

Little Miss Dorothy Cunningham captivated the audience with her delightful violin solo "Hearts and Flowers"; Jack Skitch in his violin solo "Adoration" also proved a very popular performer.

"Melody in F." was another violin number which was greatly appreciated by the audience and in which Miss Ruth Fisher displayed marked ability.

The piano pupils of Miss Aileen Rose gave a splendid performance, all showing careful attention to technique and playing, in many instances, the difficult selections from memory.

Little Evelyn Hanson's was a most pleasing introduction to the solo numbers on the program. Gerald Bullied's work was very close to perfect and he played with ease and fine expression. Misses Marjorie Sims and Jean Rose showed both artistic and musical ability in their playing, while little Betty Ferguson's execution was evenly, smoothly and triumphantly done through her difficult compositions. Betty won a great deal of applause for herself as well as for her teacher in her work. The insistent appreciation of the audience was very evident in the splendid rendition of two numbers by Miss Margaret Smart.

Among the more advanced pupils who played duett parts were Misses Mildred Fife, Eleanor Gibson and Doris Ferguson whose playing was outstanding for beauty of execution.

The stage arrangement was very attractive, with bright blooming plants, ferns, and shaded floor and table lamps, which lent a subdued and pleasing appearance to the room.

Miss Rose wore a pretty and girlish frock of pale mauve. In opening the recital, she introduced the visitors and announced the numbers.

Pleasing Program

The following is the program:

Piano duet, "Good Morning", Jean Rose and Gerald Bullied; piano solo, "Daisy", Evelyn Hanson; piano solo, "Frolics", Gerald Bullied; vocal solo, "The Swallows", Mrs. E. Frost; piano duet, "Stand by the Flag", Marjorie Sims and Jean Rose; string quartette, "Minuet", Misses Alice Kay, Ruth Fisher, Dorothy Cunningham and Mr. Rome; piano solo, "Rondo", Betty Ferguson; vocal solo, "The Train for Poppyland", Mrs. Frost; piano duet "A Coquettish Smile", Misses Mildred Fife and Aileen Rose; piano solo, "Robin's Lullaby", Margaret Smart; violin solo, "Hearts and Flowers", Dorothy Cunningham; piano solo, "Skating", Gerald Bullied. piano duet, "Marquis of Lorne", Betty and Doris Ferguson; vocal solo, "The Piper of Dreams,', Mrs. Elmer Frost; piano solo, "Rondo Mignon", Marjorie Sims; violin solo, "Adoration", Jack Skitch; piano solo, "Will o' the Wisp", Betty Ferguson; vocal solo, "Welcome Pretty Primrose", Mrs. Frost; piano duett, "Cecelia", Eleanor Gibson and Jean Rose; piano solo, "Largo" Marjorie Sims; violin solo "Intermezzo Caprice", Margaret Smart; violin solo, "Melody in F", Ruth Fisher; piano duet, "Pretty Primrose", Betty Ferguson and Margaret Smart; "God Save the King".

Hydro Trouble Settled By Orillia Commission

ORILLIA, March 25.—After months of squabbling and threatened lawsuits, the power fight between the Orillia Water, Light and Power Commission and their rural consumers in the townships of Mara, Rama, and Orillia was brought to an end yesterday.

An agreement was reached whereby the town will continue to serve the county residents for at least seven years at service rates 60 per cent. of these which would have gone into effect had the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission taken over the lines as suggested by the Orillia Commission. This will mean a saving of about $4,000 a year to the rural consumers.

Woman Seeks Fortune Fights 6 Years In Vain

LONDON, March 25.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Annie Murtha Minahan of Charlestown, Mass., lost her six year fight for the so-called "Blake millions" of England to-day when the Chancery Court ruled her claim was barred.

Mrs. Minahan, with Ella Leonard, also of Charlestown, and Mrs. Mary Flynn, of Winthrop, Mass., believed herself to be the hei. of the estate of Mrs. Helen Blake of County Dublin, Ireland, who died intestate in 1876.

The estate, now said actually to be worth less than $375,000, rather than "millions,' was turned over to the Crown in 1883.

The Chancery Court barred Mrs. Minahan's claim chiefly on the ground that the statute of limitations had run. Her petition was dismissed with costs.

PIONEER RESIDENTS OF CITY CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Children, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren Pay Tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jobe.

IN BEST OF HEALTH.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jobe who are pioneer residents of Peterborough had the pleasure of gathering about them their children, grandchildren and great grandchild last night at their home, 448 George street south, to celebrate with them the golden anniversary of their wedding.

During the afternoon and evening hours many friends came in to pay their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Jobe, and to wish them a continuance of good health and happiness. Congratulatory telegrams and many other expressions of good will were received from distant friends. Among these were a profusion of flowers, including roses, carnations, tulips and appropriate golden daffodils.

At the dinner hour Mr. and Mrs. Jobe were entertained with the members of their immediate family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jobe, their eldest son, and included Arthur Jobe, Mrs. J. Morrow of Toronto.

This occasion had a triple significance, being not only the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jobe, Sr., but the 38th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Jobe and the 23rd anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrow.

In the past half century this happy couple have lived to see many changes and improvements in the city. They have seen the whole south end grow into a beautiful residential section, where it was one vast field fifty years ago.

On March 23rd, 1881, Louisa Clarke was united in marriage with Thomas Jobe at St. John's Anglican church, Peterborough, with the Reverend Mr. Beck officiating. Their attendants were Miss Charlotte Benton and Frank Clarke, brother of the bride. The latter was also present at the celebration yesterday.

After the ceremony the bridal party went directly to their new home, then on Lock street.

Before their marriage this surprisingly youthful couple had also resided in Peterborough from earliest childhood. With the exception of eleven years' residence in Toronto their home has been continuously here.

In April Mrs. Jobe will reach her seventy-second year, while in July Mr. Jobe will be seventy-four.

Las tevening was spent in a very pleasant way by the family group and their guests. Old time music was provided by Frank Clarke, who played the same old songs, with banjo accompaniment, as he had rendered at the wedding fifty years ago.

Readings by Miss Frances Clarke were also much enjoyed while all entered into the gay spirit of long ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jobe were the happy recipients of many beautiful gifts, among them a purse of gold from their children and a gold bon-bon dish from Frank Clarke.

This very auspicious occasion was brought to a conclusion by the service of dainty refreshments, accompanied by the customary wedding cake.

Foresters Are Guests Of Woodmen of World

On Monday night the Woodmen of the World hall was crowded and a very successful social evening was held, the Ancient Order of Foresters and the Independent Order of Foresters being guests of the Woodmen of the World on this occasion.

The evening's program started with a business session from 7 to 7.30 p.m., followed by a euchre, when prizes were won by W. Stevens, first and D. Andrews, consolation for the gentlemen and for the ladies, C. Wiggins first and consolation, F. Dainton.

The old time dance commenced about 9.15 p.m. when the hall was filled to capacity and everyone seemed to fall in with the fraternal spirit and good fellowship. Refreshments were served after 11 o'clock and dancing again enjoyed.

The evening was one of the outstanding of the social season. The convenor, Mrs. Foster, and her committee worked very hard and there was a surplus of good food which was distributed to the needy.

ERNEST DART WAS FORMERLY OF HAVELOCK

Late Employee of Canadian Pacific Railway Born and Raised in Village.

THIRTY YEARS OLD.

Tragic Circumstances Surround Death of Railway Fireman —Deceased Was Unmaried.

HAVELOCK, Mar. 25. (Examiner Correspondence).—Old residents and railwaymen of Havelock were deeply shocked to-day, when word was received here of the tragic death on Monday afternoon at St. Thomas, of Earnest Dart a fireman in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose partly consumed body was found protruding from the firebox of the engine, which he had been firing just a short time earlier.

Mr. Dart who was about thirty years of age, was born and raised in this village. He left here with his family about fifteen years ago, and since that time has resided in Toronto. It is said that the engineer of the train which had just drawn into the station at St. Thomas, was oiling the engine at the time the tragedy occurred. He had been speaking to the fireman only a few moments before and stepped off the train when he stopped, to give the engine an overlooking, while the conductor stepped into the station for further orders.

It is said to be a case of suicide, but how the man could have crawled into the firebox unassisted is a puzzle to old railroaders who say it would be virtually impossible for him to have done so. It is said that had he attempted anything of the kind, he would have been overcome by the intense heat before he could get as far in, as the body was when found.

It is said that the dead man, has had hallucinations of late, having been despondent since the death of his father a few months ago. The engineer of the train, Edward Nicholson, of Jerome street, Toronto, said that the dead man had been acting strangely all day, and when asked if there was anything the matter he made no reply.

Mr. Dart, was unmarried, lived with his mother at her home on 461 Clendennan Ave., Toronto. Until about five years ago he was employed as a fireman on through freight, working out of Havelock. He was a quiet young man of good habits, and highly esteemed by his fellow workers. He was a nephew of Ernest Dart formerly of Havelock, now Midland.

His father, the late George Dart, conductor with the C.P.R., died at Toronto about six months ago.

TRENT RIVER CLAIMS THEODORE BARR, 19

One Dead, 13 Injured is C.P.R. Wreck Toll

BLAME IS LAID ON BROKEN RAIL, 5 CARS DITCHED

Passengers Who Had Just Retired For Night Hurled From Berths.

WEST OF SWIFT CURRENT.

Crew Escape Lightly—Traffic Held Up 6 Hours—Probe Started.

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 26. — (CP) — One death from shock and thirteen persons injured was the toll of a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train derailment, 16 miles west of Swift Current, Sask., last night.

Striking a broken rail, five cars of the westbound train were hurled from the track, bringing injury to the passengers in four sleeping cars, and waiters in the diner.

Dies From Shock

Cannon Fisher, of Cleveland, Ohio, died shortly after the derailment from shock, according to an official statement by the railway offices here this morning. He was a victim of heart disease, an attendant physician said.

Fisher was accompanied by his wife and son, but they escaped injury.

Passengers and crew escaped serious injury, all cases requiring medical attention, being of a minor nature.

Passengers had retired for the night, and of those injured many were bruised and cut when thrown from their berths, while two waiters in the derailed diner suffered minor cuts when thrown to the floor of the car.

The Injured

The injured included passengers from the United States, and Eastern and Western Canada. They are:

H. W. Fisher, Toronto; L. T. Abler, Montreal; E. K. Biddoe, Westmount, Montreal; Mrs. Wm. A. Parker, Chicago; Miss E. Myers, New Orleans; W. B. Lowery, Winnipeg; Mrs. T. H. Smallwood, Regina; J. J. Conway, Vancouver; E. F. Bark, Saskatoon; T. A. Sparks, Winnipeg; Hazel E. Osby, Calgary.

Charles Lunn, Winnipeg, and J. P. Tremblay, St. Boniface, Man., are the slightly injured dining car waiters.

The derailment held up traffic for six hours. Today railway officials were conducting a probe at the scene of the accident.

MAJ. C. SHEPARD SERIOUSLY ILL

Former Belleville Man Under Life Sentence Suffers Hemorrhage of Stomach.

COLLAPSES IN DENVER.

DENVER, Colo., March 26,—Major Charles A. Shepard, native of Belleville, Ont., who is under sentence to life imprisonment as the alleged slayer of his second wife, was reported seriously ill at Fitzsimmons Government Hospital from hemorrhage of the stomach to-day.

Colonel Earl H. Burns, hospital chief, said Major Shepard, free under bond, had collapsed while at his duties. Colonel Burns said the ailment was a recurrence of a stomach ulcer and that the strain of the 59-year-old Medical Corps' officer's trial at Kansas City last December probably aggravated the condition.

A Federal District Count jury convicted Major Shepard of poisoning his wife, Zanana, at Fort Riley, Kas., in 1929, allegedly so he might be free to pursue a love affair with Miss Grace Brandon, blonde Brooks Field, Texas, typist. His attorneys are preparing an appeal to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

MONTREAL MOB DEMANDS WORK ONE SHOT DOWN

Construction Boss Frightened as Gang Rush Shack Unlimbers Gun.

YOUTH IN HOSPITAL.

Ultimatums Demand All Foreigners Be Fired and Canadians Given Jobs.

MONTREAL, Que., March 26 (C.P.). — Edouard Malboeuf, superintendent of a Building Supply Company, shot and dangerously wounded Rene Cartier, 23, when a large body of unemployed stormed the office of the company this morning and demanded that all foreigners be discharged to make work for local residents.

Cartier was taken to Notre Dame Hospital in a critical condition with a bullet through his lung.

After a disorder and fist fight at the scene of construction work on the Notre Dame Hospital yesterday, and a demonstration at the plant of a tobacco company at eight o'clock this morning, the army of 800 Canadians marched to other firms and demanded that the foreigners be ousted that native-born Canadians might have the work.

Ultimatum Delivered.

The mob issued an ultimatum to the Tobacco Company executives that the foreigners must be fired by 8 a.m. to-morrow. Then they descended on the construction company offices.

Malboeuf was in the company office shack when the mob surged around the shack and demanded that all foreign laborers be immediately dismissed in favor of the native born workmen. Malboeuf tried to pacify the excited mob, but they roared a storm of abuse and threats. Alarmed, he turned to call the police. The mob surged forward and the window crashed inwards. The Superintendent turned and drew a revolver. He fired a number of shots over the heads of the crowd, but that had little effect. Enraged they rushed at the shack. It was then that Malboeuf fired on the crowd a bullet passed through Cartier's lung.

Momentarily stopped, the crowd retired with their wounded to a barber shop and called an ambulance. Malboeuf called police and gave himself up. Constables dispersed the gathering and sent Cartier to hospital.

Three Are Rescued When Loaded Sleigh Breaks Through Ice

Nineteen Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barr of Cottesloe Drowned in Trent River — Father Puts Up Gallant Fight to Save His Two Sons.

Barr Along With Two Small Boys and Team of Horses Break Through Ice When Driver Misses Road Along River

Neighbors Come to Rescue and Pull William Barrie and One of His Sons Out of Icy Water—Body of Barr Was Recovered Near Where Sleigh Went Down.

TRENT RIVER, March 26 (Examiner Correspondence) — One of the greatest tragedies of this district occurred last evening when a team of horses and a sleigh crashed through the treacherous ice, near Spencer's Wharf, resulting in the death of Theodore Barr, nineteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barr of Cottesloe, near Warsaw, and imperilling the lives of William Barrie and his two young sons Kenneth and John.

That the toll of lives lost was not greater is due in large measure to the heroism of William Barrie, who, unmindful of his own safety, battled in the chilling waters to rescue his two boys ,and also to the presence of mind of Frank and Roff Pollock, Francis Ruttan, and Gerald Chatlin, who broke into a nearby boathouse and succeded in launching a craft in which they went to the rescue of the other two exhausted survivors of the terrible occurrence.

Body is Recovered

The body of the victim was recovered at 11.30 last night by Roderick Barrie, in close proximity to the spot where it first disappeared, and about fifteen feet from the shore. The body was conveyed to the home of William Barrie, where it was viewed by Coroner Loucks of Campbellford who has ordered an inquest.

Just before nine o'clock last evening Barrie, Barr and the two little Barrie boys, six and five years old respectively, drove to the river bank to set muskrat traps on the ice. The team was hitched to a load of rails. Barr was on the sleigh driving the horses, while Kenneth and John Barrie were riding on the load. At the time of the fatality Mr. Barrie was walking ahead of the team. All were enjoying the trip and the night was congenial. Everything went well until they had passed Mr. Harpers' farm.

At that time Mr. Barrie noticed that they were already on the ice covering a small bay in the river around which the road ran, and close to the wharf near the Hoffstader cottage. He immediately shouted a word of warning to the driver, to turn shoreward. However, either the horses became alarmed or Barr lost his presence of mind and pulled at the wrong line, with the result that the team plunged towards the middle of the river. As the horses were near the shelf of remaining ice near the shore, it gave way under the weight and horses and load were plunged into the icy water.

The whirl of water caused by the sinking of the sleigh evidently drew down Theodore Barr, and no more was seen of him. In the meantime Barrie had run out in time to catch his older son, Kenneth, and bring him back to shore. While attempting to rescue his other son, John, he himself fell into the water. John had caught his father around the neck and he continued to cling there with all his might even after the latter had slipped into the icy cold river.

Mr Barrie screamed for help for some minutes before being heard by Mrs. Walter Lewis who lived about half a mile inland from the river. She lost no time in phoning into Trent River and to her neighbors for assistance. Within half an hour of the fatal accident a large group had congregated at the river banks.

It was through the presence of mind of Frank Pollock, Francis Ruttan, Roff Pollock and Gerald Chatlin that the lives of Barrie and his son were saved. They broke into the nearby boathouse and launched out a boat in which they succeeded in rescuing the two unfortunates. The two horses had broken away from their traces, and with the aid of ropes they were brought safely into shore also.

While these scenes of rescue were being enacted, the Barrie dog faithfully guarded the older son on the shore. The understanding and sympathetic beast uttered terrible howls, and continued his groans until after he knew that his master and the sons were safe.

William Barrie, completely chilled and insensible, was brought to the home of Mrs. Walter Lewis. First aid was administered as far as was possible and calls were sent out for medical assistance. It was thought by the attendants that Mr. Barrie would recover in a short time. Apart from their icy cold dip, the two children were not much the worse for their gruelling experience.

All this time the lifeless body of Theodore Barr lay on the river bed.

HINDU - MOSLEM CAWNPORE SCRAP TAKES 80 LIVES

Even Children Slaughtered and Homes of Innocent Citizens Burned.

STARTS OVER EXECUTION.

Gandhi Threatens to Quit Politics if Nationalists Turn His Agreement Down.

CAWNPORE, India Mar. 26.—(AP)—The list of dead in yesterday's communal rioting between Hindus and Moslems was increased to eighty today when hospital records were checked. The check showed that forty-eight Moslems were killed or died of injuries, while the Hindu casualties were thirty-two. Over 250 were injured.

It was one of the most vicious communal battles India has ever seen. Even children were slaughtered, and the homes of peaceful citizens were burned to the ground.

Attempt to Close Shops

The riot started over an attempt by Hindu Nationalists to force the closing of Moslem shops in protest against the execution last week of Bakhat Singhi and two other Indians for the murder of a police official in 1928.

The central portion of the city has been cleared but sporadic rioting is continuing in the outlying areas. Detachments of two British regiments

GLACE BAY FIRE RAZES 2 BLOCKS

Nine Commercial Tenants Wiped Out—Three Families Homeless.

LOSS $100,000.

GLACE BAY, N.S., March 21 (C.P.) —This town to-day surveyed the ruins of two business blocks, destroyed last night in the worst fire the district has experienced in four years. Loss occasioned by the destruction of the three storey Marshall building and the Samuels block, a two-storey wooden structure, was estimated at $100,000, inadequately covered by insurance.

Nine commercial tenants suffered heavy losses, and three families were left without residence as a result of the blaze, which is believed to have started in Marshall's tailor shop. A livery stable next door was gutted, but the horses were saved.

Efforts of firemen in a three-hour fight prevented the fire spreading to adjoining buildings.

Model Asks $100,000 As Result Of Fire

DETROIT, Mich., March 26. (CP) Martin Cohn, former proprietor of the Study Club Cabaret which burned with the loss of more than 20 lives in September, 1929, and five city officials were named defendants in a $100,000 damage suit filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Miss Gladys La Dousa.

Miss La Dousa claims to have received injuries in the fire which ended her career as a model.

The city officials made defendants are Clarence E. Brewer, Commissioner of Recreation; Lawrence J. Richwine, Deputy Commissioner of Recreation, John M. Bischoff, former Commissioner of Building and Safety Engineering, Frederick J. Honor, a safety engineer, and Harry L. Sollers, of the Fire Marshall's office.

DEER HUNTERS OPPOSE ANY CHANGE IN LAWS TO PROHIBIT USE OF DOGS

Excessive Killing of Deer Cannot Be Blamed on Use of Dogs.

INCREASE WOLF BOUNTY.

TORONTO, Ont., March 26.— (C.P.)— Vigorous opposition to any change in the game laws to prohibit the use of dogs in hunting deer was voiced before the Fish and Game committee of the Ontario Legislature to-day by a large group of hunters.

Spokesmen for the hunters claimed the use of dogs was in no way responsible for excessive killing of deer.

Mayor Robson of Guelph, said it was much more sportsmanlike to hunt with dogs and give the deer a chance than for the hunters to steal up unawares of an unsuspecting animal and shoot it at short range.

Killed By Wolves.

He refuted the contention that dogs lost in the woods went wild and lived on deer. Dogs left to themselves invariably were killed by wolves or died from starvation because they were not trained to maintain themselves in the wilds, he contended.

Ontario had the best game laws of any province or state on the continent said William Castle of Hamilton, who said he had hunted from Mexico to Alaska. If anything could be done to improve matters it would be by way of stricter enforcement.

He had a suspicion, United States' hunters did not observe Ontario's laws as well as they were forced to observe the law of their own States and suggested that every party of foreign hunters should be required to take a guide who would make an affidavity as to the kill of the party.

For every deer killed by hunters

RALSTON SCORES BENNETT'S STAND WHILE AT LONDON

Claims Canada Needs Years To Counteract Loss From Premier's Attitude.

RAPS HERRIDGE.

Suggestion Made That Interest on Agricultural Loans Be 6 Per Cent.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 26 (C.P.). —Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General, when he speaks in the House of Commons to-day, will be the First Cabinet Minister, other than Premier Bennett, to participate in the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Although the debate is now in its second week of progress, the ministerial members so far have refrained from taking much part.

Criticism of the stand taken at the Imperial Conference by Premier Bennett was made yesterday by the Hon. James L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence. Canada, he said, had sufferer great loss through the Premiers attitude and his proposals something it would take years to counteract.

Rapped As Salesman

Premier Bennett, Col. Ralston said, had gone to London primarily to sell Canadian wheat but he had failed to observe "what would appear to be the ordinary principles of salesmanship, the creation of an atmosphere of good will." The Primier, before going to London, had raised the Canadian tariff against Great Britain to a height which the British

43 ARE INJURED ABOARD TROLLEY

Engine at Charlotte, N. C., Plows Into Street Car Crossing Tracks.

VICTIMS MOSTLY NEGROES.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 26.—Forty-three persons were injured, many seriously, to-day as a southern railway engine plowed into a street railway car at a mid-town crossing here.

The mishap occurred at the Trade street crossing, just north of the southern passenger station. The car, with the injured shrieking and groaning, was shoved down the track in front of the station before the engine could be halted.

Bound for uptown from Biddleville, a negro suburb, the car's passengers were mostly negro domestic servants on their way to work. Twenty-seven of the injured were negroes.

The wreck called out every ambulance in the city. One, speeding to the scene, struck the automobile of Jack Kimball, insurance salesman. Kimball was injured seriously.

The cause of the accident could not be determined immediately. Witnesses said gates at the crossing had been lowered for a hand car and the street car had halted. When the handcar passed the gates were raised and the street car started across and was struck by the engine.

Saves His Dimes 27 Weary Years; Sees the World

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 26.—Oscar Bodenhausen started back to his home in St. Joseph, Mo., to-day after seeing the world on dimes.

Twenty-seven years ago he decided to save every dime he found in his pockets at the close of each day. Last August, having amassed $3,700, he took a deluxe train for San Francisco. There he embarked on a tour that took him to all the places he had been dreaming of—Japan, Korea, Manchuria, China, the Philippines, Burma, India, Ceylon, Italy, Paris and London.

"I might have bought a couple of cigars or a glass of beer with each day's savings," he said, "but I didn't, and so I saw the places I wanted to see while the boys back home were plugging away at the daily job without a chance of travelling 'round the world'."

He landed in New York with $350. It becomes the nucleus of a new travel fund.

BRITISH CRISIS BEEN PROLONGED

Issue Will Be Forced Next Wednesday With Baldwin's Motion.

HINGES ON PREMIER.

LONDON, March 26 (C.P. Cable).—The sword hangs suspended over the Labor Government. Shortly after Easter the division will be taken on the Conservative mtion of censure, for alleged failure to remedy unemployment. The Government has faced, and in the main conquered, previous tests with the aid of the Liberal party.

Vote Was Deferred.

But—"I cannot say which way we shall vote," Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George confessed to Liberal Parliamentary candidates meeting to-day. "That will depend on the Parliamentary Party," and the Parliamentary Party, by 33 to 17, had decided to wait until the Government had replied to the Conservative debaters, before taking any stand. The candidates today likewise deferred voting on the question of general support of the Government.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, asked to-day that the debate on the vote of censure be deferred until after the Easter holidays and the proposal was agreed to by Prime Minister MacDonald. Parliament re-assembles after Easter on April 14, but the date for the debate has not yet been decided.

Hinges On Premier.

The fate of the Labor Government is likely to hang on "Premier Mac-

FIFTEEN FAMILIES HAVE ARRIVED IN THE CITY IN PAST THREE WEEKS

Brisk Activity is Noticed in Real Estate in Peterborough.

FACTORY EXTENSION.

Fifteen families have been added to Peterborough's population during the last three weeks. There may have been more, but this is just the number reported by H. J. McCannan, realtor, who obtained houses for them to occupy on their arrival here.

Five of these families came this week. Mr. McCannan said this morning, and in his office there is not only brisk activity in various real estate but a general feeling of confidence in Peterborough's stability and steady progress. One of the new families came from Windsor, the head of this household having obtained a position with the C.G.E. Company as an expert welder.

Out-of-town moving vans have been noticed in the city of late, and Mr. McCannan's report confirms the opinion that they were bringing new citizens to Peterborough. Mr. McCannan's recent work includes the transfer of the Swanston property in East City to James H. Matthews for the construction of a modern creamery plant.

Another interesting sale was a lot on Sherbrook street for the extension of Turner's Card and Paper Works factory. This property was bought from Alderman Hamilton, and it is understood that the company intends to begin the erection of an addition to their plant in the immediate future. Several property exchanges involving city and farm homes have also been handled by Mr. McCannan, who reports the local real estate interest as exceptionally favorable.

Woman Conquers Sleeping Sickness

PARIS, March 26.—High praise for the work of Miss Louise Pierce of the Rockefeller Institute, in the fight against sleeping sickness was given to-day by Dr. Michel Trajan Saint-Ines. He has just returned from 15 months in the Cameroons of French Africa.

Serum discovered by Miss Pierce, is used daly in the campaign against the disease, the physician said. He added:

"When we arrived in the Cameroons, 80 per cent. of the population of some villages was suffering from sleeping sickness. Less than two years later, thanks to the result of Miss Pierce's research, the percentage has been reduced to about ten per cent."

HAVANA, Mar. 26. (AP)—Ten persons were under arrest at Vivac today as the result of a police raid last night on the La Ideal printing shop where 12,000 copies of the student paper Alma Mater were confiscated.

Sought for months, the place had been printing the paper which had attacked the Government on several occasions particularly for closing the schools. The shop was the property of the Cigar Makers Union.

Among those arrested were Fernandez Roig, treasurer of the union and Eduardo Chivas, student leader, who have been hunted for some time.

New South Wales To Default On Interest

SCULLIN IS SENT STATES' DECISION BY PREMIER LANG

No Interest to London Bank or Subsequent Payments Will Be Made.

ASSISTANCE REFUSED.

Federal House Members From Riverina and Northern Parts Threaten to Secede.

CANBERRA, Australia, Mar. 26.—(C.P. Cable via Reuters) — Definite default of interest payments on New South Wales State debts hreatened since the extremists Labor government under Premier J. T. Lang came into power last autumn, looms in the next few days.

Prime Minister Scullin announced in the Federal House today that he had received a telegram from Premier Lang, saying the State did not intend to meet interest payments due to the Westminster Bank, London, on April 1. Nor did the State contemplate meeting any subsequent payments the telegram added.

Members of the Federal House from the Riverina and northern districts of New South Wales, immediately threatened to secede from the State.

Assistance Turned Down.

Hon. E G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, made the significant announcement that Premier Lang had refused an offer of financial assistance made by the Commonwealth Bank, in order to prevent default. Premier Lang's action would be utterly unjustified, he declared. It had not been necessary hitherto for any government in Australia to refuse to pay its debts.

Prime Minister Scullin declared Premier Lang's attitude raised vital questions. Was the Commonwealth legally liable in the event of default, to pay interest due to holders of State bonds? If so, had the Commonwealth the right to use revenues, contributed by other states, for this purpose? These questions were receiving the earnest consideration of the Cabinet, he added.

Hon. John G. Latham, leader of the Opposition, promised full Opposition support to the Commonwealth Labor Government in any proper steps that might be taken to ensure Premier Lang's observance of financial agreements.

Roland Green, one of the New South Wales members, declared that Northern New South Wales would take immediately steps to ensure the obligations were met, and would, if necessary, secede from the remainder of the State. A representative of the Riverina district, Mr. Klien, said the people there would certainly refuse to be parties to any default.

4,000 Employees Fired On Mexican Railways

MEXICO CITY, March 26 (C.P.).—Four thousand employes of the Mexican National Railways were dismissed to-day under the terms of an agreement reached with the unions by which the railways will forego a projected general reduction in wages and working hours for remaining employees.

Under the agreement the railways will pay about $500,000 in bonuses to the dismissed employees and in expense of transporting them either to their homes or to farms placed at their disposal by the Government.

SCHOOL BOARD PETITIONS FOR SPECIAL TRAIN

Change of C.N.R. Schedule Materially Affects Campbellford School Attendance.

ENQUIRE INTO BUS SERVICE.

Extra Pupils Would More Than Repay Expenses Incurred By Arrangements.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 26. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — A special meeting of the Campbellford Board of Education was held last night in the Public Library to consider the proper action to be taken in connection with the proposed alteration of the Canadian National Railway schedule on the Lindsay-Belleville line. The president, T. E. Hall occupied the chair.

Opening the discussion the chairman pointed out the reason for the meeting, stating that the change of schedule materially affected the High School pupils coming from points west as far as Keene. He said that the High School was to a great extent maintained by the government grant received for these pupils, and that if this schedule was not altered or proper provision made there would be no train pupils attending the school, hence a material loss.

Dr. H. O. Richardson, speaking for the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, chairman of the committee appointed to look after the train question, stated that as the schedule had been so drastically changed, he thought that the matter should be taken up by the board as a whole.

Extra Pupils

E. H. Grieg, principal of the High School, stated that at present there were 23 pupils coming by train, and he thought that if proper transportation arrangements could be made this number would increase, and if extra expense was incurred by these arrangements, the extra pupils would more than repay it.

It was felt by members of the board that if it was impossible to make the necessary arrangements with the railway, that the question of a bus service should be looked into.

Dr. Richardson, in a rough estimate, figured that a matter of $2,238 would be lost the school by the loss of the train pupils.

Dr. O. C. Watson was of the opinion that it would be a good thing to try and get the railway to run a special oil burning coach especially for the children. This he thought could be done by giving a guarantee to the system, quoting out that even the old train schedule was not to the advantage of the Campbellford High School.

Principal Greig put forward a suggestion that a petition be sent to the Railway Board in connection with the special train, and at the same time the matter of a bus service be inquired into. This proposal met with the Board's approval, and it was passed on motion that the Rev. N. Clark Wallace, G. A. Kingston and A. G. Thompson be a delegation to inter-

HYDRO BILL IS BASIS OF ATTACK BY THE LIBERALS

Three Government Bills Get Rough Passage Through Second Reading.

RIGHT TO BUILD TOWERS.

Sinclair Declares Hydro Not Anxious to Give Legislature Information.

TORONTO, March 26.—Three Government bills got a rough passage through second readings in the Ontario Legislature yesterday. One Government bill, to provide for Police Court action against persons retaining rented storage batteries, received its severest buffeting from the Conservative ranks. The two other bills most hotly debated at second reading were, one to amend the Power Commission Act and another to amend the Cemetery Act.

Although Hon. J. R. Cooke, Acting Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said the principle of the amendment was to simplify the method of acquiring easements for towers in transmission lines and also to treat more generously the farmers on whose land the towers were placed, the bill drew the fire of William E. N. Sinclair, Liberal House leader.

"Not Anxious to Inform"

Mr. Sinclair denounced the manner in which this and other Hydro amendments were drawn by the Commission's Legal Department. He complained that the bill was a series of amendments, and, unlike other bills, did not contain an explanatory note nor state how the amended sections would now read. "It bears out what I said yesterday," declared the Opposition Leader. "The Commission is not too anxious to give this Legislature information. These amendments would be unintelligible to most members.

Considering the clauses which changed the method of arbitration between the Commission and the property owners in the matter of easement for transmission lines, Mr. Sinclair noted that it provided for the appointment of a valuator, who should determine compensation for land or damages where agreements have not been reached between property owners and the Commission, and an appeal to a Supreme Court Judge within thirty days after the valuator has fixed compensation.

Attacks Thirty-Day Clause

He denounced a clause which required that claims against the Commission must be made within thirty days, and pointed out that it was left to the discretion of the valuator as to whether compensation should be given if the claim had not been made within thirty days. Also, when a claim had not been made in that period, an appeal could be made from the valuator by the Commission, but not by the owner.

"Did you ever hear of any legislation so unfair?" he asked. He continued to charge that in arranging compensation for damages Commission employees showed no consideration for the farmers. "Some of them should be dismissed," he said. "When we have twelve transmission lines along lake shore townships, it is serious for the property-owners, and this inconvenience is suffered for the benefit of Toronto. Hydro engineers cut down orchard trees and fences, and trample crops. It is a serious inconvenience."

Henry Explains

Premier Henry explained that the acquisition of rights of way by railways was an entirely different proposition. The Commission did not purchase rights of way. There was to be a revision upward of compensation paid by the Commission, said the Premier. A generous figure had been mentioned by the Acting Chairman, which for four towers on farm land valued at $100 an acre would amount to between $500 and $600. This would vary according to the value of the land. It was the desire of the Government that farmers be generously treated, he said.

Hon. H. C. Nixon agreed with Mr. Sinclair that the bill should be reprinted, showing the effects of the various amendments. This was agreed to by Hon. Mr. Cooke. The bill received second reading.

The Bill to amend the Cemeteries Act received second reading only after criticism from several quarters of the Opposition benches. The amendment provides that a Cemetery Commission be appointed in each county, with the County Judge as chairman, to replace the Provincial cemeteries inspectors. Objection arose chiefly from the provision that the three members of each Commission should be paid fees by the counties, the amount to be fixed by Order-In-Council.

Commends Cemetery Bill.

Mr. Sinclair commended the purpose of the Bill in seeking to perpetuate and keep in decent order the BUS ATTACKED.

Extra Troops to be Rushed to District Between Rangoon and Mandalay.

RANGOON, Burma, March 26 (A.P.)—A charmed bull elephant led a band of Burmese rebels, who trusted his leadership implicitly, into an ambush of death near Insein, on the road to Mandalay, yesterday.

The band of 100 insurgents, following the wake of the charging lumbering pachyderm, ran head-on into a trap laid by fifteen police under a Burmese officer at Kindpaid. The police shot the riders of the elephant and the rebels became demoralised. They fled into the jungle, carrying many wounded but leaving four dead behind them.

22 Rebels Killed

Twenty-two rebels were killed by two platoons of Punjab Rifles in a fight in Magayi Forest reserve, Tharawaddy district, to-day. Two leaders, Saya Sa and Saya Nantha were among the dead.

There were many injured, but the Rifles sustained no casualties.

Near Insein rebels attacked a bus and badly wounded Dr. Aiyar. After a stiff hand-to-hand fight with police who were on the bus, the rebels fled. The renewal of rebel activity, which was thought to have ceased permanently with the supposed death of the "Man who would be King" has necessitated an augmentation of military forces between here and Mandalay.

Husband Fires Two Shots Into Woman's Breast in Kitchener Home.

FAMILY TROUBLE.

KITCHENER, March 26.—Mrs. Mike Urschel, Ontario street, is dead and her husband is in a critical condition in the Kitchener-Waterloo General Hospital as the result of a shooting affray last night in the apartment of George Kenyer, West King street. Urschel has only a slight chance for life, the hospital authorities say.

Mrs. Urschel was visiting at the Kenyer home, witnesses say, when her husband arrived. He asked her before the Kenyer family whether or not she planned to return to his home and live with him. Witnesses state that she answered "No," whereupon Urschel is said to have drawn a revolver and fired two shots into his wife's breast.

Before the startled onlookers could move, Urschel, they say, placed the muzzle of the gun inside his own mouth and pulled the trigger twice. He then opened a drawer in the kitchen table, grasped a knife and attempted to stab himself. He staggered into the hallway and collapsed on the floor.

The shooting created great excitement on King street, Kitchener's main thoroughfare. Crowds of people were leaving theatres when the sound of the shots reached their ears.

LIBERAL CHIEF WARNS GOV'T FALL MEANS PROTECTIONIST MAJORITY

Independence of the Party, Co-operation With Gov't, is Lloyd George's Ultimatum.

FIGHTS FOR CONTROL.

LONDON, March 26 (C.P.). — Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, silvery-haired and immaculate, and with his verbal rapiers sharpened to dangerous points, faced a packed auditorium of Liberal Parliamentary candidates at Old Caston Hall to-day in a renewal of his fight for continued control of the Liberal Party.

Smiling Megan, the daughter who followed him from Wales to the House of Commons, was by his side. The crowd gave the war time Premier an enthusiastic reception as he mounted the platform to admonish them to support his policies in the House of Commons.

The ovation crowned a week in which he already has written two successes, the former in retaining control of his shadow Cabinet and the second in holding the parliamentayr Liberal Party in line on Tuesday by a vote of 32 to 17 on matters of policy. It was this statement of policy, which the Labor Government must accept practically as its own if it is to live, which he outlined to-day.

Doings In Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 26 (C.P.)—To-day in Parliament.

The Senate will not meet.

The House of Commons will continue the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Yesterday in Parliament

Debate on the address continued with the following members addressing the House: Col. J. L. Ralston (Lib., Shelbourne-Yarmouth); Milton Campbell (Prog., Mackenzie); Dr. J. C. Mooge (Cons., Chateauguay-Huntingdon), and Samuel Factor (Lib., Toronto West Centre).

Protectionist Majority.

After reviewing the parliamentary situation, Lloyd-George declared that a "defeat of the Government to-day on a major issue, with trade in the position it is, with unemployment, and with the country in a state of panic, would mean a protectionist majority in Parliament.

Lloyd-George then said that nothing was now being asked of the Liberals but that. "We are only about PINK SALMON

A great many people are under the impression that PINK SALMON has not the food qualities of higher priced fish. PINKS are not a "grade"—they are a "variety" and are just as palatable and nutritious as the more expensive varieties.

The original cost of the fish is much lower at the canneries because the PINKS being much more plentiful in ordinary years, the fisherman gets only a fraction of the price he receives for SOCKEYES. The cost of cans, cases, labour, overhead, etc., is just the same.

On many occasions blind tests have been made between SOCKEYE (RED) and PINK SALMON and experts have invariably chosen PINKS as the finer flavour.

PINK SALMON is not a "cheap" Salmon, but a lower priced variety within the reach of every purse, and "CALEDONIA" is the finest PINK SALMON packed in British Columbia.

CHURCH LADIES STAGE WARD TEA

Entertainment in St. Paul's, Campbellford, Proves Great Success.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 26.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, was the scene on Tuesday evening of a most successful Ward 3 and 4 tea and entertainment, staged by the ladies of the church. A capacity audience filled the basement of the church and witnessed a splendid program under the chairmanship of the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Robinson.

Extra seating arrangements had to be made to accommodate the large number of visitors. The program was lengthy and interesting, the variety of the numbers and the quality of the talent being excellent. The total proceeds amounted to $92.50.

The Program.

The opening number was a vocal solo by Miss Helen McDonald, "Sundown," with W. A. Newcourt at the piano and Kenneth Collison rendering a violin obligato.

This was followed by a piano solo by Mr. Newcourt, who showed splendid technique and interpretation. Mr. Cole of Warkworth rendered two entertaining vocal numbers, accompanying himself on the guitar, and receiving hearty applause.

A delightful quartette number entitled "Old King Cole" was rendered by Mrs. F. DeCarrol, Miss Helen McDonald, Miss Hazel Atkinson and Mrs. Charles Milne. This was a costume effect and proved very attractive to the audience, the blending of the artists' voices being exceptionally good.

A violin solo was well presented by Kenneth Collison and a musical by Miss Potter and Mr. Haynes, received the appreciation of the gathering.

Donald Lloyd, the champion boy orator, gave a very interesting and humorous reading, "Washing Dishes", which made a great hit with the audience and received due applause. A feature, "The Soldier's Prayer," was presented by Jim Dunn, Ray Thompson and Bill Blue, with the assistance of Buster the dog. This had for its theme a musical setting with a vocal solo and some splendid tricks by Buster, who proved himself a dog of no mean ability.

Pleasing Feature.

A very pleasing and funny playlet was next presented by The Orange Ladies' Benevolent Association entitled "Grandma Brown's Old Time Tea Party." This was in costume, which drew a vivid contrast to the modern mode of attire, and was well acted by the cast, depicting the ladies of the past who never talked about their neighbours.

Concluding the program was a fine presentation of the Seth Parker hour staged by the members of St. Andrew's choir with Dr. O. C. Watson as Seth Parker. This was a very lifelike enactment of the original and was featured by chorus work, a trio and quartette and the inevitable story sermon of Seth.

Before the serving of a very dainty lunch, J. R. Battisby moved a vote of thanks to the ladies of the church for the splendid entertainment, and to the artists assisting with the program, this being seconded by J. D. Cummings. W. A. Newcourt acted as accompanist for the evening.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SCHOOL BOARD

view the Railway Board at Belleville re this matter and also look into the question of a bus service.

A letter of resignation was read by the clerk from Miss M. L. Harrington, classical teacher on the staff of the High School, who is now ill in Toronto. This was discussed and it was thought that Miss Stephens, who is relieving Miss Harrington, should be asked to remain on duty until the end of the school year. It was put in form of a motion that the Internal Committee interview Miss Stephens in regard to this matter and that Miss Harrington's resignation be held in abeyance.

Cadet Medals.

Principal Greig addressed the Board on the matter of medals for the Cadet Corps, to be presented at the annual inspection. He pointed out that these were paid for by the Strathcona Trust under a Department regulation which emphasized that the money must be spent for Cadet purposes.

These awards consist of a gold medal for the company commander, silver medals for the platoon commanders and bronze medals for the sergeants. He suggested that this year a distinctive medal for the school be struck, which would carry the school crest, and, on motion, this matter was left in his hands to arrange. It was also passed on motion that Sam Browne belts be bought for officers of the Cadet Corps.

LIBERAL CHIEF

offering to-day to pursue the same course which we expected the Labor Party to adopt for the four years between 1910 and 1914."

The Liberal Leader said: "All that we are asking from Labor is that it should do and not shirk the job. Then in a single sentence he stated the entire Liberal policy as "independence of party, no surrender of that independence, but co-operation and understanding with the Government for carrying out measures which are common to both parties on progressive lines.

"That is our policy. We have no other and that is the one for which we are seeking support." Lloyd-George declared that the Liberals could not take the view of Sir John Simon, the leader of the insurgent group in his party and others that the Labor Government should be turned out here and now, with the inevitable consequence of a protective tariff and a reactionary Government.

Glad To Be Relieved.

"I would only be too glad," Lloyd George continued, "to be relieved of the most bewildering and thankless task ever entrusted to any political leader, but until I am relieved of it I propose to place such power and gifts of experience and strength as are left to me to do m, best to advance progressive legislation in the Commons."

There were rousing cheers when he declared that there were risks involved in the policy he advocates. "We know the risks we are running," he said. "But you get nothing in life without running risks. The party as a whole is willing to run them if there is any chance that by doing so the great aims will be accomplished — peace disarmament, harmony in India, freedom, establishment of free trade and defeat of the protectionist regime, and the reconditioning and re-equipment of this country to make it equal to any country in the world, or better."

SYRUP MAKERS HARD AT WORK

Flow of Sap Expected to be Light Due to Lack of Frost in Ground.

BUSINESS STARTED IN 1685.

HAVELOCK, March 26 (Examiner Correspondence) — Sap's running. Maple trees all over Ontario are at present pouring forth that nourishing product which when boiled down to the right consistency gives us the delicious maple syrup, which we relish so much, particularly when served with the universal pancake.

There is nothing more interesting to the children, and the grown-ups for that matter, than a trip to the sugar bush, in the early spring. As soon as the sun pops out from behind the clouds in the early spring, causing the days to be warm and the nights cool, the sugar harvest is on, and great excitement prevails throughout the "bush" for the next few weeks.

Sugar making from maple trees, has been carried on in Canada since 1685.

At that time Dr. Michael Sarrazin came to Canada from France, and it was to him that the honor of creating this industry was given. He was a distinguished scientist, and on finding the great maple trees here, he began at once to study this curious product of the maple tree, analyzing and boiling it, and later sending some of the maple sugar back to France.

It was not however until the year 1812 that any real interest was taken in developing the industry. Since then it has increased continuously until now many large sugar bushes are in operation, and thousands of pounds of sugar are made every year, for the home market, as well as abroad.

The tree is tapped by boring a small hole in the trunk, on the south side of the tree. This hole is made from an inche to an inch and a half deep. In this is placed an iron or wooden spile, containing a hook, which is used to attach the bucket to catch the running sap.

A cool northwest wind, with frosty nights and sunny days in alternation such as we usually have in March, tends to start the flow of sap which is more abundant during the night. A thawing night will increase the flow, but on the approach of a storm or during a southwest wind, the flow practicaly ceases. During the season, which usually lasts about six weeks, an average tree will produce about twenty gallons of sap.

The sap s collected from the buckets and carried to the sugar house, which is built especially for this purpose. The evaporating apparatus is constructed so that the sap flows in one end, and when boiled to a certain point, the syrup flows out the other end. It takes from four to five gallons of sap, to make one gallon of syrup, or one pound of sugar.

It is thought that the flow of sap will not continue for any length of time this spring, on account of the absence of any great degree of frost in the ground, and the great shortage of moisture in the ground.

HYDRO BILL IS BASIS OF ATTACK BY THE LIBERALS

graves of the pioneers of the counties. He thought, however, that a county was too large a unit to be covered by an individual Commission. He also questioned the wisdom of requiring that the County Judge should be chairman of each Commission. "In counties whre there is only one Judge the court work may have to be suspended," he said. "The provision for payment of the members of the Commission is going to be a pretty expensive burden on the counties."

"Will you still have power to appoint inspectors?" asked Mr. Nixon.

"No," replied Dr. Robb, who added that it was desired a permanent official like a county Judge should serve as chairman.

"You couldn't ask a Judge to serve for less than $10.00 a day," said Mr. Nixon.

"Something should be done," put in Premier Henry, "to stir the counties to a sense of their responsibility."

Heighington Warns.

The bill to provide that police court action could be taken against motorists to compel the return of rental batteries after fourteen days, together with payment of the amount of the rental due, got second reading only after grave warnings from the Government ranks. Wilfrid Heighington (Conservative, Toronto-St. Davids) declared that the bill would have far-reaching effects. It was not desirable to invoke police court procedure for the benefit of one party in what should be a civil suit, he declared, and warned the Government that it might expect many demands for the right to use police courts in the recovery of property and debts.

It was "vicious in principle" to bring criminal action in what should be civil suits, said Hon. James Lyons (Conservative, Sault Ste. Marie). If it were criminal to retain rented batteries surely the Criminal Code would apply, said E. F. Singer (Conservative, Toronto-St. Andrew's), who advised that the bill should go to the Law Committee. F. V. Laughton (Conservative, Middlesex North) stated that the man who rented a battery, paid 25 cents a day, and usually left a better battery in its place.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 26. — Friendly strength imparted by strong foreign cables and a better demand for Manitobas gave an upward tilt to grain prices in the wheat pit here yesterday. At the close values were ¾c to ⅞c higher than Tuesday's close.

Trading was entirely local in character with fair support coming from commission houses.

Only a small export business was worked overnight and yesterday. Foreign trade news was featured by the report credited to Broomhall that Belgium will allow free immportation of Russian wheat. India has imposed an import duty on wheat equal to 91 cents per bushel.

Light offerings and limited trade featured cash and coarse grain sections. Prices showed little change.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 26. — Impressed by announcements indicating that until after July 1 there would be no sudden marketing of Government-sponsored holdings, wheat averaged much higher yesterday. Prices bulged 2½ cents above Tuesday's bottom figures, but reacted under profit-taking. A broader volume of trading was in evidence, apparently encouraged by Federal Farm Board notice of a hands-off policy regarding the 1931 crop, and by Senate agricultural leaders expressing disapproval of the equalization fee and export debenture farm relief plans.

Wheat closed irregular, ½c lower to 1¼c higher, corn ⅝c to 1⅛c up, oats ¼c to ½c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, March 26. — Prices for new makes of cheese were lower yesterday to the country shipper and to the retailer. Local brokers were offering new large at 14½c, twins at 14¾c, and triplets at 15c, colored, paraffined. Government graded. These prices were in effect on the bulk of sales, but some lots were reported as changing hands at fractionally lower prices. Retailers benefited to the extent of ½c, being quoted new large at 15½c, twins at 15¾c, and triplets at 16c.

Butter.

Butter sold at steady prices, with trade quiet. Western butter was offered at 31½c for No. 1 and 30½c for No. 2, ¼c better than the top for Ontario, but no sales were reported, though it was likely that some buyers were interested. Western butter sold in Winnipeg on a basis of the prices asked in Toronto, and in Montreal sales were made at the same levels. There was an exceptionally good demand for No. 2 butter, and the offering was very light.

Eggs.

Brokers were receiving higher prices for graded eggs in free cases yesterday, which was due to the good demand for the Easter trade. They were selling extras at 22c, firsts 20c, and seconds 17½c to 18c. Prices to country shippers were steady with those quoted at the first of the week at 18c for extras, 16c for firsts, and 14c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Buyers were of the opinion that there would be greater receipts as soon as the rural roads were clear. Retailers were offered supplies at 26c for extras, in cartons; 24c for extras, loose; 22c for firsts, loose; and 19c for seconds, loose.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 26.—Egg prices advanced, cheese quotations declined, and butter and potato prices were unchanged on the Produce and Dairy Market here yesterday.

Fresh Ontario and Prarie eggs, in carlots, gained one-half of a cent, extras being quoted at 24c to 24½ a dozen, and firsts at 22c to 22½c. Seconds were 1c to 2c higher at 18c a dozen. To retailers quotations were unchanged and no storage eggs were available. Receipts were 1,294 cases.

On the cheese market, winter colored lost ¼c at 14c a pound, and receipts were 25 boxes.

Regraded Eastern Townships and fresh Western No. 1 butter was quoted unchanged at 31c to 31¼c a pound and to retailers solids were 33c, and prints 34c a pound. Receipts were 199 boxes.

New Brunswick Green Mountain potatoes, in carlots, were quoted at 82½c per 80-pound bag, to retailers 95c per 80-pound bag. Remaining stocks of New Brunswick Green Mountains, in carlots, per 90 pounds bulk were quoted at 80c.

THREE RESCUED FROM ICY WATER

somewhere—no one knew. Every effort was made to recover the body of the unfortunate lad, and flares were soon blazing on the ice by the light of which the whole community worked in ceaseless effort. Pike poles and peavies were utilized, and at 11.30 the efforts of the rescuers were rewarded. The river gave up its grim secret.

Mr. Barrie Recovering

Anxiety pervaded the Barrie household over the condition of the father, who lay throughout the night at the home of Mrs. Walter Lewis, but it is learned this morning that he has greatly recovered, and has returned to his own home.

Mrs. Lewis, whose house is in close proximity to the scene of the disaster, threw wide her doors, rendering what assistance she could to those in distress and phoning the countryside for assistance, which was willingly forthcoming.

The deceased young man is a nephew of William Barrie, by whom he had been employed. His mother arrived at Trent River last night and was almost prostrated with grief.

RALSTON SCORES

exporter could not scale. Then he had attempted to "force Canadian goods into that market". The Bennett scheme was that Great Britain guarantee to buy Canadian wheat while Canada offered no similar pledge in return regarding manufactured goods.

Sharp issue was taken by Col. Ralston with Premier Bennett's statement that the 1930 conference proposals were similar to those advanced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1902. The 1903 proposal, he said, would have Great Britain lower duties against Canadian foodstuffs, while the Bennett proposal in 1930 would have that country raise the duties against foodstuffs.

Curiosity over the authorship of Premier Bennett's offer was expressed by Col. Ralston. "I wonder sometimes whether the gentleman who is now Minister-Designate to the United States (Major W. D. Herridge), may not have been trying his hand on ambassadorial messages; in order to get his hand in. I wish he had not experimented with something which was fraught with such serious consequences to Canada."

Canadian banks, declared Milton Campbell (U. F. A., Mackenzie), through technicalities in the banking laws, actually were charging eight, nine and ten per cent for loans. He suggested the rate for agricultural loans be fixed at no higher than seven per cent.

Some changes in the banking policies of the country would have to be made if agriculture was to continue in Western Canada. The present high interest rates on money necessary to continue operating was an insurmountable obstacle.

Maximum 6 Per Cent.

Another reference to the banking laws was made by Dr. J. C. Moore (Cons., Chateauguay - Huntingdon) who believed agricultural loans should bear an interest rate no higher than six per cent. That was the Quebec rate, and he believed it should be accepted universally throughout Canada.

Samuel Factor, Liberal, who represents Toronto West-Centre riding, advocated an active immigration policy. This should not be placed in immediate effect, due to economic reasons, but he believed the time was propituous for formulating and perfecting it. He suggested to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, that he confer with representatives of agriculture, business and finance, on the question of a new policy. Canada, he believed, had too small a population for her own economic good.

MORDEN DENIES BEING BANKRUPT.

MONTREAL, Que., March 25.—(C.P.)—Lieut.-Colonel Walter Grant Morden, Member of the British Parliament, against whom a receiving order was issued in London yesterday, stated during an interview to-day that he was "certainly not bankrupt yet."

"I have been away four months and I am going back to England at once to put things in shape," he said. The report cabled from London yesterday gives an entirely wrong impression of my affairs. Because an or... has been made it doesn't mean to say that I am bankrupt. Scores of these orders are made every day. No; I am not bankrupt yet by any means," he said.

AN OLD GRIEVANCE.

Complaints as to trawling from motor boats were heard when a deputation waited on the fish and game committee of the Legislature yesterday.

It is an old grievance that is well known in local waters.

Veteran fishermen have for years been sounding the warning that the use of power boats in trawling would kill the maskinonge fishing—and there is not much doubt that this practice has caused considerable havoc among the "muskies."

Power-boat fishermen can cover so much territory in a day that, as Hon. Mr. Finlayson remarked yesterday, "the fish haven't a chance."

In the old days when the trawler had to depend upon his paddle to move him around his fishing latitude was necessarily limited, but the new type of fishermen who in recent years have been combing all the likely spots in a motor boat, with two or three lines out, have been able to do more damage in a few hours than the paddling fishermen could bring about in a week.

Much of the zest and certainly most of the healthful exercise passed out of the fishing "racket" when gasoline took the place of muscle as a propelling influence.

FERGUSON DREAM SHATTERED.

That pet educational scheme of former Premier Ferguson, the Township School Board plan, is, according to Toronto announcements, to be quietly dropped by the Ontario Government.

Mr. Ferguson, as Minister of Education, it will be remembered, introduced his bill on three or four occasions, and each time withdrew it, declaring that he had no intention of forcing the legislation upon a reluctant people and that the bill would not be passed until rural public opinion approved it.

The plan did not, however, grow in favor among Ontario farmers as the former Minister expected; despite its many merits, it had few friends among the rural taxpayers at the outset, and these did not materially grow in numbers as the years passed.

The new Premier, who, like Mr. Ferguson, also holds the educational portfolio, has apparently arrived at the conclusion that nothing is to be gained at this time in re-introducing the Township School bill, and that the present outlook does not justify any hope of rural approval for the plan in the near future.

Mr. Ferguson's idea of cutting down the cost and improving the efficiency of country schools by a centralization of authority will probably not be heard of again for some time—the voice of rural Ontario has effectively killed it.

WILL PROBE TAXATION.

In the withdrawal of both the Ellis and Honeywell bills, the former abolishing the municipal income tax completely and the latter to make its collection optional, and the decision of the Ontario Government to appoint a commission to consider the whole question of taxation, the wisest and most desirable course has been followed.

The mere killing of the proposed measures would not have eliminated the opposition in many quarters to the present form of municipal income tax; it would have asserted itself again next year with perhaps more force than has been in evidence on this occasion.

There are so many features that are considered objectionable in regard to the present levy, particularly the fact that it is not collected in many localities and that wage-earners are nearly always caught while others escape, that a proper investigation into the matter was essential to a proper settlement of the problem.

It is gratifying to note in the announcement of Hon. Leopold Macaulay, the Provincial Secretary, that the Government intends the promised commission to probe the whole field of taxation.

"It is important," Mr. Macaulay declared, "that taxes be levied on a sound basis"

The investigation, which will take place before the next session of the Legislature, should do much to clarify the situation in that respect.

THOSE HAMILTON DISMISSALS.

The dismissal of a number of employees of the Liquor Control Board in Hamilton for failure to comply with the provisions of the law indicates that the board realize that the success or failure of the Government control system hinges upon the manner in which the duties of the board's employees throughout the Province are carried out.

One vendor in Hamilton has lost his position because he accommodated customers who had forgotten their permits, supplying them with liquor and allowing them to come back later to have these sales registered on their permits.

In itself that may not have been a particularly grievous offence, but it was obviously quite contrary to the regulations, and the commission has followed the only wise and safe course in getting rid of an employee whose good nature has been responsible for technical violations of the law.

In the other Hamilton case where evidence was offered of drinking at a brewery warehouse dismissal of the offending employees was inevitable.

When the Liquor Control Act came into being The Examiner pointed out that the vendors would be the keymen of the system and upon them a great responsibility would rest.

It is fortunate indeed, therefore, that cases like these reported from Hamilton have been rare, and that in the main the law has been well carried out by the vendors and their staffs.

These dismissals will be a general warning that the commission intends that their employees shall continue to carry out the law.

Even when every home is fitted with radio and television the younger generation will find reasons for spending their evenings out.—Galt Reporter.

THE CANADIAN MINISTER.

The personality of the diplomatic envoy of our closest neighbor—the best of neighbors—is of deep interest to the people of the United States. As our Minister to Canada, Colonel Hanford MacNider, said to a Toronto audience the other day, "The division of the continent between our two peoples was the best thing that could have happened for the future stability of the world." It is only a technical criticism of his point to suggest that there is a good deal more territory on the continent than that occupied by Canada and the United States. What Colonel MacNider said is, despite newly arisen difficulties over fiscal and revenue policies, warmly seconded in this country, and Major W. D. Herridge, D.S.O., M.C., Canada's new Minister at Washington, will be heartily welcomed as a friend and worker for the welfare of both nations.

Though they are called Colonel and Major from honors won with great distinction in the World War, both envoys are civilians and in close touch with the currents of business which run between the two countries and create most of their common problems. The American is a farmer and banker. The Canadian is a corporation lawyer. Neither has any passionate devotion to partisan policies. In fact, as an Ottawa dispatch mentions to-day, a year ago few would have been able to say to which party Major Herridge was allied. Now that he has received the most important diplomatic post at the disposition of Premier Bennett, some Conservative newspapers are protesting that the appointment should have gone to what in this country we would call a "wheel-horse." But Major Herridge was the Premier's shadow at the Imperial Conference in London, and is known as his closest friend. In view of the perplexities of Canadian-American business it is natural that Mr. Bennett should have chosen one in whose ability, tact and understanding of the problems he had confidence, whether or not he had been actively connected for years with the Conservative party.

One of the most interesting recent developments in the British Empire has been the exchange of Ministers between Canada and the United States. It was a logical outgrowth of the rising importance and independence of this great and loyal Dominion. Washington is well pleased with the results, and Ottawa can hardly blame its envoys for the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.—New York Times.

THE NEW YORK SCANDAL.

American public opinion, dulled as it is by frequent municipal graft and corruption charges, has been stirred by New York revelations and charges. There is even a suggestion that residents of the big town, shaken out of their usual civic lethargy, may move at the next election to shake off the heavy hand of Tammany Hall.

New York and Tammany have been interchangeable terms for a good many years. Tammany, of course, is nothing more than the great Democratic political machine that has controlled New York politics for generation after generation. Tammany has its ups and its downs, its family squabbles and all that sort of thing, but most of the time it functions smoothly and most of the time its candidates win. At this moment, however, its future is precarious, for recent disclosures as to the way in which the city is being managed—or mismanaged—have been even too much for the average Tammany supporter to swallow.

Definite and far-reaching charges against the administration of Mayor "Jimmy" Walker have been placed before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at Albany. The New York Times says of these charges that they strongly reinforce the demand for a thorough investigation of Gotham's municipal government by a joint committee of the Legislature. The Times wants a searchlight thrown on the whole mess. But whatever the Legislature may decide to do, whatever Governor Roosevelt may decide or refrain from deciding, the Times points out that nothing can deprive New Yorkers of their one great remedy—political. "They are the ones," the Times says, "who ultimately have to decide whether they want the kind of government that Tammany gives them. The charges against Mayor Walker begin with January, 1930. But he had been mayor for four years before that. In his first term he had been essentially the same kind of an official that he has so far shown himself in his second. The voters did not in 1929 exercise their inalienable right of recall. They now have in reserve a power of removal to be applied later. It will be for them to say, not simply whether Mayor Walker is never more to be an officer of theirs, but whether the whole Tammany system of city government is to be condemned and outlawed."

The extent to which official "rottenness" has gone in New York is almost beyond belief. Judges, magistrates, policemen and other persons paid by the public and supposed to be protecting the public interests, have been exposed. Police officers, for instance, have been "framing" women and then extorting money from their unfortunate victims on an undertaking to prevent prosecution. All sorts of decent people have been victimized by the very agency the taxpayers supported for the preservation of law and order. No one will say, of course, that Mayor Walker could have personal knowledge of all these matters, but Mr. Walker is the mayor and he must bear the responsibility for his appointments.

Obviously, New York is in for a great house-cleaning—unless Tammany succeeds in convincing the voters, once more, that the critics are mean to it and that everything is lovely!—Border Cities Star.

The Red-Headed Goddess

By ALICE ROSS COLVER

"Tiee clock. You eat kmiet now maybee, eh?"

"All right."

He insisted upon sitting up and feeding himself and, after finishing every scrap of the food and a glass of milk, he used Chin Lee as a crutch and proceeded to stand upright. Qt first his feet stung and tingled, and his knees buckled beneath him, and he dropped in a fury onto the bed again, wiping the perspiration from his brow. But after determined efforts on his part, and shrill staccato encouragement from the Chinaman tho, swaying and wincing beneath Dirk's frantic clutch, yet led him on he was able to take a step or two to the chair Red Jim had occupied. Here he sank down, somewhat appalled by the effect his illness had had.

"This is awful, Chin Lee," he kept saying, over and over. "This is awful. I'll never get going—and I've got to get going. I've got to get walking, in case—"

But he could not voice his fear. He refused to give expression to the feeling of doubt that had come over him, regarding the success of Red Jim's journey to-day. Yet it hung heavy in his heart, and each hour dragged by more slowly than the last, while he persisted in regular attempts to walk. He seemed to gain strength bit by bit with his efforts, until by the time the sun had dropped and there came to his anxious ears the far off sound of the returning Ford, he was able to limp to the table alone.

He was standing there, leaning against it, gripping its edge with both hands, when at last the car dashed through the dusk past the window and halted just out of his line of vision. He strained his eyes to see, closed them to pray, and then fixed them on the door. Was Lorraine with Red Jim? He had thought as the Ford flew by there wa but one figure in it, but it was too dark to be sure. Was she with him? Wouldn't she have shouted to him by now? Or was she—his heart plunged suddenly down and seemed to stop beating as a new thought struck him. Was she in the back—lying down—— Was she——

He groaned and flung his hand up over his eyes, as if to ward off the vision his brain had summoned up, just as the door opened and Red Jim strode in—alone. Dirk stared at him, unable to speak, utterly unable to say a word, just waiting in a pause that was like death, for news. The big man strode up to him, put his radio back on the table, and then laid his two hands kindly on the young chap's shoulders.

"I'm sorry I've no good news, boy. The Indians were gone. Every last one of them. They have been gone since yesterday, I should judge. I was a day too late."

Dirk wet his lips. He was trembling. "And no—trace of her?" he asked.

"This. Is it yours?" Red Jim thrust a hand in his pocket and, pulling out a small article, dropped it into Dirk's palm. He stared unbelievingly down at his own silver cigarette lighter, blackened and tarnished, but still his own, bearing his initials. As he stared at it, exultation took the place of despair and, seizing Red Jim's arm, he shook it in a frenzy of delight.

"You found this—there!"

"Yes."

"Then she dropped it! She really got there! I never believed it! I was always afraid the desert had swallowed her up.! But she got there! She's safe! And they've gone. They've taken her to meet her father! Isn't that it? They've started with her to the Fire! Dance to meet Mr. Kent! She's safe She's safe! That's it, isn't it?"

"Yes. She was there. I saw her hogan where she had been living. They had given her dolls, bracelets, blankets."

Dirk did not notice the evasion. Alone and unaided he staggered back to his bunk, shaking clenched fists in the air for joy, and dropped down to bury his face in his arms. Chin Lee stared at him as though he had gone mad, but Red Jim looked steadily and with commiseration at the excited boy, and shook his head slowly.

Safe! Could it be said yet that Lorraine was safe? He was not even sure she was alive. But if she was alive still, she was traveling alone with Indians who were on the eve of a violent outbreak against the white people. She was going to be kept a captive for nine days, while these savages worked themselves up with their dancing and their music and their rites and ceremonies, to the point off throwing off the heavy hand of authority that had been on them so long. Safe! How safe was she?

Even if Silver Tongue's telegram had reached her father, and he got to her in time, even if he and Dirk added their strength to the company that Kent might bring with him, how safe would she be—would any of them be, in fact, once barbarism was unbridled? The only possible hope for Lorraine lay in getting to the Fire Dance before that last night, in rescuing her before the Indians staged their planned revolt against the government. In carrying her out of reach before the redskins swept over the desert. Here lay Lorraine's one and only chance for life—and Dirk was unable to travel.

Aware of his silence, and thinking it strange at last Dirk looked up Red Jim spoke quickly, hiding his thoughts.

"You'll be fit to make the journey to the Fire Dance in another two days or so. if you keep on improving as you have to-day."

Dirk nodded, setting his teeth against his impatience. He wanted to start at once, or at the latest, tomorrow; but he could see himself how foolish it would be to risk a setback of any kind, or to go in an enfeebled condition which would only make him another burden for Red Jim, a burden that might, if there was real jeopardy, endanger their chances of freedom. "I'll wait two days. No more," he said. "If the Fire Dance isn't really until the uprising of the next moon——"

Red Jim nodded "It gives us six days. Two for you to rest and build up your strength, two to get there—" He was going to add, "and two to get away," but thought better of it.

"It's too good. I can't believe it, Jove!" Dirk smiled quizzically up at the man above him. "Time gives you everything, if you just hold on, doesn't it?"

"Yes," agreed the desert philosopher slowly. "Time gives you—everything."

CHAPTER XIX.

AT THE MOUNTAIN CHANT.

The endless hours inched their way along. But at last Dirk, Red Jim and Chin Lee climbed into the dilapidated old Ford and started on the long trip across the desert to the "place of the Windy Ditch," where the Indians were gathering to hold their nine-day ceremonial. Dirk had gained strength rapidly, partly because of an eased mind, which he rigidly kept free from entangling doubts, and partly because of the enforced rest. He was still thin and hollow eyed, but his nerves were steady, and he had acquired a reserve of strength which he jealously hoarded for the future.

It had been decided by Red Jim that they would drive as far as they could, which would be to Tom Powell's trading post. Here they would be able to procure ponies, and would continue the journey on horseback. There was little opportunity for conversation on the brief four-hour run to the post, because of the roughness of the way, and the noise of the engine. But Dirk did not care. Interesting as he had found his companion in the two days of enforced waiting in the cabin, he was glad of this opportunity to be alone with his thoughts And as he sa: in the front seat, next to the strange hermit who had so generously befriended him, watching the ever changing scenery of the desert unroll before his gaze, many unanswerable questions sprang to his mind, questions which he had refused to face until this moment, but which now put him into a fever of unrest and uncertainty so that it seemed impossible to contain himself until their journey had reached an end.

Had Silver Tongue mentioned his, Dirk's name to Mr. Kent in the telegram? Would Lorraine's father come alone or with friends? Would he be there when Red Jim and he arrived? Would he, perhaps, have come—and gone—with Lorraine safely in his keeping? If that had happened, would they institute a search for Dirk? Or would they give him up for lost? All these thoughts crowded pellmell into his mind, setting him on edge with impatience. In his mind he had fixed the next forty-eight hours as the limit of his endurance of waiting to see Lorraine—to touch her—to know with his eyes and his hands that she was safe. And beyond that he could not go.

Another question, still determinedly crushed below the surface, related to the probability of the Senator's having been able to procure aid from Washington. Would he, because of his political position and friendships, because of his knowledge of the Indians and the planned uprising, bring troops with him? But the question implied a danger he could not bring himself to believe would need to be met, a crisis so grave that, if there were soldiers, the results of this whole mad, wild adventure would be unthinkable.

Red Jim, on his part, was moving steadily forward, with the calm fatali m that was his chief characteristic, to a future that he believed held only disaster. He did not think Lorraine was alive. That she had dweltn in the canyon in serious danger had been clear to him through Dirk's quoted remarks of Silver Tongue. If she had been alive when Silver Tongue returned from sending his telegram, it seemed only reasonable to suppose that the educated Indian, in order to assure himself of his reward, would have searched for Dirk, ending at Red Jim's cabin, and have moved triumphantly with both his prizes to meet the girl's father. But Silver Tongue had not been heard from or seen.

Yet Dirk must go recklessly ahead in the frail hope of rescuing his beloved, and he, Red Jim, must accompany him. He was not disturbed. He simply approached coming event: with a calm curiosity.

As for Chin Lee, the voluble Chinaman had fallen into a rare silence. Huddled in the back seat of the automobile he thought his own thoughts private ly concerning the whole expedition, and not the worst jolting in the world would shake a word from him regarding his secretly det rmined course of action in the coming events.

They had made an early start, hoping to get to the trader's post before noon. As good luck would have it, the faithful old car plunged steadily on its way noisily eating up the miles so that, when the sun stood directly over their heads Red Jim nodded to Dirk and shouted in pleasure that the dark spot on the little hillside off to the east was their planned destination. Dirk gripped his seat in excitement and stared ahead. The first leg of the rip accomplished!

As they approached the long, low building, they both became aware of an unusual amoun of excitement going on about it. There were visible a number of figures—hurrying men—restless horses Usually the place lay calm in a burning quiet and solitude. What did this extraordinary activity portend?

"Looks like other white folks were getting ready to go to the Fire Dance, oo," Red Jim said at last. "Hope they don't get all the ponies before we get here."

"Does Powell always have them on hand?"

Red Jim nodded.

"Some folk wire ahead for them. I didn't think there'd be many folks going this year. It's in a Godforsaken spot and when white people can't get to places easily, in their cars they don't usually bother—except artists and writers."

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

PREPARED BY THE REV. CLARENCE H. VALSON, D.D. FOR THE COMMISSION ON EVANGELISM OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

THE CRY THAT WILL NOT BE SILENCED

"But he cried so much the more, Thou Son of David, have mercy on me." Luke 18:39 (Read Luke 18:35-43.)

Meditation

A blind man thinks he has a chance at deliverance from his darkness. How futile to try to silence such a man—and how cruel! And yet here is a familiar note. People in their desperate need are so often rebuked and means are taken to hush their outcries. It is in vain and it is wrong. They will cry out so much the more; and they ought to. Till justice is done, till mercy is shown, they will not and they should not, hold their peace. The bitter wrongs of the world cannot be hid or smothered. Suppression breeds revolution. The sympathy and support of Christian people are due to the world's unfortunates who cry out for deliverance.

Prayer

O God Who dost hear the needy when he crieth, create in us a desire for justice and grant unto us the spirit of compassion, that we shall make haste to relieve the distressed and to support the weak in their struggles. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

What To-day Means To You

"ARIES"

If March 26th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 7 p.m to 9:15 p.m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. and from 5:10 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

The astrological indications of March 26th presage a rather uneventful day, although there might be some ties formed which, in time, will inure to your benefit. Risk and speculation should be avoided, and routine work only should be attempted.

A child born on this March 26th will be shrewd, and every effort should be made to prevent this gift being converted into cunning. It will, at times, be stubborn, and will only yield with a bad grace. It will be fond of reading and travel, and apt to make friends.

You, if born on March 26th, have a good deal of personal magnetism, and in a crowd, you are invariably the leader, not because you desire it, but because of that indefinable characteristic that commands respect. With it all, however, you are not bumptious or overbearing, and your disposition is extremely affable and amiable. You are a convincing talker, firm yet gentle. You possess very strong convictions and always endeavor to pursuade others to share your belief by a mannerism that is both seductive and ingratiating.

Well equipped as you are to accept big responsibilities, you are fully alive to the importance of details, and any task entrusted to your care is always well and faithfully done. In setting out a proposition, you have an almost uncanny gift for scenting others' objections, and you adroitly anticipate them. You are a little too close in money matters, and make it rather a virtue to induce others to give rather than give yourself.

Your head is well-balanced, and you have complete control over the emotional side of your character. You are not naturally very affectionate, but once you really love—and your love will be based on companionship rather than on sexualism—you will "stay put," and not wander outside the home circle.

LONGEVITY

To The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Reprinted from the Golden Age, Brooklyn, N.Y., Oct. 29, 1930.

"Li Chung-Yun, of China was born in 1677. In the year 1827 the Chinese government sent official felicitations to him on attaining his 150th birthday. In 1827 the government again congratulated him on attaining his 200th birthday. He has married and outlived twenty-three wives, and is now living with his twenty-fourth at the age of 252 years.

Li has recently given in a Chinese University a course of twenty-eight lectures on longevity. Each lecture was three hours long. For hundred years ginseng root has been a part of his diet every day. He advocated a herb diet and disbelieves in any exercise that tires. He seems not older than a man of fifty-two, according to those who have met him.

WHAT CAUSES EARTHQUAKES.

ToThe Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—As every effect has a cause, we will try to find the cause of earthquakes. First the earth has two movements, one on its axis from west to east and one from north to south, which is not generally known. While the first takes place every twenty-four hours, the latter one may take hundreds of thousands of years.

At first the movement is so slow that it is not noticable in a hundred years. But as time goes on the movement increases until the earth is at a certain angle when it takes a quick dip and what was the equator becomes the poles. Further on I shall endeavor to prove that that has occurred once in the past. Now I shall explain what causes the earthquakes. Some say that it is explosions of gas in the bowels of the earth. It is nothing of the kind. But it is the displacing of immense amount of rock in the bowels of the earth. When the displacement or slide takes place and lands on the opposite side, we have an earthquake. And the severity of the quake depends on the amount of rock displaced and the thickness of the earth's crust. If the amount of rock displaced is not great we have the quake a tremor with no bad results; but if it is very great and when it lands on the opposite side the crust of the earth is bulged up. If it should happen that there is a town or village over where the rock lands, it is destroyed. Often great cracks or fissures are the result of the bulging of the earth. If the displaced rock should land beneath the ocean, the bed of the ocean is forced up as it has occurred several times in the last few years. Then follows great tidal waves which at times are very destructive on both land and water.

Now the cause of the displacement of the rock is the two movements of the earth. That is why the quakes occur in different parts of the earth. Now I shall endeavor to prove that the poles of the earth of to-day were at one time the equator. It is a well known fact that long years ago, perhaps hundreds of thousands that the north was a torrid zone. Where great prehistoric animals roamed. But when the earth reaced a certain angle and t dipped quickly to the south, practically the whole face of the northern part of North America was changed. It suddenly became a cold country and the animals perished. Some of their remains are now being found and great tracts of beautiful country became the bed of the ocean. Large tracts that were under water were forced up and now dry land, such as the North West paicies of the North West.

I can imagine some wiseacre after reading the above smiling to himself and saying that the writer of the above is batty. Well, maybe so, but knowledge gained by deep thinking and sound reasoning is very often foolishness to the wise.

POOL FAVORITES HIT NEW PEAKS

New York List Eases Off After Mid-day With Announcement of Anaconda Dividend.

MINOR ISSUES ADVANCE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 26 (C.P.) —The stock market again refused to ignore dividend reductions to-day, but at the same time was disinclined to be seriously disturbed.

Further bullish stimulation in the morning was sufficient to boost several pool favorites to new peaks for the year, but the paring of Anaconda's annual dividend rate from $2.50 to $1.50 had not been generally expected, and the list eased off after mid-day. Wall Street had had plenty of advance information about the Lackawanna's yearly rate from $6 to $4, however. Stock trading was listless and in unimportant volume.

Several shares rose a point or two in the early trading, although speculation for the rise was confined largely to minor issues. Issues rising to new peaks, nevertheless, included American Can. and Continental. Others were Bohn Aluminum, National Surety, United Aircraft and U.S. Pipe. High fliers were Worthington, Mullins and Auburn, up 4 or 5. These gains were lost or modified after midday, as Anaconda, Granby, Chile Copper, and American Smelting dropped 2 to 3 points. Lackawanna ,Missouri Pacific Preferred, Goodyear, and McKeesport fell back about 3. U.S. Steel was among several issues selling off about a point.

MINING BRIEFS.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 26.—(Special to Examiner.)—Noranda, in a strong upward movement said to have received the major part of its impetus in New York, again featured trading on the mining market to-day. The general meeting of shareholders of the company will take place to-morrow, and the street is looking for additional information on drill results.

Metals were weak on London to-day, standard copper dropping 6s 3d to £43 10s and electrolytic copper 10s to £46. Tin was down 10s to £120, lead 12s 6d to £12 and zinc 3s 9d to £11 12s 6d. silver was unchanged at 13 1-16d.

It is learned from reliable quarters that a new company with a capital of 6,000,000 shares is to be formed to take over all the assets and liabilities of Abana Mines Ltd. Present shareholders will participate share for share in the new company which will also create $500,000 of 7% five year convertible debentures. Of these debentures only $350,000 will be issued for the time being, with Mining Corporation taking $100,000 as part payment of the debts owing to them.

The Avana debentures will carry a bonus of 100 shares of common stock for each $100 bond and will be convertible into common stock on the basis of 25 cents a share for the first year, 50 cents a share for the second year, 75 cents the third year, $1 the fourth and $2 the fifth year, Mining Corporation will assume the management of the property for five years on completion of the financing the new company will have $150,000 in bonds and about 1,000,000 shares left in the treasury.

A new biddder for Lorne Gold mines has been announced, the offer on this occasion being made by Pioneer gold mines of British Columbia, whose property adjoins the Lorne. The Pioneer has been mining gold for several years, and recently declared a dividend which provided for a distribution of $50,000.

After payment of common dividends in 1930 there was a deficit of $7,836,499, which contrasted with a surplus of $5,107,350 in 1929. Total earned surplus was thereby reduced from $65,767,793 to $57,931,294.

SPANISH CREDIT NEAR

New York bankers profess little knowledge of the progress of negotiations for an international credit to Spain, but European despatches point strongly to the imminence of such an arrangement. According to a Paris cable these discussions are being carried on between the Bank of Spain and representatives of J P. Morgan & Co., Chase National Bank and a French banking group and are near conclusion. The amount is given as $75,000,000, extending over a period of two years and renewable at expiration. Except rate for currency stabilization is said to be undecided, but is believed to be between 40 and 50 pesetas to one English pound.—New York Times.

Contracts Awarded To Western Steel

WINNIPEG, March 26.—Contracts involving approximately $200,000 and which will keep around one hundred men busy for the greater part of the summer have been awarded to Western Steel Products, a subsidiary of Corporate Steel Products. These have to do with the construction of the 2,000,000 bushel terminal elevator at Churchill, which it is anticipated will be completed in time to handle a portion of this year's Western crop.

These contracts mean the fabrication of about 200 tons of steel spouting and the work is being done at the St. Boniface plant of Western Steel Products to be shipped to Churchill, where it will be installed. The Churchill terminal elevator, designed by C. D. Howe & Company, engineers, Port Arthur, and being erected by Carter, Hall & Aldinger, will be when completed one of the most modern grain-handling plants on the continent. From the time the grain is delivered to the elevator until it is shipped out again it is handled through steel conveyer legs and spouting, all of which will be manufactured here.

BUYING OWN STOCK

Deflated security prices in all markets of the world is enabling numerous organizations to acquire their own shares in the open market for the purpose of reducing capital. The latest to avail itself of this opportunity is the Deutsche Bank-Disconto Geselishchaft. Its report for 1930 received here by cable, revealed that 35,000,000 marks of its own shares were purchased by the band during the year at an average of 115 per cent thus reducing the capital to 250,000,000 reichsmarks. A dividend of 6 per cent was declared for the past year against 10 per cent in 1929, both rates applying to 285,000 shares of common.—New York Times.

Irregularity in the Bond Market.

High-grade railroad and public utility bonds have had a rather even demand thus far this week on the New York Stock Exchange, but the second-grade mortgages and liens have had an irregular time. Insurance companies, savings banks and investors generally can be counted on to purchase high-grade bonds on recessions, but with the speculative following in many lower-grade bonds ever willing to take a profit when one exists, it is not surprising that the hills and valleys in the price charts of these issues follow each other monotonously. For this reason few investment bankers are inclined to risk a new issue in this market if it fails to come up to high-grade specifications.—New York Times.

New York Denied Holiday, April 4

NEW YORK, Mar. 26.—(AP)—The Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday denied a petition of members to close the exchange Saturday, April 4, the day preceding Easter. The exchange, however, will be closed Good Friday, April 3. The securities market of the New York Produce Exchange also will be open Saturday, April 4, but will close on Good Friday.

CANADA POWER TO REORGANIZE

Canada Power & Paper shareholders meeting in Montreal yesterday had rather more than a strong hint from J. H. Gundy that conditions in the newsprint industry had forced some form of reorganization Mr. Gundy was quoted as using the word "drastic" in connection with the proposed reorganization, and accompanying his observation was the statement that, though operating ratio had improved slightly, Canada Power's current earnings did not permit the payment of interest on bonds, and the banks had reached the stage where they were not inclined to increase their loans to the company. The recent report, covering 1930 operations, showed that during the period bank loans practically doubled. As to operation, Mr. Gundy stated that current rate was at 47 per cent of capacity, compared with an average of 43 per cent for the first two months of the year. He hoped spring activity would speed up operations to 55 or 55 per cent.

TORONTO LIST HOLDS STEADY

Noranda Stands Out With a Spectacular Advance to $29.50.

NICKEL AT 19.

TORONTO, Ont., March 26.—(CP)—Toronto stock exchange market generally fluctuated within a narrow range this morning, with leaders firm at last night's closing levels.

Noranda was the standout performer, jumping spectacularly at the opening and continuing its rise to a new high mark of 29½. Initial sales were made at $26.75, a few cents above finals of last night, but within ten minutes the stock had hit 29. Buying, as nearly as could be ascertained, was again originating from New York as that market was constantly ahead of the local market and it was New York which moved so quickly at the opening.

Nickel firmed for a while, but later settled at 19, where it was off slightly from last night. Ford o' Canada, the foods and chain store stocks, C.P.R., Bell Telephone were unchanged from last night. Brazilian made some headway to 23 in the second hour. Photo Engravers held at its high of 28½.

Oils looked better with International Petroleum advancing ½ point on a carry-over of last night's late strength. Imperial oil was better at 16, B.A. Oil about the same as last night.

Curb specialties were quiet, mostly unchanged.

LOWER-PRICED STOCKS STEADY

Sylvanite Up 11 at 91 in Good Demand—Hudson Bay Firms 20 to $6.05.

SMALLER OILS DULL.

TORONTO, Ont., Mar. 26.—(CP)—Noranda and Sylvanite were featuring issues in a somewhat irregular mining list to-day. Trading in the lower-priced stocks showed another decrease from the rate of the past couple of weeks with big majority of stocks practically unchanged at mid day.

Opening strong, Noranda moved rapidly upward on impetus said to have been chiefly supplied by New York. Price touched a high of slightly over $29 and at noon was up two and a quarter points from last night at $28.75. Hudson Bay also firmed 20 to $6.05 but Nickel was off a quarter to $19.

Sylvanite continued in good demand with the price up 11 at 91 when taken. Wright Hargreaves was holding at $2.75 and the higher-priced gold group was quiet. Gains of a few cents appeared in Kirkland Lake gold; Macassa and Columario while small recessions were shown by Eldorado, Big Missouri and McLeod.

Peninsular Pete and oil selections sold up a cent or so apiece, and other lower-priced oils were dull.

BRITISH CRISIS

Donald's address Wednesday in reply to Mr. Baldwin's attack on his regime. Immediately after the Prime Minister's speech the Liberal members will withdraw from the benches of the House and will decide at a party meeting their attitude on the vote to be taken at the close of the debate later in the evening.

If Mr. MacDonald's speech is conciliatory for the Liberals, it is expected that Lloyd George will lead enough Liberals to support the Government and to hold it in power.

Lloyd George made it clear at to-day's meeting in Caxton Hall that he favors the continuance of the Labor-ite Government to prevent the advent of the "protectionist and reactionary" Conservative Government. However, he was equally outspoken to the effect that he would stick with the majority of his party whatever policy it decides, even though it turns out the Laborites and precipitates a general election.

CANADIAN BANKER SUGGESTS A WORLD POOLING OF GOLD

(Financial Times)

"The time has come, if indeed it is not long overdue, to transfer the gold problem from the sphere of nationalism into that of internationalism. Then the world would have a better chance of permanent peace, stabilized business and social order," says Sir John Aird, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in an article written for The Financial Post, Toronto, and published this week.

The veteran Canadian banker suggests pooling of world monetary gold resources, changes in monetary policy by France and the United States and subsidization of prospecting for the precious metal.

Sir John does not admit that there is a shortage of gold in the world. He says: "The world has not suffered from a gold shortage, for there was in 1928, when the gold committee of the League of Nations made a survey, sufficient to provide a cover of 40 per cent, which was above the average with the decline in business activity, there is an even greater cover, but still maldistribution."

Discussing remedial measures for the economic results of a management of gold which at times has been "imperfect," Sir John suggests pooling of world resources. He says:

"As to remedial measures, there are definite indications of a change in the monetary policy of France, and we may reasonably expect that the United States will alter its attitude, though in what direction cannot be foretold. But such prospective developments do not promise to end the serious menace in price fluctuation, both in the form of deflation and of inflation. Half-way measures need be expected to give only half of the desired results.

"The world might take a big step by pooling its monetary gold with the Bank for International Settlements, providing for immunity against seizure and policital meddling, and placing it under expert control and management."

Discussing the prediction of "certain highly qualified authorities" "that in the absence of important discoveries or of a change in production technique, the world will suffer a shortage of new gold a few years hence." Sir John says: "This might be warded off by international subsidization of prospecting and of research in gold metallurgy."

THE TRADER IN BARRON'S SAYS:

That business activity is still distinctly subnormal, and that it has experienced subseasonal improvement there is general agreement. That the worst, however, has also been seen, there is almost equally general agreement. The latest business forecast of the country's largest public utility makes the flat-footed statement that "the decline in business activity has been definitely checked." It goes on to say that while many of the general business indicators are still at a low level, some of the more sensitive indices point to wards price improvement with the prospect that the second quarter may be slightly better than the first barring a serious collapse in commodity or security prices. It concludes that the worst of the depression has apparently been reached and the foundation should be established in the next few months for a cyclical trade recovery in the second half-year. ■

The fact that so much emphasis should be laid upon the influence of commodity and security prices in forecasting the business outlook is of some significance. The recession in the Annalist commodity index to a new low for the movement at 109.3 is naturally not encouraging. Nor, incidentally, is the hopelessness of oil executives over a commodity the output of which has been subject to wide regulation. A drastic fall in commodity prices from this level would be an extremely unfavorable development for the stock market.

In any event, the next 30 to 45 days should pretty well determine the tempo of business up to autumn. The seasonally stimulating influences of spring can then be more definitely measured. In the automobile industry, May 10 is normally regarded as the dead-line for determining from sales curves whether the year is to be prosperous or not.

In another 30 days, unfavorable earnings statements for the first quarter will begin to put in an appearance at a time when at best the trade outlook bids fair to be uncertain. Unless the business outlook is decidedly bright, permitting poor earnings reports to be regarded as part of the dead past of depression, then it is quite conceivable that the distasteful figures may prove a market influence especially since 1930 earnings and prospective 1931 results are still being liberally capitalized in this common-stock era.

The panicky days of November, 1929, and December, 1930, are over. The shrinkage of security loans testifies to the overwhelming liquidation of the past 18 months. The bear market probably "struck 12" when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York last December reduced the rediscount rate to 2%, paving the way for the lowest-cost speculative accomodations in 16 years. Nevertheless, the foundation has not yet been laid for a dynamic bull market. Only a recovery movement is likely. Certain situations are bound to crop up which may be readily exploited on easy money. The chances favor speculation blowing hot and cold by turns, until the three factors o business profits, money rates, and speculative psychology are working more closely in unison.

DEER HUNTERS

ten are killed by wolves said R. L. Davis of Newmarket. If any steps were needed to protect deer they should be directed at the wolves. If possible the wolf bounty should be increased. Another step which might be taken would be a reduction in the hunting season. This would leave the revenue from licenses intact whereas a ban on dogs would seriously curtail it. Every dollar received from hunters' licenses should be applied to the extermination of wolves, he declared.

Seven Marks Set By French Fliers

PARIS, March 26. — Seven world's records—for speed, distance, and duration with a loaded airplane over a closed circuit—were established to-day at Marseilles by the French aviators, Joseph Lebrix, partner of Captain Dieudonne Coste in the latter's South Atlantic flight, and Marcel Doret, acrobatic ace.

At 6.35 o'clock on Monday morning they left Istres Flying Field with a load of 3,000 liters (792 gallons), weighing more than 2,000 kilograms (4,400 pounds) in an extra sealed gasoline tank.

When they landed they had set a new record for endurance with loads of 500 kilograms 1,000 and 2,000; for distance with the same loads, and a speed record for 2,000 kilometers with a weight of 2,000 kilograms.

The unofficial record shows that they travelled 4,021 kilometer (about 2,513 miles). All these records previously were held by Frenchmen.

SINGER, PADDON, WARD RELEASED

Trio Sentenced Monday Been Held Ever Since in Windsor Jail.

DUE IN COURT AGAIN.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 26.—(CP) —Louis M. Singer, K.C., of Toronto, Charles E. Paddon and Herbert Ward of Windsor were released from Essex County jail, on bail shortly after noon today.

On Monday they were adjudged guilty of conspiracy in connection with the activities of the Canadian Heating and Plumbing Guilding and the Amalgamated Builders Council. Mr. Justice Wright sentenced singer to $3,000 fine or eight months in jail and Paddon and Ward to $800 fine or two months in jail. He refused to allow bail pending an appeal.

Tuesday Chief Justice Mulock, at Toronto, fixed bail in $10,000 for Singer and $2,000 each for Ward and Paddon. This was arranged yesterday and official release came today from Toronto.

The three men are subpoenaed as Crown witnesses in the charges against eleven local men who are charged with conspiracy in connection with activities of the local sections of the two organizations.

Gandhi Threatens to Quit

KARACHI, India, Mar. 26.—(AP)— The Exchange Telegraph Agency says that Mahatma Gandhi, in an interview with the agency's representatives, has threatened to withdraw temporarily from Indian politics should the National Congress reject the Delhi agreement which he negotiated.

It would be humiliating, he said, to ask Great Britain to mediate in a Hindu-Moslem quarrel.

Gandhi declared that the execution of Baghat Singhi and his two colleagues had not affected his opinion towards a settlement of difficulties with Great Britain. Halting of the executions was entirely outside the terms of the truce, he explained.

KING'S WORKERS' MISSION BAND PRESENTS PLEASING PROGRAM

Large Audience Enjoys Musical Numbers and Playlet in Orange Hall.

ROSENEATH W. A. MEETS.

ROSENEATH, March 26 (Examiner Correspondence) — Mrs. James Webb entertained the ladies of St. James' Women's Auxiliary at her home on Saturday. It was fairly well attended with eleven members and four visitors present.

The president, Mrs. James Timlin conducted the meeting which opened with singing a hymn, "From Ocean unto Ocean" followed by the W. A. prayer in unison. The Bible reading was given by Mrs. Clara Braithwaite the 122 Psalm. Reports were read by the secretary and treasurer for the month of February.

On motion of Mrs. James Webb and seconded by Mrs. F. Brown that one quilt and four pair of mitts be sent to the W. A. House in Toronto, to be ready to send to the needy in the Arctic next June. It was also decided that each member make a quilt block to have ready for quilting at the April meeting which will be held at Mrs. Ernest Timlins.

Words of appreciation and thanks were received by the good cheer committee for fruit sent to the shut-ins.

A very interesting message on the life and customs in Japan was given by Mrs. Earl Braithwaite. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mesdames John and James Webb for their kind hospitality and also for their work in putting together and quilting the quilt for the society.

Hymn, "Go Labor On" and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer brought the meeting to a close.

Afternoon tea was served and a delightful time was spent socially among the members and friends.

K.W.M.S. Social Evening

One of the best evening's entertainments given for some time was in the Orange Hall on Friday, March 20, under the auspices of the King's Workers Mission Band.

Even though the roads were in a bad condition for travelling the hall was almost filled with an enthusiastic audience, who warmly applauded the efforts of those who filled a lengthy and excellent program. Each one played his or her part exceedingly well.

Music while the audience was gathering and between sets or numbers on the program was provided by the Roseneath orchestra whose popularity is being known more widely and extends over a wide district. Miss Beatrice Smith is the pianist of the orchestra and also played the accompaniment for the singers.

Rev. R. W. Paton was the chairman and spoke very encouraging to the members of the band and all who took part in preparing the entertainment. The program was as follows: chorus by the Mission Band; recitation by Alma Thackeray, "Village Maiden"; solo by Lavigne McMillan, "Flower Song." Miss Hildred Taylor did splendid in acting "Nora gets her picture took." Chorus by the Mission Band, "Little Stars"; recitation, "Is there room among the Angels?" by Luella Timlin. The male quartette brought down the house with laughter by their singing, "She's the lass for me" and responded to the encore with singing, "Get away old man, for me." These young men were Glen Brisbin, Mervin Smith, Cecil Robins and Billy Halstead; duet by Misses Jessie and Beatrice Smith, "Alola-Oe," encore "Dawn of To-morrow." A pageant, "The gift of the land of the Incas" was well acted by the junior members, Lavigne McMillan, Alma Thackeray, Marie Mouncey, Audrey Nixon, Rosella Taylor, Jack Pacey and Earl Radley; duet by Misses Bessie Turner and J. Mouncey, 1st number, "Tears" with "You're simply delish" for encore; recitation, "Freckles" by Rosella Taylor; piano duet, Misses Doris and Marie Mouncey; recitation, "My First Smoke," Clark Mouncey; chorus by the Mission Band, "Suffer Little Children"; recitation by Jack Pacey, "Boys can whistle but girls can't"; solo by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin, "Old Missouri Home"; chorus by Mission Band, "Lovely Land of Sunshine"; last but not least was a Chinese play entitled, "The betrothal of Mai Tsung." This play was something out of ordinary ever given in Roseneath and is extremely well written, depicting very strongly the difference between the heathen girl and the Christian girl who has been educated. The first and third scene takes place in the Chinese home of Mr. Wong (Billy Halstead) and Mrs. Wong (Elaine Carew) who have with them his mother, Madam Wong (Jessie Smith). Mr. Wong is a wealthy merchant sends his daughter, Mai Tsung (Ruby Blodgett) to America to be educated. Not only did she receive her education but was transformed into a modern girl and become engaged to Walter Lee, a Chinese student in America (Glen Brisbin). In returning to her parents with the news of her betrothal they at first were grieved as they had already chosen a husband for her when she was a very young girl. On admittance of Lee Walter's father, the parents and Madam Wong were greatly surprised when their wishes had been carried out. Mai Tsung and Walter Lee were soon to be wed and their plans were already made to teach thousands of people to read and write—men and women who have had no opportunity to study. They had received an education and also learned the great truths of the teachings of Jesus Christ and were ready to tell the great message to their fellowmen.

The Chinese maids were Thelma Blodgett and Marjorie Carew, Mr. Lee, a retired official (Mervin Smith), American college girls, Lois Talling, Luella Timlin, Marie Mouncey, Rosella Taylor, Audrey Nixon, an American Maid (Elsie Sherwin) Chinese servants Harold Mouncey and Earl Radley.

Mr. Hu a friend of Mr. Lee taken by Cecil Robins.

The entire play was thoroughly enjoyed and showed the energetic work of the ones who trained them, Mrs. Leslie Sherwin, Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. D. Brisbin, Miss H. Taylor and Mrs. E. Blodgett. Proceeds amounted to $38.

HAVELOCK, March 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the Rush Point Efficiency League was held in the church on Thursday evening, March 19, and was well attended. The meeting opened by singing "True hearted, whole hearted.' ' Rev. W. R Archer, of Havelock, then led the devotional exercises. This was followed by the singing of "We have heard the joyful sound." The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted as read. The third vice-president, Miss Beavis, then took charge of the meeting. This was followed by an interesting talk by Mr. Archer. The Scripture reading was taken by Miss Viola Newton and a solo, "Softly and tenderly Jesus is calling" by Mr. Archer, was much appreciated. The usual contest caused a great deal of merriment and the meeting was brought to a close after the Mizpah benediction.

HOW VIROL BUILDS for LIFE

Marjorie McKenna TO-DAY

PROOF of the Unique Powers of VIROL

Only nine years ago, Marjorie McKenna was suffering from the most serious form of wasting. To-day, thanks to Virol, she is, at the age of sixteen, a healthy, well-grown girl showing no trace of the tremendous strain thrown upon her constitution during her terrible illness.

Read this Remarkable Evidence

At 7 years 5 months (Feb. 25th, 1918), Marjorie McKenna was admitted to Rosevale Hospital, Dumfries, in a state of extreme emaciation and exhaustion (Photo 1). She had no special treatment except Virol, which was given her thrice daily.

(Photo 2.) Virol not only restored her to health then, as the Matron of the Hospital certifies, but to-day her doctor is able to write: "I have examined Marjorie McKenna and find that she is in perfect health."

No other food has the same reconstructive power as Virol.

"How the suds last!" says Mrs. R. Freidrick,

"Think I'd scrub? Not when I can get clothes whiter with Rinso, the hard-water soap! What active, soapy suds—and how they last! The water around here is hard, too. Rinso's creamy suds soak out the dirt and my clothes come white so easily. This way saves the clothes; saves me work, too. I like Rinso so much I use it for dishes and all cleaning."

ILLUSTRATED TALK GIVEN AT LAKEFIELD

A.Y.P.A. Hears Interesting Address—Warsaw Dramatic Club Presents Play.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, Mar. 26.—On Monday evening the A.Y.P.A. presented a very interesting and instructive set of lantern slides on "The Old Church in the New Land" beginning with the command of our Lord Himself to His apostles, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

The Church began at Jerusalem, spread through Europe and from Europe into the new land across the sea. The French explorers and the priests who attended them planted the cross in New France, making incredible sacrifices, even life itself for the faith.

With the conquest of Canada the Church of England came in to serve the English settlers and soldiery and gradually spread till today far beyond the Arctic circle to the boundary. The church is strong in Canada, Bishop Ingles of Nova Scotia was the first Colonial bishop, coming from New York at the time of the American Revolution, preferring to remain under the British flag. Gradually more dioceses were formed and bishops appointed. Bishop Jacob Mountain was the first Bishop of Quebec and his diocese took in all of Canada west of the Maritimes. Bishop George Mountain, the third bishop, made a tour of his diocese, going all the way from Quebec to Winnipeg in a 36-foot birch bark canoe.

The history of his own diocese of Toronto with its first Bishop, John Stratchan the founder of education in Canada was very interesting and the spreading of the church north and west till, today there are nearly thirty diocese and more than one and a half million people in Canada claiming allegiance to the Mother church.

Presents Play

The Warsaw Dramatic club put on a three-act comedy drama on Wednesday evening in the town hall under the auspices of the Woman's Institute of Lakefield and all who were present enjoyed a really good evening's entertainment. The play "Wild Ginger" was snappy with lots of fun and more than a bit of tragedy, but was well acted. The musical program between the acts was excellent also the readings of Misses Anna McMurray and Dorcas Lloyd.

Purchased Business

Mr. D. A. Pugh has disposed of the Lakefield creamery to Mr. H. Junker of Orono, who has taken possession. Mr. Pugh has been in business in Lakefield about seven years and has made many warm friends in the village and district.

JOSEPH BRYANS DIES SUDDENLY

Campbellford Farmer Expires on Road While on Way to Port Hope.

TO BAIL SON FROM JAIL.

PORT HOPE, March 26—On the way to Port Hope to bail his son out of jail, Joseph Bryans, fifty-one year old Campbellcroft farmer passed away in an automobile near Perrytown, Monday evening. Deceased was addicted to heart trouble and is thought to have over exerted himself in pushing the car in which he was a passenger, through a snow drift. After the car had gotten under way again, only a short distance had been traversed when Mr. Bryans expired.

Deceased was well known in the Campbellcroft district, where he had been born and raised. He is survived by his wife, formerly Sarah M. Kennedy, three sons, Lawrence, Roy and Willis, and one daughter, Helen. Two brothers, Charles, living east of Campbellcroft, Harry living near Mount Pleasant, and one sister also survive.

The funeral was held from the family residence at 1 p.m. Wednesday afternoon with interment in Bewdley cemetery.

The son, Willis Bryans, appeared in Police Court Tuesday morning to answer a charge of having liquor in an illegal place and on being acquainted of his father's death, collapsed in the courtroom with his face streaming with tears.

INSTITUTE MEETING AT MOUNT PLEASANT

Mrs. Josiah Best Hostess to Members at March Meeting—Usual Business Transacted.

MOUNT PLEASANT, March 24 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mr. Josiah Best was hostess for the March meeting of the Mount Pleasant branch of Women's Institute held at her home.

The President, Mrs. G. Shield, was in the chair and conducted the meeting. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. Thomas Graham acted as secretary for the meeting.

The roll-call topic was "A Native Quotation," and "System in Housecleaning. The ladies responded with several splendid suggestions which would be carried home with the members, as system for the Spring cleaning, now approaching.

The committee reported the quilt which was being made by the members for relief, to be finished. This will be held, by suggestion, until such time as it is needed or until the rest of the bale is ready.

A letter was read regarding the short course in "Food Vaues and Cookery" which the Institute has decided to have and the secretary was asked to write the Department for an instructor for the first two weeks in June. A letter was read from H. Gardiner, C.T., regarding the renting of the Women's Institute Hall. This matter was left with the hall committee.

A communication from the Millbrook Institute ladies was given at the meeting by Mrs. Ira Lowe regarding the holding of an "Arts and Crafts" class for three days, with Mrs. N. L. Watts, of Toronto, as instructor. It was decided to have the class if enough ladies could be secured, and a committee of three ladies, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Eric McLean and Mrs. Ira Lowe, was appointed to secure as many as possible.

Mrs. Norman Fee gave a splendid address on the subject, "How we should love and respect our parents." In her talk she said, "Are we, as parents, setting an example our children will be proud to respect? Are we responsible for the laws of our country to-day, and are those laws, laws that will be respected in the next generation?"

Mrs. Garnet Shield contributed a reading "The Bear Family." The singing of a favorite hymn by Mrs. Chester Best was enjoyed by all.

The meeting closed in the usual way after which Mrs. Thomas Graham and Mrs. Garnet Shield assisted the hostess in the service of dainty refreshments.

Those present included Mrs. Norman Fee, Mrs. Chester Best, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Hannah Rutherford, Mrs. Joseph Boyd, Mrs. Melville Jones, Mrs. Nellie Mitchell, Mrs. Garnet Shield, Mrs. Ira Lowe and Mrs. Joseph Best.

Fenella Women's Missionary Society Meets at Home of Mrs. W. H. Curtis.

FENELLA, March 26. (Examiner Correspondence).—The March meeting of the Fenella group of the Roseneath circuit, W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Curtis. The meeting was presided over by the circuit president, Mrs. A. Nill, when about thirty were in attendance.

Following the reading of the minutes, several items of business were transacted. A committee, composed of Mrs. G. Montgomery, Mrs. Fred Falling, Mrs. Saul Leach, Mrs. C. W. Macklin and Mrs. Howard Macklin was appointed to arrange for an autograph quilt, as a money making proposition.

Miss Florence Macklin with Mrs. Clifford Leach as alternate, was appointed a delegate to accompany the president to the presbyterial being held in Cobourg on March 26. Arrangements were made for the special W.M.S. service to be held in Fenella United Church on March 22.

Watch tower heralds responding were: China, Mrs. Bruce Macklin; India, Mrs. Clark Jewell. Mrs. Fred Talling, temperance superintendent, contributed an illuminating article. One sentence in the article stands out clearly. "The ugly truth is this: At a time when tens of thousands of Ontario families are living on their savings or upon charity more money is being spent on liquor than ever before. The average permit holder spent on liquor during 1930 no less than $120.00. This amount would sustain the ordinary family for many weeks."

Mrs. James Knox had charge of the following program: The devotional leaflet "Thine is the Kingdom and the power and the Glory" was read by Mrs. Saul Leach. Mrs. G. Montgomery, Mrs. James Knox, Mrs. Clifford Leach, Mrs. H. Macklin and Miss Florence Macklin, read leaflets, giving a short synopsis of Japanese thought, and the Christian message, chapter six in study book "Fruits of Christian Missions in Japan."

Mrs. Fred Falling contributed a reading and a solo, "In the Garden" by Mrs. A. Nill, completed the program.

A social hour was enjoyed while the hostess assisted by the lunch committee, served tea.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Montgomery with Mrs. Clark Jewell as program leader.

MILADI GOES NATIVE THIS SEASON WHEN IT COMES TO COLOR; WHITE IS ALSO PLAYING A PROMINENT PART

Red, White and Blue Have the Field for Spring and Early Summer.

HATS ARE HATS AGAIN.

(By Jeanette)

In Peterborough stores, where new modes are shown, the patriotic touch is paramount this year, as far as colors go. Red, white and blue have the field for the spring and early summer collections of clothes, confirming that vivid color rumour that has been noised abroad with regard to the modes of 1931.

Miladi goes native this year when it comes to color, although it is said that white—all white—is going to have a strong run this year. All white suits will be the last word and then white with just enough color to make them becoming. There will be the white touches to everything—collars on coats, suits and dresses; white bows on black shoes; white kid cloches and berets; white fabric straw hats; whits jewellery; white bags and white belts.

But that is for later on. Spring brings two-color combinations; black and white, blue and white, touched with red, grey with brown and green blue and yellow, as well as tomato and scarlet for contrast on sombre tones. Blue comes in a darker navy and a new brighter shade called "skipper," beige in putty and sand casts, (saved from obscurity by two-color "skipper," beige in putty and sand casts, scarves of warms and cold greens, reds and blues), and greens, that come in soft grayed tones if the coat is of novelty wool, in light casts for camel's hair fabrics, and in dark greens for the spongy woolens.

Printed Silks.

The rage for color contrasts has affected printed silks and they are out this year in two or three colors, and there are different prints for every figure and every type of dress. One of the newer notes is the appearance of gray on colored grounds.

The redingote theme that has such a rage takes prints right to its heart, the dark coat usually combining itself with a dress of printed silk, while the jacket is another fashion that utilizes prints in achieving the color contrast idea, and it is just as smart to have the jacket plain-colored and the dress printed, or the reverse.

A whole new crop of woolens has sprung up, in featherweight fabrics that drape like silk and are smarter and lighter than ever. There are variations of tweeds, but the spring tweed of importance is the tweed with a nubby surface, lively in color effects and adaptable to all the tailored suits and frocks of daytime and sports nature.

Plaids have their innings also, and many a chic ensemble has for its ingredients a jacket made of plaid and a skirt of plain color, or the reverse order.

Linen lace is splendid for formal and semi-formal occasions and cottons are not to be outdone in popularity. A new wool-type cotton recommends itself for tailored frocks and suits on its merits of being cooler than wool and on its practical features. And there are cotton tweeds in a loose, lacy weave.

And, if you want to be ultra smart, wear pique, in a tailored blousette, with bag and gloves in corresponding colors.

The Angel Hat.

You can either be an angel or a shepherdess this season—all depending on your choice of a hat, for halo hats and Watteau brims take care of every smart millinery need. The two-tone or two-color hat is predominant, and on black or navy hats there are bright trimmings in strong colors like cherry and flame red.

Hats are really hats again this season, and have blossomed out in trimmings of feathers, ribbons and flowers, a bow of "Angelskin" satin ribbon being especially chic.

Shoes for daytime wear include the pump, the one strap shoe and the oxford. Pumps are all leather or suede and leather combinations, but the oxford and one-strap shoe have perforated trimmings.

The lizard and snake wiggle in for afternoon wear. He weaves his length in a simple line around the shoe, for reptile trims are very, very fashionable.

For evening, there is the simple buckled pump, with a tiny gold or silver piping and many of the popular one-strap slippers have heels of gold or silver.

If you were to ask any fashion authority for the last word in coat news for spring, he or she would probably say, "scarfs and cuffs." The scarf coat for 1931 is what Paris calls a "fashion furore" and is the newest whim of designers. The possibility for variety is immense—on day you may have a coat with a cape effect, the next day one with revers and fichu, and the next a mannish sports—looking garment with the scarf pertly crossed in the real London manner. And it is really the same coat—the scarf is the secret of its versatility.

By way of variety in cuff treatments there are numerous interpretations of the tight sleeve to which is added an upstanding fabric band stimulating a flared outline just above or about the elbow, and there are cuffs of shaped contours and attached cuffs topped by stitching.

The point in fur trimming is to work out a one-color harmonious color scheme so that the fur blends exactly with the color of the fabric. Galyak and lapin are dyed to match the fabric and leopard and ermine are so intricately worked that they are part of the line of the coat rather than a trimming. It is smart to wear a collarless coat with cuffs, only, of fur.

When Milady's Fancy Turns To Summer Clothes

(1) A combination afternoon and evening frock of nile green chiffon. Note the short jacket with its interesting sleeve treatment and black velvet belt and bow. (2) Dorothy Jordan wearing one of the smart, new wide-brimmed lacy straw hats and a frilly summer dress. (3) June MacCloy is wearing this demure organdy frock with its touches of black velvet, a new note this season. The hat of white horsehair is trimmed with black gardenias. Organdy and black velvet are characteristic of the coming summer styles. For summer wear and down south the smartest hats are wide brimmed but flop back from the face.

Silhouettes in coats lean toward the straighter lines, and pleats are important in preserving the slim hip line. This does not mean that the flare contour is not smart, but it creates a little diversity in style.

For Tea and Dance.

For afternoon, we see chiffons, plain or printed, many of them with jackets over a sleeveless dress that can be worn for dancing. Lace, chiffon and flat crepe hold places of prestige for evening, your figure being the deciding factor in all choices. New necklines show the square effect and hemlines are very wide, with tiny scallops, petal edges, pleats and slashed hemlines that reveal a lacy petticoat.

Bows are just as charming as they were last season and daring little bows peep out at odd angles, on the sleeve, the waist, the neck.

There are all sorts of absurdly beautiful frocks in lace and slightly stiffened chiffon. Formal dresses are vividly colored, in blue, red, green and pink. You must make your own back do, for your gown absolutely refuses to have one.

And they must have jewels. There may be a long, wiggly rhinestone stripe running snakishly down the back; perhaps there will be a glistening shoulder strap or turquoise belt, but there is bound to be a jewel somewhere.

The lines are classic in their simplicity and the top frocks are interpreted in satin and velvet. Make sure that your dress for evening ends just before it touches the floor.

Blouses are everywhere. A spot light in this mode are blouses of vivid Roman striped silk and as runners up for the plain suit blouse are samples made of modernistic floral silkcottons in check and coin spot designs.

Blouses are either very tailored or else very feminine, the latter with frills, tucks and lingerie touches, and their sleeves are of every length. Necklines may be surplice, round, cowl or square. Except where the blouse matches the suit and a bright sash or belt is worn, they are of the "over" rather than the "tuck in" type. Taffeta is new in blouse materials.

The White Pig and the Snake.

As for the accessories that make or break any costume, the reptiles come into their own again, with snake and lizard skin very popular.

Then there is—of all things—white pig (it washes) and alligator skin. Patent leather bags in brilliant and pastel colors, are exciting, and come in all shapes and sizes, especially in the envelope and pouch. The color should exactly match or harmonize with your costume.

When you dance, carry small bags or seed pearls or brocade, and for a plaid waistcoat with your suit, carry a p'aid bag.

Gloves are whimsical this spring. For afternoon, wear the four-button type in a pullon, that sports a perforation or a curving inset in a contrasting color, or even a frill. The plain capeskin glove is always good.

For evening, there are long gloves in white or pastel tints and there is a novelty in a jewelled golve that is often made of gathered tucks for its whole sixteen-button length.

Paris says patent leather belts and even uses them on white lace dinner gowns and patent-leather two-flower boutonnieres contrast in color with the spring costume.

Paisley shawls, from the gay and mauve nineties, are with us again, brightening up the dark suits and blending with the new spring dresses.

Plaid scarfs, in flannel or in silk, match the season's gay mood and add a typical sporting note.

On collar and cuff sets, dots and frills appear in abundance to give welcome air of frivolity to the sedate suit.

That there is nothing new under the sun is proven by the return of the "wrap-around" skirt, now featured as a high spot in fashion.

And the sweater has come back after a year's absence, in colors to match or complement your costume. The jersey blouse-sweater, a modified storm jacket, is ideal for the active sportswoman.

But, oldest and newest of all, is the taffeta petticoat, bringing with it a memory of older and statelier days. They now step out, not only under the ball dress, but under the street dress and suit. Pantaloon petticoats of taffeta are extremely chic.

For good style, wear a boutonniere of flowers with your suit, jacket or long coat. In the evening, one large flower, or two—no more.

And then, to match the halo hat and the collarless coats, the hairdressers are arranging the hair in curls over the ears and to the nape of the neck, a pretty, graceful style. Loose-wave contours, to match the feminine modes, are the rage now, banishing the mannish contour to a dark limbo.

And make-up also has changed. Rouge and eyebrow pencil are almost discarded this year and the powder that used to be sun tan now becomes pink and white, to match the Victorian era complexion and styles. "It is to be a peaches and cream complexion year," says an authority on modes.

Colored Footwear Introduced For Men

Heretofore colored footwear or combinations of color was limited to the summer months, but local shoe dealers who have been engaged in replenishing their shoe stocks in anticipation of Spring are laying in styles which sound an entirely new note, in the endeavor of the shoe manufacturers to dress up man's feet in colors. If the propaganda bears fruit let's all look for a more colorful Spring. In other words we should wear color from Spring through summer and until fall, if the maker's drive is a successful one.

Peterborough shoe merchants who are right in line with the times, speak of such combinations as blacks and whites, browns and whites and other two-toned effects, which they state are being shown at the shoe conventions in greater number than at any other time in footwear history. This is probably the continuation of their popularity in the Florida resorts of last winter.

Spring Clothes Favor the Man With a Figure

MEN WILL BE GAILY GROOMED BRIGHTER COLORS THIS YEAR PATTERNS HAVE DECIDED TREND

Peak Model is the Outstanding Tendency in Suits for Men.

TWEEDS DOMINATE.

Your going to see men more gaily groomed this Spring. A glance into the show windows of nay of Peterborough's leading men's wear stores will assure you of this fact.

In fact sprightliness is the tenor of the tempo; jauntiness is the mode of modelling and brighter colors and more decided patternings lend to this season's vogue a setting that is attuned to cheer as well as smartness.

Psychology in Clothes.

Whether the stylists have become psychologists or psychologists have turned stylists, there can be little question but that men's clothes have been designed to assist in lifting humanity out of the "blues." All the world has been in the doldrums for a season or two, but the sombre tones of apparel schemes, likely born from the depression, have been tossed over board and 1931 paints in pictures in much more cheerful hues.

The styles on show in both suits and topcoats of the season present more youthful contours, patterns are spirited; colors are warm, gay and gladsome.

Peak model popular.

An outstanding tendency in the suits is the increasing popularity of the peak model which is always a more decided, expressive and youthful effect than the notch lapel which has held practically supreme in the past two seasons.

Understand the notch lapel has not retired in disorder or broken ranks. It still obtains as a leading suit effect, but the peak is the thing being most eagerly accepted by young men. For added jauntiness this peak model is even being shown in a one-button effect—for the present an extreme style, but it has promise as young men are going to it with gusto in metropolitan centres.

Here They Are.

The leading suit models for this season in order of their acceptance by well-dressed men will no doubt be as follows: (1) the two-button notch model; (2) the two-button peak model; (3) the three-button model, two to button; (4) the double-breasted model; (5) the straight front three-button model and (6) the one-button peak model.

Natural shoulders and more body-defining lines to the coats are characteristic of the Spring 1931 styles. Vests are mostly collarless and single-breasted. There is a noticeable revival toward the Tattersall vest that may become pronounced this Fall than this Spring, nevertheless, it is a feature of some of the higher-priced lines that cater to the younger dresser.

Trousers are not quite so full as heretofore and show more taper from knee to cuff. The wider trouser band is a feature.

Tweeds Dominate.

Tweeds are a dominating fabric calling for smart two-tone patternings of new color combinations. In the flat fabrics such as cheviots and cassimere the Glen Urquhart plaid effects are leading patterns.

The more colorful tone of the Spring suits is due to predominance of light greys, greens and grey-greens; more vivid blues, lighter shades of tans and liberal sprinklings of reds and purples in the development of pattern effects.

There are seven distinct models being favored in topcoats. There is for instance the double-breasted fitted coat; the double-breasted box coat, the single-breasted box coat, the polo coat, the button-through Chesterfield, the fly-front Chesterfield and the tenacious Raglan.

Two types of fabrics dominate the topcoats. These are the tweeds in the coats for business wear, the fleeces in dressier types. These are the foremost textures promoted but naturally in a season permitting so much latitude in styling the scope of fabrics is likewise wide including worsteds, vicunas, coverts, gaberdines and knit weaves.

A BEDTIME STORY

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND RED ROBIN

The light, fluffy snow which had fallen on the ground when Uncle Wiggily watched Mr. Stubtail, the jolly bear, scrape it away to find the spring arbutus flowers, had all melted. Again the earth in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived near the Orange Ice Mountains, was bare and brown and it had a most cheerful perfume.

"It smells like spring!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he stood on his bungalow steps one morning and breathed in deep, twinkling his pink nose. For, though the rabbit gentleman loved winter, he loved, even more, the warm spring and hot summer.

"Yes, I think spring has come to stay," Nurse Jane said as she looked up at the blue sky. "I heard a robin the other day.

"That is my friend Red Robin," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Red Robin flew up early from the Southland to tell me Winter was gone from our land. I must hop out to the woods, now, to see if I can meet Red Robin and ask him when he is going to make his nest and bring up his wife so she can lay eggs and hatch some little birds."

No, it isn't very white.

"Oh, that will be lovely!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "And when you see Red Robin tell him I have some crumbs for him."

"I shall," promised Uncle Wiggily.

Over the fields toward the woods hopped the rabbit gentleman. And as he reached the top of a little hill, down in the hollow two other animals were watching him from where they were hidden in the bushes.

"There he goes!" said the Fox, who was one of the animals.

"Yes!" agreed the other animal, who was the Bob Cat. "But he shall not get away from me."

"How are you going to catch him?" asked the Fox.

"Listen!" whispered the Bob Cat. "I have just thought of a very fine trick to play on that rabbit so we can catch him."

"It will need to be a very good trick to catch Uncle Wiggily!" said the Fox. "He is a very smart rabbit."

"It's going to be a good trick! Listen!" whispered the Bob Cat. "You know that the last week or so Uncle Wiggily has been hopping around looking for signs of Spring."

"Yes, I heard about his Spring Song, the Spring Bird and the Spring Flowers," answered the Fox.

"Well," went on the Bob Cat, "I have an idea of how I can fool Mr. Longears. He is going toward an old hollow stump on which he sits to think about Spring. Now I will hide myself in that hollow stump with only my tail sticking out. I will tie a white rag on my tail and stand on my head in the hollow stump. Uncle Wiggily will see the white rag on my tail and will think it is a new kind of Spring Flower. He will come close to pick it and then I will pop out of the stump and grab him!"

"Say, that sounds like a jolly good trick!" chuckled the Fox.

"Well, you stay here and when I come back I'll tell you all about it," promised the Bob Cat. "I'm going to take a short cut through the woods and get to that hollow stump before Uncle Wiggily reaches there. I'll hide down in it, with just the tip of my tail sticking out."

"That won't be hard," snickered the Fox. "Your tail is only a tip, anyhow. Now, if it were my big, bushy tail——"

"Don't make fun of my tail!" howled the Bob Cat. "It may not be very big but it's the only tail I have, and I'm going to play a good trick with it on Uncle Wiggily."

"Oh, excuse me!" murmured the Fox, trying to be polite. "I'm sorry I said anything against your tail. Of course, I can't say much, the tail being what it is. But, no matter."

"Now," whispered the Bob Cat, "I shall need a white rag to tie on my tail to make Uncle Wiggily think it is a new Spring Flower when he sees it sticking out of the stump. Have you a white rag?"

"Here's my hankerchief," spoke the Fox. "It isn't very white but it will do, perhaps."

"No, it isn't very white," said the Bob Cat, tearing off a strip. "Well, I'm on my way to hide in the stump and catch the rabbit."

Away he ran, taking a short cut through the woods to get to the stump before Uncle Wiggily might reach it. Meanwhile the rabbit gentleman was looking for Red Robin. Soon he heard a song of:

"Cheer up! Cheer up — Cheer up!"

"Ha! There's my Red Robin friend!" joyfully shouted the rabbit. "Now I shall hear his Spring Song. I'll tell him about Nurse Jane's crumbs and I'll ask him when he will build his nest. Hello, Red Robin!" Mr. Longears called as he hopped close to the hollow stump out of which something white was sticking.

"Hello!" chirped the Red Robin. "I'm glad to see you! I think we are going to have an adventure together."

What the adventure was I shall tell you in the next story, which will be named Uncle Wiggily and the Robin's nest.

SCHOOL BOARD FACES TROUBLE

Rush Point Members Decide Ratepayer's Meeting Necessary to Settle Affair.

CARETAKING DISCUSSED.

RUSH POINT, Mar. 26. (Examiner Correspondence).—A meeting of the Rush Point School Board was called by Inspector Copp at the School house on Monday night to discuss some complaints regarding the management of the school. It was seen however that in order to get to the bottom of the trouble ratepayers meeting should really have been called. Nevertheless some good advice was given.

It was pointed out that many minor complaints of pupils, teacher and parents should usually be overlooked. several more serious matters came up for carefull consideration. For instance it was decided that only one pupil at a time should be allowed to leave school during school hours. The inexcusable habit of teacher and pupil arguing over matters pertaining to school or otherwise was thought best stamped abruptly and completely out.

In regard to the caretaking it was pointed out that only a grown-up responsible party should be given the job—one who could cope successfully with such emergencies as falling down of stove-pipes or the school house on fire. It was admitted that in the past years the caretaking was not always satisfactory, when done by one or other of the pupils.

It was also decided that in future the trustees should be careful to engage an experienced teacher capable of taking charge of the thirty some pupils at Rush Point school.

Blind Dancers Revel At School Function

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 26. — Dancers with sightless eyes and sprinters who never saw the light performed to-day as New York's Ancient School for the Blind celebrated the beginning of its hundredth year.

The school—it's called the Institute for the Edyucation of the Blind—teaches its pupils to dance as surefootedly, as gracefully as folks with good eyes.

"Blind people make fine work dancers," said Principal Edward M. Van Clevel. "They also make fine musicians, because music is one of the enjoyments of life they can most readily appreciate."

The school possesses what is described as "the finest running track in the world." It is divided into four paths, down which blind runners sprint at a speed almost equal to that of their brothers who can see their way.

And the pupils' book education is not neglected. The course covers in 14 years about the ground other schools cover in 12.

Your Hat This Season May Be Large or Small

SNAP-BRIM HATS ALL THE VOGUE

Wide Choice in Spring Hats Being Shown This Year For Men's Wear.

SLIGHTLY LARGER.

There is a wide choice in the Spring hats being shown by local merchants. Again there is a suggestion of sprightliness and jauntiness about these hats.

Even such hats as are supposed to provide a degree of dignity and sedateness to the wearer, this season show a disposition toward dapperness that is just short of flippancy. This applies to such hats as the Homburg and the derby.

The snap-brim, which has expressed youthful dress tendencies, goes all the way in presenting a decidedly sportive aspect.

Hats in general are slightly larger in proportions than those of recent seasons. The extremely small hats of last Spring were not found to be becoming to big men or men with large heads, local haberdashers state. Hence, while there is only a gradual tendency toward arger shapes the trend is noticeable in both brims and crowns of this season.

In the Homburg hats there is a more defined curling of the brim, a higher crown with a more perceptible taper. The Derby, on the other hand, is a squattier hat—brim is more flat-set—and crown more rounded.

The snap-brim hats have the centre of the stage this Spring. Almost every man will be wearing the popular snap. There seems to be a marked tendency among the younger men to run these brims down all-around.

Doctor Has New View On Cirrhosis Cause

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 26 (CP). Excessive drinking of alcohol Dr. Albert M. Snell told the American College of Physicians to-day, does not commonly cause cirrhosis or hardening of the liver. This is contrary to the prevailing theory held both by doctors and the general public. Cirrhosis occurs in only about five per cent. of cases of alcoholism, Dr. Snell said. He is associated with the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Cases of cirrhosis that are caused by alcoholism comprise about half the total, however. Other causes include disease of the gall bladder, bile ducts, or spleen, and infectious fevers.

The disease usually is recognized too late to save the patient's life. Physicians are seeking ways to recognize it in earlier stages when it may be curable.

JAPAN LOOKS TO MANCHURIA FOR FUTURE SAFETY

Development of Raw Material Resources in Country is Urgent Necessity.

CHINA LOOKS ON.

SHANGHAI, China, March 26.—(By the Canadian Press)—Japan's great problem of securing an outlet for the rapidly multiplying millions of her population is described in a graphic article by E. H. Anstice in the Chinese Nation, periodical review. He comes to the conclusion that while Japan has been forced, by great Chinese immigration into Manchuria, into giving up any hopes of complete sovereignty in that great region, she will be forced more than ever to develop the raw material resources of Manchuria to retain her place among the nations of the world.

Development of Japanese industries would perhaps solve the problem of the ever-growing population of Japan, but without Manchuria, Japan would not have the all-important raw materials for those industries. Those who have watched the progress of Sino-Japanese relations in Manchuria, instead of being fearful of a conflict for sovereignty of the region, need only remind themselves that a peaceful, friendly China, with its teeming millions, provides the best of markets for Japanese industry—and Japan is not unmindful of the fact.

At the last census the population of the Japanese Empire was 83,454,371. Since then it has been increasing at the annual rate of over three quarters of a million, and the census just held is expected to show a population of at least 90 millions. Moreover, the rate of increase does not diminish, and is not likely to. Birth control is at present only a very academic question in Japan. The country's most pressing problem is the provision of food and work for these ever increasing millions. On its solution depends her future existence as a great empire.

Will Not Solve It.

"One thing is certain," writes Mr. Anstice. "Agriculture will not solve it. Already Japan has to import a considerable quantity of the food she eats, already the land has ceased to provide work for the people. The drift from the countryside into the towns, which began years ago, has at last created a definite town population divorced from the soil. Until recently the unemployed town worker could always return to the ancestral village from which he came, and be sure of a welcome. But not now. The Farmer Unions are beginning to agitate against the return of the city unemployed to the country. It was significant of the times, when, in June last year, the All Farmers Union launched a campaign with the slogan 'Townsmen must find work in the towns.' Out of a total area of some 88 million acres not quite 15 millions are arable. Practically all the land which can be cultivated is already under cultivation, as a trip through the country will show.

"Nor will emigration provide a way out of the difficulty. The Japanese are not an emigrating nation. Family ties are so strong, that, unless he takes his family with him, the average Japanese is apt to spend most of his time abroad pining to get back to it. Nor is the Japanese a pioneer. In America or Australia, where conditions are better than those has left at home, he can make a success of things. But America and Australia are closed to him, and elsewhere he shows no desire to go. Manchuria provides a case in point. Twenty years ago Marquis Komura had great hopes of the colonization of that country by Japanese, but they proved vain. To-day there are only some 200,000 Japanese there, including employees of the south Manchuria Railway and officials. The country is being developed commercially and agriculturally by the Chinese, who in recent years have flocked there in millions.

"Japanese industry in its present proportions is largely the result of war conditions and cheap labor. During the War, with practically no competitors her industries expanded enormously, and when war terminated, she had a secure foothold in the world's markets. Moreover, part of the immense profits had been expended on securing the most modern equipment, and there was still the capital available to keep that equipment up to date.

"But this is not an enduring factor. The wartime profits have now almost disappeared, and every year the advantage derived from this superior equipment grows less and less. Labor undoubtedly is still cheap. Compared with Great Britain, for example, labor costs in spinning up to forty counts are about half and in weaving less than half. But if Japanese labor is cheap, Chinese is still cheaper. Moreover, it is a question how long it will remain cheap. Every year its demands grow greater and more insistent.

Looks to Manchuria.

"In this situation Japan looks to Manchuria and China to provide the way out. Her economic and strategic frontier, it has been said, lies on the boundaries of Manchuria and the Yangtze valley. From the latter district comes 65 per cent of her imports of iron ore, and she regards it as all important to ensure an uninterrupted delivery of that indispensable commodity in time of war, hence the further financial help recently granted to the Hanehping Steel Works.

"But Manchuria is even more important to her. Though Marquis Komura's dream of political empire based on swarms of Japanese colonists has had to be given up, in its place has come the conception of an economic empire based on the South Manchuria Railway. To more one of her publicists, Japan cherishes the vision of a great economic edifice, which she hopes to complete undismayed by the rising tide of Chinese immigration.' To Manchuria she looks largely for an unobstructed supply of foodstuffs and the raw materials of industry. The farms are to supply her with beans and rice, the Kirin forests and the Kungan mountains with timber. From the mines she already gets much of her coal and iron, and looks for more. She even dreams of wool from the hinterland of Mongolia. The S.M.R. after a great deal of experiment has come to the conclusion that cotton can be grown there, also sugar beet. It is true that these last are still mainly in the realm of aspiration, nevertheless the conception helps to indicate the part that Manchuria is expected to play in Japan's future economy.

"Some years ago it looked as if she was only biding her time to assume something like sovereign powers in Manchuria, and although the emergence of the Nationalist government, combined with Chinese immigration into that region, has rendered that now out of the question, and while she no longer attempts to carry the situation with so high a hand, there is no doubt that she will resist very strenuously China's attempts to regain full sovereignty over these portions of her domain.

"Luckily, there is another aspect to the question. Industries need a market, and in the modern world markets are increasingly difficult to find and keep. A peaceful, prosperous, and friendly China would, with her teeming millions provide the best of markets for Japanese industry, and Japan is not unmindful of that fact. She cannot, indeed, afford to disregard it, having already experienced something of what an unfriendly China can mean to her trade. It is in this that lies China's best hopes of securing a settlement of the Manchurian and other questions along the lines she would like."

FARMERS APPROVE RIGHT-OF-WAY MOVE

Meeting Will Probably Be Held in Peterborough to Discuss Hydro Lines.

The numerous expressions of approval which Reeve McIntyre of Otonabee has received from farmers in three counties in regard to the proposed Farmers' Right-of-way association which he proposed several weeks ago indicate that his own township is not the only one concerned about the multiple hydro-electric power lines which are being projected across their farms.

Mr. McIntyre informed The Examiner that a meeting of municipal representatives and farmers generally would be held in Peterborough in the near future, probably in the county council chamber. The secretary of the Pickering association will likely be invited to the meeting to review their accomplishments for farmers in Ontario county.

MEMORIAL SERVICE MRS. G. A. PLUNKETT

Local W.C.T.U. Branch Holds March Meeting in Y.W.C.A.

The March meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A., and took the form of a memorial service for the late Mrs. J. G. Plunkett, who was an ardent supporter of the Society.

Owing to the serious illness of the president, Mrs. C. H. Edwards, the chair was taken by Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, vice-president, who opened the meeting with a short devotional service. "Faith of Our Fathers" was the opening hymn, and was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A brief session relating to the business of the day was conducted by the chairman, and included reports from the secretary and treasurer.

Letters of acknowledgment for remembrances in illness and bereavement were read by the secretary, and an announcement of the international convention of the W.C.T.U., to be held in Toronto in June, was made, with an appeal that every member be ready to assist. This society is the largest woman's organization in the world and there will be representatives at the convention from 51 countries.

A nominating committee was appointed of which Miss McCamus will be the convenor, with power to choose her own assistants.

At the conclusion of the business program, Mrs. Cunningham, in a few words, spoke of the loss sustained by the W.C.T.U. in the tragic death of one of its most faithful and earnest workers, Mrs. J. Plunkett. "The character of a man or woman," she said, "may be decided by the things that person likes best in his or her own private life. In preparing this program, the favorite passages of scripture and the hymns loved by Mrs. Plunkett were chosen.

Mrs. G. A. Gillespie read the first scripture lesson, the 103rd Psalm, while Mrs. Dr. Moore, read the 4th chapter of Hebrews, and Miss Nicholls offered prayer.

A beautiful solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," a much-loved hymn of Mrs. Plunkett, was sung by Mrs T. E. Curvin, with harp accompaniment. Mrs. Curvin also sang "In the Garden Up Yonder," which was very appropriate.

From St. James' United Church, of which Mrs. Plunkett was an active member since 1914, Mrs. H. Davidson brought high tribute to her great worth to the Church as a whole and to the various organizations of which she gave her best in time and talents and which now mourn her loss.

A tribute to Mrs. Plunkett's loyalty and devotion as a friend and to her family life was paid by a personal friend, Mrs. Wagar, in a short account of her life and its many influences for good.

This was read by Miss McCamus, also a lifelong friend of Mrs. Plunkett.

Representing Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S., Mrs. A. I. Brown, the president, in a few tender words, told how great a loss this life would mean to the society, as its secretary of temperance education. In conclusion, Mrs. Brown quoted James Whitcomb Riley's, "She Is Not Dead."

The service closed with another favorite hymn, "Saviour, Again to Thy Dear Name We Raise," and prayer by Mrs. Cunningham.

Little Business Done At Lakeshore Meeting

At the meeting of the Lakeshore Baseball League last night in Port Hope, representatives of the four towns were there: Port Hope, Oshawa, Cobourg and Peterborough. Will Rogers was the representative from here.

While there was much discussion, not a great deal of business was accomplished. The league hopes to operate again this year, but no team was definitely entered last night. Another meeting will be called, when entries will be made and officers elected and final plans for the season arranged if the Lakeshore League definitely decides to reorganize.

G. DAVIES GIVES SPLENDID TALK

Members of St. David's Society Hear Address on Beauties of West Indies.

On Tuesday evening the St. David's Society met in the Chamber of Commerce, when Gwilym Davies the Vice-President, gave a splendid address on a trip to Jamaica, and Bermuda

During the address he described a Porto Rico hurricane at sea, which lasted 24 hours. It was the worst hurricane Porto Rico had experienced with a casualty of 1000 dead and 30,000 homeless. The number homeless seemed astounding but later he explained that their homes were very frail, made of four bamboo poles covered over with banana or palm leaves and that the least puff of wind would almost blow it over.

He then spoke on Kingston, Jamaica and described fully the city, its public buildings and its wonderful botanical gardens, where all kinds of luxurious vegetation grows and which is the show place of the island. Another thing he impressed was the gorgeous sunrise to be seen rising over the mountains, also the moonlight through the palm trees. He expressed the feeling that a man had not lived until he had seen these two.

From Jamaica the speaker went on to Bermuda, where automobiles are forbidden and speed cops unnecessary.

The formation of this island is wholly coral, houses are made of white coral blocks and the streets and highways are all coral. Bill boards and such as would destroy the beauty of the island, are forbidden, which makes the island a perfect paradise. To close up his address he read a poem on Bermuda written by a person who had spent some time there and which expressed Mr. Davies' feelings that the West Indies are truly a wonderful place to spend a holiday.

The society then expressed a vote of thanks to Mr. Davies on his achievement in giving such a vivid address. The society then decided to form a choral society, the matter to be left in the hands of Mr. Mosley, Miss Flowers and Mrs. Geo. Blowers.

The meeting then adjourned with the singing of "Hen Wlad fy Nhadan."

Nothing Like Knowing

Ann sighed. Her sister had written her to buy a piece of dress goods in town. But her directions were vague and Ann did not feel like getting it without more information. "I know: I'll telephone her!" So she talked to her sister over Long Distance and got full details. It was more than worthwhile to feel absolutely sure.

NATIONS PREPARE FOR FUTURE WAR

E. J. Garland Claims Lack of Funds Only Reason Europe Not Fighting Now.

AT OTTAWA SERVICE CLUB.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 26—Despite the fact that fully 80 percent of all taxes collected in the world to-day were used to defray expenses of past wars or in preparation for future war there was an increase in armaments and preparation for war among all nations, stated E. J. Garland, M.P., for Bow River, speaking before an Ottawa Service Club Tuesday. Although it was a known fact that another war would mean the death of present civilization and the destruction of homes yet people were actively preparing for just this fate, he declared.

"I believe the last war, instead of killing Prussianism, resulted in our catching the germ. "We have been sold on the idea of preparedness, yet the risks attached to it are as bad as the risks of war."
